NEW FASHION IN PARIS.

A Baltimore Modiste Now In That City Writes That They Are Very Startling.

A well-known Baltimore modiste, who is at present in Paris, in a letter to The Sun, tells something of the fashions for the coming spring and summer, so far as they have materialized in Paris.

"In this city of fashion," she writes, "February 15 is always considered as the beginning of spring. The leading houses refuse to display any of their novelties until that date, and consequently Paquin, Calott, Doucet and other equally well-known firms have withheld all of their latest creations from public gaze until now. The new fashions are very startling. Whether or not they will be accepted by well-dressed American women or whether even the Parisian will accept them remains to be seen. I am sure that in many cases they will be modified.

"The first gown I saw at Paquin's was of opal-colored cloth, combined with black taffeta and heavy white lace. The very long skirt was of the cloth and had five shaped flounces, each four inches deep, and bound with the black silk. The long tunic reached nearly to the knees and was also of the cloth. Five small box plaits, extending to the waist, and from the waist to the bottom of the tunic, formed the trimming of the back. The vest and front revers were of the lace over black taffeta, and the collar, which was heavily embroidered in the jewel colors, was also of the black taffeta. Heavily jeweled buttons and buckles were the finishing touches of the costume.

"Another startling gown was of the new hydrangea color, combined with silk of another new shade, which is known as mignonette. The waist was made with a vest of the silk, and was finished with silver buttons.

"All of the gowns show the princess effects. They are very tight over the hips, but flare out somewhat at the knees. Skirts continue to be very long, the trains of some being eight inches.

"Sleeves are very tight and small, but with effective shoulder arrangements to improve the figure. Fancy shoulder capes are shown as adjuncts to visiting and afternoon costumes. The models are very attractive and becoming. The coats to be worn with tailor-made costumes are very tight-fitting and also very short, ending just below the waist.—Baltimore Sun.

Nominations Which Failed of Confirmation.

Washington, March 6.—Among the most important nominations that failed of confirmation are the following: Senators Morgan and Cullom, representative Hitt and Sanford B. Dole and Walter F. Fear, to be Hawaiian commissioners; all the naval commissioners; all the naval advancements for conspicuous conduct in battle sent in with the Schley and Sampson nominations; H. G. Ewart, of North Carolina, to be United States district judge of the Western district of North Carolina.

People needed bricks in their pockets today to hold them down against the wind.

THIS KIND COUNT.

Men Who Make an Editor's Heart Glad.

One admirer of THE REFLECTOR who came in last month and paid his subscription up to next August, called in Monday to pay again. When advised that he had already paid several months ahead he said he enjoyed the paper so much that we had to take another dollar, that it was worth twice the subscription price anyway. So his date went up to August, 1900.

Another good friend who had been kept from town by the bad weather until his subscription had run over just six days, said, as he took another receipt, he had felt uneasy that he might miss a copy, and that THE REFLECTOR was the source of such pleasure to himself and family that he never wanted to lose a single issue of it, and would feel lost if he did.

These are the kind of men who make a fellow feel like taking an extra tuck in his pants and wading in to work harder than ever to give them a good paper. We wish there were thousands more just like them.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

Eggs are 35 cents per dozen in Asheville.

A Chinaman died in Wilmington on Saturday.

C. E. Hall, a good farmer in Haywood County, raised and has just sold 900 bushels of onions for about $550.

A little girl near Lexington found a bar of gold weighing 135 pennyweights. It is thought to have been lost many years ago by a miner in that section.

The State Treasurer Saturday paid out $13,157.84 to legislators and employes of the General Assembly; 78 members of the House, 20 Senators and a number of employes received their pay.

A negro man, living in the old brick school house, not far from Mrs. Jackson's, on Jackson street, has a curiosity in the shape of a hog with a double foot. It beats the mule footed hog all hollow.—Greensboro Record.

Fierce Fighting This Morning.

Manila, March 6th.—At 10 o'clock this morning another fiercely waged battle was fought with the Filipinos. The rebels attempted to capture the water works, six miles from the city and were driven back with great loss. They made the main attack last night, but the fighting was renewed this morning under cover of darkness.

The insurgents approached within a short distance of the outposts of the Second Oregon and First Nebraska, and suddenly opened fire along the line which was of considerable length. The outposts returned the fire immediately and the contest was maintained at a furious pitch for a long time. The fire of the Filipinos was severe and two Americans were wounded and seven rebels killed on the fighting line. Many wounded insurgents retreated slowly and kept up fire until out of range. Another attempt to capture the water works may be made.

SMALLPOX IN THIS STATE.

Statement from Secretary of Board of Health.

