COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Proceedings of March Meeting.

At the March meeting of the Board of County Commissioners the following sums were paid:

For paupers $128.50, conveying prisoners and insane $29.35, bridges $50.09, county home 145.29, superintendent of health $33.33, officer grand jury $18, record books $15, courthouse $21.63, jail $30.65, witness tickets $46.69, roads $11.20, register of deeds $39.25, commissioners $42.90, Greenville stock law territory $66.06, Swift Creek and Contentnea stock law territory $72.47.

The purchase taxes of Moye & Joyner for six months from January to July, 1898, was changed from $7,000 to $700.

G. B. Kilpatrick, Swift Creek township, was released from taxes on $900 solvent credits.

Jacky Ann Crawford, Contentnea township, was released from taxes on 30 acres of land.

Land of W. S. Little, Contentnea township, was reduced in valuation from $435 to $350.

Correction was made in taxes of B. H. Hearne, Greenville township, he being charged with $150 when it should be $2.

Luke Best, Beaver Dam township, was released from poll tax, he being over age.

The name of M. Heath was stricken from the pauper list.

Free peddler's licences were issued to Bryant Buck.

Thos. Hardy, Cornelius Barnhill, Boston Pitt, John Mewborn, Jesse Bullock, W. I. Cox, R. L. Baldree and H. G. Nobles were released from poll tax for 1898.

The inmates of the County Home were ordered to be vaccinated.

T. A. Thigpen was appointed to make repairs to bridge at Penny Hill.

Maria Harrington was added to pauper list to receive $1 per month.

Edward Stokes was released from responsibility for hire of John Stout, a prisoner, on payment of $1.

Mary V. Jenkins was admitted to County Home.

It was ordered that J. J. Perkins, former Register of Deeds, be notified to appear before the Board at April meeting and show cause why he should not pay for work left undone by him as Register.

Superintendent of County Home was ordered to furnish $5 worth of clothing to Jos Robbins, a laborer on the county farm.

The Register of Deeds was ordered to notify all Magistrates who have failed to make their reports to do so at once.

The Register of Deeds was ordered to notify those owing the county for the hire of prisoners to appear at next meeting of the Board and show cause why they should not pay the same.

The Sheriff was ordered to summon a jury and lay off a public road in Beaver Dam township in accordance with a petition from J. R. Nichols and others.

O. W. Harrington and A. L. Blow, committee appointed to examine the official reports of county officers for year ending Dec. 4th, 1898, made their additional report. This showed the official report of E. A. Moye, Clerk, to be correct. The report of W. H. Harrington, Sheriff, was correct. J. J. Perkins, Register of Deeds, was still due $27 to the State and $27 to the county for taxes on marriage licenses issued. Of the Justices of the Peace twenty seven had made correct reports, five made reports without swearing to them, and thirty five made no report at all. An examination of contracts for the hire of prisoners showed that there is still due the county by various parties an aggregate of $363.56 for the hire of prisoners.

JUST FOR FUN.

Spring, gentle spring, is springing its surprises.

Early blades of grass are striving to cut a dash.

The weather seems to have adopted the role of a lightning change artist:

Eggs appear to get right into the swim when they reach the barroom.

The constable and collector must have an easy life; their work is always dun.

"The man who 'soaks' his mackintosh now," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "runs the risk of getting soaked himself."

Hoax—"There's a fellow over there who is destined to make his mark in the world." Joax—"How can you tell?" "Easily; he never learned to write."

"Your wife, Henpeck, always seems determined to have the last word." You're wrong, old man; she always determines not to have it. I'm compelled to take every word in her vocabulary when she starts to talk."

Office Boy—"Dis new dramatic critic of ours oughter be all right," Editor—"Why, my boy?" "Cause he writes under de nom de plume of 'Billboard.'" "Well, what of that?" "Why, a billboard's allus well posted, ain't it?"

OVER THE COUNTRY.

Charles H. Sauvey, postal railway clerk, is under arrest in New York for mail robbery.

George Lyman, of Boston, Mass., Collector of that port, has resigned his membership of the Republican National Committee.

Many of the reindeer belonging to the Government's reindeer relief expedition to Alaska have been shot by Indians in mistake for game.

Judge Morrow, of the United States Circuit Court, at San Francisco, has decided that Chinese entering this country under the "student" permit must have been students in the mother country.

Aguinaldo demands $7,000,000 for the release of Spanish prisoners in his hands. She Spanish Commissioners are just back at Malolos to offer $2,000,000, but Aguinaldo will hardly take it.

Governor Morriam, of Minnesota, has been appointed director of the census.

