DARING ROBBERY.

One of The Gang Shot—Four Arrested.

Mr. W. A. Garris keeps a store on the old Plank road, about one mile west of Greenville. Thursday afternoon he left his little 10-year-old brother in charge of the store and came to town to attend to some business. Several negroes who were loafing around the barroom in tobacco warehouse row saw Mr. Garris pass, and thinking his store was left unprotected they went out to make a raid. Finding the little boy there one of the negroes called for some candy, and while he was being waited on another of the crowd grabbed the cash box and a box of cigars and ran off, the others following him.

Finding out the names of the parties Mr. Garris had warrants issued for Chas. Evans, Zeke Harris, Will Johnson and Will Lee. The first three named were soon arrested, but for a while Lee eluded the officers. Early in the night it was learned that Lee was at the house of Jim Ried, near the railroad, and Deputy Sheriff J. J. Mason with two or three others went out to capture him. When they reached the house and called for Lee he broke out to run and was in the act of jumping a fence when one of the officers fired on him with a rifle and brought him down. The negro was struck in the neck, and as the ball could not be found it is supposed to have passed through and out his mouth, making only a flesh wound.

The quartette were given a hearing before Justice J. A. Lang and bound over to court. Failing to give the required bond they were placed in jail.

The True Policy.

"I can't afford to advertise on a large scale," said a merchant lately, "and with my varied stock I would not know where to begin on a small scale." It is a common fallacy that the advertising must cover the whole stock. In point of fact, it never does, even with the most lavish advertisers; and, if it did, the result would be a jumble of prolixity. The true policy is to select one article at a time—something moderately priced and meeting the want of the day—and push that at the people.—Philadelphia Record.

The man who wants to be an angel usually has the desire reciprocated on the part of his neighbors.

TWO BARNs BURNED.

And Much Cotton and Other Crops Destroyed.

About sunset Thursday evening a fire occurred on the plantation of the late Elder David House, where his children reside, near House station. Two large barns that stood near the road were burned. In these barns were about 20 bales of seed cotton, 100 barrels of corn, 150 bushels of peanuts, a quantity of field peas, and most of the farm implements, and nearly everything was destroyed. It is not known how the fire started.

Several neighbors gathered and by working all night throwing wet dirt on the pile of burning cotton it is hoped that some of it can be saved. There is some insurance, but it is very small in comparison with the heavy loss sustained.

DON'T.

Don't think your ideas are going to live forever.

Don't imagine a good appetite is always a good thing.

Don't trust your future happiness with a woman who never laughs.

Don't think the world will ask where you got the money to pay your way.

Don't tender advice until you find out what particular kind is wanted.

Don't think target practice will enable you to shoot folly as it flies.

Don't expect too much of the man who is wearing his first home made shirt.

Don't turn over a new leaf too often or you will soon require an additional ledger.

Don't complain. The quinine pill maker never makes a kick against his bitter lot.

Don't cast your bread upon the waters today and expect it to come back in the form of sponge cake tomorrow.—Chicago News.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1898.

Atlanta has just had a great peace jubilee lasting through two days. President McKinley was there and made a speech before the Georgia Legislature, the members of the Alabama Legislature also being present as guests. In his speech the President said 'Sectional lines no longer mar the map of the United States; sectional feeling no longer holds back the love we bear each other.' This was a great utterance and shows that the President of our Nation no longer regards sectional lines but gives the South the honor to which it is entitled. But one other sentence in his speech that raises him higher in the estimation of the people of the South, was, when referring to the civil war, he said: 'The time has now come when we should share with you in the care of the graves of Confederate soldiers.' This very properly met with a great outburst of applause from the assembled thousands.

This is Right

'For one I am tired of going down in my pocket each year to pay for educating negroes only to find in return worse citizens than those who never knew a letter. Tax reform is what I am for, and if our law makers wish to become reformers indeed, they cannot turn a deaf ear to our needs if they are properly memorialized. Why not let taxes paid by white men go towards educating white children, and taxes paid by negroes go towards educating negro children? No one can deny such a law would be fair and just, and comparatively easy to put into execution, as the returns are already kept separate. Deny to neither the right to control their own schools.'

The above is an extract from a communication in the Red Springs Citizen of last week. The whole communication is interesting but we have room for only this much, which is the kernel of what is said. The correspondent will be endorsed in what he suggests by fully three-fourths of the white people in Robeson county and by a large majority of those in the State. He is right. White men are tired of being taxed to educate negroes when the education makes them worse citizens and more dangerous to the communities in which they live. Most of them antagonize the white people in all things and it is unwise to do that which will strengthen an enemy. A constitutional amendment of the kind indicated, if passed by the Legislature, would in our opinion be approved by the people of the State.—Lumberton Robesonian.