Raleigh, N. C., March 6.—Dr. Richard H. Lewis, secretary of the State board of health, was interviewed to-day concerning smallpox. He said:

"We have official reports of its presence at eight points in the State, and of about thirty cases. Since it made its appearance, early last August, there have been about 250 cases. The per centage of deaths has been small, yet it is higher in this State than in some others. Reports show eight deaths in one county in the piedmont section. The largest number of cases in one locality now is in Pasquotank county, in the country districts. One of the serious troubles is a disposition on the part of many physicians to deny that it is smallpox. In only one case in which there has been a difference of opinion and in which an expert was called in or sent, has the latter failed to discover that it was true smallpox."

The Kickers

God bless the kickers, the dear old kickers—God bless them every one. For they'll kick when you're sober and in for work—and they'll kick when you are in for fun! They'll buck at improvements in real estate; they'll buck at booming the town—and at everything that'll work for good, some kicker will frown and frown! If this thing or that is thought to be good—some other they'll say will be better—and if one could write them up as a "mass"—they'd knock off that superfluous letter! When these self-same kickers arrive at the gates—the pearly gates of heaven—they'll kick if offered a nice small crown and pick out a number 'leven! On earth, in heaven, at home, on the street, there are men who are bound to kick—until we declare there's no peace anywhere—'tis enough to make a man sick. So out on those kickers, those chronic old kickers—that blight that is thrust on a town—and when they kick with their mulish ways for heaven's sake frown them down.—Semi-Tropics.

A Well Becomes a Spring.

Never have we known the ground so wet and miry before. The wells are so full that in most cases you can reach down and dip water from them.

Mr. Jno. W. Jones, who lives four miles west of here, has a well which has been overflowing for several days. He made a ditch from it to the road and the water runs freely in the ditch all the time.—Smithfield Herald.

Here Awhile Longer.

Dr. Odom has been in Greenville, at Hotel Macon, two months and one week. He has treated a great many people with defective eyes, and others keep coming, so Dr. Odom will remain with us awhile longer. Readers of THE REFLECTOR should tell their friends to call the earliest day possible if they want their eyes cured. He gives everybody satisfaction and invites physicians, ministers, attorneys, school teachers and pupils in fact anybody to come to see him. If your eyes cause headache he will cure it.

TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 1899.

It is now said that the President will this week re-appoint H. G. Ewart as Judge of the Federal Court of the Western North Carolina District. So after all Marion Butler's fusillade of verbosity to prevent the Senate confirming Ewart's appointment comes to naught.

A northern gentleman who is largely interested in railroads, and who was just returning from a tour of several Southern States, stopped in Greenville Monday night. He told THE REFLECTOR that this year was going to be the greatest era of railroad building in the South of any year ever known.

Here is a pointer for the farmers from the Waynesville Courier: "One of the leading Southern newspapers gives warning of an approaching scarcity of corn and calls upon farmers thus early to make up their minds to plant a heavy corn crop this year. Various causes are conspiring to bring about the predicted scarcity. The last crop fell short of what was expected, a larger quantity than ever before is being fed to hogs, but more than all, the European demand is increasing at a rate beyond all precedent and expectation. Farmers should make a note of these conditions and let corn have a large place in the plans they are now laying for another year."

Tragedy of a Pipe.

A pathetic incident is reported of an old Hungarian countryman who had smoked the same pipe for half a century, and had grown to love it like a companion. One day his infant grandson broke the pipe beyond hope of repair. The old man was so heartbroken at the loss that he went into the next room and hanged himself on a peg. In his pocket was found a note: "My pipe is done for, and I must go too."

The whipping post may be a relic or barbarism, but if it was brought in service for the benefit of wife-beaters, the punishment would fit the crime.—Durham Herald.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 6, '99
The extravagant appropriations, —more than a billion and a half—made by the Fifty-Fifth Congress, now happily dead, would a few years ago have been sufficient to drive any political party from power. Only ten years ago a billion dollar Congress drove the republicans out and put the democrats in. But it is easy to educate men into not only condoning public extravagance, but into commending it, especially if some of the money be spent in a way to give them some personal profit. The war is the excuse for the large total of the appropriation, but it is not a valid one, and it should be the duty of every man opposed to public extravagance to appoint himself a committee of one, to see that no man with whom he comes in contact shall accept that excuse for lack of the actual facts. With every appropriation connected with the war deducted, the appropriations made by the fifty-fifth Congress would still be largely in excess of those made by any Congress in our history. Keep this fact in your own mind and in the minds of others, and a Congress and a President may be elected next year to check the era of extravagance into which we have drifted.

There has been more or less talk in certain quarters about the anxiety of Secretary Long to get rid of the cares of office, but it should cease now. His acceptance of the humiliation Mr. McKinley placed upon him when he compelled him to do justice to Schley, by preparing an entirely new list of Naval promotions, which made Schley a Rear Admiral, two numbers ahead of Sampson, instead of two numbers behind him, as the original nominations had been was proof enough that he will not willingly relinquish the Naval portfolio. Mr. McKinley acted because he saw the administration was catching it in all directions for its attempt to jump Sampson over Schley's head, and that the Senate had balked on the nominations. The new nominations were confirmed by the Senate, as soon as received, just as was that of Dewey to be Admiral.

