

SOMETHING OF THE WEATHER.

How It Was Over the Country.

The blizzard of the past week extended all over the country, even the extreme south not escaping an icy blast. As one writer expressed it, if you take a map of the United States and smear snow all over it with a zero temperature, you could form some idea of its extent.

THE REFLECTOR has told how it was in this immediate section, and from exchanges we get some idea of the conditions elsewhere. Nearly everywhere all previous records of temperature have been lowered.

IN THE STATE.

At Charlotte the snow was very deep and the temperature went to 5° below zero.

Raleigh had 18 inches of snow with temperature below zero.

Wilmington had 6 inches of snow but it did not stay on the ground as long as at other places. The temperature was close to zero.

Blowing Rock had a temperature of 10° degrees below zero, and 6° below at midday.

Weldon had 18 inches of snow. Asheville seemed to be about the coldest place in the State. The temperature went 14° below there and stood 10° below at noon.

IN OTHER STATES.

In New York City the snow drifts reached a depth of 5 to 10 feet.

Washington City had 3 feet of snow on a level with a zero temperature and violent winds.

Philadelphia had 15 inches of snow and a temperature 6° below.

Roanoke, Va. had 14 inches with temperature 3° to 10° below.

Richmond showed up with 17 inches on a level.

Baltimore made a record of 15½ inches.

Charleston, S. C., had 3 inches, something very unusual for that city, and everybody turned out to go snow balling. The temperature 9° above.

Savannah, Ga., had 2 inches with temperature 10° above.

Jacksonville, Fla., had very light snow and temperature 9° above. At Tallahassee it was reported 2° below.

Columbia, S. C., had 11½ inches and temperature 2° below.

At Americus, Ga., the temperature went to 6° below and peach trees were in bloom.

At New Orleans the temperature was 16° above, 9° lower than it ever went there before.

Little Rock, Ark., had temperature at 12° below.

At Houston, Tex., the temperature was 4° above.

Norfolk had 14 inches of snow but the temperature kept a little above zero.

Died.

Mr. W. F. Edwards, of Hookerton, died Monday night at the age of 73. He had been suffering for several months. He was a member of the Methodist church of Ormond chapel, Greene county. Mr. Edwards leaves two children, Mr. J. J. Edwards, a prominent merchant of Hookerton, and Mrs. Bettie Moseley, also of Hookerton, and several grandchildren. His remains were interred at Hookerton today.—Kinston Free Press, 15th.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

Former Congressman John G. Otis, of Kans. was terribly gored by a bull on his farm near Topeka.

Watchman Randolph Riser, who was found tied in a building destroyed by fire at Toledo, is under arrest, on a charge of arson.

The Governments of the United States and Mexico have agreed on the terms of a new extradition treaty to replace that which lapsed about a fortnight ago.

It is announced in London that Barnum & Bailey's circus will remain there and that the proprietors will float an English company with a capital of $2,000,000, of which James A. Bailey takes one-third.

Passengers on the transport Mississippi, which arrived at New York from Santiago on Thursday last, report that when they left Cuba on the preceding Friday the temperature was 103 degrees. At New York they found the mercury at three degrees below zero—a difference of just 106 degrees.

Poultry by Weight.

We notice a communication in the Charlotte Observer advising the selling of poultry by weight instead of, as now, selling at so much apiece. We think this a very good idea. The present plan of selling a scrawny old hen for the same price as a fine chicken of some of the large improved stock is simply foolish. A pound of chicken meat should have its regular price just the same as a pound of beef, mutton or pork. Selling a two pound chicken for the same price as a four pound chicken sells for is to say the least very silly. If poultry were sold regularly by the pound it would induce poultry raisers to not only send fat fowls to market, but would also encourage them to give their attention to raising the better breeds.—Rocky Mount Argonaut.

Now we Begin to Long For

The July sun.
Less ice and more coal.
The lawn mower to replace the snow shovel.
Green grass and chirping birds.
The first budding of the trees.
Early peas, new potatoes and fresh asparagus.
A little dust instead of so much slush.
Oxfords in place of Arctics.
Linen in place of flannel.
The porch rocker once again.
Peaches and cream.
The open window and the screen door.

