WHITE MEN IN CHARGE

The Government of Greenville Undergoes a Change

There has been a revolution in the government of Greenville, and it has come about peaceably and quietly. The condition of Greenville and the town being controlled by negroes was well known over the State, for there was hardly a Democratic speaking anywhere during the campaign but what it was referred to. And to correct such a condition that existed in this and similarly afflicted towns in the State and restore them to the control of white men, was the prime cause of the Democrats carrying the election so overwhelmingly.

Greenville had six Councilmen, only two of whom were white men. Saturday morning John Marable, one of the colored Councilmen of the First Ward, filed a resignation. A special meeting of the Board was called and his resignation was accepted, but his successor was not chosen at that time, the meeting adjourning until today for that purpose. When Chief of Police Fred Cox heard of Marable's resignation, rather than wait to be dismissed by the Board he hunted up Mayor Furber and handed in his resignation and badge of office.

This morning the Board met to elect another Councilman from the First Ward and Mr. W. H. Long was chosen. William Britt, one of the colored Councilmen from the Third Ward, had in the meantime prepared his resignation which was handed in and accepted, and Mr. R. A. Tyson was elected to succeed him. This turned things around and gave us a Board composed of four white men and two colored.

The first step then taken by the new Board was to dismiss Moses King, the colored Assistant Police. An election of police officers was then held, and Mr. T. F. Christman was made Chief and Mr. R. M. Kennedy was made assistant.

So Greenville is once more under white government and the people are to be congratulated. Now let everybody stand by those in authority and we will have one of the best governed towns in North Carolina and the interest of every citizen, white and colored, will be properly protected.

Thanksgiving Services

There will be union services here on Thanksgiving day. The morning service will be held in the Methodist church and the evening service in the Baptist church. The collection at the morning service will be for the Oxford Orphan Asylum, and at the evening service for the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville. The orphans should be generously remembered.

THOMAS J. JARVIS.

The great work of this distinguished man in the recent campaign seems to have escaped the notice of the press since the election.

This is the second time Gov. Jarvis has been a principal factor in the redemption of North Carolina from Republican misrule. In 1869 and '70 he was our bulwark of safety in the legislature and along with Plato Durham he made so gallant a fight in the House that we obtained control of the next General Assembly. In 1876 he was selected as Vance's mate and put on a ticket that crushed Republicanism in North Carolina. The gigantic services of Jarvis in those days need not be recounted. They can never be forgotten. It is something that seldom falls to the lot of man to be one of the chief factors in the second redemption of his native State. Yet such it is, to the glory of Gov. Jarvis. At the opening of this campaign he was placed on the Central managing Committee. It is said that our great campaign book issued by our State Committee, a veritable arsenal of political ammunition, was principally the work and compilation of Jarvis. His campaign this year extended over the entire State from Cherokee to Tyrrell. From early in July to election day he travelled hundreds of miles and gave every day to the service of his State and his party. His speeches upon the great issue were unsurpassed, and of tremendous vote-getting power.

Such unequalled services, rendered so faithfully and so constantly for thirty years, ought never to be forgotten.

Had not the Senatorial career of Thomas J. Jarvis been nipped in its beginning by the killing frost of fusion he would now be a political character of national proportions. His is truly clarum et venerabile nomen.—Washington Messenger.

White Workmen Discharged

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 17.—The white ship carpenters, caulkers, and other workmen, employed at the United States government yard and dock here, have been discharged and negro workmen employed in their places by the United States authorities.

The men refused to work on Thursday last, when their homes would be their doing so have been left unprotected, but nothing was said about discharging them until today, when Capt. Capt. William E. Chaghill, the engineer in charge, dismissed the entire force.

Great indignation is felt at this action of the government.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1898.

Horrible Accident

F. J. Snipes, a farmer living some ten miles from Durham was in town Tuesday and Wednesday with tobacco, which he sold on this market.

From the best information we can gather the mules were soon detached from the wagon, and Mr Snipes being entangled in the reins, was dragged along the road at a breakneck speed for several miles; some say for at least two and a half or three miles.

Mr. Snipes was carried to his home and tenderly cared for. The latest news we have from him today is that he was still living up to 10 o'clock, but there is little hope of his recovery.

The State Auditor finds that there are now 5,440 pensioners. The number of soldier pensioners is 117 greater than it was last year, while that of widows is 59 less.

