No. 1363

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

The discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

WINE OF CARDUI

The petition from citizens of Chicod and Swift Creek townships asking for a public road from a point on the Greenville and Newbern road to the public road leading from Cox's Mill to Fred Cannon's was ordered posted at the Court House door.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, May 3rd, '99.

Winterville Brick Co. will burn a kiln of brick next week. The awning being put up in front of the brick stores helps more than a little.

Mr. Jenkins returned to his home in Bethel Saturday, but came back last night.

A. G. Cox has taken his sample case full of cigars and gone off drumming this morning. Look out for him.

J. W. Harper has been elected Mayor of the town, Harvey T. Smith, Constable and F. O. Cox Treasurer. The same Commissioners held over.

Mrs. Sarah R. Carroll and her sister, Miss Alice Tripp, are now taking in sewing and will do your work cheaply and satisfactory.

A lot of the celebrated Deitz lanterns just received by B. F. Manning & Co. They can also furnish you all the thermometers you want for curing tobacco.

We want to correct a statement made last week that Mr. Taylor, photographer from Farmville, was here taking pictures. It is Mr. Roy Evans who has been studying photography under Parker at Kingston and Mr. Parker now helps him with some of his work.

Tobacco farmers! How do you stand on the truck question? Are you going to try one of our Daly Tobacco Trucks? If not where are you going to get your flues, and what grade of flues do you want? If you have any trouble in answering these questions, call on us and let us help you decide.

OUR GREAT SALE

The above figures tell a remarkable story; they represent almost exactly the per centage of cures made by the wonderful new constitutional cure for RHEUMATISM. The other two per cent. were not curable, or failed to take medicine according to directions. Thousands have been cured. In view of the fact that many physicians think that rheumatism is incurable, and that most remedies fail, it must be true that RHEUMACIDE is the greatest medical discovery of the age. Particulars and testimonials of many well known people sent free to all applicants.

Tied Up in Stockings.

There is money enough hidden away in stockings and old boots in Bertie county to stock a cotton mill that would run fifty hands the year round and pay a dividend of 10 per cent. to the stock owners. There are thousands of dollars hoarded up in this country by people who would gladly invest it where it would yield them an income if they could feel assured of its safety. The way to bring this money from its hiding places, put it in circulation and make it serve as a blessing to the people, is for our best business men in whom the people have confidence to start some enterprise that will interest the entire community, give employment to our young men, and at the same time pay a fair profit and be a safe investment. Once started there will be no more trouble about others. Windsor and her people will be revived, prosperity will follow, better roads will be required, new stores and warehouses built and old ones enlarged, schools will be enlarged and improved and pastors salaries will not go unpaid.—Windsor Ledger.

Home Enterprise.

Mr. A. G. Cox, of Winterville, was here today taking orders for cigars. Greenville merchants ought to give the Winterville Cigar Factory a liberal patronage. It is a Pitt county enterprise and they make excellent goods. The way to build up our section is to patronize home industries.

OLD ADAGE EXEMPLIFIED.

A Soldier Who Wants to Marry a Virginia Red-Haired Girl.

The War Department has received the following interesting letter from one of its volunteer officers recently mustered out, and is endeavoring to afford the young man the relief he so earnestly prays for:

"Missoula, Mont., April 5, 1899.
 "Hon. W. W. Brown, Auditor War Department, Washington, D. C.:

"Dear Sir:—I suppose you have troubles of your own, and may be bored by my attempt to unload a portion of my troubles upon you, but as most men are willing to assist their brothers when they are in a fix, I will ask you to assist me, if in your power.

"I was second lieutenant in the Third United States Volunteer Cavalry during the war, and spent my time fighting lice and lizzards at Camp Thomas, Ga. I was mustered out in September last and ordered home. At St. Paul, Minn. I was given certain blanks by Colonel Carey, paymaster, U. S. A., to fill out, and he told me I had $474.25 coming to me from the War Department as travel pay from Camp Thomas, Ga., to Missoula, Mont. Early in October my claim was filed in your office, and later you sent me a receipt, dated December 20, 1898, showing that my account with the subsistence department was settled and balanced, so that there is nothing charged against me in any of the departments. Now, if I can get that money I can make a trip to Virginia and bring the sweetest red-headed girl back here with me that ever bloomed in old Virginia's flower garden. If I do not get my travel pay I will have to wait, maybe a year. In the meantime there is a blooming Britisher after my girl, and he is playing an every-night engagement, while I am 3,000 miles away. The girl herself is all right, but the old folks are favorable toward 'Johnny Bull' and are 'touting' him to win. You know how the dripping water wears a stone away. So I want you to help me get my travel pay, and then watch me skin that Englishman. If I can get this money I can win in a walk, so, if you will assist me in this matter of getting my travel pay quickly, I will be a star at a matrimonial ceremony back in old Virginia, and about two weeks after I get my travel pay I will call on you in Washington and show you the prettiest red-headed queen that old Dixie Land ever grew. I appeal to you to help me in my fight against the British empire, and my future mother-in-law. I ask you to treat this in confidence, because if the newspapers get hold of it it will be all off with me. "Trusting that you will assist me and that I may have the pleasure of introducing you to the prettiest red-headed girl you ever saw, very shortly, I am, yours in suspense, etc."—New York Tribune.

