A SAD WEEK.

The year had gloomily begun For Willie Weeks, a poor man's
He was beset with bill and dun,
And he had very little
"This cash," said he, won't pay my dues;
I've nothing here but ones and
A bright thought struck him, and he said,
"The rich Miss Goldbrick I will
But when he paid his court to her,
She lisped, but firmly said, "No,
"Alas!" said he, "then I must die!
I'm done! I'll drown, I'll burn, I'll

STATE NEWS.

J. F. Carter, formerly of Salisbury, died in Charlotte from an overdose of laudanum.

A negro made an assault on a white lady, in Charlotte, Saturday afternoon. He was arrested.

The body of a female white infant was found in a ditch at Greenboro. The child's throat had been cut.

The First North Carolina Regiment has sent a petition from Cuba to the authorities at Washington asking to be mustered out of service.

Unprofitable Citizens.

There are people who depend entirely on their home people for support, who do not contribute by word or deed to the support of any other home institution but their own. People of this size never discover the amount of consideration they receive from others. Many a man thinks what he is permitted to do is what he does, and often thinks another exists by his gracious consideration when he himself is the recipient of unmeasured kindness at the hands of the other.—Emporia (Va.) Messenger.

Business Competition.

Business nowadays is a competition of the severest kind. There is no place for the laggard, for the man who is not keen witted above his fellows. The dull plodder goes to the wall. Industry is well enough in its way, industry is far from being everything in the struggle for mastery that modern business has become. The man who would succeed must be progressive, must keep awake to the movement of the times, must adapt himself to the current and swim with it.—Painter's Magazine.

An Editor's Trouble.

A problem which we have been trying to solve since Saturday, Feb. 18th, is whether one is a subject of congratulations or an object of commiseration upon the advent of an eleven and one-half pound baby boy. Will those more experienced please enlighten us?—Henderson Gold Leaf.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

William L. Merry, United States Minister to Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Salvador, has arrived at Managua.

In order to settle an estate at Milwaukee, Wis., Julius Luebke has, for the second time within a year, been adjudged legally dead.

Lizzie Cook, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who set fire to her little brother during his mother's absence, said she "wanted to see baby die."

A tract of pine land in Wisconsin containing 200,000,000 feet of timber has been sold to Chatfield & Keep and others, of Chicago, Ill., for $1,000,000.

The Tarr Distillery, in Lexington, Ky., has been bought for $60,000 by the recently-formed trust of Kentucky distillers and warehouse companies.

Three hundred Chinamen passed through New York on their way to Mexico, where they will be employed as laborers on the Mexican Central Railroad.

An Iowa girl advertised for a husband and got him. The advertisement and wedding fixtures cost $9. Within a year he enlisted and was killed at Santiago, leaving his wife $3,000 insurance. The wife will, in addition to this, be drawing a widow's pension in a short time.

If you discontinue advertising entirely, you are leaving out some of the bricks in the wall which you are constructing and will lose a large portion of the benefits of cumulative ads when you begin again, there having been a disconnection in what you did before and that which you now intend to do.—Press and Printer.

The average merchant will get angry if you tell him you don't believe there are any good reasons why people should patronize him in preference to his competitors. Thus aroused, he will pour out reasons—good reasons, too—enough to fill a book. But it rarely occurs to the average merchant to give the public those reasons in his advertising. He doesn't seem to realize that such is the best sort of advertising—the only sort of advertising that is real advertising.—Press and Printer.

The new spring bonnet is said to be a stunner. It will have a cow-catcher in front, a tail-board behind, a flower garden on top, with a bunch of grass on one side and a bird's carcass on the other side. The whole will be elaborately banded together with crushed ribbons and topped off with a very abundant millinery bill.—Durham Sun.

History of the Spanish War

By Dr. ALBERT SHAW,
Editor of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

AND A LONG LIST OF NOTABLE CONTRIBUTORS.

Over 1,200 Pages and 500 Valuable Illustrations.

Three Beautiful Volumes in Half Morocco.

See special offer at bottom of this advertisement.

This Magnificent Edition for only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

To the readers of this paper we make the following proposition to become members of the Review of Reviews History Club, and obtain the three volumes of

Our War in Two Hemispheres,

By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the crucial Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods aids in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of the navies, photographed scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Spanish, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

How to obtain the handsome edition by a payment of only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

The three beautifully bound large octavo volumes and a year's subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS can be obtained by any of the readers of this paper by joining the Review of Reviews Club and paying one dollar. The volumes will be sent as soon as ready to those who remit the sum, and the purchase will be completed by the payment of one dollar per month for twelve months. The first volume will be ready early in December. The subscription to the magazine which goes with the offer can be dated from any month.

