Shot on the Road

Going home from town a few nights ago Mr. Marion Crawford and a gentleman riding with him were fired on from ambush near Reedy Branch church. Neither of the men was hit, but the lead of shot went into the side of the horse they were driving.

Cemetery Enlarged

Some time ago the town purchased a plot of ground on the Rouse property to be added to Cherry Hill Cemetery. This new plot and the Methodist cemetery have both been taken into the enclosure with Cherry Hill and it is now all one. The new addition has been laid off in lots for sale.

The finest That Grow

Tuesday night the editor of THE REFLECTOR received from Wilmington a bucket of the famous New River oysters. They were the finest oysters we ever saw and we never enjoyed a feast of live ones more. They were sent by our good friend Capt. Edgar L. Hart, one of the clever Coast Line conductors between Wilmington and Norfolk. He has our heartiest thanks for the elegant feast.

Thanksgiving Day

Thursday of next week is Thanksgiving Day. For several years past Greenville has observed the day by a suspension of business. THE REFLECTOR has heard no expression from them so far, but we suppose that the custom will be continued this year and that the business houses will close next Thursday, 24th.

STATE NEWS

Some Charlotte boys were playing with a small rifle which they "didn't know was loaded." The gun went off, as usual, smashing one boy's jaw bone and knocking out several teeth.

A distressing accident occurred in Gaston county Saturday afternoon, causing the death of the 14-year-old son of Mr. Jacob Jenkins, who lives near Stanley Creek. The boy was hunting with a muzzle-loading shotgun, and in attempting to shoot it, the tube was blown out, passing through his head. The unfortunate boy died Saturday night.

The disposition of North Carolina tobacco manufacturers is to give employment to a larger number of whites in their factories hereafter.

William Mayo, the only white man seriously injured in the Wilmington riots, is in a fair way to recovery.

An unfortunate circumstance in which a worthy young man lost his life occurred near Pikeville Saturday. Mr. Wm. Thompson, son of Mr. Jim Thompson, went hunting Saturday and killed a rabbit. He was holding the rabbit in front of him in one hand and his gun in the other. The dogs were jumping up to catch hold of the rabbit and in jumping up one of the dogs struck the hammer of the gun and caused the gun to fire. Death was instantaneous.—Goldsboro Argus.

Points About Advertising.

Newspaper advertising is the best kind of advertising, because it will carry the information to more people for less cost than any other kind.

The mere fact that a man advertises is by no means an insurance of business success. He must give constant, careful thought to the subject.

It isn't such a hard thing to write good ads, it is mainly a question of taking time enough and giving the matter the requisite amount of thought.

Men who are not honest—who do not keep their promises—whose advertisements mislead, and whose stores disappoint—they had better let advertising alone.

If all the money that is wasted in worthless media were concentrated in the best paper, it would carry a good advertisement straight through the dull season.—Bates.

Coming Back

We understand that Messrs. Bertram and Willard will return to Greenville the latter part of December and give another play with home talent. The date for the play will probably be on the 30th.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1898

J. B. Fortune, a clerk of the United States Court of the Eastern District of North Carolina, and a Republican of the straightest sect, is out in a card in which he says the negroes should be colonized and every leading negro in the United States should begin advocating it.

This week's Progressive Farmer says "The Wilmington riot is to be deplored. But as to the negro editor Manly—he did not get as much as he deserved. We cannot yet understand why decent white people allowed him to stay in Wilmington a single day after his infamous slander was published."

Must Keep On Paying War Taxes.

The Washington Post says that the war tax will not be abolished at the coming short session of Congress and that there will be no revision of the tariff, whatever. It bases this announcement on the positive statement made by Chairman Dingley, of the ways and means committee, who in an interview, said: "The government will need for some time all the revenue produced by the war taxes."

During the last fiscal year, according to the report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, the net increase in the number of post offices in the United States was 2548, or nearly four times the increase for the previous year, was 662. Territorial expansion is to be held accountable for some of this large increase in post offices and no small share of it is due to the development of postal facilities in the hitherto neglected Western Territories and in Alaska.

