EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR begins its eighteenth year today. The first issue of the paper was on January 25th, 1882. While the paper is not quite so old, its editor is just reaching his voting age in the service, dating since 1878, and his career as a printer's devil started three years prior, in 1875. One year more and he will have been a quarter of a century in the printing office. Don't everybody go to wondering about his age now, for he is younger than half the people in town today. The first dollar THE REFLECTOR ever received was from Dr. C. J. O'Hagan, now one of our oldest citizens, and from him came the first word of encouragement. From that day to this the paper has had good and true friends, to each of whom it feels grateful, and we hope the course of the paper will always merit their confidence.

Quite a number of towns over the State are petitioning the Legislature to repeal the merchant's purchase tax law.

The Raleigh Post announces that its subscription list has grown so large that a faster press has been ordered to enable it to get the editions off in time for the mails. It is a good sign to a community when its newspapers prosper.

The railroads running from Atlanta to Norfolk are having a rate war over the freights on cotton. The shipper will get the benefit of the cutting in rates.

THE REFLECTOR is indebted to the Washington Post for a copy of its excellent almanac and encyclopedia for 1899. It is full of interesting information and useful references on almost any subject that could be mentioned.

SHALL GREENVILLE HAVE A DISPENSARY?

That depends entirely on whether a majority of the white voters want it and ask for it or not. The News and Observer is in closetouch with the present Legislature and Tuesday's, 24th, issue says:

The Democratic position on local option, the dispensary, the licensed saloon, and like questions is that whatever system the majority of the white voters desire should be adopted. Therefore, if the people of any town or county want a dispensary established they should be able to show affirmatively that it is desired by a majority of the white voters of the county. Unless they can do this the Legislature would make a mistake to establish it. The same principle applies to all like measures.

No negro domination, no rule by a white minority, no putting on the people of laws not desired by the majority, no submission of questions where the negro vote might control—these embody the Democratic doctrine of home rule by white men.

We heartily approve of this; if a majority of the white voters do not want it, it should not be established; but if a majority do want it and ask for it then it should be established. So it does look like the question is one for the white voters of the township or county to determine, by affirmative petition if they favor it, and by a refusal to sign petition if opposed to it. So we ask the white voters to inform themselves as to the working of the Dispensary and then say which they prefer for Greenville, eleven bar-rooms or one Dispensary.

There is still another paragraph in the same editorial of the News and Observer which we fully endorse, and to which we call special attention, viz: "No proposition upon which the white people are divided should be submitted to the people as long as the negro is entitled to vote." In plain English to talk about submitting the question of "Dispensary" or "No Dispensary" to the popular vote is to ask the negro to decide it for us. And we hardly think that will be done.

We should not attempt to shift the responsibility of our bar-rooms upon the shoulders of the legislature, they will give Greenville a Dispensary if a "majority of the white voters" ask for it.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT. NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan 25, '99.

Sunday was a fine day and there was a large crowd at church here.

A. D. Cox moved yesterday in the little new house in front of the church.

Cotton seed are rising but they are only rising from the cart to the car as people bring them to A. G. Cox for 12½ cents per bushel.

Miss Annie Stocks has accepted a position as clerk in the store of B. F. Manning & Co.

There is another wire fence maker in town today, but he is only two days old. It is the little son of Mr. Charlie Kittrell, who makes wire fence. Mr. Kittrell calls him his little Democrat.

Is your horse bothered with galded back or shoulders in hot weather? If so you can stop that at once by using a cloth collar and an Economic Back made by the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

The Union Meeting of the Northern division of Atlantic Baptist Association will convene here at the Baptist church next Friday. Rev. J. M. Alderman will preach introductory sermon. Important topics will be discussed Friday, Saturday and Sunday, which all are invited to come and hear.

Railroads and the Courts.