In a recent communication, and again in this issue, our Bennett correspondent refers to the merchant in words that imply that the farmers were being oppressed. The Robesonian is sorry to see this spirit manifested and takes occasion to add a few words of comment of its own. So far as our observation and experience has been the merchant is not oppressive and grinding, but is lenient and obliging, frequently taxing his resources to carry accounts over due and to accommodate his customer. In selling goods upon a credit the merchant is doing a favor to the purchaser. He has money or negotiable paper, which can be used as money, and with these he purchases goods and sells on a credit to the farmer, who has not the money. For this the merchant charges a reasonable profit, as he has a right to do. And when the time for settlement comes as agreed upon it is the duty, and should be the pleasure, of the man who has been credited and accommodated to cancel his obligation. He has used the goods of the merchant and should not object to pay for them. In asking payment the merchant is not oppressive or tyrannical. Nor is he lord and master. He is merely seeking what is his own, and very frequently, if not always, it is absolutely necessary for him to have it in order that his own credit may be saved and he may be able to again purchase and sell goods on a credit. The complaint of oppression and the pleading for mercy—a misapplied word—comes with ill grace when a man's property has been used and he asks payment for it.—Lumberton Robesonian.

WHAT EVERYBODY SAID.

The Clergyman—Until death do ye part.
 The Bridegroom—At last; oh, my darling.
 The Bride—Don't, Bert, there's a dear, you'll rumple my hair.
 The Father—It's 25 years since I was fixed up, Bert, my boy, and I trust you'll—well, of course, the rough goes with the smooth.
 The Mother—Oh, my darling, it's so hard to part with you, and—be sure and get a seat facing the engine.
 The Best Man—And—I—er—er—I—er hope—er—er I thank you all on behalf of the ladies.
 The Oldest Friend—I've known her since she was in short dresses—oh, you needn't blush, my dear, you had very pretty—
 Mary—And I wish yer all happiness, miss.
 John—As I'm sure Miss and Mr. Erbert, we all do.
 One of the Crowd—Don't 'e look cross? I bet she'll have a nice temper to put up with.
 The Coachman—Any more baggage, miss; beg pardon, ma'am?
 The Guard—I'll lock it, sir, and see as no one gets in—thank ye, sir
 And they were off.

An Investigation Needed.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer stated, a few days ago, that it was rumored that Treasurer Worth had advanced $50,000 to the management of the State penitentiary to keep that institution going. This story need not be called a rumor. The Landmark has straight information that the State Treasurer has not only advanced the penitentiary $50,000 and is now frightened nearly to death for fear he won't get his money back, but that the institution is owing debts which it cannot pay. We happen to know that in one instance it owes one concern $15,000 or $20,000 and the account has been standing for some time. The Legislature should investigate the management of the penientiary and the investigation should be prompt and thorough. There is no sort of question that the concern is reeking with corruption and immorality from top to bottom. The scandalous mismanagement should be thoroughly exposed and while the Legislature is about it it should find out by what authority Treasurer Worth has advanced the State's money to the penitentiary. If his act is unwarranted he should be impeached.—Statesville Landmark.

A POPULAR MISTAKE.

Regarding Remedies for Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

The national disease of Americans is indigestion or in its chronic form, dyspepsia, and for the very reason that it is so common many people neglect taking proper treatment for what they consider trifling stomach trouble, when as a matter of fact, indigestion lays the foundation for many incurable diseases. No person with a vigorous, healthy stomach will fall a victim to consumption. Many kidney diseases and heart troubles date their beginning from poor digestion; thin, nervous people are really so because their stomachs are out of gear; weary, languid, faded out women owe their condition to imperfect indigestion.

When nearly every person you see is afflicted with weak digestion it is not surprising that nearly every secret patent medicine on the market claims to be a cure for dyspepsia, as well as a score of other troubles, when in fact, as Dr. Werthier says, there is but one genuine dyspepsia cure which is perfectly safe and reliable, and moreover; this remedy is not a patent medicine, but if is a scientific combination of pure pepsin (free from animal matter), vegetable essences, fruit salts and bismuth. It is sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No extravagant claims are made for them, but for indigestion or any stomach trouble, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are far ahead of any remedy yet discovered. They act on the food eaten; no dieting is necessary, simply eat all the wholesome food you want and these tablets will digest it. A cure results, because all the stomach needs is a rest which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give by doing the work of digestion.

Druggists sell these tablets at 50cts. per package. Circulars and testimonials sent free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

The man who makes a success of an important venture never waits for the crowd. It takes great nerve. It takes a great lot of grit. But the man who succeeds, has both. Any man can fail. The public admire a man who has confidence enough in himself to take a chance. These chances are the main thing after all. The man who tries to succeed must expect to be criticised. Nothing important was ever done but the greater number previously consulted doubted the possibility. Success is the accomplishment of that which most people think can't be done.

TONSILITIS

CAN BE CURED BY USING

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy

For a long time my son was troubled with some bronchial disease, which every time he took cold, settled in his throat and produced something like tonsilitis. The tonsils would enlarge and swell so that he had great trouble to swallow anything, and could take no solid food. Last spring he took half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and gargled his throat with the wash, and it cured him. He has never had a spell since. MRS. J. STINSON

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. L. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

The search disclosed a quantity of Mr. Fleming's goods in Price's house, and now Price is boarding with Sheriff Mooring until the Judge shall send him up higher.