Judge Not

One must be conversant with the circumstances and facts surrounding a deed to properly judge it. Try to put yourself in the place of the other man before you criticize him. The honor of their women has ever been a thing dearer than life to the Southern men. The sacred institutions of the South are precious legacies from revered fathers. Their homes represent not only the living, with their loved ones, but cherished memories, handed down respected, honored, loved and protected from generation to generation.

When reports go abroad of dissatisfaction with local affairs, remember that it is local. That while it is fair here a terrible storm may be brewing elsewhere. Get the facts, ye who are fit to criticize, and not till then form your opinion.—Norfolk Virginian Pilot.

Politics Hurts the Negro

Why a race riot, if the whites feel so kindly towards the blacks? What caused this race clash in Wilmington? Why cannot the whites and the blacks, if they like each other, and they do, live together in peace and friendship. Politics! Politics!! Politics!!! That is the answer. That is what has gotten the negro into trouble ever since he was set free, and we have been trying to impress that fact upon the black man. The whites do not try to pull the negro down. The negro has a fair chance in this country, not only to make a living, but to advance himself, and if he educates himself and accumulates property, he will be respected for what he is worth, he will be protected in his property rights, he will have the good will of the white man. It is only when the negro tries to force himself into office, only when he tries to lord it over the white man that he comes to grief.—Richmond Times.

A PECULIAR REMEDY.

Something About the New Discovery for Curing Dyspepsia.

The Rev. F. I. Bell, a highly esteemed minister residing in Weedsport Cayuga Co., N. Y., in a recent letter writes as follows: "There has never been anything that I have taken that has relieved the Dyspepsia from which I have suffered for ten years except the new remedy called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Since taking them I have had no distress at all after eating and again after long years and sleep well. Rev. F. I. Bell, Weedsport, N. Y., formerly Idaho Colorado.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remarkable remedy, not only because it is a certain cure for all forms of indigestion, but because it seems to act as a thorough and old chronic cases of dyspepsia as well as in mild attacks of indigestion or biliousness. A person has dyspepsia simply because the stomach is overworked, all it wants is a harmless, vegetable remedy to digest the food and thus give it the much needed rest.

This is the secret of the success of this peculiar remedy. No matter how weak or how much disordered the digestion may be, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. New life and energy is given not only to the stomach but to every organ and nerve in the body. A trial of this splendid medicine will convince the most skeptical that Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles can be cured. The tablets are prepared by the F. A. Stuart Co., of Marshall, Mich., but so popular has the remedy become that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can now be obtained at any drug store at 50 cents per package. Send for book on stomach diseases free.

Kind But Firm

The Southern people are disposed to have nothing but the kindest feelings for the negroes, but they are not going to submit to negro rule. Any and all attempts to subject them to such sovereignty must fail, and they might as well be abandoned now as later. The persistent efforts to place a higher and more civilized race under the feet of an inferior one are a disgrace to the country and can only retard the progress and prosperity of the colored population of the South. If the negro understands his own best interests, he will be delivered from meddling and fanatical friends.—Baltimore Sun.

"Some of the applications for relief sent to the local committees by sufferers from bush fires are strangely worded," says the Melbourne Argus. "Here is an extract from one by a widow: 'I have in family four dairy cows, two pigs, a horse and three children, all these being by my first husband, and two goats in full milk and a baby by my second husband. All of the animals was lost in the fire.'"

Peabody and the Boatman.

Many years ago John Bright and George Peabody, the philanthropist, were fishing in a little Irish stream. Late in the evening, after a hard day's work, the party arrived at the landing stage, and Bright, accosting the inevitable policeman on the bank, said: "What is the proper price to pay these boatmen, constable?" He replied, "Seven shillings and sixpence, yer honor, but some gentlemen give them 10 shillings." Bright, turning to his companion, said, "I have no change, Peabody; have you three half crowns?" The millionaire produced the coins and gave them to one of the boatmen. "Is that all ye're giving me?" asked the latter. "That's all," said Peabody. Holding the coins in the open palm of his hand, and slowly scratching his head with the other, the boatman said: "And they call ye Paybody, don't they? Well, I call ye Paynobody."—New York Tribune.