DEHMAN THOMPSON'S FIRST

His Earliest Appearance on the Stage Was With a West Swanzey Club.

One of the most treasured mementos of Denman Thompson's long and successful career on the stage is a programme of the first entertainment in which he appeared. Mr. Thompson has the bill incased in an oak frame, and he takes more pride in showing it to his friends than any of the costly souvenirs which he has collected during the 47 years he has been before the public. During the call of a Sentinel reporter upon Mr. Thompson at his home in West Swanzey a day or two ago the distinguished actor exhibited the precious piece of paper with the remark that no newspaper man had ever seen it or written about it.

The bill is 6½ by 17½ inches in size, was printed at The Sentinel office in Keene and aside from the cast of characters reads: "Exhibition by the request of their numerous friends. The West Swanzey Shakespeare club will give another entertainment at the town hall, Swanzey, on Tuesday, Dec. 10, 1850. Doors open at 5 o'clock, p. m. Curtains rise at 6½. Tickets 12½ cents."

The first number was an orchestral overture and then a song, "Greeting Glee," by A. E. Bennett, now of Keene, and others. Then came a national drama in two acts, entitled "Brazen Drum; or, The Yankee in Poland," in which Mr. Thompson played the part of Calvin Cartwheel, a drum major in the "Vermont" militia, "a carter and a whole team in the cause of Polish freedom." After that came a song, "Oh, Carry Me 'Long," by A. E. Bennett and others. "Therese, the Orphan of Geneva," was the next offering, in which Mr. Thompson appeared as the Count de Moroville. Then there was another song by A. E. Bennett and others and a fancy dance, "Lucy Long," by Mr. Thompson, and another song by Mr. Bennett.

The one act farce, "The Omnibus; or, A Convenient Distance," was the next number, in which Mr. Thompson had the part of Pat Rooney. A comic pantomime, "Adventures of Jack Jameson," closed the entertainment. The music was furnished by Ramsdall's band, which consisted of a violin and melodeon. Among the people who appeared with Mr. Thompson at that time were Mrs. H. W. Leonard, now living in West Swanzey; John Patch, roadmaster of the Connecticut river division of the Boston and Maine railroad; A. E. Bennett, a merchant of Keene; Miss M. M. Thompson, Mr. Thompson's sister, now Mrs. Granger, who lives in West Swanzey. The others are all dead. D. J. Atwood, one of the actors, known in the early days as Dan Atwood, was for many years a theatrical costumer in Boston, where he was better known as the "mad tailor."—Keene (N. H.) Sentinel.

ABSORBED IN WHIST.

A Game That Cost General Doubleday a Fortune.

Not many years ago a famous whist game was played at Sudbury, Vt., two of the sitters in being General Doubleday and Henry Dater of the well known firm of Dater, Thompson & Co. It was something like 5 or 10 cents a corner; so you see it was easy for a man to lose as much as $1.90 in an afternoon. Play began after the Sudbury dinner hour, half past 1, and lasted until teatime. The old roosters became so wrapped up in the game that nothing short of an earthquake could have disturbed them. Brokers in New York could do nothing to shake the interest.

The game was played at the time of the historic Hannibal and St. Joe corner, engineered by Kennedy, Hutchinson & Co., in the interest of their client, John Duff of Boston. Doubleday was selling the stock short through Van Schaick & Co., and at a quarter to 2 on the eventful day he received a telegram from his brokers advising him of the situation. The game was stopped just long enough for him to read it and lay it aside. In 20 minutes a second dispatch arrived, was read and cast aside. Doubleday was winning at the rate of 35 cents an hour. What did he care about Hannibal and St. Joe? Later in the afternoon a third summons came from Van Schaick & Co., and at 5 o'clock a fourth. Then Doubleday arose and remarked: "Gentlemen, I have enjoyed the game. My winnings are exactly $1.65. I must say good afternoon, as it is necessary for me to take the first train for New York." The next morning his brokers informed him that he could settle for $100,000. At the time the first telegram was sent he could have settled for $25,000, at the time of the second for $50,000, the third for $75,000. He had ample warning, but in the thick of the Sudbury game of whist he believed the rise was only a threatening flurry.—New York Press.
