THE RAWLS CASE.

Progress of the Trial in Court.

The trial of Joseph Rawls, charged with the killing of J. M. King on the 27th day of April, 1890, commenced before the Superior Court this morning. Owing to the large acquaintance of the parties connected with this case it has attracted wide interest, and the Court House was crowded when the trial started.

The prisoner was brought into Court at 10 o'clock and showed the same calmness that marked his appearance on the day of the formal arraignment. Rawls took a seat with his counsel, Messrs. Jarvis & Blow, Skinner & Wedbee, Gilliam & Eure and F. G. James. Solicitor L. I. Moore is assisted in the prosecution by Hon. C. B. Aycock, of Goldsboro, and Mr. J. L. Fleming. Around the Solicitor's table interested in the prosecution were Messrs. J. F., T. B., Clifton and Claude King, sons of the deceased, and Messrs. R. W., B. R., and H. T. King, brothers of deceased.

The regular petit jury for the week was first called and Rawls was requested to stand while he was informed of his rights as to challenging jurors as they were called. The selection of the jury to try the case then started, and the first man called was accepted and sworn. Three out of the regular jury taken, and the venire was called to complete it. The selection of the jury occupied until 12:20 o'clock.

During the selection of the jury two preemptory challenges were made by the State and eighteen by the defense. Only about half the venire of 100 was exhausted in selecting the jury.

The jury consists of the following men: J. T. Smith, Jr., Sebron Cox, J. J. Buck, T. C. Cannon, B. F. Patrick, John L. Cox, S. T. Hooker, J. H. Corey, J. H. Smith, Erastus Cannon, B. F. Crawford and C. G. Little.

The prisoner was caused to rise and again held up his right hand, as the Clerk read the bill of indictment and duly impanelled the jury.

Court then took a recess until 2 o'clock P. M.

Some Whys.

Why does a dog always turn around before he will lie down?

Why does a man always move his chair before sitting down in it?

Why does a woman always look back just after having passed another on the street?

Why will a young lady kiss another that does not like her and won't kiss a man that does?

Why does a person, no matter how nicely the fire may be burning, have to give it a good punching up before they can enjoy it?

Why does a subscriber who thinks that people believe him honest take a paper as long as he can without paying for it, and then say it is "not no good?"

Agency Change.

There has been a change in the agency of the Old Dominion Company at Centre Bluff. Mr. J. L. Hearne, the former agent, has accepted a position in a store at Washington, and Mr. Will Moore succeeds him as agent.

LEG CUT OFF.

Gravel Train Runs Over Mr. H. F. Harriss.

About 1 o'clock today in broad daylight, and within 200 yards of the depot, the incoming gravel train run over Mr. H. F. Harriss and cut off his left leg a little below the knee. Mr. Harriss' home is on Dickinson avenue not far from the railroad. He has been drinking during the last few days and it is supposed that he wandered over to the railroad track and went to sleep. Mr. Harriss was taken to his home and medical aid summoned and all possible is being done for him. It is a great misfortune both to him and his family. Mr. Harris died from the shock about a quarter to five o'clock this afternoon.

We are informed that Mr. Wash. F. Reade killed a hog this week that weighed something over 600 pounds. Well, he just beat us 520 pounds—but then our pig wasn't but twenty-four months old. —Roxboro Courier.

Newbern Fair.

An announcement of the twelfth annual fair at Newbern appears in the advertising columns of THE REFLECTOR. The fair will be held through the week beginning Feb. 20th. No fairs in the State equal those held at Newbern, and the coming one promises to be the best yet. The fish, oyster and game exhibit will be a fair in itself and worth going to see if there was nothing else. But there will be fine displays in all other lines, and the out-door attractions will be a special feature. The officers leave nothing undone to make the fair interesting. Begin laying your plans now to spend a day or two at the Newbern fair.

NOTICE.

Application will be made to the present General Assembly of North Carolina for an amendment to the stock law fence around the town of Greenville, N. C., requiring the County Commissioners to extend said fence from its eastern terminus on Tar river up the bank of said river to the town line.