Nauseous Doses.

Nauseous medicines nowadays possess none of the terrors that many of us remember when "powders" were given in jam and castor oil in hot milk, as pharmacists have invented no end of ways of giving the nastiest drugs without any flavor at all. Castor oil, cod liver oil and things of that disagreeable kind are made up in little flexible capsules, which slip down the throat like a strawberry. These capsules are also made in two parts, so that any one can buy them empty and put the powder or other drug in himself, sealing them and then swallowing them without knowing that the drug has a taste. Then there is the round wafer paper, in which can be enclosed any kind of bolus, pill or powder and which, when moistened, can be swallowed with ease.—New York World.

A Clever Witness.

In a recent county court case in which a man sued another for balance of wages the defendant called a witness. Witness—I beg pardon, your honor. Before I give my evidence I want my expenses. Judge (to defendant)—Pay him 7s. 6d. The defendant having done so, the judge said, "Now that you have had your expenses, what do you know of the case?" Witness—Nothing at all, your honor.—London Tit-Bits.

Cautious Tennyson.

A clergyman is quoted by Sir M. E. Grant Duff in his memoirs as authority for the story that on the occasion of Hallam's going down to Richmond to be godfather to Tennyson's eldest boy the historian asked, "What is to be the child's name?" "Hallam," answered the poet. "I don't like surnames for Christian names," said the other. "Why not call him Alfred?" "What if he were to turn out a fool?" was the reply.

George IV's Wit.

Mrs. Byrne, in her "Social Hours With Celebrities," tells this anecdote of George IV's wit: "I remember one of the Rev. Mr. Wagner's stories concerned some nobleman who had enjoyed an unenviable reputation for assinnity. It had been suggested to the king to confer on him an order of the Thistle, which had become vacant. 'Give the Thistle to —!' exclaimed the king. 'Why, he'd eat it!'"

Incorrigible.
 A poor little street Arab was brought into a hospital by the police. He had been run over by an omnibus and was badly injured. The chaplain was sent for, as it was thought improbable that the boy would live many hours. With little tact the chaplain began the interview thus: "My boy, the doctors think you are very much hurt. Have you been a good little boy?"
 Boy (much bored)—You git aout!
 Chaplain (shocked)—But I am afraid you are not a good little boy, and you know you may perhaps be going to die.
 Boy (anxious to end the interview)—Well, tain't none o' your business anyhow. Wot's me death got to do with you? 'Ave you got a pal in the coffin line?
 It is pleasant to be able to relate that the boy finally recovered.
 Now and then the doctor is believed to be almost omniscient. A patient in a military hospital was constantly getting into hot water because he smuggled food into the wards. One morning his medical officer was about to examine his throat with a laryngoscope. Seeing the little mirror all ready for use the man's chum whispered an anxious warning from the adjoining bed. "I say, Bill, you'd best 'ave a care. 'Ee moight 'appen to see wot yer 'ad for supper lawst noight."—Cornhill Magazine.

Could Sleep at Will.
 A friend of the late Dr. William Pepper of Philadelphia tells how he could go to sleep at will. "Will you excuse me, Mrs. —?" he would say sometimes. "I could talk with you much more satisfactorily if I had a few minutes' nap. Jane, make Mrs. — comfortable and wake me in ten minutes."
 Outside the office would be crowded with people waiting to see him—about the Philadelphia museums, the University of Pennsylvania, the public libraries, or about their health, but he would go into his own room behind the office, would stretch out on the lounge, throw a rug over his knees and closing his eyes would be asleep at once. Ten minutes later he would be roused by his servant and would at once resume his conversation with the patient at the point at which it had been dropped. He would sleep in his carriage as he was driven from one appointment to another. He would sleep in a train, in a strange parlor or library, in private or in public, absolutely indifferent to comment.

