SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1899.

A Croatan from Darlington went to Fayetteville, Thursday, and undertook to run the town, as we learn from the Observer. The chief of police attempted to arrest the man when the latter made an assault on the officer with a large knife, cutting him severely on the left arm. The officer emptied his pistol at the man without stopping him. The assailant got the advantage of the situation and was about to make a murderous thrust with his knife, when another officer who had come up and seeing the danger of the chief shot the Croatan dead.

"Go South, Young Man!"

More money has been made in the Southern States in the last twenty years than will be made in the next fifty years in Cuba, Puerto Rico or the Philippines, and the chances for money-making in the South have only commenced. The price of iron for the world is now made at Birmingham, Ala., and that city will shortly make the world's price of steel. The South's industrial evolution, which began with the development of its iron interests rapidly spread to all of the collateral iron industries, including machine shops and foundries, stove factories, steel plants and hardware factories. The 300 new industries which have sprung up during the past year include fertilizer and phosphate works, woodworking factories, furniture, vehicle, agricultural and miscellaneous works, telephone systems, electric-light and power and ice and cold-storage plants, canneries and hundreds of miscellaneous plants. Nearly every Southern State has increased its railroad mileage during the past year, and every Southern harbor has largely increased its export trade.

If you seek new fields of opportunity go South, young man!—Frank Leslie's Weekly.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., April 7, '99

No more glaring proof of the all-around military incompetency of Algerism has been shown than the fact that of the 366 bodies brought from Cuba and Porto Rico and buried in Arlington Cemetery, yesterday, after an impressive military funeral, 91 were unidentified. What sort of management must there have been when 25 per cent of the men who died or were killed over there were buried without being marked in some way for future identification? It must have been every bit as loose as that which had to do with feeding the living. It was all right and proper that these men should be honored by a military funeral and the closing for half a day of the government buildings in Washington, but this honor will not make the parents and friends of those 91 soldiers whose graves will be marked unknown forgive those in authority who neglected a plain duty in failing to look after their proper identification.

Things have reached an acute stage in the beef inquiry. The court has done several things this week calculated to make the public suspect its fairness, and believe that it had a preference as to the kind of testimony it wished to hear. It started by ignoring a courteous request from ex-Representative J. Hamilton Lewis that he be allowed to appear as counsel for Dr. Daly, when he gave his testimony, and it aggravated matters by trying to dodge a specific request of Gen. Miles that 131 witnesses whose names he furnished should be summoned. This brought out a sharp letter from Gen. Miles, from which the following is an extract: "It is my belief that at least 25,000 men, and undoubtedly a much greater number, would confirm the testimony that has already been given that a portion of the food supplied the army was unwholesome and unsuitable for use." Gen. Miles knows that the people are with him in this case and he has no idea of being bluffed off.

If all the applications are granted, and they continue being made as rapidly as they have been, a goodly proportion of the men who enlisted for the war with Spain will soon be on the pension roll of the government. From official figures at the Pension Bureau it is shown that the number of applicants for pension have been comparatively enormous. Out of five regiments, which lead the pension procession, there have already been filed 1735 applications for pension. These regiments and the number of applicants from each follow: Thirty-fourth Michigan, 398; First District of Columbia, 352; Eighth Ohio, sometimes called "the President's own," 349; Thirty-third Michigan 319, and the Second Massachusetts, 317.

No law seems broad enough to protect employes of the government from their superiors who wish to have them "voluntarily" contribute to buy a present for a retiring official. The individual contributions for this sort of thing are small, but the aggregate is large, and at least ninety-nine out of every hundred who contribute would refuse to do so, if they did not know refusal would be followed by a course of petty nagging that would be far more annoying than the loss of the money. The latest "voluntary" contributions were made by the employes of the Internal Revenue Office, to buy a $400 watch and diamond studded chain; which was presented to Mr. Nathan B. Scott, who has resigned the position of Commissioner of Internal Revenue to become Senator from West Virginia.

