C. L. BARRETT FOR READING CLERK.

FALKLAND, N. C., Dec 13, '98.
MR. EDITOR:—We are informed that our countyman, C. L. Barrett, is a candidate for Reading Clerk of the House of Representatives. I think I voice the best wishes of the best people of old Pitt when I say that I hope he will be successful. Mr. Barrett has ever been ready, at the first blast of the bugle call of Democracy to fill well his part—he did not hesitate though it might be to lead a forlorn hope when victory appeared much less certain than defeat or when the rallying cry awakening the people to demonstrations of enthusiasm to bring out the voters, securing success, he was ever in the van steadfast to the grand old party all the time. Neither the influence of closest kinship, in the days of independentism, or the allurements of pie counters of the Populists could cause him to deviate or scratch a ticket.

No one who knows Mr. Barrett can doubt that he will fill the requirements of the office with honor to himself, and to the full satisfaction of branch of that the Legislature.

ORIGINAL OBSERVATION.

Made by the Orange Va. Orscrver.

Women are the only clothes observers.

Words that can never die:

"Shut that door!"
Some people are so given to lying that they become immune to telling the truth.

"Heaven lies about us in our infancy"—and the world lies about us ever afterwards.

Our people now observe groundhog day all the week—its sausage season, you know.

New Law Firm.

Attention is called to the professional card of Aycock, Fleming & Moore. This firm composed of C. B. Aycock, of Goldsboro, J. L. Fleming and L. I. Moore, of Greenville, and is a strong one. Mr. Aycock is among the best lawyers in the State and was United States Attorney for four years. The Greenville members of the firm stand with the best of the profession. Mr. Moore, being Solicitor of this district, will not be interested in the criminal practice of the firm.

Did you see any frost this morning?

What They Say.

Two of the editors who were in attendance upon the recent Baptist State Convention here, express themselves as follows as to the manner in which Greenville entertained the body.

Mr. E. E. Hilliard, of the Scotland Neck Commonwealth, says:

"Greenville even surpassed its reputation for old time like Southern hospitality. Every one seemed to vie with every other one in the royal entertainment given to all who went. Latch-strings were not considered, for the doors were wide open at every home and Greenville for the time belonged to the Baptist State Convention."

Mr. J. W. Bailey of the Biblical Recorder, Raleigh, says:

"The entertainment of the Convention was accomplished with wondrous ease. There was not a shadow of trouble, not a home but could have entertained more delegates, and many there were that wanted more. The whole town gave its warmest hospitality to all. All denominations greeted us with genuine welcome. There was not a jar; there is nothing to regret; there is much to joy in."

STATE NEWS.

Statesville aldermen have passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale or giving away of fire works in that town.

Mr. L. M. Hoffman, of Dallas, county, raised an average of 707 pounds of lint cotton to the acre on 3½ acres of ground this year.

The State auditor says the returns of property as compiled show an increase of $6,500,000 over last year, and $8,500,000 over 1896.

Gin House Burned.

On Wednesday the gin house on Mr. Alfred Forbes, Pollard place, three miles from town, where Mr. William McArthur lives, was destroyed by fire. Several bales of cotton were also destroyed with the building. The fire started in the lint room but it is not known how it originated.

The Memorial Window.

The list of subscriptions for the memorial window in the Baptist church is in the hands of D. J. Whichard for collection. Those whose names are on the list can hand him the amount promised, and any others wishing to contribute to the fund will be cheerfully accorded that privilege. The sooner the amount is received the sooner the window can be put in.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1898.

The Blackwell Durham Tobacco Company has sold out to the Union Tobacco Company of New York. It is said that Col. J. S. Carr will be Vice President of the new company. It is a trust with $10,000,000, and will enter the field as a strong competitor of the American Tobacco company.

More Expenses That Can Be Cut Off.