School Holidays in France.
 Two hundred and six holidays in the year, as against 159 school days! That's the record of public instruction in France. To begin with, there is the regular midsummer holiday, which covers a period of 64 days. That's pretty good for a starter. Then there are the Sundays. They are holidays of course everywhere, but they count an additional 52 days. Then ten days are allowed for the proper celebration of Christmas and New Year's. To be thoroughly observant of the great feast of Easteride 15 days are given. Thursdays are holidays, and that means 52 more days of no labor. All Saints' comes in for three days' holiday, St. Charlemagne two days, Shrove Tuesday and Ash Wednesday two days, Whitsuntide three days, and three days to make merry when the national fete in July rolls round. The rest of the year the children are supposed to study.—Philadelphia Ledger.

World's Largest Workhouse.
 The largest workhouse in the world is at Liverpool, where the workhouse has accommodation for no fewer than 5,000 inmates. It is not, however, often filled, as only half of its many dormitories are occupied by the permanent pauper residents. There are occasions, such as a labor strike, if long continued, which cause it to fill up rapidly, and then it proves none too big for the requirements of the union. Liverpool has a large number of poor, but it is especially munificent in its charities. Of these the chief are the Bluecoat hospital, maintaining and educating 350 children; the Orphan asylum, the Seamen's Orphan asylum in Newsam park, containing about 400 boys and an equal number of girls; schools for the blind and the deaf and dumb, industrial schools, and a number of hospitals.—London Tit-Bits.

School Laws in Switzerland.
 If a child in Switzerland does not attend school on a particular day, the parent gets a notice from the public authority that he is fined so many francs. The second day the fine is increased, and by the third day the amount becomes a serious one. In case of sickness the pupil is excused, but if there be any suspicion of shamming a doctor is sent. If the suspicion proves to be well founded, the parent is required to pay the cost of the doctor's visit.

Financially Weak.
 "Madam, you've already overdrawn your account."
 "What's that?"
 "You haven't any more money in the bank."
 "The idea! A fine bank, I think, to be out of money because of the little I've drawn! Well, I'll go somewhere else."—Chicago Record.

Tobacco was discovered in Santo Domingo in 1496, in Yucatan by the Spaniards in 1520. It was introduced into France in 1560, and into England in 1583.

WINE OF CARDUI
For Mothers!
 THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says:
 "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

True Enough
 The American masses are rapidly learning the great truth that any scheme, plan or process which promises "something for nothing" is, and of necessity must be, a fake or a fraud. A scheme which virtually promises this, it is true, may sometimes be so skillfully devised, the cloven hoof may be so cunningly covered, that for a time it may deceive the public, but sooner or later common sense comes to the rescue and it meets with detection.—Ad Sense.
 Manager W. S. Atkins has had a new directory printed giving a list of subscribers to the Greenville Telephone Exchange. Many new phones have been put in since the last list was printed.

Two Classes.
 There are two classes of people in the world—those who have done something and want their names kept out of the paper, and those who haven't done anything worth printing and want their names put in.—Wilmington Sun.
The Evening Paper
 The larger the percentage of the circulation of a paper that reaches the home, the greater the advertising value of the paper. The paper that goes into the home is the evening paper. It is the one most largely read. It is the women's paper. It is, therefore, the buyer's paper. It is the advertiser's best medium.—Ottumwa (Ia.) Courier.

C. T. MUNFORD.

C. T. MUNFORD.
MORE THAN PLEASED.
 There is a firm, to know their name, Just on this paper o'er, Who once asked me, as they ask you, To step into their store. I bought a suit, I took it home, I found it cheap and nice. And I never fail to recommend That firm for Price, Price, Price.
 I took a walk, I saw all eyes Observing my new clothes: I was a model and admired By friends, also by foes. I set the fashions for the town, And travelled many a mile To tell the people where to go For Style, Style, Style.
 The more I wore that suit of clothes The better they did please I advertised Munford's store until The clerks were brisk as bees, 'This suit' so kept its stylish shape, (Well-made and firmly knit), 'That still' it takes the premium! For: Fit, Fit Fit.
 So if you'd be a happy man, Just follow my example And if you'd be a stylish man, Just take me for a sample. Go to Munford's store where the grade Are new, and cheap and nice, And see if they do not excel For Style, and Fit and Prices.