Doctor Hurt.

Dr. Zeno Brown was painfully hurt a night or two ago. He was preparing to go in the country to see a patient, and in going out of his office in the dark he ran over a hitching post. The post struck him in the mouth, knocking out three teeth and bruising his mouth badly.

LOSS AMOUNTS TO MILLIONS.

Tennessee Town Wrecked—Many Lives Lost.

Louisville, Ky., March 6.—Damage amounting to $5,000,000 was done by the storm that passed over the South last night. Crops of all sorts were destroyed.

Many lives are reported lost, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee were the worst sufferers. Athens, Tenn., was wrecked. Four persons were killed in Decatur.

Boats on the lower Ohio and Mississippi were lost, and until the weather clears no idea of the damage to shipping can be obtained.

In some places in upper Tennessee hail stones as large as eggs fell, and cattle were killed by them. Telegrams from the cotton belt say cotton in three States is almost a total failure.

Here Awhile Longer.

Dr. Odom has been in Greenville, at Hotel Macon, two months and one week. He has treated a great many people with defective eyes, and others keep coming, so Dr. Odom will remain with us awhile longer. Readers of THE REFLECTOR should tell their friends to call the earliest day possible if they want their eyes cured. He gives everybody satisfaction and invites physicians, ministers, attorneys, school teachers and pupils in fact anybody to come to see him. If your eyes cause headache he will cure it.

Schooner Stranded.

The schooner Charmer, Captain Olsen, Philadelphia to Savannah, with coal, stranded on Ocracoke beach, 16 miles south of Hatteras, in a heavy fog. The crew of eight were all saved. The vessel and cargo will probably be a total loss.

Effects of Training.

Cities, States and nations are proud of their distinguished sons; schools and colleges publish lists of their famous graduates to prove the value of the instruction given them and elementary schools never fail to mention the great men who were started in life from their portals. The distinction has been won by the men themselves, but everybody associated with them in any way claims a share of the honor. Nor are these claims wholly unreasonable. The course even of a man of genius is largely determined by his environment. If he should rise above the common level, the presumption is that he had good training in or out of school. The city or State that sends forth great men may fairly be presumed to have some features of social life or custom favorable to the development of genius. A little town in Pennsylvania has given birth to a number of eminent lawyers and politicians out of all proportion to its population. It would be interesting to trace, if possible, the reasons for its eminence in this respect. The people who settled in this town were of a sturdy and intelligent race; they established good schools and it became a custom in the community to honor learning above anything else. The youth who was born there inherited a disposition to study and the ability to acquire; provision was made for his education and he was stimulated to effort by the traditions of his birthplace and the example of his predecessors. This much is known, and under these favorable influences a large number of men distinguished in State and national life have grown up in Bellefonte. No very broad conclusions can be drawn from this or similar observations, but it seems reasonable to conclude that the influences known as environment may be favorable or unfavorable to the development of talent. The effects of training have been frequently observed. A preparatory school gains a reputation because its students are the honor men of colleges and universities; the head master dies, and in the course of time it loses its reputation. We cannot affirm that it has similar material to deal with, but it appears to be similar and yet it does not meet with its old-time success. It is a fair inference that the instruction given is not of the same quality. Its courses of study may remain the same, but there is lacking the inspiration of a real teacher. The pupils are no longer well grounded in their studies and no longer distinguish themselves in after life. This, at least, seems to be a fair inference, for when we turn to less complex problems of training, such as that of the lower animals, we know beyond doubt that training counts for almost as much as natural ability. The pedigree of a horse counts for something, his training for a great deal, and the jockey who rides him is often the prime factor in a race. It is possible that the same factors determine the course of a man, though it is difficult for us to determine the factors in his case. His pedigree is not carefully kept, or, if kept, is not as easily measured as that of a horse; of his training we can have little knowledge, so numerous are the influences brought to bear upon him; nor do we know anything about the impulses that ride him like a jockey in his race. We may, however, fairly infer that training counts for something, and that it is therefore our duty to surround the growing boy or girl with as many influences for good as possible. The school training should be thorough, even though it should not be carried very far. Deficiencies in that respect may be made up in after life, provided a good foundation has been laid. But above all, the home training and the training of social life should be made wholesome and elevating. The city, State or nation which has done its duty in promoting educational influences can be justly proud of those of its sons who may have distinguished themselves; so also the schools and colleges may share in the honors won by their graduates, provided they have given sound training and proper direction to their pupils. The influences of training are far-reaching, and, though we may not be able to say just what they have been in determining the course of an individual, we should aim at least to make them wholly sound and wholesome.—Baltimore Sun.

