Negro Will Receive Fair Treatment

The great Democratic party will again take charge of the legislative halls at the capital of North Carolina. Let all the people rejoice. It means peace and good government for all the people, from the mountains to the sea. And right here we want to emphasize the fact that while negro rule and negro office-holding will forever come to an end in North Carolina, yet the negro will receive, at the hands of the great Democratic party, fair treatment, as he has always received. But let the negro understand, once for all, that his race can never dominate the Anglo-Saxon race. The great Democratic victory is a blessing to the negroes.—Gold-born Argus.

Who Knows Capt. Barton

Louis Graton, of Ithica, N. Y., writes to Greenville that he has in his possession a complete Shakespeare, in one volume, that was captured in this town during the war between the States. There is written on the inside of the cover "Capt. T. (or G.) S. Barton, January 1862." Also on the fly leaf "Captured July 19th, 1863 at Greenville, N. C., from a Rebel Ord. by E. B. W." Mr. Graton would like to communicate with any of Capt. Barton's family or his descendants relative to the return of the book. The letter he wrote was addressed "Methodist Episcopal Minister, Greenville, N. C.," and was received by Rev. N. M. Watson who showed it to THE REFLECTOR. We do not remember any people in this section by the name of Barton but possibly some of the older people may remember the name. If so, and there are any of the Barton descendants who would like to get the book, they can correspond with Mr. Graton.

Gracefully Done

Mayor William Russ, the clerk-elect of Wake county Superior Court, tendered on the morning after the election to Mr. A. W. Moyer the position of chief clerk in his new office. Mr. Moyer was the opponent of Mayor Russ for the nomination for the clerk of the court before the Democratic county convention of Wake. Though Mayor Russ was chosen Mr. Moyer put his shoulder to the wheel and worked for the Mayor and the rest of the ticket as valiantly as did any one.

Mayor Russ was appreciative of this and he did the graceful thing by tendering to Mr. Moyer the position of chief clerk. Mr. Moyer filled that position under Mr. John W. Thomson with great acceptability and efficiency, and a better man could not have been selected.—Raleigh Post.

It gives his friends here at Mr. Moyer's old home pleasure to see a Pitt countian spoken of in this way.

Child Scalded

Saturday afternoon a twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. C. M. Tucker, two miles from town, was badly scalded. She was about the stove in the kitchen where a meal was being cooked. She fell down and in trying to catch pulled the stove over, the contents of the kettles falling on and scalding her lower limbs. The stove falling over started a fire on the kitchen floor, and notwithstanding the child was so badly hurt she went to the well for a bucket of water and put the fire out.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1898

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov 14 98.

Mr. McKinley has been getting some very bad advice concerning the recent race trouble in North and South Carolina, but he has been wise enough not to accept it, or at least, not to carry it out. These unwise advisers have been trying to get Mr. McKinley to order Federal troops into both of those States, although no request for troops has been received from the Governor of either. He has been told that the same section of the United States, Revised Statutes, under which President Cleveland sent Federal troops into Illinois, during the railroad riots, gave him the authority to do so regardless of the regularly constituted authorities of the States. He has done nothing further than to countenance the semi-official statement that if any Federal official in either State was interfered with, a force of Deputy United States Marshals would be used to protect them, and in case of their inability to do so, that they would be reinforced by Federal troops. Some of the men ordered out of both States, among them a white postmaster from South Carolina, are in Washington, trying to pose as martyrs, and to persuade Mr. McKinley to get mixed up in their quarrel; but every one of them would gladly compromise by accepting an appointment in Washington.

There may be Democrats who are downcast over the result of the election, but if so, they have not been seen. All those who are talking on the subject express the opinion that the party made a splendid showing, under the circumstances, and that reducing the Republican majority in the House almost to the vanishing point, puts the Democrats in a better position to make a winning fight in 1900 than they would have been had they captured the next House. With both branches of Congress in their hands, the Republicans will be certain to make lots of good Democratic campaign material in the next two years.

The outcome of the efforts of Boss Hanna and other McKinley boomers to jolly "Teddy" Roosevelt into supporting the claims of Mr. McKinley for renomination in 1900, by promising him that they will support him in 1904, will be watched for with interest. Before Roosevelt was ever thought of as a Rough Rider or as Governor of New York, Mr. McKinley secured Platt's promise of support in 1900, but as Roosevelt only put on the Platt collar after he had practically made his nomination for Governor a certainty, in order to get Platt's machine to help elect him, he may, through his power as Governor, be able to prevent Platt controlling the State delegation to the next National Convention, thus making it impossible for Platt to deliver the promised votes to Mr. McKinley, without his consent. What Roosevelt will do, will depend, in the opinion of those who know his disposition thoroughly, upon what he thinks will best promote his own political interests and upon what he thinks he can accomplish. If he gets the idea that he can secure the nomination himself, the jollying of the friends of Mr. McKinley will have no effect upon him, whatever. It is whispered that Hanna intends to tempt "Teddy" by offering to throw Hobart overboard and make the ticket McKinley and Roosevelt.