Young Man, Read This

Such an exchange; Don't get the big head, my friends, especially you self important young men. This world can get along without you just as well as it gets along with you.

Democratic Negro Burned Out

Henry Cuthbertson, colored, votes the Democratic ticket. Some days before the election he received an anonymous note warning him that if he voted that ticket this time, he might look out.

An Example to Men

When it comes to real hard work there are few women (or men either, for that matter) in Burke county of her age who can "keep their end up" with Mrs. R. J. Epley, who lives on what is known as the Michael Pearson place near Hennessee.

Another act which the Legislature should pass is one requiring that bank stock should be returned for taxation by some officer of the institution, as is building and loan stock and that of other incorporated companies.

NO WASTE OF WORDS.

Evidence Which is Right to the Point and Reliable.

Judge Frank Ives of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit with few exceptions.

George W. Roosevelt, U. S. Consul to Brussels Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion.

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, mechanical engineer, Daulton, Minn.: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done his work, and I am again gaining flesh and strength.

O. E. Ransom, Hu tonville, Ky: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day, had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one.

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis.: The effects of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvelous, a quite hearty dinner of broiled beefsteak causes no distress since I began their use.

Over six thousand people in the State of Michigan alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Full sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50 cents, or sent by mail on receipt of price from F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

The heart is ever happy, There's sunlight in the soul, For Love has painted a picture there And given it a frame of gold.

A QUEER CALCULATION.

The Power That Would Be Required to Move the Earth.

Statisticians sometimes have queer ideas. One of them has amused himself by calculating how much energy, water and coal it would take to move the earth a foot, supposing that it was subjected throughout its mass to a force equivalent to terrestrial gravitation.

Starting with the fact that the earth's mass is about 6,100 million-million-million tons, our statistician calculates that we should require 70,000,000,000 years for a 10,000 horsepower engine to move our globe a foot.

If we realize that this fantastically huge amount of energy is nothing at all compared with what the earth possesses in virtue of its rotation about its axis, its revolution about the sun, and its translation in space with the solar system, of which the earth is but an infinitesimal part and which itself is but an infinitesimal part of the universe, we may get some idea of the importance of man in the universe and estimate his incommensurable pride at its just value.

DAINGEROUS PIGS.

The Peccary is Wholly Fearless and Will Fight Man or Beast.

A writer in the St. Louis Republic says that the most vicious and fearless member of the brute creation is the peccary, or wild hog, of Mexico.

Their ability to scent men is particularly marked. The only thing to do when they get after you is to run away from them as fast as a horse can carry you, and then there is no certainty that they won't catch you.

A friend of mine encountered a drove of them in a wild part of Mexico a few years ago, and his escape was almost miraculous. He very foolishly shot and wounded a number of them.

The peccaries kept him in the tree all that day and through the night. They circled round the tree, grunting and squealing their delight at the prospect of a feast.

Toward morning they began to eat those he had killed, after which they formed in line and trotted off. If they had not had some of their own number to devour, they would have guarded that tree until my friend, through sheer exhaustion, dropped from his perch and allowed them to make a meal of him.

The wildcats and tigers that infest the Mexican wilds flee from the peccaries with instinctive fear, and even rattlesnakes keep out of their path.

He Could Get Them.

When he was a Harvard student, the late Sherman Hoar became famous as a maker of epigrams. One evening he had been indulging in his usual style of conversation in the rooms of Professor D., a man after his own heart, but too apt to interlard his lectures with apparently original witticisms taken, after the manner of Moliere, wherever he found them.

"Go to D.'s lecture tomorrow and take notes," said Hoar. "You'll get them then."—Exchange.

CHERRY RIPE.
 There is a garden in her face
 Where roses and white lilies grow;
 A heavenly paradise is that place
 Wherein all pleasant fruits do flow.
 There cherries grow which none may buy
 Till "Cherry ripe" themselves do cry.
 Those cherries fairly do inclose
 Of orient pearl a double row,
 Which when her lovely laughter shows
 They look like rosebuds filled with snow.
 Yet them nor peer nor prince can buy
 Till "Cherry ripe" themselves do cry.
 Her eyes like angels watch them still,
 Her brows like bended bows do stand,
 Threatening with piercing frowns to kill
 All that attempt with eye or hand
 Those sacred cherries to come nigh
 Till "Cherry ripe" themselves do cry.
 —Thomas Campion (1610).