AN EXCELLENT COMBINATION.

Successful Enterprise Based on Merit.

The few remedies which have attained to world-wide fame, as truly beneficial in effect and giving satisfaction to millions of people everywhere, are the products of the knowledge of the most eminent physicians, and presented in the form most acceptable to the human system by the skill of the world's great chemists; and one of the most successful examples is the Syrup of Figs manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Unlike a host of imitations and cheap substitutes, Syrup of Figs is permanently beneficial in its effects, and therefore lives and promotes good health, while inferior preparations are being cast aside and forgotten. In olden times if a remedy gave temporary relief to individuals here and there, it was thought good; but now-a-days a laxative remedy must give satisfaction to all. If you have never used Syrup of Figs, give it a trial, and you will be pleased with it, and will recommend it to your friends or to any who suffer from constipation, or from over-feeding, or from colds, headaches, biliousness, or other ills resulting from an inactive condition of the kidneys, liver and bowels.

In the process of manufacturing the pleasant family laxative made by the California Fig Syrup Co., and named Syrup of Figs, figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste; but the medicinal properties of the remedy are obtained from an excellent combination of plants known to be medicinally laxative and to act most beneficially. As the true and original remedy, named Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The Company has selected for years past the leading publications of the United States through which to inform the public of the merits of its remedy, and among them the REFLECTOR is included, as will be seen by reference to its advertising columns.

How we change! A few years ago we were all denouncing Speaker Reed for counting a quorum, and calling him a Czar, and all that, and some of the Democratic Representatives wanted to cut his throat as he sat in the presiding officer's chair. Last Saturday, upon the eve of the adjournment of the House, Mr. Bailey, the Democratic leader, arose, and after a florid speech, presented a resolution thanking the Speaker for the "able, impartial and dignified manner" with which he had presided over the House, and every mother's son of them, including old General Wheeler, whom the Speaker had just snubbed, hopped up on his feet and put the resolution through with a whoop. We were liars back yonder about ten years ago, or else we were liars last Saturday, for Reed is the same kind of a man and Speaker then that he is now.—Charlotte Observer.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

THAT COMMON TROUBLE, ACID DYSPEPSIA OR SOUR STOMACH.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called heart-burn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurrence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by all druggists for 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

Poor Business.

An old gravedigger who lived in a village at the foot of the Grampians was one day complaining about the dullness of times.

"Man, John, is trade that bad w'ye?" said a sympathizing neighbor. "Bad!" returned John, bringing his staff down with an impatient gesture. "I havena buried a leevin' soul this sax weeks."

During the middle ages, when the aristocracy of Florence and Venice was so tyrannous to its dependents, murder was considered as a small crime and poisoning was so skillfully effected that many people lived almost entirely on boiled eggs.

LOVE'LL SHOW THE WAY.

When the ole world seems so gloomy en the skies ain't lookin' bright,
When it seems ez dark in daytime en ez lonesome ez at night,
It seems ez if a ray o' light's a kinder struggin' through
When you think o' some ole friend you know'll shake the hand o' you.

When you think about the dark spots o' the times that uster be,
In a gaze at the future all is lonesome that you see,
There's one time when your mind gits on to happy thoughts awhile,
En that's when mem'ry shows you that ole sweetheart's happy smile.

So I jist don't keer how lonely past er future looks to you,
You'll allus find somehow the skies'll turn from gray to blue,
You'll allus find them lightin' up, don't keer how dark the day,
En when they light you'll allus find it's love that shows the way.

HE KEPT THE SEAT.

But It Was Worth What the Other Man Paid For It.

A man who had not been to church for a very long time, says a London exchange, finally harkened to the persuasions of his wife and decided to go. He got the family all together, and they started early. Arriving at the church, there were very few people in it and no pew openers at hand, so the man led his family well up the aisle and took possession of a nice pew.

Just as the service was about to begin a pompous looking old man came in, walked up to the door of the pew and stood there, exhibiting evident surprise that it was occupied. The occupants moved over and offered him room to sit down, but he declined to be seated. Finally the old man produced a card and wrote upon it with a pencil: "I pay for this pew."

"He gave the card to the strange occupant, who had he been like most people, would have at once got up and left. But the intruder adjusted his glasses and with a smile read the card. Then he calmly wrote beneath it: "How much do you pay a year?"

To this inquiry the pompous old gentleman, still standing, wrote abruptly: "Ten pounds."

The stranger smiled as though he were pleased, looked around to compare the pew with others, admired its nice cushions and furnishings and wrote back: "I don't blame you. It is well worth it."