A mad dog in Charlotte bit twelve people before a policeman succeeded in killing the animal.

A Point in Advertising.

"When the covey rises before you and goes off in a bunch, don't fire point blank at the whole bunch thinking to get half a dozen at one shot—chances are you'll get none," says an exchange. "Pick out a single bird and try to make sure of that one. Advertise like you'd shoot at birds. Don't try to put all your good things into one ad; save some; for you'll need them. And don't take a crack at creation" with only general results in view. Advertise one thing; and make it a 'bargain.' Sell it at a loss, if necessary, and charge up the loss to the advertising expense account. What you want an ad to do is to make folks come after the thing advertised. When they get that and are pleased with it, you're in good shape to do more business with them—business in other things which you didn't advertise."

An Out-of-the-Ordinary Marriage.

In the court which is now in session a case was brought up in which J. C. Ferrell, a young white man 27 years old, was charged with deserting his wife for the affections of Mrs. Matilda Bunn, 72 years old, both residents of this county. The defendant was found guilty, upon which Judge Moore granted the wife a divorce and forced Ferrell to marry Mrs. Bunn. The ceremony was performed yesterday by Magistrate Charles W. Gold.

It is seldom a marriage takes place in which the bride is 72 and the groom 27 years old. A strange coincidence is that the ages are the two figures reversed.—Wilson News.

Keep It Going

The benefits to be derived from advertising are in the future as well as what you may get at the present. Advertising is something like making a snowball—the farther you go the bigger it grows. If after you have rolled your snowball a little distance, you stop rolling it, and begin another one, you are expending an extra labor instead of accumulating, while if you had kept on rolling the old ball it would soon grow to much larger proportions than any new one you could start.—Press and Printer.

They Won't See It.

Some of the nervous debility "doctors" earn from $20,000 to $40,000, a year, by spending a small fraction of these amounts in advertising in the newspapers, while many a learned and able physician earns a scant living who could coin money by making known his specialty.—Press and Printer.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1899.

Like Enoch Arden.

One of the strangest as well as one of the most interesting romances that has come to public attention lately, and one in which all characters are known to the Charlotte public was called to the attention of the writer today. The story as it actually occurred includes adventures of daring tales of suffering and the faithfulness of womankind toward those who have won her love. Who does not recall the beautiful as well as touching story of Enoch Arden? Fiction at all times is generally interesting to the majority of people, but when it is founded on facts and concerns people whom you used to know as speaking acquaintances, it makes it ten fold more interesting.

In 1880, Mr. Will Cross, who was born and raised in Charlotte and who is well and favorably remembered by many, was married to Miss Annie Moore, also of this city. Up to the year 1884, their married life had been blessed and happiness reigned supreme over their household. About this time Mr. Frank Andrews decided to move to El Paso, Texas, in order to regain his lost health. Mr. Cross and Mr. Andrews were friends and he hearing that Mr. Andrews was going to Texas, thinking that he could better his condition, decided to accompany him. Making all necessary arrangements and bidding their loved ones farewell, they started for the then "Wild West." For a number of years he lived at El Paso. Gradually losing sight of his former friends, and hearing that his wife had died, Mr. Cross decided to seek his fortune further West and went to San Francisco, where a few days after his arrival, he shipped as a sailor on a whaling vessel. While crossing the China sea, his ship was wrecked and he barely escaped death, having been picked up by a passing ship after being in an open boat for days and nights without food and water, and carried to a Siberian port. Seeing an opportunity to get back to America, he again shipped as a sailor and some years later landed at his original starting point, San Francisco. Mr. Cross visited El Paso upon his return but finding that he was almost a stranger in his former adopted home and having developed a fondness for the life of a sailor, he returned to San Francisco and sailed on a merchant vessel bound for Europe. While in London he secured a position on a freight plying between New York and Liverpool, which position he held until a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Cross heard from her husband for a number of months after he left Charlotte, but gradually his letters became fewer and fewer until 1887, when not having heard from him in a long time she gave him up for dead. Some years later, she moved to New York City where she has resided since 1892.