Another useless expense that our next Legislature should cut off is the payment of sixty cents for notifying every magistrate and constable of his election. According to our present law it is the duty of the sheriff of every county to notify every magistrate and constable of his election, and he is allowed a fee of sixty cents for every such notification. This one item must cost the taxpayers of North Carolina at least $3,000 at the late election. It cost the taxpayers of this (Chatham) county $31.20 for the sheriff to notify our 39 magistrates and 13 constables, which was just that much money thrown away, because of course every magistrate and constable who was elected knew of his election in a few hours thereafter.—Chatham Record.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic, clear your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed. 1. 10c. 25c. 50c.

A Negro Who Has Solved the Race Problem.

"I have a brother down in North Carolina," said Henry Hardy, a well known and intelligent colored man, who was waiting to see a member of Congress at the Ebbitt, "that has solved the race question, so far as he is individually concerned. He owns two good farms, and has quite a large number of horses, mules and cows. All this property he earned by steady attention to business. He takes no interest in politics. The best white people of the country are his friends, and his note for a considerable sum is as good at the bank as any man's.

"My own observation is that the better class of whites and the respectable portion of the black people, who mind their own business and have no time to loaf about, get on well together in the South. A certain class of white men, generally the sort we call poor trash, are responsible for all the cruelties that have been inflicted on innocent negroes who commit vile deeds and bring reproach on the whole race."

—Washington Post, 6th.

Greenville "On Tar River."

Greenville is a historic town. George Washington spent a night there in the long ago while en route to Charleston, S. C., taking in Halifax, Greenville, Crown Point, Newbern and Wilmington. Governor Jarvis showed us the house in which the good man, who never lied because he could not, spent the night. In his diary the venerable Father wrote: "Tonight I stop in a dirty little town on the Tar river." He made the same reference to "Halifax on the Roanoke." History fails to give what he thought of Newbern and Wilmington then, but one can well imagine what he would have said six months ago. They do say that at times the good man could use language more picturesque than polite, and we can therefore imagine what he would have said had his visit been made during the early part of this present year of grace.

Whatever Greenville may have been in other days, it is certainly a busy, thriving, progressive town now. And our friend Whichard, the genial editor of the DAILY REFLECTOR, says tobacco did it. Greenville has developed into one of the best tobacco markets in this State, as Pitt and surrounding counties are producing the finest quality of the leaf in large and growing quantities. A little steamer makes every-other-day trips to Washington, the home of two of Democracy's successful champions in the late contest—Judge George H. Brown and Congressman-elect John H. Small. Besides tobacco, cotton is largely grown, and local buyers, of course, "pay the highest price" for all that is carried to that market. A splendidly equipped branch of the Atlantic Coast Line passes Greenville, connecting it with Kinston on the south, and the rest of the world and Halifax on the north. The entire section tributary to this road is one of the richest in farming productiveness in the State.

The several Christian denominations have good churches, and each claimed to have the best pastor. And the singing by the choirs, of the Methodist and Baptist churches which we heard, is not surpassed in the State.

Governor Jarvis showed us the house in which George Washington lodged on the trip above referred to. The building is in good preservation, and still occupied, we think; and, of course, is pointed to with pride by the Greenvillians, notwithstanding its shortage in soap in the time of the General's visit.

An incident has recently occurred which crept o'er the community so softly that the people awoke to the situation as from a dream. Those heretofore in authority, to the disgrace and humiliation of the people, were persuaded to resign, and good men were promptly inducted into their places, and now Greenville boasts an honest and intelligent city government, representative of the best citizenship of the place. Mr. Alex. Blow, one of the best workers in the Democratic party and one of the State's best citizens, withal, would blush to be credited with this clever piece of diplomacy, but he was there when the transformation occurred.

To Governor and Mrs. Jarvis, Editor and Mrs. Whichard, we are indebted for very kindly hospitality.

The King Hotel, which was a comfortable home for a number of the preachers and visiting statesmen during the past week, changed hands this week. The Macon House extends a hospitable welcome to all, and its host, Mr. Charles Skinner, is never failing in his polite attention.

Rev. Mr. Hufham expressed the general idea and enjoyment of all when he said he wished Greenville would extend an invitation to the Convention to make that town the permanent meeting place every year. It is a good town, full of old fashioned, unselfish North Carolina hospitality. May its growth be equal to its merits.—Raleigh Post.