The pompous old gentleman at that stage collapsed into his seat.

No Deadheads There.

I heard a good story that comes from a little town in the northern part of the state: Among the members of the Methodist church at that place is an old railroad conductor who has been retired from the business for ten years or more. During the morning service at his church not many Sundays ago the old railroader was called upon by the minister to assist in taking up the collection—one of the stewards who usually helped in that work being absent.

The retired railroader started down the aisle with the contribution basket and passed it around like an old hand at the business. Everything passed off smoothly until he came to a good old brother who had nodded himself fast asleep, and just as he was about to pass by him he was suddenly overcome by the force of habit acquired in his railroad days. Giving the sleeping brother a dig on the shoulder with the basket, he blurted out: "Ticket, please!"—Ohio State Journal.

Two Dear Sents.

Sarah Bernhardt while in London dropped into a bookseller's shop one morning. "I sold her quite a pile of books," said the proprietor, "and she seemed pleased. As she was going out she took hold of my pencil and asked me something in French which I did not understand. Seeing that I failed to catch her meaning, she looked about on the counters, then, quick as a flash, she took up a volume of one of the very best sets of Scott, bound in tree calf, opened it at the very center, wrote something quickly, calmly tore out the leaf, handed it to me, smiled, and went out."

The astonished bookseller looked at the leaf and discovered that Sarah had written a pass for two to her performance that evening! Magnificent, but it was not a cheap entertainment for the bookseller.

The One He Missed.

"I was elected by the votes of eight different nationalities," declared an east side alderman as he tucked his thumbs in the armholes of his vest and struck an attitude.

"That so? What were they?"
"Irish, German, Polish, English, Italian, French and Greek."
"That's only seven."
"What the deuce was the other now? There were eight sure."
"Americans," suggested a reporter.
"That's it. Couldn't think of them to save me."—Detroit Free Press.

Experience is a Good Teacher.

Salisbury, N. C., Dec. 4, '98
From my own experience I have found Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy the best medicine known for building up the health in general. The greatest remedy in the world for dyspepsia, eczema, aches and pains and breaking up colds. Nine years ago I suffered with a chronic cold, which resulted in a bronchial affection and repeated serious troubles of the throat which were alarming. I was affected with something like croup and again laryngitis. I tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and am free of all those troubles and have been ever since and feel confident the Remedy has made the cure. I have kept it in my family for years and have always found it invaluable for old and young. The extraordinary effect of this grand remedy is sure to be realized by all who give it a fair test.
Sincerely,
Mrs. M. E. RAMSAY.

PROOF.

It is an easy matter to claim that a remedy has wonderful curative power. The manufacturers of—leave it to those who have been positively and permanently cured of Rheumatism to make claims. Among those who have recently written us voluntary letters saying they have been cured are: Rev. J. L. What's In a Name?

In an article on Indian names Mr. Frank Terry comments on the odd effect produced by giving rein to this fancy for distinguished appellations in the renaming of Indians. Often their native names are unpronounceable and the translations long and not in accordance with our ideas of what is pleasing. So, instead of simply turning Bear-Sits-Down or Mule-Kicks-Up or Jumping Rabbit into English, the Indian is renamed entirely, and is given the first famous name that comes to mind.

"William Penn, Fitz-Hugh Lee, David B. Hill and William Shakespeare," says Mr. Terry, "are policemen at the Shoshone agency, Wyoming. Only a short while ago it was reported that on an Indian reservation in New Mexico William Breckinridge arrested John G. Carlisle for being drunk and disorderly.

"It would no doubt surprise the reader of this should I say that I have seen George Washington, John Quincy Adams, Franklin Pierce, Rip Van Winkle, Allen G. Thurman and Hilary Herbert engaged together in a game of shinney. Yet this interesting spectacle I have gazed upon, and I have been the enforced witness to a severe spanking administered to James G. Blaine."—Youth's Companion.

Lizards That Grow New Eyes.

The tuatara lizard of New Zealand is said to be one of the most ancient forms of animal life now existing. It originally possessed four eyes, but now has to be contented with but two. It lays eggs, and these take no less than 13 months to hatch out, the embryos passing the winter in a state of hibernation.

These remarkable animals are found only in one or two places in the colony, and they are rapidly becoming scarce, as collectors from every part of the world are continually on their track. They are about 18 inches in length, and, like many of the lizards, are said to have the characteristic of being able to replace portions of their limbs, etc., which have been destroyed. One owned by Mr. Carl Hanser of Awanui had the misfortune to lose an eye some time ago, and now a complete new eye, as perfect as the undamaged one, has grown in the place of that lost.