About the middle of December, Mr. Frank Andrews received a letter from Mr. Cross asking him if any of his relatives were yet living in Charlotte. Mr. Andrews wrote him that his wife was alive and the report about her death was a mistake. Although Mr. Cross had been going into New York many times during each year he never dreamed that his wife was alive and living in that city. He made arrangements to come to Charlotte and arrived here some weeks ago. Mention of his arrival was made in the local papers and as Mrs. Cross was a subscriber to the Charlotte papers, she saw an account of his arrival and she wrote to Mr. Andrews to know if it was her husband. Mr. Andrews answered her letter by sending the one he had received from Mr. Cross some weeks previous.

After learning that his wife was not dead Mr. Cross immediately opened a correspondence with her and as a result, she was expected to arrive here last night, but owing to delayed trains she will not get here until tonight, when Mr. Cross and his wife will see each other for the first time in fifteen years.—Charlotte News, 14th.

Six in Sight.

Six important expositions are now in sight. The first is the Industrial Exhibition to be held in Philadelphia next fall in connection with the Commercial Museum. The Paris Exposition comes next year, along with one in Glasgow, one in Detroit in honor of the second centennial of the settlement of that city, and one in Buffalo to be called the Pan-American Exposition. In 1903 St. Louis will hold one of the greatest international expositions in history to celebrate the purchase of Louisiana.

There will be a heavy bill to pay the piper after Uncle Sam's brief war dance. Up to February 1st the deficiency for the current fiscal year was $92,867,981—or at the rate of about $160,000,000 a year. The war loan of $200,000,000 will be nearly all gone by July 1 next, according to the estimates of financial experts in Congress, and then, with a huge army to maintain, the Government must either increase the Federal taxes or borrow money on bond issues. The wise and sure policy of "pay as you go" seems to have been definitely and finally abandoned by those in control of the country's financial affairs.—Philadelphia Record.

The historic old Washington elm in Cambridge, Mass., beneath whose branches General Washington took command of the Continental army, is rapidly decaying, and the Cambridge Park Commissioners say that it will be impossible to save it more than a few years longer. A short time ago workmen went over the tree and cut off a considerable amount of dead wood, and there is not very much left to keep alive. It is intended to make a thorough overhauling of the tree in the spring, and to do everything possible to preserve it.

Snowbirds in Baltimore.

Snowbirds have made their appearance in Baltimore for the first time, it is said, since 1882, in any numbers. The birds have appeared in considerable numbers in the outskirts of the city, says the Baltimore Sun, and the boys are having a good deal of sport shooting them. At one restaurant in Northeast Baltimore twenty of them were counted. They are considered quite a delicacy by some people.

STOP SMOKING! No-To-Bac from Sterling Remedy Co. Chicago, Montreal, New York.

It is said that Dinah Muloch Craik, the famous authoress of "John Halifax, Gentleman," made a habit of leaving at her bank the manuscript of each of her stories as soon as it was completed. It would remain there perhaps six months, and then she would call for it and see how the story affected her after that lapse of time. If it pleased her the manuscript was sent to the publisher; otherwise it was rewritten or thrown away.

Wellington, Kansas, built a new jail last year, and the authorities determined to name it after the first prisoner who might be confined in it. This prisoner proved to be a woman, Mrs. Horton, and the institution was promptly named "Horton Jail." Now it has been proven that the woman was innocent, and she proposes to sue the Wellington authorities for damages.

Blue Birds and Democracy.

Mr. A. M. Rea, of the county, said to The Observer yesterday: "Say that I notice that since Democrats got back in power and we got a Democratic Legislature, that the blue birds have come back. They went away four years ago and are just now coming back."—Charlotte Observer.

The American Agriculturist estimates that there are 75,000,000 horses in the world. Of these 38,000,000 are in Europe, 17,000,000 in North America and 9,000,000 in Asia. The mules and asses in the world are said to number 9,000,000.