THE SLY POLAR BEAR.
 How He Gets His Dinner of Seal or Walrus Meat.
 In his native home the polar bear does not often meet with small boys anxious to treat him to buns and other dainties. The consequence is that Bruin has to devise many curious ways of securing his food, and none is more strange and interesting than that related by two trustworthy travelers in Greenland, that country of strange sights.
 They have known the polar bear to take a stone or a huge lump of ice in his fore paws and from a favorable height, as a cliff or a precipitous ice hill, to hurl the missile down upon the head of a walrus, an enormous brute often twice the size of the bear, and so stun him that Bruin could rush in and complete the destruction at his leisure, thus securing a month's rations.
 The most usual food of the ice bear, as the Germans very appropriately call this beast, is the common seal of the arctic regions. The latter is the wariest animal of the north, and both Eskimo and polar bear need their best strategy to catch it.
 In the summer time, when the snow is off the ice of the ocean shore and islets, the seals can be plainly seen as black dots on the ice, probably asleep, but always near their holes, which lead down through the thick ice to the water below, and into which they can throw themselves by the least movement. Bruin, seeing one afar, walks up as near as he deems safe and then begins crawling on his wary prey.
 The seal, if the weather be sunny and pleasant, takes short naps, relieved by shorter moments when it is scanning the vicinity for signs of an enemy's approach. During these times the bear is very quiet and as still as death itself, with eyes apparently closed, though really a corner of each is kept open, and in this way he hopes the seal will take him for a heap of snow, an appearance which his coat readily helps him to assume.
 During the naps he creeps forward with greater or less rapidity, according to his nearness to the seal and consequent fear of being heard or seen. When but 10 or 12 yards away, and the seal is in the depths of a good nap, the bear rushes upon him and with a single blow of his powerful paw knocks the smaller brute senseless and so far away from the hole that he cannot escape by that way, even if the blow received is not immediately fatal.
 In winter time the ice is covered with snow, and this is hollowed out by the seal into a snowhouse, covering the hole in the ice and connecting at the top of the dome with an aperture about the size of a shilling, called the blowhole, for it is through this that the seal breathes when he is in want of fresh air.
 Here the bear watches for many a long hour if necessary, and when the snorts of the seal are heard he crushes in the fragile dome of the snowhouse with his paw, impaling the seal on his curved claws, and proceeds to practically demonstrate how polar bears can subsist in an arctic winter.—London Telegraph.

COMMERCIAL ENGLISH.
 Warning to Those Who Would Send Trade Circulars Abroad.
 Manufacturers who wish to do an export business must have their circulars and catalogues translated into foreign languages, says Engineering, but care should be taken that the translator is not only a good linguist, but also an expert in the particular business to which the documents to be translated refer. Otherwise the translation is apt to be a matter of ridicule to those to whom it is sent.
 We cannot well give an instance to show how an English circular might be translated into bad German, for example, but the London Engineer gives us the following illustration of a translation from another language into English, which is probably no worse than many translations from English.
 "We pique ourselves," says the circular, "on making you known that the sale of the — has, by us, undertaken. This prepared, exclusively arranged by some vegetables, is entirely spoiled about something hurtful to the steam boiler blades. By our prepared every calcareous substance is neutralized, reducing it to power, and at the same time steam boiler blades are conserved from the usual corrosion, not only, but the ebullition, is totally avoided, as it appears about some very interesting experiments, which have been made in several establishments."
 In conclusion the circular adds, "To be willing, this prepared may be decomposed."

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

The discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

C. T. MUNFORD.

MORE THAN PLEASED.

There is a firm, to know their name, Just on this paper over, Who once asked me, as they ask you, To step into their store. I bought a suit, I took it home, I found it cheap and nice. And I never fail to recommend That firm for Price, Price, Price.

I took a walk, I saw all eyes Observing my new clothes: I was a model and I admired By friends, also by foes. I set the fashions for the town, And travelled many a mile To tell the people where to go For Style, Style, Style.

The more I wore that suit of clothes— The better they did please I advertised Munford's store until The clerks were brisk as bees. This suit so kept its stylish shape, (Well-made and firmly knit), That still it takes the premium For Fit, Fit, Fit.

So if you'd be a happy man, Just follow my example And if you'd be a stylish man. Just take me for a sample. Go to Munford's store where the grade Are new, and cheap and nice, And see if they do not excel For Style, and Fit and Prices.