You Must Wear Mismatched Hosiery.

Mismatched stockings are the latest new things to attract the attention of the fair sex. To be ultra fashionable one stocking must differ from the other in color. For instance, the left stocking may be black with a sprinkling of red silk polka dots and the right stocking of red with black silk polka dots. A pale blue stocking with bronze clocks has a mate of bronze with pale blue clocks. And so the combinations go. Only the similarity of decoration in the stockings announces the fact to the uninitiated that they have anything in common. The riotous fancy of the moment also stripes the hosiery in harlequin fashion. The stockings are divided into halves and quarters, the brilliant colors presenting sharp contrasts. Sometimes the upper halves alone indulge in the motley color, leaving the boot in somber tones of black, blue or brown. The stockings come in the finest weave of cashmere or in lace patterns of lisle thread. They range in price from seventy-five cents to $2.—New York World.

Town and Farm.

Fear nothing the howler says, not even his many-told tale of the country fast going to the city, and hence fast going to the dogs. His fact is a true fact. Men are now living who were born when nearly half our population lived on the farm; now less than one-fifth depend on the farm for livelihood, less than one-tenth are actual farmers. It is the howler's conclusion that is wrong. While the cities are growing so much faster than the country districts the total wealth of the United States is increasing at the rate of more than a thousand million dollars a year; gaining enough in a year to buy out the entire wealth, the lifetime accumulations, of all the millionaires and multimillionaires in the country. The howler has found a fact, a really significant and large fact, and regardless of the evident misfit he adds its weight to his noise and expects the increased clatter to increase faith in him and his howl. This howl is more than three decades long, but in spite of it, somehow, the man in town is glad he is there and the man on the farm is glad, stubbornly glad, that the town is large enough to buy part of his crops at prices that do not permit the sheriff to move him off the farm.—W. A. Parker in Southern Farm Magazine of Baltimore for May.

Anyone not in the business would be surprised to know the number of chickens and eggs shipped through Greensboro from Wilkesboro, Mt. Airy, Sanford and intermediate points, to the northern markets. The Southern Express Company ships an average of 100 crates or 2,500 chickens daily or nearly 1,000,000 yearly. At 15 cents this would amount to $150,000. As for eggs, strange to say, they are even more numerous than chickens. Fifty crates daily, 30 dozen to the crate, over 6,000,000 yearly, 12 1/2 cents a dozen, nearly $100,000. Verily, the pullet and hen berry business is considerable in this section and it looks like one or the other would have to give out.—Greensboro Telegram.

Farm Buildings.

It is a source of much regret that so little taste should be displayed by a majority of our farmers in the erection of buildings. The beauty and value of a place can be largely increased by paying a proper attention to the style of architecture. A well-planned building, one that suggests pleasant ideas of harmonious proportions and a fitness for the purposes intended, costs no more than an ill-ventilated, ugly, lonesome-windowed, bare, bald, monotonous-looking house, that in summer makes one feel hot and in winter cold.—Southern Farm Magazine of Baltimore for May.

Dr. Broughton Told to Leave Atlanta.

Atlanta, May 1.—Dr. Broughton's tabernacle was despoiled by a mob this morning because of the intense indignation aroused by Broughton's sermon yesterday bitterly denouncing the lynching of Hose and Strickland. Notice was sent to Dr. Broughton to leave town if he valued his life.

Rhenmacide is a thorough, permanent, constitutional cure for rheumatism. The acids in the blood which cause the disease are thoroughly eradicated. Is also the best blood purifier, laxative and tonic.

A State convention which shall have for its mission the discussion of rape and lynching and whose object shall be to find a remedy for existing conditions will probably be called to meet in Atlanta, as soon as delegates can be selected from the various counties of the State.

TETTER ON THE HANDS.

For several years I was a sufferer from tetter on my hands. It would come in little watery pimples and the itching was almost more than I could stand. The skin was tender and the itching would swell so I could hardly bend my fingers. Sometimes my hands would become perfectly raw from scratching or breaking of the pimples. When I was in this condition I tried one half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and some Wash in 1884, and by the time I took it my hands were cured, and I am now well of the trouble. It has since broken out a little at times, but not enough to inconvenience me or make me try more medicine. I am now well. MRS. M. E. KING.