Greenville, N. C., Jan 9, 1899.

EDWARDS-TUCKER.

Married, at Salem M. E. Church Jan. 11th, 1899, Rev. N. L. Seabolt officiating, Mr. John H. Edwards and Miss Annie Tucker.

The following attendants graced the occasion:

Miss Laura Edwards with W. J. Tucker.

Miss Minnie Tucker with O. J. Galloway.

Miss Sallie Galloway with J. B. Tucker.

Miss Mammie Tucker with J. R. Galloway.

Miss Daisy Tucker with W. S. Galloway.

Miss Daisy Cox with M. H. Tucker.

The bride is of one of the oldest and best families of Pitt county, of a sweet disposition, and a lovely character, of handsome physique and needs nothing more to lend enchantment to her charms. Mr. Edwards is a young man of sterling qualities, whose honesty of heart and purpose has won for himself the heart and hand of so lovely a woman.

The marriage was followed by a reception at the home of the groom, and as their many friends came with their gifts and congratulations, the popularity of this young couple was well attested. The number of bridal presents was very large. J.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Work of the January Term.

The following cases have been disposed of since last report:

Hope Cherry, Rufus Cherry and John Hawkins, assault with deadly weapon. Hope Cherry guilty, others not guilty.

John Fleming, E. M. Cheek and Charlie Harrington, affray. Harrington pleads guilty, judgment suspended upon payment of costs. Cheek guilty, fined $5 and costs. Fleming not guilty.

Orange Langley, abandonment, guilty.

Charles Evans and Zeke Harris, who were convicted of larceny were sentenced to six months in jail with leave to hire out, and William Johnson two years in penitentiary.

A little romance was happily spoiled in a New Hampshire town recently, where a young man became much in love with a young lady and asked her to be "his'n." She stated the case to her parents, and was very much surprised to learn for the first time that she was only an adopted daughter, whom they had taken as an infant from a Boston institution. Inquiry revealed the fact that she and the young man are sister and brother. But she consoles herself with the thought that while she cannot be his wife she can always "be a sister to him." —Wilmington Star.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 16, 99.
Secretary Alger is offering as great an insult to the country, by protecting Commissary General Eagan, as Eagan offered to Gen. Miles, by his blackguardism in calling him numerous kinds of a liar, in his testimony before the War Investigators. If Alger thinks that the people will allow this disgraceful affair to end with Eagan's revision of his testimony, he will find himself much mistaken. Eagan deserves punishment, just as Alger does, and if they don't get it, so much the worse it will be in the end for the administration. There can be no reasonable excuse for any man accustomed to the association of gentlemen, descending to the use of Billingsgate, no matter how great the provocation. In this particular case, Eagan knew that the administration had done everything possible to humiliate Miles, and doubtless thought that his abuse of him would increase his popularity with the Alger crowd. Instead of Alger promptly ordering Eagan under arrest, to be court-martialed for language and conduct unbecoming a soldier and a gentleman, he has the nerve to say that Mr. McKinley's promise of protection to all witnesses made it impossible to arrest him, and to come forward with the revised testimony idea. Congress is fairly bubbling over, but is waiting to see whether the administration intends to do the proper thing; Gen. Miles is also patiently waiting on the administration, and is said to have some additional facts about the bad beef furnished our soldiers, which may be made public later on.

Representative Berry, of Kentucky, in a speech on the Naval bill, took occasion to administer some sharp and deserved raps at the Navy Department clique, which has so persistently tried to deprive Schley of the credit due him for the destruction of Cervera's fleet, in order that it might be given to Sampson. Mr. Berry said: "There is no doubt in the minds of the American people who is entitled to the credit of that victory. But there are people who are trying to steal away from Schley the credit he won on the 3rd day of July '98."

Senator Allen thinks the right sort of an investigation of the war could be made by a committee of five Senators, no more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party, and he embodied his idea in a resolution which he offered in the Senate, and which is now before the Naval committee.