In referring to measures introduced into the two houses of the Assembly to prevent cases being removed from the State to Federal courts, the Statesville Landmark covers the whole case most admirably and justly. We copy with approval:

"There is no question but that all foreign corporations doing business in this State should be made amenable to the State's laws and regulations, but they should at the same time be treated with exact justice and fairness. It is claimed on the one hand that they carry every case possible to the United States courts in order to estape, if possible, the penalties for violating State statutes, and for the additional reason that United States judges are more friendly to them and will give them a better showing—the extremists claiming that the United States judges are creatures of corporations and always decide in their favor. On the other hand the corporations claim that on account of a violent and unreasonable prejudice against them in the State they are unable to get justice in the State courts and must of necessity go to the United States courts.

Neither of these contentions are groundless. Every unbiased observer knows that there is in this State a strong—and in some instances unreasonable—prejudice against corporations, especially against railroads, and this prejudice has been so fomented and encouraged by demagogue politicians that it is very difficult for corporations at all times to get justice in the State courts; and it is especially difficult if a case goes to the jury, for a shrewd lawyer for the plaintiff can very easily select a jury that will give a verdict against the railroads.

"But the corporations—the railroads—are not blameless. They too frequently show a hostile disposition toward the people—a disposition to refuse reasonable demands; to treat proper and reasonable grievances with contempt, and to fight all claims against them to the last ditch regardless of the nature of the case. If they would exhibit a more liberal and friendly spirit toward the people it would be better for them and for the people.

We believe there is a proper and just middle ground in this matter. We are opposed to harsh and oppressive laws against corporations, and we are opposed to allowing corporations to do as they please. Surely the case can be met and disposed of without injustice to either side."

Provided, that whenever the dispensary commissioner shall be satisfied that any druggist is selling, bartering, exchanging or in any manner disposing of said liquors for any purpose other than that authorized by this section, they, the commissioners shall order the Manager or Managers of the Dispensary to refuse to sell said druggist any more liquors, and such druggist shall upon conviction of selling, bartering, exchanging or in any manner disposing of liquors, shall forfeit his license, and be liable to all the penalties, prosecutions and proceedings at law provided against persons selling without authority.

That nothing herein, shall be construed to authorize the manufacture or sale of any preparation or compound under any name, form or device, which may be used as a beverage, or is intoxicating in its character.

Sec. 10. If there should for any reason be no money in hand derived from the profits of the Dispensary, such amounts being always repaid to said respective treasuries out of the first profits thereafter realized from the Dispensary, said Mayor and Board of Town Commissioners and Board of County Commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to make the appropriations herein provided for out of any money in the respective treasuries and if necessary to levy and collect taxes for that purpose.

Sec. 13. And said Dispensary Commissioners shall make quarterly reports to said Board of Control on the fourth Monday in March, June, September and December in each year, showing in detail the expenditures and returns from said Dispensary and the net profits derived therefrom and on the same day of said months said Commissioners shall apportion said net profits and pay three-eighths thereof to the Town treasury and three-eighths to the County treasurer and one-fourth to School Fund. That part of the said net profits awarded the town at any time may be appropriated by the Mayor and Board of Town Commissioners to any purpose that they may lawfully appropriate money for and that part awarded the county may be appropriated by the Board of county Commissioners to any purpose that they may lawfully appropriate money for.

Sec. 15. The Dispensary Commissioners shall give bonds with good and sufficient sureties payable to the county treasurer in such sums as may be fixed by said Board of Control, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of their office and shall be paid for their services such sums as may be fixed by said Board of Control which shall not be less than $100.00 per annum.

Sec. 16. That all laws and clauses of law in conflict with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Sec. 17. That this act shall be in force from and after the first day of July 1897.

Very Bad Financiering.

