SHOULD SHUT OUT THE NEGRO.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Representative Harry Skinner favors disfranchising the negro in North Carolina. He would do it himself, according to his statement to me to-day, and he says should the present Legislature in North Carolina fail to enact proper legislation on this subject there is no hope, and the Democrats should be held responsible. I asked him if there was any news that he would like for the people of North Carolina to know, or if he had any message he would like to send to the folks at home. "You may say for me," said Mr. Skinner, "that the present Legislature should disfranchise the negro in North Carolina. It should never let the opportunity pass, and if it does, it must be held responsible."

I repeated this conversation to a prominent North Carolina Republican, who is here tonight, and he listened with interest. "You say for me," said he, "that Representative Skinner, within a short time after the negro is disfranchised in North Carolina, will openly declare himself a member of the Republican party. Put that down on the record, for I know whereof I speak." There are others, Mr. Skinner's friends, who say that he is sincere in his statement, and that he would like to vote for a bill to send all of the negroes out of the State.—Special to Charlotte Observer.

A Nuisance, a Pest And a Menace.

We congratulate the War Department on its determination to muster out at once a regiment of negro volunteers from Virginia, and another from North Carolina.

Both these regiments are stationed in Macon, and we do not hesitate to say that a more utterly vicious and worthless set of ruffians never served under the flag of the United States.

A number of the soldiers in these regiments have met richly-deserved deaths by reason of their assaults upon the person or property of citizens of this State. They have been a nuisance, a pest and a menace ever since they were located in Macon. When they passed the bounds of toleration the good men of that community attended to them properly, but they have annoyed and disgusted the decency of Macon to an unprecedented degree.

The Journal has asked for weeks past why such regiments were not at once mustered out. They should never have been mustered in. They must have been gathered from the scums of the lowest order of population in the States to which they are credited, and it is hard to understand how the administration has kept them saddled on the government so long. However, we will go far toward forgiving the offence because the atonement of an immediate mustering out is offered.—Atlanta Journal.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Work of the January Term.

The January term of Pitt Superior court convened this morning with Judge Fred Moore presiding and Solicitor L. I. Moore representing the State. This is the first term of court for both these officers, but they took hold of the business as readily as if they had been in their respective positions for years. Judge Moore's charge to the grand jury was a very practical and able one. He referred especially to private and vicious prosecutions and warned the grand jury against such.

The following compose the grand jury for this term: R. A. Tyson, Foreman, J. B. Tripp, John A. Edwards, R. D. Whitehurst, Jesse B. Hill, J. T. Hodges, D. E. House, W. R. Johnston, Peter Bagley, A. F. Pittman, S. J. Parker, Warren Coburn, R. H. Allen, L. H. Smith, A. M. Wooten, C. J. Johnston, J. J. W. Martin, John Mosely. S. I. Dudley is officer of the jury.

The regular petit jurors for this week on R. L. Johnson, I. A. Nichols, J. J. Jackson, A. B. Garis, J. A. Forbes, J. F. Case, S. M. Erwin, J. F. Whitehurst, S. M. Smith, T. G. Rice, H. E. Bryan, J. B. Harvey.

Store and Postoffice Burned.

On Sunday night, 1st inst., the store of Mr. J. A. Gardner, at Gardnerville, was destroyed by fire. The postoffice was also in the store. A colored man who lives near the store, was awakened by the explosion of a keg of powder, and he went to Mr. Gardner's house, about 400 yards distant, to wake him up. They could save nothing from the building. It is not known how the fire originated. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Committee on Elections Favor It.

The House Committee on Elections is composed of F. D. Winston, chairman; R. L. Leatherwood, W. P. White, James O. Carr, C. W. Bryan and C. W. Whitfield, Democrats, and W. W. Hampton, R. J. Petree and J. R. Pritchard, Republicans.

This committee met to examine and report upon the contested election case of Sugg, Democrat, against Mitchell, Republican, from Greene. Capt. Swift Galloway, who so ably managed the proceedings in Greene county, which resulted in an order from Republican Judge Robinson for a recount of the vote of Greene county, thereby electing a Democratic set of county officers, presented the contestant's case before the committee. It was shown, that Mitchell had the certificate of membership, but that subsequent to its issuance, Judge Robinson, upon petition, ordered a recount of the vote. That recount showed that Sugg had 27 majority.

The record of the proceedings was produced before the committee. Mitchell had no counsel, and in rebuttal of the evidence, appeared and presented his certificate of election. On examination he admitted that he was present at the recount and that Sugg had 27 majority, and stated that having the certificate he could do no less than take his seat in the Legislature, having a prima facie case, by virtue of that, and was willing to be tried on that, and would submit to the committee's action without protest or complaint.

The committee, by a unanimous vote of Democrats and Republicans very soon decided that Sugg, Democrat, was entitled to be seated.—Raleigh Post.

TURNED THE TABLES.

A STORY OF ARTEMUS WARD AND HENRY J. BYRON.

The Famous Wit Started In to Have Some Fun With the Dramatist, but Found In the End That He Had Met His Match at Chaffing.