Salisbury, N. C., Dec. 4, '98
From my own experience I have found Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy the best medicine known for building up the health in general. The greatest remedy in the world for dyspepsia, eczema, aches and pains and breaking up colds. Nine years ago I suffered with a chronic cold, which resulted in a bronchial affection and repeated serious troubles of the throat which were alarming. I was affected with something like croup and again laryngitis. I tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and am free of all those troubles and have been ever since and feel confident the Remedy has made the cure. I have kept it in my family for years and have always found it invaluable for old and young. The extraordinary effect of this grand remedy is sure to be realized by all who give it a fair test. Sincerely, MRS. M. E. RAMSAY.

History of the Spanish War

By Dr. ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

AND A LONG LIST OF NOTABLE CONTRIBUTORS.

Over 1,200 Pages and 500 Valuable Illustrations.
Three Beautiful Volumes in Half Morocco.

See special offer at bottom of this advertisement.

This Magnificent Edition for only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

To the readers of this paper we make the following proposition to become members of the Review of Reviews History Club, and obtain the three volumes of

Our War in Two Hemispheres,

By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods adds in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsai.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of the navies, photographed scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Spanish, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

How to obtain the handsome edition by a payment of only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

The three beautifully bound large octavo volumes and a year's subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS can be obtained by any of the readers of this paper by joining the Review of Reviews Club and paying one dollar. The volumes will be sent as soon as ready to those who remit the sum, and the purchase will be completed by the payment of one dollar per month for twelve months. The first volume will be ready early in December. The subscription to the magazine which goes with the offer can be dated from any month.

A SONG.

Ah, what is better than this, my dear,
What is better than this?
The thought of a night which has lost its way
Between tomorrow and yesterday;
The full of the tide and the gray of the sea,
And a gull that circleth endlessly;
The breath from a wind which bloweth well;
A sail that hasteth new ports to tell;
If aught is better than this, my dear,
I find it not here, I find it not here,
I find it not here, I find it not here.
—Blanche Trask in "The Land of Sunshine."

JUST A CURTAIN FIRE.

It Was in a Girls' Boarding School and Did Complicated Damage.

A fire in a skyscraper may be thrilling, but for dramatic episodes and unexpected complications a fire in a girls' boarding school surpasses it. The boarding school fire is usually what is known among insurance men as a curtain fire, but a curtain fire in a girls' school is more exciting and causes more casualties than an ordinary blaze anywhere else.

One evening last week two girls, who occupy a microscopic hall bedroom in a swell up town school, took the globes off the gas fixtures for their curling purposes and left them on because it was easier to do that than to put them on again. Then the girls raised the window a trifle in order to cool the room and dutifully sat down to write home letters. The inevitable happened, and when girl number one poised her pen in the air and glanced around the room in search of inspiration she saw the curtains in a blaze. She screamed. Girl number two looked around and echoed the scream. Then, with promptitude and discretion, both girls fainted. The screams had attracted the attention of the other girls, who rushed to the scene and then did various and sundry stunts, according to their several dispositions. One fainted, several wept, a few ran out of the house, and the rest shouted for the one man on the premises.

When he arrived, things looked rather hopeless. Curtains and woodwork were blazing finely. The floor was littered with prostrate forms, and when three girls have fainted on the floor of a hall bedroom there isn't much space in the room for promenading. The man picked his way across the prostrate forms and ordered all the girls who were not in a dead faint to leave the room, but they didn't go until he lost his temper and spoke with a force which isn't common in boarding school circles. Then they fled; but, unluckily, there was an enemy in the rear. A vigorous and practical woman from Texas had been inspired to go after some water. Returning in mad haste with a large pitcherful of water borne triumphantly aloft, she collided with the retreating forces at the door. The pitcher struck the leader of the retreat squarely in the face and knocked out two of her front teeth, whereupon the injured girl made the fainting trio a quartet and the water carrier dropped her pitcher and went into violent hysterics.

