

STATE NEWS.

The Senate at Washington has passed a bill appropriating $75,000 for a public building in Durham.

Mr. T. A. Smith, of Durham, dropped dead Tuesday morning.

The Legislative Committee has awarded the contract for the State printing to Barnes Brothers, of Raleigh, they being the lowest bidders on the work. They are Populists, too.

The Legislative caucus Tuesday night named R. B. Lacy, of Wake county, for Labor Commissioner; J. R. Young, of Vance county, for Insurance Commissioner, and C. C. Cherry, of Edgecombe county, for Keeper of the Capital.

Foot Broke Off Like a Piece of Wood.

Wm. Catoe, of Lancaster county, S. C., went to Kershaw on Monday of last week and started for his home near Taxahaw, about night-fall, but he became so benumbed by the cold that he lay down by the roadside, where he was found on Tuesday morning, in an unconscious condition. In attempting to take off one of the unfortunate man's shoes a foot broke off at the instep as if it had been a piece of wood. Both feet and one arm had to be amputated. It seems unreasonable that a man could live lying on the snow for ten hours with the thermometer ten degrees below zero.—Monroe Enquirer.

An Ancient Trunk.

Mr. W. S. Sudderth has a curiosity in shape of a very old trunk at his house. It was brought from Ireland or Scotland by his great, great grandparents and has been in the Sudderth family ever since. It is a small hand trunk, leather covered and is lined with newspapers dated 1688. The trunk shows the lining was put in at the time it was made, and the date on the paper shows date it was made. Mr. Sudderth prizes it very much.—Lenoir News.

Henry Hayes Dead.

Mr. R. H. Hayes died at Chase City, Va., a few days ago of consumption. He had been in Colorado for several years, but the climate of the Rockies failed to arrest the progress of the disease, and he returned home to die. Mr. Hayes was in the leaf business for some time at Chase City, Oxford, Winston and Greenville. He was a young man who had the highest esteem of all that knew him.—Winston Tobacco Journal.

Charged With Setting Fire.

Mr. Pollard, in whose bar room the fire occurred Wednesday morning, was arrested late that afternoon upon a warrant charging him with setting fire to the building. He was taken before Maj. H. Harding, Justice of the Peace, for trial but the evidence did not sustain the charge and the case was dismissed.

February Record.

Mr. Allen Warren sends THE REFLECTOR the following record of the weather for February: Highest temperature 75, lowest 2 below zero, two thunder storms, two blizzards, snow fall 12.25 inches, rain fall 5.45 inches. All this in the shortest month of the year makes a record to remember.

Trying to Secure Col. Tyson's Promotion.

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 28—Gen. John T. Wilder, United States pension agent here, has gone to Washington in an effort to secure the promotion of Col. L. D. Tyson, Sixth United States Volunteer Infantry, to the rank of Brigadier General before the regiment is mustered out of the service. Col. Tyson is son-in-law of C. M. McGhee, one of the financial powers of Wall street.

The day has gone by when the simple name of an article, on the fence, in the street car or on a billboard or any other mere sign can be considered adequate or effective advertising. The facts must be told connectedly and the reasons given. That can be done only in the newspaper. This is why newspaper advertising is increasing out of all proportion to the signs so freely used some years ago.—Des Moines (Ia.) News.

Prophecy For 1899.

The following prophecy for 1899 has been made by Farmer Peter Smith, who is well known as a prophet in the State of Wyoming. He predicted a great many of the events of the last year. He always writes his prophecy the first month of the year, and boasts that he has not failed for 20 years to correctly prophesy the coming events. He says:

My prediction this year is a big European war with France and England involved with Russia:

The Queen of Holland will marry and the Crown Prince of Germany will be bethroned.

There will be cabinet changes and several cabinet officers will resign their portfolios.

There will be a month of record breaking weather during the year and a great deal of rain will fall all over the United States.

There will be several important international marriages with hitherto unknown honors bestowed upon American women.

A new cabinet office will be created.

The army will be reorganized and a more important post created for the head of the army.

One man will control the American turf and there will be a great wheat sensation in early fall.

I see an overthrow of the Spanish Government, which will be adjusted without open war.

The President of France will resign.

Queen Victoria will die and the Prince of Wales will be crowned with great magnificence.