What follows relates to the first meeting of the late Henry J. Byron and Artemus Ward. It was at the Savage club after one of the Saturday dinners, and Tom Robertson suggested to Artemus to have a tilt with Byron and, if possible, draw him out. The genial showman had only been in England a few days, but he knew Byron's "metier" and went for him in this fashion: "I fancy I have seen a face like yours before. Did you ever have a brother Alonzo?" Robertson was behind Artemus and winked at Byron.

"Alas, I had!" replied the dramatist, instantly catching the situation. "He was a mariner, engaged on the deep?"

"That's so." "You haven't heard of him for five years?"

Byron affected to be lost in reflection and deliberately replied: "It's five years ago this very day. How curious you should mention it, sir!"

"Well, sir," replied Artemus, taking out his handkerchief and pretending to wipe away a tear, "I sailed the salt sea with your brother. We were wrecked together in the gulf of Mexico, and before help came I killed and ate him! The moment I saw you I recognized the likeness. He was a good fellow, full of tender feeling."

"I am glad you found him tender," interrupted Byron, also pulling out his handkerchief.

"But, sir, I am awfully sorry I ate him," said Artemus in the most imperturbable fashion. "Had I known I should ever meet his brother I am sure I'd have gone without food some weeks longer. But I was driven to it, and you will forgive me, won't you? I liked Alonzo," and he offered his hand to Byron, which the latter shook with cordiality.

"Excuse my emotion, won't you?" gasped Byron in his handkerchief. "He never wrote and told me what had become of him. I hope he agreed with you."

"A slight indigestion afterward. He was a little tough," replied Artemus, "but we'll not speak of that. We both suffered. He suffered most. But remember, sir, the law can't touch me now. It was stern necessity, and necessity, as you may have heard, knows no law. But I am willing to pay you damages for the loss. About what would you think a fair compensation?"

"Don't mention it," said Byron, who now thought it time to turn the tables. "I think your name is Ward?" said he.

"Yes." "Artemus Ward?" "Quite so."

"You had a father?" "I had."

"He was a Yankee peddler in his own country, was he not? Sold bug pizzen and fine tooth combs?"

"You've hit the comb—I mean the nail—on the head."

"He died in the black country of England, did he not?" "He did."

"Well, I killed him. I knew you were his son the moment I laid eyes on you. He was a nice old gentleman, and I made his acquaintance in Staffordshire. He wished to go down a deep coal mine; so did I, and we went down together, had a good time, explored, lunched with the miners, drank more than was good for us and proceeded to return to Mother Earth's surface. After you have been down a mine you are fond of your mother, I assure you. The prodigal felt nothing to what I experienced. We entered the huge basket and were being slowly drawn toward the mouth of the pit when I saw the old rope was about to snap under the strain. It was a perilous, a horrible, a critical moment. The weight of two men was too great, and your father was a broad, bulky man. Self preservation is the first law of nature. An instant more and we were both lost. We seemed to be about 50 feet from the top.

I hastily called your father's attention to something—implored him, in fact, to look down the mine. He did so, and as I gently tipped him over he went whirling and crashing to the bottom. It was rough on him, but I saved myself. I ciphered it out on the instant like this: He is an old man, nearly bald, deaf in one ear, two teeth gone in front, with only a few years to live. I am half his age, strong and healthy, the father of a young family, with a career before me, a comedy to finish for the Haymarket and a burlesque accepted at the Strand. Now, I ask you, under the circumstances, did I not behave nobly?"

"You did, you did!" sobbed Artemus. "I would have acted that way myself."

"I am glad to find you so intelligent. You ate my brother and found him tough, and I am the assassin of your dear old father," continued Byron, keeping up the farce of pretended emotion. "We are both avenged. Let us draw a veil over the past and never allude to these heartrending incidents again."

"Agreed. We cry quits. Shake!" roared Artemus, extending both hands and dramatically flushing a flood of imaginary tears from his eyes. Then he summoned a waiter, glasses round were speedily ordered, and everybody was full of congratulations upon the ready manner in which the two wits had conducted their impromptu chaff.—Exchange.

WINE OF CARDUI MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides, hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Greenville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

Mrs. Whedbee, of Hertford, who has been visiting relatives at Hotel Macon, returned home today.

Judge Fred Moore arrived Saturday evening and opened Court this morning. This is his first Court.

Mc. D. Holliday, of Dunn, who has been visiting relatives in this county, took the train here this morning for his home.

A Good Showing

At the Methodist Sunday school Sunday every officer and teacher was present, and the total attendance, so said the Secretary, was the largest in the history of the church. This is a good showing with which to begin the new year and Supt. Harding is to be congratulated.

Clothes Choosing

isn't such a hard matter, for the eye tells the nobbiness, pattern and fit. But clothes buying is somewhat harder, because you must use good sound judgment as to values and some of the value getting doesn't show until after usage. Don't know of a place in the city where you're less liable to go amiss than in our store, the cloths are our weaves, and clothes our make, and we ask only a small profit above our mill cost. Men's, Young Men's and Boys' CLOTHES under the best conditions.