Ex-Governor and Ex-Congressman McCreary, of Kentucky, was in Washington this week. He said of the political outlook in his state: "A spirited contest is going on between the three aspirants for the governorship, but it matters not to which the nomination falls he will be elected by 25,000 to 30,000 votes. We lost the State in '96, but next year Mr. Bryan or whoever is the standard bearer of the party will get Kentucky's electoral vote. I presume that Mr. Bryan will be the nominee again on pretty much the same platform, although there will no doubt also be strong declarations against trusts and against imperialism. The republicans will almost certainly re-nominate McKinley, so we shall have a campaign pretty much on the lines of '96."

Representative Meyer, of Louisiana, said of the proposition that we should exchange the Philippine Islands for the British West Indies, which originated in the Leeward Islands and which has been much discussed in Washington this week: "As long as we are in the business of buying and selling and trading in sovereignty, I should prefer, other things being equal, to hold possessions near the United States rather than at a distance." Representative Livingston, of Georgia, who would prefer that this government should pay somebody to take the Philippines off its hands rather than keep them, thinks the suggestion is feasible, and that if properly approached England would agree to take them, although Germany would probably make a strong protest against their being transferred to England. Mr. Livingston says that all we need in the Philippines is a coal and naval station, and believes that we shall regret it if we keep more than that. Admiral Schley says the swap will never be made for the very good reason that England would never agree to it.

Good Advice for Those Troubled With Sleeplessness.

One who has been wakefully considering the wooing of "Nature's sweet restorer" asserts that there is nothing so good as lighting a candle and reading mild fiction which soothes and distracts the mind without exciting it.

Any specifics for sleeplessness should be carefully avoided, as in the end they are sure to bring trouble.

A big bed for a sleepless person is a necessity, for it gives unrestrained change of position.

A warm bath at night, with a good rubbing, is also most beneficial.

So is a water cracker, eaten to draw the blood from the head.

But beware of employing artificial means of inducing sleep.

Any drug is bound to lose its effect sooner or later, and it entails eventually much greater discomfort.

Discard everything of the sort, and though you may never be called a sound sleeper, by calling philosophy to your aid and accepting the situation, you will really suffer less from sleeplessness than you used to when you tried everything that was suggested as a cure.

To Cure Constipation Forever. Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic, 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

A 16-year-old girl imagines that she is an angel, and never gets over it. After a woman gets old she thinks of how she was admired and complimented in her youth and feels that some great wrong was done her because she did not remain as pretty as she was at 16. If she is married, she is apt to lay the blame on the brutality of her husband; if she is an old maid, she lays it on her father, who was poor and thus forced her to work, which resulted in a stooping figure and harsh features. A man never has this experience. He is at his worst at 16 and does not reach his best until he is 26 to 30. By that time he has acquired a little sense, and never mistakes a compliment for the truth.—Acheson Globe.

Quite Emersonian. Cripple Creek is great on etiquette. A man out there met a little girl with whose family he is very intimate and said "Hello, Edith! How are you?" The little miss drew herself up and replied "I'm very well, but I ain't no telephone."—Boston Globe

LETTER ON THE HANDS

For several years I was a sufferer from letter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one-half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well. MRS. M. E. KING, Burlington, N. C., May 27, 1896.

ENDORSED BY TEACHERS.

Paine's Celery Compound counteracts the Nervous Strain of the School Room

"I know of nothing so good as Paine's celery compound," says Miss May Sherwin, for the past 17 years principal of the largest public school in Bloomington, Ill., "to counteract the nervous strain incident to a constant life in the school room.

"I have myself used Paine's celery compound," she continues, "with most satisfactory results. It is a splendid nerve tonic."

The discoverer of Paine's celery compound was himself one of the greatest teachers that ever lived.

Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., held a famous professorship in Dartmouth college, and was a lecturer in other great universities all the while he was engaged in that momentous study which led to the chief accomplishment of the medical research of this century—the development of Paine's celery compound.