The King of Denmark will die and the Dowager Empress of China will be disgraced throughout Europe and Asia.

A wave of prosperity is coming for the United States, financially

A new political party will be founded and there will be five presidential candidates in the field, including the Prohibitionists and the Populists.

The Government will take control of the cables and canals that are being built in the colonies.

Carriages will run without horses in every city in the United States.

Women will dress like men, in derby hats and ulster, and there will be no big sleeves.

Three of the famous old men of the United States will die and Europe will lose her oldest queen.

Preserve this until the first day of 1900, and I will give you a penny for every misstatement.

THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1899.

Year Without a Summer.

The Lynchburg correspondent of the Norfolk Virginian and Pilot furnishes that paper with the following:

Mr. Martin O'Meara, the well known tailor, of this city, in glancing over a diary of his uncle, the late James Dolan, discovered the following:

"The year 1816 has been called the year without a summer, for there was sharp frost in every month. The farmers used to refer to it as eighteen hundred and starve to death. January was mild, as was also February, with the exception of a few days. The greater part of March was cold and boisterous. April opened warm but grew colder as it advanced, ending with snow and ice and winter cold. In May ice formed half an inch thick, buds and flowers were frozen and corn killed. Frost, ice and snow were common in June. Almost every green thing was killed and was nearly all destroyed. Snow fell to the depth of three inches in New York and Massachusetts and ten inches in Maine. July was accompanied with frost and ice on the fifth. Ice was formed to the thickness of window glass in New York, New England and Pennsylvania, and corn was nearly all destroyed in certain sections. In August, ice formed half an inch thick. A cold Northern wind prevailed nearly all summer. Corn was so frozen that a great deal was cut down and dried for fodder. Very little ripened in New England, and scarcely any even in the Middle States. Farmers were obliged to pay $4 and $5 a bushel for corn of 1815 for seed for the next spring planting. The first two weeks of September were mild; the rest of the month was cold, with frost and ice formed a quarter of an inch thick. October was more than usually cold, with frost and ice. November was cold, blustering, with snow enough for good sleighing. December was quite mild and comfortable."

Why He Didn't Reply.

It is not always easy to be polite. Witness this from the Chicago Post: "Why don't you answer?" said madam impatiently to the Scandinavian on the stepladder engaged in putting up new window fixtures. The man gulped and replied gently:

Mortgaged Property and Taxes.

The following opinion of attorney General Walsler upon a question of some importance was given in response to a request by State Treasurer Worth for information, and will be of interest to Sheriffs and others:

Hon. W. H. Worth, State Treasurer Raleigh, N. C.:

Sir: In reply to your communication of this date, referring to me a letter from Mr. Nathan N. Jones, Sheriff of Warren county, relative to his right to levy on personal property upon which there is a mortgage, I will say that the case of Woody vs. Jones, 113 N. C., 253, referred to by Sheriff Jones, has been in effect overruled by the revenue act of 1891.

A mortgagee's lien is subject to the lien for taxes, and he must pay them if the mortgager does not, and he is barred by the sale of the land for taxes without notice from the sheriff. You can advise the sheriff that he is authorized by law to sell personal property under mortgage for taxes, and that the purchaser would get a good title.

Stanly vs. Baird, 118 N. C., 75.

Prodles vs. Taylor, 118 N. C., 165.

Very respectfully,

(Signed) ZEB. V. WALSER,

Attorney General.

If one could have seen the large delegations in Raleigh last week from Charlotte and Greensboro, come down to pray the General Assembly to give them deliverance from saloons by means of Dispensaries, he could no longer doubt that there is in North Carolina a great rising tide against saloons. If the dispensaries shall continue to prove successful in assuaging the evils of the saloon, we feel sure that they will be generally adopted. The people need only to have a care as to their representatives. Greenville failed last week to get a dispensary because her representatives would not advocate it. They chose to bow to the whiskey element rather than the moral. Of all the towns we know of, Greenville most needs deliverance from the curse of saloons. Other towns and counties are more fortunate, and it now seems that the anti-saloon cause will make great progress in North Carolina this year.—Biblical Recorder.