It is reported that Governor Russell became personally responsible to one of the Raleigh banks for about $22,000, the amount expended in equipment, etc., of the North Carolina troops for the war with Spain. It was, of course, expected that the Federal government would promptly refund the amount. The Governor thought it was "all right" or he would not have made himself individually liable for the money, and the bank thought it was "all right," or it would hardly have accepted the Governor's endorsement for so large a sum as $22,000. It will be recalled that the War Department at Washington refused to do anything more than credit the amount on an old claim of the United States against North Carolina. It is now said that the only hope of the Governor and the Raleigh bank for relief is the possibility of getting a bill through Congress authorizing the payment of the claim in cash. The Governor has been to Washington, and the late Gee Zee French has recently been there with the supposed object of futhering the Governor's interests.—Wilmington Star.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

TO GAIN FLESH, TO SLEEP WELL, TO KNOW WHAT APPETITE AND GOOD DIGESTION MEAN.

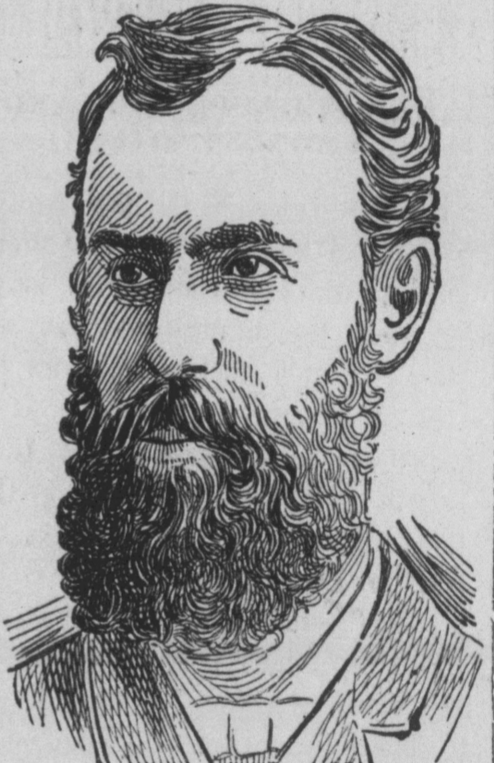

Make a Test of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

No trouble is more common or more misunderstood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think their nerves are to blame and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicines. The real seat of the mischief is lost sight of. The stomach is the organ to be looked after.

Nervous dyspeptics often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every organ. In some cases the heart palpitates and is irregular; in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with loss of flesh and appetite with accumulations of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach. They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of flesh and appetite, sleeplessness, palpitation, heartburn, constipation and headache.

Send for valuable little book on stomach diseases by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. All druggists sell full-sized packages at 50 cents. Prof. Henry W. Becker, A. M. the wellknown religious worker and writer of St. Louis.

Public Secretary for the St. Louis School Patrons' Association, and the District Conference of Stewards of the M. E. Church; also takes an active part in the work of the Epworth League, and to write on religious and educational topics for several magazines. How he found relief is best told in his own words:

"Some weeks ago my brother heard me say something about indigestion, and taking a box from his pocket said 'Try Stuart's Tablets.' I did, and was promptly relieved. Then I investigated the nature of the tablets and became satisfied that they were made of just the right things and in just the right proportions to aid in the assimilation of food. I heartily endorse them in all respects, and I keep them constantly on hand."

H. M. EMERSON, Gen'l Pass. Agen
J. K. KENLY, Gen'l Manager
M. EMERSON,

A gentleman remarked recently that had a stranger or an outsider come to North Carolina, and made the cures among our people that Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy had made, the people would have stirred as never before. Read this and suppose a case:

Eleven years ago I had a child that was delicate from birth, and for six months she was under constant care of the best physician we had in our town. But his medicine seemed powerless to control the bowel trouble, which had become chronic dysentery. She also suffered from some aggravated blood trouble, which caused large sores and risings to break out on her body. Oft time there would be as many as 20 or 25. We had several doctors to treat her at different times, but nothing reached her case. They would lance these risings, but as soon as one was cured another broke out, and the doctors gave me no hope of her cure. After she had led a life of agony and suffering for six months, I was inspired to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. There was a change for the better in twenty-four hours, it seemed to check the bowels at once, and after using a few bottles my child was entirely cured, and has never since had any sign of trouble and is now in perfect health. A few years after this I had two sores to break out on my ankle, and strange to say I did not think of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I was under the treatment of doctors for three years, but the sores continued to get worse until they had eaten to the bone. I then thought of trying Mrs. Joe Person's Wash and did so, and it is almost useless to say it soon made a cure.