Hysteria, as boarding school teachers know to their sorrow, is contagious, and the one case touched off the crowd. By the time teachers arrived upon the scene the fire was out, but the survivors were in a bad way. It was necessary to put nine-tenths of the school to bed and order wholesale doses of bromide. Even now the girls insist that they haven't recovered from the shock sufficiently to do hard studying, and the victims of the water pitcher are both under the care of trained nurses. As for the man, he gave up his place the next day and confided to the cook that he was going to look for a job in a lunatic asylum, where his boarding school experience would be of value to him.—New York Sun.

Malicious Interference.

"I'll get even with that printer," said the editor of the Plankville Bugle, "if it takes me the rest of my life."
"What printer?" asked his friend.
"That tramp I took on while my wife was visiting her mother. I got a $10 write up out of old Hiker, who is laying his pipes for the senatorship, and I guess that some day his little son would make as big a mark as his father and that would bring it that the young 'un would get a job in a printer's office."
—Ed. Bugle.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

THAWING OUT.

People Begin Stirring Around.

C. S. Wilkinson is on the sick list.

Fred Forbes is laid up with his vaccination.

H. T. King returned Wednesday evening from Raleigh.

E. B. Whichard left on the train this morning for his home.

Like as not some spring weather will follow close on the heels of the blizzard.

Mrs. T. R. Moore and Miss Eula Quinn came home Wednesday evening from a visit to Wharton.

Hens went on a strike during the freeze. May be now some more eggs will come to market.

Worthy of Note.

We believe there is less destitution in Greenville than any other town its size. The snow and blizzard were just as bad here as elsewhere, but there have been very few cases where help was needed. Such cases of need as became known were aided by individuals and there has been no public call for contributions.

The Reflector Way.

We see in some of our daily exchanges that they quit delivering papers around town by carriers during the snow but sent them to the postoffice instead. THE REFLECTOR carriers, plucky boys that they are, stuck to it and never missed a trip around town, and never even raised a complaint about going through the deep snow. In such times as this we try all the harder to serve our patrons well.

The rain set in at an early hour this morning and has had a dissolving effect on the snow.

SNOW AND ICE.

Are Colder Than These Items.

Now for slush.

This was one of the awful days underfoot.

Don't fret, spring will come a little later.

Most people had rather see the rain than the snow.

Three years ago this morning the big fire visited Greenville.

Even rubber boots fail to give a fellow an elastic step in this weather.

With freezing snow and winds much chiller, it's good to read about Manila.

Business will brighten up after the snow is gone. Better be looking after advertising.

The first half of February was a corker on weather. We will see what the remainder of the month is to be.

The western part of the State was not satisfied with the snow and blizzard alone, but mixed an earthquake shock along with it.

NOTICE.—My dental office will be closed about one month, on account of absence from town taking a post graduate course.

R. L. CARR.

Another man thought of THE REFLECTOR yesterday and paid his subscription. The door will swing open for all others on such a mission.

NOTICE—This to give notice that I am no longer connected with John Cheek in the tailoring business. Satisfaction guaranteed.

JOHN WALSH

Attention is called to the statement of the Bank of Greenville at the close of business Feb. 4th. This excellent institution continues to grow in popularity and makes strides forward all the time.

WELL FIXTURES FOR SALE.—I offer for sale the entire well boring outfit of the late H. F. Harriss. The outfit includes auger, sand pump, windlass, shafting, tools, etc. I will sell the entire lot for cash. Original cost of the outfit about $125.00, but all will be sold at a great reduction. For further information apply to Hunting in a Sleigh.

Mrs. B. F. Patrick sends THE REFLECTOR word that Messrs. J. E. Starkey and C. S. Forbes went out there hunting in a sleigh on Wednesday. The sat in their sleigh to shoot birds while boys went and picked the game up for them. She says this beats all the hunting she ever saw before.

Doing Better.

Trains are getting back nearer to their schedules. The passenger train was only about 20 minutes late Wednesday night and passed up the road almost on time this morning. The freight train from the north came in today for the first time since Saturday.