While the eye was developing the lizard seemed to be no more inconvenienced than a human being is in the growing of finger nails or hair.

Trying It on the Dog.

Lamson lives on the South Side. Carter, his arch enemy, lives next door. Trouble has been brewing, and Lamson was aching to give Carter a "piece of his mind," when he suddenly conceived a brilliant idea.

He bought a cheap dog of questionable breed and named him Carter. Whenever Mr. Carter was outside his house, Lamson would let his dog out, and standing on his doorstep he would fire the following or similar soulful talk at the canine:

"Carter, you are a cur. Your mother had the mange. I am going to kick the stuffin out of you, you miserable thing. If you were not so hungry looking, I would kill you. You ain't even good enough for sausage meat, you lopsided, cheap, good for nothing," etc.

The neighbors wonder why Mr. Carter does not have Mr. Lamson arrested, but Mr. Carter has discovered the base plot and will move next week.—Chicago Journal.

His Annoying Problem.

"I wonder," she said, knitting her brows in a perplexed way, "whether"— And then she paused. It was her first experience in keeping house on an allowance, and naturally many problems presented themselves.

"wonder," she repeated, "whether, when woman comes into her proper sphere and exercises her rightful influence, if she legislates the first of every month out of existence the bills will come in the second day or will be entirely abolished. I think the plan would be worth trying, anyway."—Chicago Post.

Didn't Admire American Children.

An American lady in Berlin had occasion to talk to her hostess about American children. "I have read of them," said the German woman proudly. "I have of them in English read. I have two stories read that I might know. I do not wish to go to America. I have read 'Peck's Bad Boy' and 'Helen's Babies.' Ach! I stay by the German children so!"—New York World.

A Bamboo Bridge.

A British consular report from the far east describes a suspension bridge of 300 feet span made of bamboo. The cane is split up into fibers and twisted together to form the cables. Considering its span, the material of the structure is quite remarkable. The old tradition that almost anything can be made out of bamboo receives here a good illustration in the field of engineering.

It Does Help.

It takes off a good deal of the suffering attending illness, and adds greatly to the pleasure of existence for the doctor to tell you that yours was one of the worst cases he ever attended.—Boston Transcript.

WINE OF CARDUI

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui has demonstrated ten thousand times that it is almost infallible FOR WOMAN'S PECULIAR WEAKNESSES, irregularities and derangements. It has become the leading remedy for this class of troubles. It exerts a wonderfully healing, strengthening and soothing influence upon the menstrual organs. It cures "whites" and falling of the womb. It stops flooding and relieves suppressed and painful menstruation. For Change of Life it is the best medicine made. It is beneficial during pregnancy, and helps to bring children into homes barren for years. It invigorates, stimulates, strengthens the whole system. This great remedy is offered to all afflicted women. Why will any woman suffer another minute with certain relief within reach? Wine of Cardui only costs $1.00 per bottle at your drug store. For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. Rev. J. W. SMITH, Camden, S. C., says: "My wife used Wine of Cardui at home for falling of the womb and it entirely cured her."

Broke in a Store

N. H. Hanrahan, colored, keeps a store in that portion of the town known as Little Washington. Monday night parties living in the neighborhood were aroused by hearing someone break in the store and looked out in time to see a man making away with his arms full of goods. They made chase and overhauled Henry Fleming, colored, and caught him with the goods. Henry was given a hearing before a Magistrate on Tuesday and committed to jail.

The House almost unanimously passed a bill appropriating $100,000 annually to the public school of the State, the amount to be apportioned among the counties.

County School Board.

The Legislature appointed Amos G. Cox, William F. Harding and Solomon M. Jones as the County Board of School Directors for Pitt county. These gentlemen are excellent selections and they will have the interest of the public schools of the county at heart.

He Did'nt Dodge.

"A female Sam Jones is stirring the people out in Missouri," says The Sweetwater (Tenn.) Telephone. "In a sermon recently she asked: 'There is a man in this house who is untrue to his wife! I am going to throw this hymn book at him.' She raised the book as if she was going to throw it, and every man in the house but one ducked his head to avoid the book. Then she blistered the dodgers and lauded the one true man. It was afterward learned that he was deaf and dumb."

SALE OF VALUABLE TOWN LOT.

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Pitt county, made in a certain Special Proceeding therein pending, entitled "Lillie Baker vs Sophia Baker and others" I will, on Monday, April 3rd, 1899, before the Court House door in Greenville, sell at public sale to the highest bidder for cash, that certain part of lot No. 58 in the plan of the town of Greenville adjoining the lots of T.