Religious and Irreligious Fishes.

Fishes are supposed to have no religion. Probably they are greatly maligned in that as well as in other respects. St. Anthony, as you know, used to preach to them and make their eyes glitter and their hearts beat by his eloquence. A Jewish story is told—I cannot, unfortunately, lay my hands on the passage just now—of a fish which leaves the sea on Saturday and does not return until Sunday, so as to be able to keep the Sabbath.

Other fishes, unlike their puritanical brother, do not observe the sacred day. The Koran gives a story of some very naughty fishes in David's time. Knowing that the Israelites were forbidden to catch fish on the Sabbath, the wicked creatures came out of the Red sea in unusual numbers and kept in sight of the people all through the day in order to tempt them. On the approach of night they returned to the sea again. In a fatal moment some of the Israelites yielded to the piscine blandishments, caught several of them and had them for dinner. Whereupon David cursed the Sabbath breakers, and God, to show his displeasure, changed them into apes and pigs. For three days they remained in this unpleasant condition, when a violent storm arose and swept them into the sea.

The fish which brought the tribute money to our Lord is supposed to have been a haddock, which had strayed into the lake of Gennesaret. There are several legends which tell of miraculous finds in fishes.—Paris Messenger.

Hunting Tigers in Persia.

The people of different countries have different ways of hunting the tiger. Traps, pitfalls, spring guns and nets are called into play. The Chinese are said to employ the mirror to lead the animal into a trap. The tiger's curiosity is excited when he sees his image in the glass, and he immediately proceeds to investigate the mystery. The Persian manner of conducting the hunt, as this is described in Chambers' Journal, is more sportsmanlike.

A spherical, strongly woven bamboo cage, with intervals of a few inches between the bars, is erected in some spot near the haunts of the tiger. This cage is firmly and securely picketed to the ground. Inside, a man provided with several sharp and powerful stabbing spears, or with a keen and pointed sword, takes his post at night, with a dog or a goat as his companion. There he wraps himself in his blanket and goes to sleep.

In due time the tiger makes his appearance, the man is waked by his four footed companion, and after vainly snuffing and prowling round the cage to find an entrance the tiger rears against the walls.

The man instantly takes advantage of the brute's unprotected position, and with a resolute stroke of the spear or the sword puts him to death.

Why He Failed.

The Michigan Tradesman suggests, in the course of an anecdote, the reason why a certain old fashioned tradesman came to fail. When one of his creditors reached the place, after this catastrophe, he found the merchant working hard to figure it all out.

"Lend, but I don't see why I should fail!" he kept on saying. "Mebbe, though, I didn't collect sharp enough."

"You have a heap of goods round here," said the other, looking about him.

"Yeg, more or less."

"When did you take the last inventory?"

"Inventory? Take everything down?"

"Yes."

"And make out a list?"

"Yes."

"And dust off the shelves and mop the floor?"

"That's it."

"And clean the windows and paint the front of the store?"

"Yes."

"I never went into that. I was going to one day about 15 years ago, but they had a wrestling match in town, and I forgot the inventory. Mercy on me, but I can't understand why I should fail!"

Stale Bread.

All bakers, wholesale and retail, seek to produce at their several bakings through the day only so much as may be required to supply the wants of their trade, but in making sure to provide enough there is likely to be some left over to get stale. There is some demand for stale bread for household uses—for making toast and for cooking purposes—but the demand is limited. Such stale bread as may remain unsold in this manner is never wasted; it is sold to farmers and market gardeners, who drive into the city with produce to sell and who buy more or less supplies here to carry back to feed stock. When finally disposed of thus, it is sold by the barrel, at so much a barrel, the price being very low, but depending somewhat on the surplus stock on hand on the day of sale.—New York Sun.

A Bit of Red Tape.

Great is red tape! A telegraph repairer was sent out from Great Bend, Ind., the other day to locate a break in line No. 1. On climbing the pole he found a break there also in line No. 2. After fixing No. 1 he climbed down the pole, walked two miles to the nearest station and telegraphed to the superintendent, at Great Bend, for orders to fix No. 2.

He Didn't Need It.

Could the funny sayings and incidents at the tenants' dinners in Scotland be collected they would make an unrivaled book of humor. Mistakes of amusing and sometimes embarrassing nature occur frequently at such functions. One story is told of a guest at a Scottish tenants' dinner who tasted ice cream for the first time on that occasion. He pushed a large spoonful of the frozen mixture into his mouth and jumped from his chair with agony expressed on his face. He let out a yell and cried out, "Ow, ow, ma rotten tooth!" and could not be induced to eat any more.