A funeral is always sad, but a funeral in the Capitol always seems sadder than if it were held elsewhere. Two weeks ago funeral services were held in the Senate Chamber over the remains of the late Senator Morrill; today, in the House of Representatives, over the remains of the late Representative Dingley of Maine. Mr. Dingley resembled Mr. Morrill in some respects; he was always a partisan, but never aroused any personal animosity on the part of his opponents.

Senator McLaurin, of South Carolina, made a strong speech against colonization and imperialism by this government, in which he referred to the change of position on the part of those Senators who are willing to control colonies without allowing the ignorant natives to vote. He was referring to Senator Platt's speech, when he said: "The Senator from Connecticut has most amply vindicated the South, perhaps unintentionally, but we thank him the more heartily for his complete announcement of the divine right of the Caucasian to govern the inferior races."

Senator Sullivan, of Mississippi, made his maiden speech in favor of the Nicaragua Canal Bill, of Senator Morgan's which is to be voted on this week. Senator Pasco, of Florida, also made a speech in favor of the bill, which is certain to be passed by the Senate.

The anti-imperialism Senators supported the motion of Senator Berry to consider the treaty of Peace in open executive sessions of the Senate, but they couldn't carry it. The treaty will be considered in the usual way. An attempt is to be made to put the Senate on record, either by an amendment to the treaty or a resolution, against the permanent ownership of the Philippines by the United States, before the treaty is voted upon. There are also two resolutions pending, one offered by Senator Bacon, of Georgia, and one by Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, providing for immediate recognition of the independence of the present Philippine government, having a hearing on the treaty.

A delegation from the National Civil Service League threw away some time by appearing before the House Census committee, to advocate the placing of the Census Bureau employees under the Civil Service Rules. Congress is hungry for the patronage of the Census Bureau, and no power on earth could make it give up its expected feast on official pap, even if there were any real advantage in having the Census Bureau employees put under the Civil Service Rules.

Favors the Dispensary.

We are in daily association with a man who lived for four years in the town of Waynesville and watched the working of the dispensary there. He says there is no comparison at all between the old open bar rooms and the dispensary. The latter is run strictly within the law, and everybody knows an ordinary bar room is a very plant bed for law breakers. On all public days, such as election day (State and local) and so on, the very time the bar room does its deadliest work, the dispensary is closed; and this means that the back as well as the front door is barred and locked against the thirsty public. The bar room offers special attractions to boys and young men who find lively company and a warm welcome; the dispensary is as cold and uninviting as a bank where you have no deposit. No one is allowed to drink on the premises, but the liquor must be carried away from the neighborhood.—Charity and Children.

The Present Year.

Bill Arp, in Atlanta Constitution, says: "1899. I was ruminating about this riddle of the 9's. 1 and 8 are 9, and that makes three 9's in a row. 18 is two 9's, and that makes four 9's in a row. The three 9's make 27, and the 2 and 7 make 9. The four nines make 36, and 3 and 6 make 9. Maybe this year of the 9's is to be a mascotte, and we will have peace and prosperity in the land. Maybe the lion will lay down with the lamb, and the nations shall beat their swords into plowshares and not learn war any more."

A gentleman remarked recently that had a stranger or an outsider come to North Carolina, and made the cures among our people that Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy had made, the people would be have stirred as never before. Read this and suppose a case:

Eleven years ago I had a child that was delicate from birth, and for six months she was under constant care of the best physician we had in our town. But his medicine seemed powerless to control the bowel trouble, which had become chronic dysentery. She also suffered from some aggravated blood trouble, which caused large sores and risings to break out on her body. Oft time there would be as many as 20 or 25. We had several doctors to treat her at different times, but nothing reached her case. They would lance these risings, but as soon as one was cured another broke out, and the doctors gave me no hope of her cure. After she had led a life of agony and suffering for six months, I was inspired to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. There was a change for the better in twenty-four hours, it seemed to check the bowels at once, and after using a few bottles my child was entirely cured, and has never since had any sign of trouble and is now in perfect health. A few years after this I had two sores to break out on my ankle, and strange to say I did not think of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I was under the treatment of doctors for three years, but the sores continued to get worse until they had eaten to the bone. I then thought of trying Mrs. Joe Person's Wash and did so, and it is almost useless to say it soon made a cure.