In refusing to take up the resolution unanimously reported from the Judiciary Committee, declaring that the four members of the House who accepted army commissions, thereby forfeited their seats in Congress, the House merely accepted an opportunity to pay Gen. Joseph Wheeler a high compliment by dodging a vote that must have been in favor of the resolution had it been taken. Representative Bailey, however, declined to see it in that light and formally announced that as the democrats had declined to follow his leadership in enforcing a plain clause of the Constitution, he would not be a candidate for that leadership in the next Congress.

Senator Platt, of Connecticut, struck the bulls-eye of truth when he told the Senate a few hours before final adjournment, that the session of Congress just then closing would go on record as the most extravagant ever held, but he started too late, if he really expected to stop any of the extravagance. A careful consideration of a number of the appropriation bills will show that a concerted grab game was played from start to finish. In the wind-up, when the bills were in conference, and some things had to be thrown overboard to reach an agreement, the appropriations of those having the weakest "pull" had to go. Senators Warren, of Wyoming, Wilson, of Washington; Carter, of Montana, and several others, who had been admitted to the game in its early stages, publicly protested when they found themselves buncoed by the conference report, but that didn't do them any good, in the Senate, and will probably not do them any good at home.

Senator Morgan's attack upon Czar Reed from the floor of the Senate was unprecedented, but many think it was deserved. He started by saying that the action of the ruler of the House in working through what has several times been referred to on the floor of the House as the "Hog Combine" for public building legislation was "a fraud and an outrage" and concluded by saying: "I want to protest against that sort of legislation. I know where the incentive of this performance comes from. I know the origin of that wrong. I know the man who inspired it. His will and pleasure was to make fair weather for a particular set of men who are favorites of the particular ruler of the House."

Alger and Algernon received a slap in the face when Senator Foraker's amendment was added to the Army bill, declaring that no property franchises should be granted during our military occupancy of Cuba. Alger recently created a Board, which it was officially announced, was created for the express purpose of passing upon applications for such franchises, and which it was publicly charged was really created to see that everything of value was given to Alger's friends. The large number of republicans who voted for this amendment was another hint to Mr. McKinley that prominent members of his party would like him to get rid of Alger, but there are no signs that the hint will be taken. Hanna didn't vote for it, and Hanna is still King, and is preparing to take Mr. McKinley to Thomasville, Ga., where he owns a house, for a rest.

The Military Court of Inquiry is going West to take testimony at the big meat-packing establishments, although it would be difficult to say why.

Experience is a Good Teacher.

Salisbury, N. C., Dec. 4, '98
From my own experience I have found Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy the best medicine known for building up the health in general. The greatest remedy in the world for dyspepsia, eczema, aches and pains and breaking up colds. Nine years ago I suffered with a chronic cold, which resulted in a bronchial affection and repeated serious troubles of the throat which were alarming. I was affected with something like croup and again laryngitis. I tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and am free of all those troubles and have been ever since and feel confident the Remedy has made the cure. I have kept it in my family for years and have always found it invaluable for old and young. The extraordinary effect of this grand remedy is sure to be realized by all who give it a fair test.

Sincerely,
MRS. M. E. RAMSAY.

History of the Spanish War

By Dr. ALBERT SHAW

Editor of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

AND A LONG LIST OF NOTABLE CONTRIBUTORS.

Over 1,200 Pages and 500 Valuable Illustrations.

Three Beautiful Volumes in Half Morocco.

See special offer at bottom of this advertisement.

This Magnificent Edition for only ONE DOLLAR DOWN.

To the readers of this paper we make the following proposition to become members of the Review of Reviews History Club, and obtain the three volumes of

Our War in Two Hemispheres,

By ALBERT SHAW,

Editor of the "American Monthly Review of Reviews" and author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain," etc., and a number of prominent contributors.

EVERY American teacher possessing a library, and many that do not possess one, will be interested in the announcement of the history of the late war with Spain, now published by the REVIEW OF REVIEWS COMPANY. Much of the narrative was written by Dr. Albert Shaw during the actual fighting of the summer. This has been revised and amplified by all of the official reports and documents, which have only become available after the war. A free quotation from the critical Congressional debates and other public records is made in making this work what it is, the standard reference history and successful struggle. But it is much more than a lively and comprehensive history. It goes back to the years of struggle in Cuba which prepared the way for the war; it tells of all the problems which confronted the United States after the war in Porto Rico; and as a whole it forms a broadly conceived picture of the war in America brought face to face with new world duties.