Administration Republicans have already begun to put out feelers to ascertain what chance there will be of getting an administration man elected Speaker of the next House, instead of Czar Reed. They are afraid of Reed, who is known to hold anti-administration views on the expansion question, and believed to hold them upon others, but they are also afraid to show their hand unless certain that enough votes to control the Republican caucus can be secured. Every Republican elected to the next House is to be carefully sounded to ascertain whether he would, if the administration desired it, vote against nominating Reed for Speaker. In putting out those feelers, the name of Representative Henderson, of Iowa, is suggested as a possible administration candidate for Speaker, but care is taken to leave the impression that no particular candidate would be insisted on; they only wish to ascertain whether it is possible to defeat Reed.

Should Senator Barrows fail to develop strength enough among the Republicans of the Michigan legislature to get renominated and his failure is expected, Secretary Alger, with the combined backing of Gov. Pingree and Mr. McKinley, will it is understood, make a rush for the Senatorship. It is announced that the administration has sent an ultimatum to Spain, demanding immediate action upon the demand of this government for the Philippines. Just why that announcement should be made now, is a little bit puzzling, but perhaps those who made it know what they are doing, and why they are doing it.

According to those who know, the Republican rejoicing over the alleged defeat of silver in the Congressional campaign is premature. It is predicted that many Republicans elected from Western districts will vote for silver, if it is made necessary for them to vote either for or against it, because the sentiment of their States regardless of politics, is for silver.

According to the official report of Adjutant General Corbin, the number of officers and men killed in battle up to October 3 last was 345. The deaths from disease were 2565, or a total of 2910, out of a total force of 274,717 men, scarcely one-tenth of whom had been called upon to engage in active military service. The Adjutant General finds nothing to criticize or condemn in the organization or personnel of the staff departments; in this, as in other matters, he is at odds with the dominant sentiment of the American people.

During the year ended June 30, 1898, the immigrants arriving in this country numbered 229,299, of whom approximately 80,000 were British, Irish, Germans and Scandinavians, who may be regarded as readily assimilable accretions to our populations; the rest were mainly from Southern and Eastern Europe. But a nation which stands ready to take in at one gulp some ten million Malaysians, Kazakas, Chino-Mestizos and West Indian mulattoes and negroes should not make wry faces over the coming of a beggarly 130,000 Sicilians, Poles, Russians, Greeks and "Huns."—Philadelphia Record.

There are 16,000 miles of street railways in the United States and the rails if laid end to end would encircle the earth one and a third times.

Item.

Badly Named. Mr. Beerholm Tree relates an amusing story about a boisterous voyage from New York. He was lying in his cabin. The luggage and fittings were flying round. The vessel was rolling terribly. Suddenly there was an extra special lurch. Mr. Tree was knocked to the floor by a heavy weight and lay half stunned. On fully recovering his senses he looked to see what it was that had felled him. It was an admirable contrivance and was marked, in bold letters, "Life Saving Apparatus."—London Globe.

FARO BUILT THE CHURCH.

Bishop Put Up a Good Fight, and the Sports Clipped in $1,800.

Bishop Worthington of Omaha is now a strict churchman. His sermons are severe in doctrine and hold out little hope to sinners unless they repent. However, the bishop knows human nature. He learned it in the best school for an education of that kind—the far west.

Years ago, when Mr. Worthington was a recent graduate from the theological seminary, he began his gospel work in Butte, Mon. The town was then a mining camp pure and simple. It had saloons, dance halls and gambling rooms, but neither church nor school. Its inhabitants were rough, tough and ready—manliness was their god, and it was this manliness which made the west what it is.

At college Worthington was a boxer and an oarsman. In Butte these accomplishments served him well, for they gave him a strong arm and a quick eye. His gospel services were held in a tent. There was no money to build a church.

One day as he was walking along the principal street the bully of the town approached him.

"Do you want to fight?" asked the desperado.

"No," replied the clergyman.

"Then take that!"

But "that" never came. Worthington warded off the blow, and with his good right fist sent the bully to grass in scientific fashion.

That night the affair was talked over in Cy Henry's gambling house.

"I like that chap Worthington," said Bill Johnson. "He strikes a good blow. Let's all play for him tonight."

The proposition was agreed to, and the next morning $1,800 won at faro was presented to the minister. That money built the first church in Butte. —Chicago Chronicle.

ORIGIN OF KALAMAZOO.