I wish I could speak so that every man, woman and child, in North Carolina could hear, that I might tell them what Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash did for me and mine. I advised one of my friends who had been a terrible sufferer for a long time, with nurses sore mouth. She used the Remedy and Wash, and it soon made a cure.

I have recommended it to ever so many of my friends, for indigestion and other ailments, and I have never known it to fail to cure yet. There is no medicine equal to it.

THE SASSAFRAS PLANT.

From It May Be Brewed a Pleasant Tea and a Good Mucilage.

A correspondent of the Charleston News and Courier says of the sassafras plant: "The whole plant is valuable for its medicinal properties. The root makes an excellent tea, spicy and fragrant, and has alterative virtues quite as good as the sarsaparilla. The stalks have an inner pith that, although tedious to extract much of it, when scraped out and put into cold water and agitated for a few moments with a spoon forms a most thick and tenacious mucilage, retaining a delicate flavor of the smell of the sassafras and is a bland and soothing drink in fevers, when the mouth is dry and great thirst exists. It is frequently retained gratefully when plain water is ejected.

It is astonishing how mucilaginous a small quantity of this pith makes a tumbler of water, which becomes thick, as gum arabic water. A mere teaspoonful of the pith taken out of the small green branches of the bush will make three or four tumblerfuls of thick mucilage.

For inflamed eyes this mucilaginous water is very soothing and curative and has long been used for all forms of inflammation of delicate tissues, but is so simple that it is ignored by the profession.

The oil of sassafras, which is made from the root as well as other parts of the plant, makes a splendid liniment for pains and aches in combination with turpentine in proportion of one-third of the former to two-thirds of the latter. Other stimulating tinctures, such as spirits of ammonia, are sometimes added, but the chief ingredient of the lightning liniments hawked about by itinerant quacks are composed principally of sassafras oil, which is really pungent and effective.

THE PRICE OF PEPPER.

It Helped to Change the History of the Old World.

In the sixteenth century all the pepper consumed in England was bought by the English merchants from the Dutch, who brought it from India. Owing to racial jealousy, the Dutch traders in 1599 raised the cost from 8 shillings to 6 shillings per pound. This petty display of ill feeling caused considerable annoyance to the English merchants and aroused in them that feeling of independence which has always been so characteristic of our race.

They determined to import their pepper direct from India in their own ships, and for this purpose formed a company, called the Governor and Company of Merchants of London Trading to the East Indies, and which in latter days became eventually known as the East India company.

Their first voyages embroiled them in almost innumerable quarrels with the Dutch and Portuguese, and for a time the venture proved a financial failure. It was not until 1615 that the company became successful and obtained lucrative treaties, owing to their decisively defeating the Portuguese.

From this time on their possessions gradually increased, slowly at first, and then very rapidly, until, by the wise and beneficial management of such men as Clive, Warren Hastings and Cornwallis, they exercised sovereignty over the greater portion of India.

In this manner it happened that an increase in the price of pepper momentarily affected the history of mankind. —London Standard.

A Shining Mark.

A lady, grievously tormented with a corn on her toe, was advised by one of her friends to anoint it with phosphorus, which in a weak moment she did, but forgot to tell her husband before retiring at night. It had just turned 12 when the husband awoke, and was startled to see something sparkling at the foot of the bed.

He had never heard of a firefly in the locality, nor did he ever remember seeing such a terrible looking object as the toe presented. Reaching carefully out of bed till he found one of his slippers he raised it high in the air and brought it down with great force upon the mysterious light.

A shriek and an avalanche of bedclothes, and all was over. When at last he released himself from the bedclothes, he discovered his wife groaning in a corner of the bedroom, but she had not got that phosphorated corn. —London Answers.