Political and technical matters of the war period, generally dismissed by the slight and often insufficient discussion, are fully and authentically dealt with in chapters, written by men who had unusual opportunities for studying their lessons which the war has for us as to the relative efficiency of rifles and machine guns, are in a carefully written chapter by Lieut. John H. Parker, of the United States Army; the military movements of the Santiago and Porto Rican campaigns are analyzed by the editor of the Army and Navy Journal; the battle of Cervera is described by the novelist, John Churchill, who is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy; the actual conditions in Cuba before the war and the facts which caused the war are described by eye-witnesses, at Halstead and Stephen Bonsal.

The illustration of the book is especially valuable in the hundreds of portraits, pictures of battles, photographs scenes of the war, and the entertaining cartoons reproduced from the Janab, French, German, and English papers, as well as from the American.

A Very Bad Bargain.

That figures are sometimes wonderful things is illustrated by the following actual occurrence in a nearby college town a number of years ago: A student in the university was a member of an eating club of 12 members which regularly patronized a certain little hostelry. He was lucky enough one day to become the recipient of a legacy amounting to about $1,000, and, showing the sum to the hotel keeper, agreed to give it to him on condition that the sum be accepted as payment for meals eaten by the students until every possible combination of the seating arrangements of the boys had been exhausted, the order of seats occupied by the boys to be changed at each meal.

The hotel keeper thought it a most profitable deal, but a friend of his with a mathematical turn proved to him that it really would mean ruin, as no less than 479,001,600 arrangements were possible, or a total of $5,748,019,200 individual meals, which, at the rate of 10 cents per meal, would represent a value of the tidy sum of $547,801,920. The contract was carried out for the four years of the boys' student life, when it really drove the hotel man from business, as reckoned on a basis of $2 per week per student the hotel man had lost $3,992, while the students had only eaten 52,416 individual meals and had still a credit of 5,748,966,784 meals, or enough to give them three meals a day for 438,718½ years.—Philadelphia Record.

Everything Leaks.

Ordinary tumblers will hold water because the globules of water are too big to squeeze through the glass. But glass is as full of holes as a sponge, and air blows right through it, because the specks of air are smaller than the holes.

Put a bell inside a big globe of glass, seal up the vessel, pump out all the air, then ring the bell inside, and you hear nothing. There is not air enough in the globe to carry a sound. But lay the globe aside for a month or so, and no matter how carefully you have sealed up the neck you will find that you then can hear the bell when you ring it. Air has got into that globe—enough anyway to carry a sound has leaked in through the substance of the glass.

The ordinary incandescent lamp is a glass globe with the air pumped out, and after a few months sufficient air leaks through to dim the light which comes from the thread of electrified charcoal inside.

We can make plenty of vessels to hold water, but nothing has been made which will hold air without any leakage. The air sneaks in through holes which are too small for the human mind to imagine.

In fact, everything leaks.—Answers.

A Lesson in Patience.

When the eminent botanist Professor Aitman of Glasgow was a small boy, he had the present of a silver bit, whereupon his mother was so worried with questions as to what he should do with it that she exclaimed, "Really, you had better go to Thomas Elliot's (a well known pharmacist) and buy sixpence worth of patience."

Down the street marched the lad and demanded of the chemist, "Mr. Elliot, please give me sixpence worth of patience."

Mr. Elliot, taking in the situation at a glance, said: "Certainly, my boy; there's a chair. Just sit down and wait till you get it."

Professor Aitman's endeavor to purchase patience was a great success. It made a deep impression on the lad and was one of the factors of his success in life.

A Soldier's Blanket.

This story, told of Sir Ralph Abercrombie, the victor of Aboukir, shows that even in death he did not forget consideration for others. After the battle at which he was mortally wounded he was carried on board a ship, and a soldier's blanket was placed under his head to ease it. He felt the relief and asked what it was.

"Only a soldier's blanket," was the reply.

"Whose blanket is it?"

"Only one of the men's."

"I wish to know the name of the man."

"It is Duncan Roy's, of the Forty-second, Sir Ralph."

"Then see," said the dying general, "that Duncan Roy gets his blanket this very night."

He Might Have Married.

Fitz-Greene Halleck never married, yet, as Mr. Howe reminds us in his "American Bookman," he could not have been without attractions, for a certain superior lady is reported to have declared:

"If I were on my way to church to be married, yes, even if I were walking up the aisle, and Halleck were to offer himself, I'd leave the man I had promised to marry and take him."

To this, perhaps, should be joined his epigram, written for a young lady who had asked for his autograph:

There wanted but this drop to fill
The wifeless poet's cup of fame.
Hurrah! There lives a lady still
Willing to take his name.

On the Contrary.

"Isn't that a fire alarm bell that's ringing?"

"Well, I should say not. That's the bell of the Universalist church."—Chicago Tribune.