A whole month now North Carolina has been plodding and plunging in mud. Not a county, save perhaps Mecklenburg, is there but has lost an incalculable amount of time and energy in mud up to the axles of the wagons of her farmers. Enough money has been lost this February to furnish half a dozen good roads in every county. The most sensible thing our people could do is to go to work as soon as possible building modern roads. No doubt the reader sees the matter as we do; but somehow it is the hardest thing to get that unison of action which once gotten would be worth millions to the people. We want about 50,000 agitators for good roads.—Biblical Recorder.

The Managed Husband is Worthless.

Helen Watterson Moody believes that the husband who can be managed is not worth managing, "and there is no better principle," she adds, in the March Ladies' Home Journal, "for both husband and wife to adopt in adjusting themselves to the new relation than that of trying to do each by the other what men are accustomed to call 'the square thing.'" Many a woman understands 'managing' a husband better than she does doing the square thing by him, and many a man understands and practices doing the square thing by other men who would be affronted if he were to be told that, judged by his own business standards, he habitually dealt unfairly with his own wife."

Wedding Cake and the Bride's Trousseau Burned.

A two-story dwelling house, near Reepsville, owned by Mr. S. A. Sain and occupied by Mr. John Canipe, was destroyed by fire Friday night. When a member of the family awoke, about midnight, he found the building enveloped in flames. All the family escaped in their night clothes, and only succeeding in saving two or three articles of furniture.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by a defective flue. A daughter of Mr. Canipe was to be married in a few days, and the baking for the wedding had been going on that day. The cakes that had been baked for the event, together with the bride-elect's trousseau, were destroyed in the building.—Lincoln Journal.

A well-known State Senator, already heavily insured, has been in the habit of putting his insurance friends off with the latest joke when they have occasionally tried to talk business to him. The most eloquent and adroit solicitors had tried their arts on him in vain. The Senator's pleasant negative and the good-humored story accompanying his refusal have become proverbial so that it is the standing office joke to send the ambitious and young solicitor to him. Recently a new man was sent to interest the Senator in insurance, while the State Legislator was in the city between sessions. Before the solicitor could more than mention his mission, the Senator interrupted him: "Hold on; who sent you here?" The solicitor mentioned the names. "I thought so. Well, my friend, they have been playing a joke on you. But I've been thinking the matter over, and have decided I need a little more insurance, after all, and you may send in my application for a $10,000 policy." When the new solicitor went back to his office and calmly nanded in the Senator's application the jokers were silent, and the manager at once placed him on a regular salary.—Philadelphia Record.

Salisbury, N. C., Dec. 4, '98

From my own experience I have found Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy the best medicine known for building up the health in general. The greatest remedy in the world for dyspepsia, eczema, aches and pains and breaking up colds. Nine years ago I suffered with a chronic cold, which resulted in a bronchial affection and repeated serious troubles of the throat which were alarming. I was affected with something like croup and again laryngitis. I tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and am free of all those troubles and have been ever since and feel confident the Remedy has made the cure. I have kept it in my family for years and have always found it invaluable for old and young. The extraordinary effect of this grand remedy is sure to be realized by all who give it a fair test.

Sincerely,
MRS. M. E. RAMSAY.

History of the Spanish War

By Dr. ALBERT SHAW

Editor of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS,

AND A LONG LIST OF NOTABLE CONTRIBUTORS.

Over 1,200 Pages and 500 Valuable Illustrations.

Three Beautiful Volumes in Half Morocco.

See special offer at bottom of this advertisement.

This Magnificent Edition for only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

To the readers of this paper we make the following proposition to become members of the Review of Reviews History Club, and obtain the three volumes of

Our War in Two Hemispheres,

By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by him in the light of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after hostilities ceased. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public utterances at crucial periods aids in making this work what it is, the standard reference history of this decisive and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive narrative. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it discusses energetically all problems which confronted the United States after the war as to the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the year which has seen America brought face to face with new world duties.

The important special and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the historian with only slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in contributed chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their subjects. Thus, the lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle with Cervera is described by the novelist, Winston Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual condition of Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, Murat Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of the navies, photographed scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Spanish, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

How to obtain the handsome edition by a payment of only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

The three beautifully bound large octavo volumes and a year's subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS can be obtained by any of the readers of this paper by joining the Review of Reviews Club and paying one dollar. The volumes will be sent as soon as ready to those who remit the sum, and the purchase will be completed by the payment of one dollar per month for twelve months. The first volume will be ready early in December. The subscription to the magazine which goes with the offer can be dated from any month.