At another Scottish affair of the kind a good old farmer was seated next to the hostess. She served him a bit of savory omelet, which seemed to cause the old man deep disappointment. His idea of an omelet had always been a dessert with sugar or fruit or jams, and after tasting the sample before him he turned to the hostess and said, "Weel, ma lady, I canna compliment you on your puddin's."

The late Duke of Fife told a story of a tenant at one of the farmer's dinners on his estates who was asked by the duchess if he would take some rhubarb, a dish she was fond of. The farmer was surprised, but answered politely, "I'm muckle obleeged to your grace, but I dinna' need it."

Pneumonia.

A bright chap who has traveled much told me that some years ago he met a man where he had camped, in the mining districts of California, who could make the New York doctors ashamed of the regular practice in a case of pneumonia. Said he: "It stands to reason. The claim of the man is this: Unless some part of the digestive process is clogged pneumonia is impossible, and it is even quite difficult to take cold if the circulation of the fluids of the body is free.

"His method is simplicity itself. In the first place, to start with, he gives a big dose of physic and puts his man into lots of blankets, and then he gathers all the bottles he can find in the camp and fills them with hot water and heats every part of the man but his head. As soon as he thinks the physic is out of his stomach, he makes him sip hot water. Just as soon as he sees a drop of perspiration on his forehead he will say: 'I've got you, old man. Keep the heat going until the pills operate freely, and don't let him take cold.' I have seen bad cases where they would have choked to death in less than an hour out and at work in two or three days. He didn't consider it a question of constitution at all. It was only a question of cleaning the man out and keeping him warm."—New York Times.

Laughs Better Than Tears.

I bless all the apostolic college of humorists. The man that makes me laugh is my benefactor. I do not thank anybody to make me cry. I can do that without any assistance. We all cry enough and have enough to cry about. God bless all skillful punsters, all reparteeists, all propounders of ingenious conundrums, all those who mirthfully surprise us with unusual juxtaposition of words. Thomas Hood and Charles Dickens and Sydney Smith had a divine mission, and so have their successors in these times. They stir into the acid beverage of life the saccharine. They make the cup of earthly existence, which is sometimes stale, effervesce and bubble. They placate animosities. They foster longevity. They slay follies and absurdities which all the sermons of all the pulpits cannot reach.—T. De Witt Talmage.

Welcome Punishment to Eobby.

A little boy went to church with his mother. The service was somewhat long and utterly incomprehensible to the child. Consequently he fidgeted. His mother reproved him several times. At last she leaned toward him. "Bobby," she whispered, "if you act badly I'll never bring you to church again."

A gleam of hope dawned in Bobby's weary eyes. "Mamma," he said eagerly, "how bad will I have to be?"—Exchange.

Forest Reservations.

The 30 forest reservations of the United States embrace an area of 40,000,000 acres in 13 states and territories. Seven are in the state of California, the largest of which, the Sierra forest reserve, includes 4,000,000 acres. Within the past 35 years it is estimated that 11,000,000,000 feet board measure of timber on public land have been destroyed by forest fires.

A Fair Statement.

We do not believe it is fair to find fault with doctors because they don't know much. Nobody knows much.—Atchison Globe.

Paper Hanging by Machinery.

Paper can now be hung by machinery. The device has a rod on which a roll of paper is placed and a paste reservoir with a feeder placed so as to engage the wrong side of the paper. The end of the paper is fastened to the bottom of the wall and the machine started up the wall, being held in place by the operator. A roller follows the paper as it unwinds and presses it against the wall. When the top of the wall is reached, the operator pulls a string, which cuts the paper off from the roll.

This Woman went a Fishing.

A colored woman living near Blount's Creek, Beaufort county, one day last week started across the creek and seeing the water was alive with herrings decided she would try and catch some of them. She took off her underskirt, tied it together at the top with the draw-string and took a piece of grape vine and made a hoop in the bot-tom of the skirt and waded in to try her hand with this improvised net. She succeeded in catching five hundred of the fish.

Maj. H. Harding tells us that this was an actual occurrence.

Reward to be Offered.

Mr. A. D. Hill, of Farmville, sends THE REFLECTOR word that on Tuesday a canvass was made to raise a fund to offer as a reward for the apprehension of the Dongola murderers and incendiaries. At the time he told us the fund had already reached $750 and it was expected to be increased to $1,000 today. The best detectives that can be employed will be put on the case.

They Raised The Roof.

Talk about fun, the Fun Makers are giving it to our people in the opera house. They had a large audience to see "Our Jonathan in Cuba" Tuesday night, and all were delighted. The fun was simply immense. Woodford and Gilbert put in some more fine specialty work and the singing of Miss LaBelle was splendid.

Tonight "Peck's Bad Boy" will hold down the sugar barrel, and you know what that means. Don't miss it if you want to laugh until your sides ache.