Passing Of The Weekly.

Thirty years ago every daily newspaper in the United States had a weekly edition as well. To-day it is exceptional for any of the great dailies to issue a hebdomadal

Thirty years ago the name was legion of literary weeklies more or less interesting in make-up; yet to-day their number is so few they may be numbered upon the fingers.

In these years the daily has grown infinitely in numbers, while circulation has swollen beyond estimate. So the monthly magazines have increased in number, volume and circulation.

There may be a reaction, but there is no appearance of it. Civilization is not ready to take backward steps. In the big cities there is a demand for hourly news from the four quarters of the globe, and it is met by the enterprising dailies whose presses run night and day.

The demand for the daily has reached the smaller towns. Villages of 3,000 have their dailies. Farmers once contented with the weekly ride miles every day to get the daily.

To be sure the weekly paper will continue; but it will be found in places that are too limited in population to support a daily. Perhaps the constant cheapness of newspaper production may result in giving the smallest village its local daily.

Of course the weekly class papers are likely to remain. There are reasons why they should hold themselves to the weekly issue. But the newspaper as such gravitates towards the daily edition, and in fact, to several editions every day.—The Newspaper Maker.

A Rat In Trouble.

Early yesterday morning a common house rat crawled out of the top of the Seaboard Air Line freight depot. He came out on the end next to Trade street. As soon as out he began to hunt a road back, but in vain. He ran about over the wall until a swarm of saucy English sparrows caught sight of his slender body. They began to pick his back with their sharp claws and bills. The squeaks of the birds as they bore down on Mr. Rat could be heard some distance away. Trade street between the railroad and College street was lined with people watching the onslaught of the sparrows. The rat grew tired and the sparrows became more numerous. At last the rat, exhausted and disheartened, let go and fell to the ground. Death soon followed.—Charlotte Observer.

The newspaper man makes a mistake—he puts it on a sheet of paper for the world to look at, and it cannot be erased, denied or explained; and in Sedalia there are some who are marvels of great wisdom, who have in days past, discovered where the newspapers made mistakes.

TONSILITIS

CAN BE CURED BY USING

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy

For a long time my son was troubled with some bronchial disease, which every time he took cold, settled in his throat and produced something like tonsilitis.
The tonsils would enlarge and swell so that he had great trouble to swallow anything, and could take no solid food. Last spring
he took half dozen bottles of Mrs.
Joe Person's Remedy, and gargled
his throat with the wash, and it cured him. He has never had a spell since. MRS. J. STINSON

It is quite common at this season of the year to hear of farmers

well gauge the cotton crop of the coming year. The greater the number of farmers who swear off,
the larger will be the cotton crop.
Mr. Filhoil Watkins, a large farmer of Ouachita parish, Louisiana, tells the local paper that not a stalk of cotton shall grow on his place next year. He says that by the experience of the two past good crop years, there is more profit in one cow than in fifty acres of cotton. He will devote his place to stock and stuff to fatten it with.

This resolution of Mr. Watkins is commendable and his views are as sound as a dollar. The trouble about it, however, is that Mr. Watkins is talking at the wrong time of the year. The air is wintry and the ground cold and barren, and next cotton planting seems a long way off, but when spring comes again and Mr. Watkins inhales the fragrant scent of newly-ploughed soil, the cotton itch is apt to strike
him—and another farmer will go wrong. The man who isn't going to plant any more cotton "next year" is always doing his talking just about now. When next year comes he is planting seed and saying nothing. Anti-cotton resolutions made in December don't count.—Charlotte Observer.

Do You Think This Is True.

Seven years ago a farmer living west of Webster City, Iowa, hung his vest on the fence in the barnyard. A calf chewed up a pocket in the garment in which was a standard gold watch.

Last week the animal, a staid old milch cow, was butchered for beef, and the time-piece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the process of respiration, the closing in and filling the lungs, kept the stem-winder wound up, and the watch had lost but four minutes in the seven years.—Chicago Ledger.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—