Pretty Legend That Is Responsible For the Town's Name.

The name of Kalamazoo, like Oshkosh and one or two others, has come to be to foreigners a synonym of American absurdity. It is often chosen, for some occult reason, to illustrate that form of vernacular English known as "United States."

But all thought of ridicule vanishes when its romantic origin is considered, for it is the echo still lingering about the memory of two dusky lovers, who, in that long gone time when Michigan was the home mainly of Indian tribes, lived and loved on the banks of the river which now bears their names.

Kahla, the young warrior, was straight of limb and eagle eyed, while to Mahzoo had been given by the Great Spirit the many graces and virtues for which Indian maidens have become noted in song and legend. Life to these two possessed all the charm which true affection has ever granted to lovers, and the days, as they came and went, brought only abounding joy.

Each summer evening, as the twilight deepened and the time drew near for her lover's return from the chase, the maiden watched from her bower in the swaying branches of a giant elm overhanging the river's edge for the first sign of his coming. As the bow of his canoe shot round the curve away in the distance her clear musical voice called to him, "Kahla, Kahla!" and from the young warrior came in loving tones the response, "Mahzoo!" —Chicago Times-Herald.

Twain's Material For Stories.

In Berlin, when one pays his fare to the conductor of a street car, he receives a ticket, which is soon afterward collected by an inspector, who boards the car at a fixed point. One day, just as a joke, Mark Twain paid his fare 15 times on one trip, each time throwing the ticket out of the window or under his seat as soon as he had deposited the regular fare with the conductor. A few minutes later the inspector would get on the car and demand tickets all around. Of course Twain had none to show and had to buy another, apparently with reluctance. The performance amused the American, dumfounded the conductor, who had never met so reckless a passenger, and tickled the native passengers, who thought the foreigner well punished for his negligence. By this modest investment material was obtained for a capital story, which netted Mark Twain just $500. —Ladies' Home Journal.

Homesick.

A recent article on homesickness recalls the reply made by a young Swedish maid to her mistress. It expresses clearly, though in imperfect English, what every sufferer from homesickness feels.

"You ought to be contented and not fret for your old home, Ina," said the lady as she looked at the dim eyes of the girl. "You are earning good wages, your work is light, every one is kind to you and you have plenty of friends here."

"Yas'm," said the girl, "but it is not the place where I do be that makes me vera homesick, it is the place where I don't be." —Youth's Companion.

Public libraries spend vast sums of money to make their collections complete. In the Boston Public library is a collection of works relating to Shakespeare which cost $50,000.

True Enough

The American masses are rapidly learning the great truth that any scheme, plan or process which promises "something for nothing" is, and of necessity must be, a fake or a fraud. A scheme which virtually promises this, it is true, may sometimes be so skillfully devised, the cloven hoof may be so cunningly covered, that for a time it may deceive the public, but sooner or later common sense comes to the rescue and it meets with detection.—Ad Sense.

Good Tobacco

Mr. R. J. Little, of this county, had one barn of tobacco here at the premium sale on last Thursday. He received $194 for the barn besides being awarded a premium of $25, making a total of $219 for the one barn. This shows that there is money in raising good tobacco.

Every advertisement should have careful consideration. All the discrepancies should be eliminated. No careless statements should be allowed.

A good advertisement will always bring profitable returns, if placed in a paper whose price for space is based on an honest circulation statement.—Bates.

Don't.

- Don't kick an infuriated dog when you have slippers on.
- Don't think that an apology always wipes out an offense.
- Don't forget that the darkest hour is only sixty minutes.
- Don't attempt to judge a girl's love for you by what she says.
- Don't ret the fool. There are too many people doing that naturally.
- Don't sacrifice the certainties of today for the uncertainties of tomorrow.
- Don't be afraid to speak out loud. The world is too busy to listen to whispers.

C. T. MUNFORD.

C. T. MUNFORD.

MORE THAN PLEASED.

There is a firm, to know their name, Just on this paper o'er. Who once asked me, as they ask you, To step into their store. I bought a suit, I took it home, I found it cheap and nice. And I never fail to recommend That firm for Price. Price. Price.

I took a walk, I saw all eyes Observing my new clothes: I was a model and admired By friends, also by foes. I set the fashions for the town, And travelled many a mile To tell the people where to go For Style, Style, Style.

The more I wore that suit of clothes The better they did please I advertised Munford's store until The clerks were brisk as bees. 'This suit' so kept its stylish shape, (Well-made and firmly knit). 'That still' it takes the premium! For Fit, Fit Fit.

So if you'd be a happy man, Just follow my example And if you'd be a stylish man. Just take me for a sample. Go to Munford's store where the grade Are new, and cheap and nice, And see if they do not excel For Style, and Fit and Prices.
