THE RALEIGH RIOT

Last Sunday afternoon there was a riot in Raleigh between negroes and some of the soldiers encamped there. The negroes were at fault and were the aggressors, having made an attack on some of the soldiers who were out for a walk and unarmed. The first disturbance was quieted and provost guards of soldiers were placed in the city to keep order. The trouble broke out again that night, and the Raleigh Post gives the following account of the part a Greenville boy took in stopping it:

The second engagement was at its height when Private C. O. Dancy, of Company E, Greenville, N. C., who was on duty as a provost guard, appeared on the scene.

The young man stepped in the midst of the fight, when brickbats and rocks were flying as thick as candle bugs around an arc light. Dancy had his Springfield gun with him and the appearance of the weapon had a good effect. Dancy commanded his men to stand back and he proceeded to pull a number of them back.

Some of the negroes fired their pistols upon the provost officer, whereupon he discharged a blank cartridge. This had a good effect and the negroes began to drop like partridges and they fell back. Some scrambled over fences and under bridges, while a number sought refuge in adjacent houses.

Dancy told the soldiers to make for town at double quick, as they were outnumbered, and they began to trot towards the city. The negroes became encouraged seeing the soldiers fleeing and again charged in pursuit. A volley of 15 pistols was fired most of them coming from inside the house. Provost Dancy was struck in the back by several rocks.

He turned upon the pursuing negroes and fired the only loaded shell he had in his Springfield. This checked them to a certain extent and gave Dancy an opportunity to get away. The negroes followed for two blocks, but the soldiers kept ahead, running all the way. Dancy says there were at least 300 negroes in the mob, when he and the boys began the flight to the city.

The story is best told in Dancy's own words. He was assigned to provost duty in the eastern part of the city and was the only one of the soldiers who had a gun. He was told by pedestrians that a riot was in progress between soldiers and blacks and hurried to the scene.

"I think there were about 18 soldiers engaged in the trouble," young Dancy remarked Sunday night. "I noticed one of our men was feeling his whiskey, but I did not notice any others drunk. There were several hundred negroes engaged and when I came up they were hurling rocks and palings and firing pistols on our boys. I noticed that negro woman and children were active participants. They were engaged mostly in carrying rocks and palings, which they tore from fences to the negro men.

"I told all the soldiers to stand back as soon as I arrived. Most of them obeyed my command but the negroes rushed on us firing pistols and throwing missiles. Some 15 or 16 shots were fired. I had only two shells, one blank and one loaded. I aimed my gun at the crowd and let go the blank cartridge.

"This frightened the negroes and they scattered like sheep. They went for cover, crawling under bridges and houses. I told the boys then it was death or move. They all agreed with me and began to run to the city.

"Then the negroes began to fire on me again. I was hot on the back with a number of rocks. My back is blue and bruised now. The negroes were pressing upon me and I turned and fired my solid shot at them. They had already fired more than a dozen shots. I do not know whether I hit anyone. I shot to stop that crowd. They held up a minute but followed us two blocks.

"I went as far as the next block and sent the boys on to town. While I was standing there, three negroes came by and told me they were after me and they were going to have me. I leveled my gun and told them to stand off 50 yards. They moved on. I kept all negroes at a distance, until help came.

Some of the boys had pistols. They shot several times. They had few cartridges and shot nothing like as much as the negroes. The greater portion of the negroes left before Col. Burgwyn and Mayor Russ arrived on the scene."

Several of the boys who were in the thick of the fight spoke highly of young Dancy, who did his full duty and acted with great bravery.

Points and Moot-Points

The fools listen; the philosopher looks.

The optimist and the pessimist each looks into a mirror and beholds himself; the philosopher looks out at the window and sees man.

Pessimist is a rascal; optimist is a fool.

Three score years and ten scarcely serve us to adjust our focus to reality.

Every soul has a blind side where mortal accidents are almost sure to happen.

We barely get a glimpse of ourselves in the mirror of time as it flashes by.

If we had only innocent dreams we might wake at midnight to sing as a bird of heaven does.

Men being naturally slaves, when a free man comes along he is either worshipped as a god or stoned as a devil.