I wish I could speak so that every man, woman and child, in North Carolina could hear, that I might tell them what Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash did for me and mine. I advised one of my friends who had been a terrible sufferer for a long time, with nurses sore mouth. She used the Remedy and Wash, and it soon made a cure.

I have recommended it to ever so many of my friends, for indigestion and other ailments, and I have never known it to fail to cure yet. There is no medicine equal to it.

History of the Spanish War

AND A LONG LIST OF NOTABLE CONTRIBUTORS.

Over 1,200 Pages and 500 Valuable Illustrations.

Three Beautiful Volumes in Half Morocco.

See special offer at bottom of this advertisement.

This Magnificent Edition for only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

To the readers of this paper we make the following proposition to become members of the Review of Reviews History Club, and obtain the three volumes of

Our War in Two Hemispheres,

By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods aids in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States Army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of the navies, photographed scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Spanish, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

Elizabeth Cromwell.

Cromwell legends are ubiquitous in England that it is a real relief to lay one's hand upon a bit of solid fact relating either to the protector or his family. Elizabeth, the second and favorite daughter of Cromwell, married John Claypole of Northborough, and appears to have spent a considerable portion of her 12 years of wedded life in his substantial fourteenth century house. Carlyle asserts Elizabeth Claypole to have been "a graceful, brave and amiable woman," and of her home that it is "now ruined—patched into a farmhouse."

The second statement is not characterized by his usual accuracy, and the first probably needs some modification, for Elizabeth Claypole is credited with some turning of her head over her father's elevation, and at a wedding feast is reported to have exclaimed, when asked why the wives of the major generals were absent, "I'll warrant you, washing their dishes at home, as they used to do." Not a particularly "amiable" sentence that.

Cromwell seems to have had some insight of her little weakness. "Tell her," he wrote once, "to take heed of a departing heart and of being cozened with worldly vanities and worldly company, which, I doubt, she is too subject to." It is agreed by most authorities that John Claypole himself was little enough of a Puritan, but let it stand to his credit that, after Oliver died, he provided a haven for his widow for the rest of her life in this manor house.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Barbers on the Ocean.

One of the most important persons aboard a well equipped ocean liner is the barber. If he is gifted with a good business instinct, he is in a position to make a good deal of money.

To the average man shaving while at sea is a difficult and hazardous operation. He therefore calls into requisition the services of the ship's barber, a man who by long training is qualified to wield the razor with skill and safety, no matter how much the vessel rolls or pitches.

He is always one of the most heavily "tipped" officials on the ship. If the ship travels on a route with interesting ports of call, the ship's barber makes it his business to lay in a stock of native knickknacks and curios of all kinds.

The inexperienced traveler is naturally a little suspicious of the native peddlers who swarm on board with their wares directly the ship is at anchor. He prefers to purchase his mementoes of foreign travel of the barber, who, having bought his stock at wholesale rates, is able to retail the various articles to passengers at prices little if at all higher than those charged by the native tradesman.—Exchange.

Steel Balls.

The largest center in the world for the manufacture of steel balls for ball bearings is situated at Schweinfurt, in Bavaria. A couple of factories there, owned by one firm, produce close upon 800,000,000 balls annually with the labor of 600 men working ten hours daily. The total production of Germany is stated to be about 650,000,000, while England and France combined turn out only about 70,000,000 additional.

Such farthings are no longer likely to be mistaken for half crowns, for now they are minted not only of a different size and design, but even of a different color, being a dull bronze.