SPLENDID EXERCISE.

It is a Very Ancient English Pastime, and Its Beginnings Are Lost In the Mist of Ages—Fine Training For the Eye and Arm.

There are some games which have never had their boom, and quilts is one of them. Still, as nothing happens but the unexpected, it may be that the time is nearly ripe for quilts to be taken out of its undeserved obscurity, to be exalted to the status of a national game, to have weekly papers named after it and to have columns in the sporting press devoted to the doings of its champions. Stranger things have happened. Who, for instance, would have said when at the end of the sixties a few energetic sportsmen went wobbling about on bone shaking bicycles which it would have been far easier to push than to ride that at the end of the century considerably more than 100,000 bicycles would be manufactured annually in Great Britain alone and that a great part of the population would adopt this means of locomotion? One cannot imagine that quilts will ever attain such popularity as the bicycle, but the unprejudiced person can see no reason why it should not become as favorite a pastime as golf, which a very few years ago was almost unheard of south of the Tweed.

Quilts is a very fine game, especially in the winter time. It is splendid exercise and trains the eye and the hand to act together in a way that few other sports can do, for the very essence of it is accuracy of aim at a mark placed below the level of the hand. It has been objected that throwing quilts makes the player lopsided, but, after all, that is easily remedied, for there is nothing to prevent the player throwing the quilt with his left hand if he so pleases, and such a change would make a variation in the game and also afford an excellent method of handicapping the men of unequal skill. Quilts strengthens the arms and shoulders, but it is not a pastime which primarily demands strength.

A great advantage of the game is that it can be played in any small space and that the ground need not be particularly level. Any rough field or waste bit of ground is good enough for a quilts pitch, and no rolling or cutting is required to satisfy the demands of the most exigent. For cricket you need a carefully prepared wicket, for lawn tennis and croquet a piece of turf like a billiard table and for golf the best part of a country all to yourself, but for quilts you only need a few yards of rough ground, and you have as good a place for throwing as any one can possibly require.

People certainly might play quilts more than they do, but the taking up of a game is usually a matter of fancy, and perhaps two things stand in the way of quilts. First, there is an idea that it is a "rustic" sport and can only be played by the rough country lads, and, second, there is the legend that the game is derived from the classical discus throwing, a suspicion which it must be confessed is enough to throw a slur on any well regulated game.

No treatise on quilts can begin without the time honored pedigree of the quilt from the discus. Strutt, who lived at the end of the last century, of course dealt with it, and equally of course he dragged in the discus even if he did not invent the descent of quilts from the sports of ancient Greece. The thing, of course, is absurd. To make a discus, the artisan did not, in the words of the immortal Irishman, take a hole and put some iron around it. The discus was more like a flattened Dutch cheese and was a solid missile. Moreover, it was not held in the same manner as a quilt, but was bowled underneath, in which indeed it alone differs from putting the weight. That quilts is now played chiefly in the country is the fault of those who do not play it and bring it into fashion.

Shakespeare, who mentions everything except tobacco, of course has a reference to the sport, and as Hakluyt was a contemporary of his it may be held to show that the spacious times of Great Elizabeth were the palmy period of quilts. It is true that he does not speak of the sport in very reputable connection, for the only mention of it occurs in the scene in which Prince Henry, Falstaff, Poins and the rest were in the Boar's Head tavern, in Eastcheap. Falstaff, in giving a character sketch of the young prince, observes that he plays quilts well, but the context very clearly shows that in Queen Elizabeth's time at any rate quilt playing was looked down upon as the idle man's recreation, such as struttles is with us. That fat Jack Falstaff, disreputable old fellow as he was, meant to imply no good of the prince by his reference to quilts is very evident. This is the only reference to quilts in Shakespeare, and it is a libel, though the sting is taken out of it by the fact that it is put into the mouth of Falstaff.—Physical Culture.

The profit from a single whale that is captured is very large. One about 100 feet long weighs 100,000 pounds and will give 80,000 pounds of blubber, from which 48,000 pounds of train oil can be made and 3,000 pounds of whalebone.