Wit is of the mind, its daylight and blue sky—humor is of the heart, the rainbow of its smiles and tears.

Man has fine triumphant moments, but is no great hero when the year has rolled around.

Truth is not so fascinating as beauty, not even to the dying saint.

Men will endure to be murdered—if only it is transacted politely.

To be morally insignificant is the price we pay for our sins.

The laborer is the world's silent creditor; the idler its insolvent debtor.

All hogs have not bristles—many sport excellent suits of silk, cotton or wool.

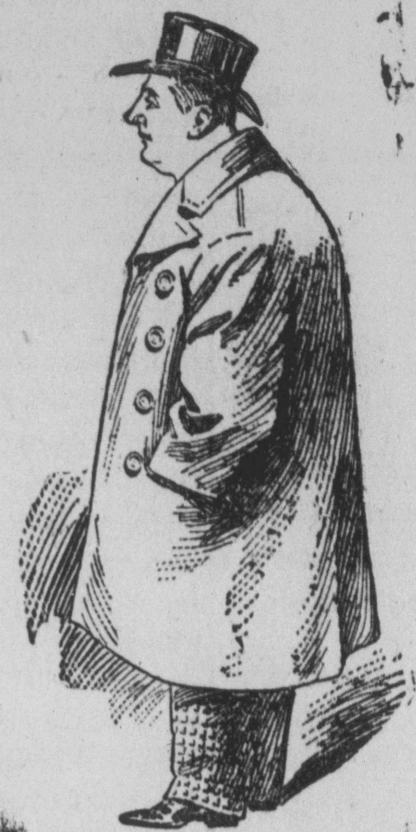

Our poor relations—those lacking truth, beauty and love.

Energy cannot be lost—it is hard, however, to say sometimes just where it is spending its vacation.—H. A. Kendall, in Boston Transcript.

Married.

In Jamesville, N. C., on Wednesday, 21st, at 2:30 o'clock, P. M., Mr. X. T. Keel and Miss Mollie Hardison were married by Rev. Mr. Fisher. The attendants were Leon Whichard with Miss Susie Keel, Milton Fighsmith with Miss Nolie Keel, H. W. Whichard with Miss Maggie Howard, John Keel with Miss Sallie Grimes.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party left for the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. A. M. Keel, in Pitt county, where a reception was held in the evening. The bride and groom received several handsome presents.

A STUPID FELLOW.

who gauges the quality of CLOTHING by the price has no business to be married. Yet one of this class directed his wife to buy Clothing from another firm because they charged more for it, and "it must therefore be better." His better half bought some from us and some from the other house, and showed her husband that they were identical. This proved conclusively how foolish a man can be when he really tries. The lady of the house generally knows where she can get the most and best for the money!

Lee Person, col., is the Republican nominee for the Senate in Edgecombe and the Populists have arranged to fuse with the Republicans.

"Lee Person is the smartest politician of his race in the South. He is well educated and intelligent, young and active.

"Go to the elections well armed with rocks in your pockets, clubs in your hands and carrying your pistols. And don't allow any officer to arrest you after you have registered until the day after election unless you have stolen something or killed somebody.

Mr. McBride Holt Says:

Greenville, N. C. July 16, '97.

Oneida Cotton Mills:
 About two and a half years ago my little boy about four years, and my little girl about two years, each had an enlargement of the glands about the ears. The trouble appearing on each about the same time, I was inclined to think it mumps, but soon observing to the contrary, I called in the doctor, who said the trouble came from colds, prescribing accordingly, yet swelling continued to grow, until each had to hold or the lance, the little boy having been lanced in three places, and at three times, his face at times, looking alarming. The nature of the trouble was termed one thing by one and another thing by another. This however, did not concern me, as I was looking for a cure, and Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy having been called to my attention so favorably. I dropped the treatment from the doctor and commenced to use Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. To say that the results obtained have been satisfactory is putting it in mild terms, the children, and especially the little boy being entirely well, yet wearing the scars that will ever keep fresh in my memory the merits of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

SYRUP OF FIGS

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, remember the name of the Company.