Weather Forecasts.

The first attempt at scientific forecasting of the weather was the result of a storm which during the Crimean war, Nov. 14, 1854, almost destroyed the fleets of France and England. As a storm had raged several days earlier in France Vaillant, the French minister of war, directed that investigations be made to see if the two storms were the same and if the progress of the disturbances could have been foretold. It was demonstrated that the two were in reality one storm and that its path could have been ascertained and the fleet forewarned in ample time to reach safety.

Far-reaching.

Nelly—I don't see how getting one's feet wet causes toothache.

Jack—You don't? If you had ever had a tooth pulled, you would know that the roots run clear to your toes. —Tacoma Ledger.

History of the Spanish War

By Dr. ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS,

AND A LONG LIST OF NOTABLE CONTRIBUTORS.

Over 1,200 Pages and 500 Valuable Illustrations.

Three Beautiful Volumes in Half Morocco.

See special offer at bottom of this advertisement.

This Magnificent Edition for only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

To the readers of this paper we make the following proposition to become members of the Review of Reviews History Club, and obtain the three volumes of

Our War in Two Hemispheres,

By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods aids in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of the navies, photographed scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Spanish, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

How to obtain the handsome edition by a payment of only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

The three beautifully bound large octavo volumes and a year's subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS can be obtained by any of the readers of this paper by joining the Review of Reviews History Club and paying one dollar. The volumes will be sent as soon as ready to those who remit the sum, and the purchase will be completed by the payment of one dollar per month for twelve months. The first volume will be ready early in December. The subscription to the magazine which goes with the offer can be dated from any month.

Address THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY, 13 Astor Place, New York City.

SYRUP OF FIGS

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

We Are Not Alone.

If there is any consolation in the old saying that "misery loves company" Greenville can take a crumb of comfort, for nearly every paper we have read in the last few days has had something to say about the miserable condition of the streets.

LIFE PRESERVERS.

People Need to Wear Them in The Mud.

Frank Wilson is on the sick list.

O. Cuthrell, of Washington, was here today.

C. W. Priddy, of Norfolk, is in town today.

B. R. King, of Goldsboro, came in this morning.

Zeb Johnson came in this morning from a trip on the road.

George Denny and Mrs. Denny (nee Miss Carrie Cobb) arrived this morning.

Elder A. J. Moore, of Whitakers, is here on a visit to his son, Solicitor L. I. Moore,

R. W. Joyner, a former citizen of Greenville but now of Norfolk, is here for a few days.

R. B. Cotten and daughter, Miss Sallie, took the train here this morning for Raleigh.

J. H. Shelburn, of Durham, who has been visiting his brother, Ed. H. Shelburn, left this morning.

Hon. C. B. Aycock came from Goldsboro Monday evening. He is assisting in the prosecution in the Rawls case.

Donnell Gilliam, of Tarboro, came down Monday evening. He is one of the counsel for defense in the Rawls case.

S. B. Wilson has moved his family to the Morrill house, on Dickinson avenue, which he recently purchased.

Dwelling Burned.

Mr. J. S. Hester, who lives about two miles down the railroad from Greenville, lost his dwelling and contents by fire yesterday, supposed to have caught from a defective flue. He had an insurance of $500 with Mr. H. A. White, of this place.

An exchange says that if a man owns a fine dog he looks after it carefully and never lets it run around over town day or night in company with bad dogs. But if he has a boy it is different. He is turned loose at a tender age, especially at night, and allowed to go to the devil as fast as evil habits will permit, and then people wonder where dead beats, drunkards, loafers, gamblers and sots come from each decade, and why they cannot be "brought around" by statutory enactments.

NOTICE.

Application will be made to the present General Assembly of North Carolina for the passage of a Stock law for that portion of Pitt County lying along Tar River on the South side of same—beginning at the Greenville Fence Boundary and running West towards the Edgecombe county line.