The general complaint now among intelligent women is that they are hurried and driven and fretted almost out of their senses by the demands upon their time and strength.

No wonder, then, the average woman has lost the capacity for sound sleep, good digestion and the freedom from aches and pains that follow healthy organic functions.

Many years of suffering might be avoided, weary months of lost time put to good service, and thousands of lives saved if persons who do not sleep well and those with over-worked brains and nerves would take Paine's celery compound. In the cure of nervous diseases this remedy has again and again demonstrated its power to combat these chronic ailments.

It is to general poor health that we are to look for the cause of headaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, and to overcome these troubles it is the general health that must be raised. Sick headaches that recur so periodically with most women and are so grievous an affliction should be treated as due to lowered nervous tone, and a thorough invigoration of the body should be undertaken with Paine's celery compound.

The best test of the wonderful value of Paine's celery compound is to use it. Any woman will soon be convinced that it is the one remedy that can make and keep her well and healthful and strong.

AN HONEST ARTIST.

He Would Not Paint a Lie Even for a Napoleon.

There was no love lost between the Emperor Louis Napoleon and his cousin, Prince Napoleon, whom the Parisians called "Plon Plon." The prince used to make abusive speeches against the emperor, which people were only too ready to repeat to him. "Let him alone," Louis Napoleon would reply. "He is too well known. No one would turn me out to place him on the throne."

The emperor was correct, for no one said a good word about "Plon Plon." He was commonly believed to have shown the white feather in the Crimea and never exposed himself where the lead was falling. An English lady, who in her young days mingled with French society, tells in her "Foreign Courts and Foreign Homes" a story as discreditable to Prince Napoleon as it is honorable to a French artist.

While the artist was painting the historical picture of the battle of the Alma, which the emperor had ordered, Prince Napoleon called at the painter's studio to make known to him the facts. On leaving he said he wished the prominent figure in the battle to be himself mounted on his white charger. He sent the horse to the artist so that he could paint its exact portrait. When the picture was finished and invitations were sent out for a "private view," the white charger was seen, a prominent figure in the battle, but without a rider.

On hearing of this terrible omission the prince sent an aid-de-camp to ask the reason. The honest artist said the horse should remain if the prince wished, but no rider would be on it. "Tell the prince I have never yet painted a lie." The hint was taken. The prince ordered the horse to be rubbed out.

The Business of a Theater.

A prosperous theater in the city of New York may in a favorable season do a business of more than $250,000 and keep in employment 150 persons. There are 37 theaters, including the variety houses, in active operation in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, while the borough of Brooklyn adds a score or more. Everything which affects business in general affects the theater immediately.

A man will reduce his expenditures for tickets to places of amusement long before he thinks of cutting down his supply of cigars, for the cigar belongs to that class of luxuries which subtly become necessities, while the theater habit, as any observant manager will tell you, requires constant cultivation. The management of a theater is therefore an occupation requiring business sagacity in a greater degree than it calls for artistic taste.—W. J. Henderson in Scribner's.

One hundred and fifty bags of Lee's Agricultural Lime, just received by B. F. Manning & Co. It is a cheap fertilizer recommended for all crops, but especially cotton, corn and peanuts. Farmers give it a trial and then we will know what to do next season.

J. W. Daly's 1 doz. Tobacco Trucks were shipped him yesterday from here. They have quite a neat appearance all finished up and one of the freight hands decided that they must be intended for folks to pull, they run so easy. These trucks promise to be a great saver for farmers and it would pay to give them a trial this season.

That Snow, April 15th, 1849.

It was a very early Spring. The woods was green. Many young branches were long as the hand. There fell a considerable snow in Wake county on Sunday. That night a heavy freeze came. Next day the young leaves were black and dead. Some persimmon trees were killed. Many trees of other kinds were injured.

Please ask some of your older readers to tell us how it was in Pitt.

[Perhaps Mr. Allen Warrea can give us a report of previous April snows.—Ed.]

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.
