WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

The discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

WINE OF CARDUI

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALL, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

the wonderful new constitutional cure for RHEUMATISM. The other two per cent. were not curable, or failed to take medicine according to directions. Thousands have been cured. In view of the fact that many physicians think that rheumatism is incurable, and that most remedies fail, it must be true that RHEUMACIDE is the greatest medical discovery of the age. Particulars and testimonials of many well known people sent free to all applicants.

CASE POSTPONED.

Goes Over Until June 22nd.

The election case took an unlooked for turn Saturday evening. About 4 o'clock the Government rested its case when Gov. Jarvis, one of the counsel for the defence, asked the Commissioner if it was the pleasure of the court to go on with the case then or to adjourn until Monday morning. The Commissioner replied that he proposed to finish the case that day if it took till midnight. Gov. Jarvis then said that he was sorry to hear the Commissioner make such a ruling, that it would be unjust to defendants, that the Government had taken two days in the examination of its witnesses and that it was too great and too just to limit the defendants to a few hours of a Saturday night, and turning to Mr. Spears, the Asst. Dist. Attorney the Governor remarked that he was sure Mr. Spears would not demand it.

Mr. Spears said he did not, and that the Government he represented did not want a case conducted in any such way.

The attorney stated further that he must be at the Federal court this week and immediately following at a court in Wilmington, which would prevent his getting back here in some weeks, and upon this it was agreed that the case be postponed until June 22nd.

MUCH ADO OVER IT.

That Lynching Talk Greatly Exaggerated.

Last Friday officers from this county reached Raleigh and placed Elijah Joyner and Cephus Langley the two Dongola murderers in Wake county jail. From the accounts in Saturdays Raleigh papers one might think Pitt county had come together in a mob and was pursuing the prisoners to lynch them. This is all misleading. It was said that there was a little talk of lynching on last Monday when the preliminary trial was held, and because of that Sheriff Mooring moved the prisoners that night. But if there has been anything else said about lynching since it has been kept remarkably quiet. Many people believe there was never any danger at all.

The Raleigh papers have made a mountain out of a mole hill and placed this county in a very false light. The officers who carried the prisoners say the papers greatly exaggerated their statements.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

There are several cases of small-pox at Morganton and a shot gun quarantine has been established.

Two trains a day will be put on the A. & N. C. railroad from Goldsboro to Morehead during the summer.

The date set for the next State fair is Oct. 16-21.

Several counterfeiters were arrested in Wilmington last week. They were well equipped for business.

Rhode Island has voted $3,000 for a reception to Rear Admiral Sampson and fleet at Newport, May 30.

THE LARGER PRAYER.

At first I prayed for Light.
Could I but see the way.
How gladly, swiftly, would I walk
To everlasting day!

And next I prayed for Strength,
That I might tread the road
With firm, unflinching feet, and win
The heavens' serene abode.

And then I asked for Faith.
Could I but trust my God
I'd live enfolded in His peace,
Though foes were all abroad.

But now I pray for Love,
Deep love to God and man;
A living love that will not fail,
However dark His plan.

And Light and Strength and Faith
Are opening everywhere!
God only waited for me till
I prayed the larger prayer.
—EDNA DEAN CHENEY.

The First Monday in July.

Superintendent of Public Instruction C. H. Mebane issues the following to county boards of school directors and county superintendents:

Dear Sir: I wish to call your attention to section 42 of school law, which requires county superintendents to make their annual report on the first Monday in July; also to call your attention to section 54, which requires the county treasurer to make his report on the first Monday in July. Then again I refer you to section 63, which says you shall meet on the second Monday in July and on this day examine the reports of the county superintendent and county treasurer, and, if found correct, shall order these reports sent to me.

This word second in section 63 must have been a clerical error. The reports, of course, should be examined and passed upon by the county board of directors on the first Monday in July.

Therefore, I advise you to have a special meeting on the first Monday in July to examine carefully and in detail the reports of the county treasurer and the county superintendent of schools.

You will have sufficient official duties to attend to on the second Monday in July, and will really not have the time then that should be given to these annual reports.

There is to be no foolishness in the future as to these reports being made promptly, as section 56 makes it a misdemeanor for the county treasurer to fail to make this report. The county superintendent who fails to make his report is subject to removal from his office under section 42.

You see how useless it will be to have reports here and have the examination afterward, therefore, I hope you will attend to this important duty on first Monday in July.

A Show all by Himself.

John Thompson is good because he is original.

There is none other like him on the stage today.

While he's not amusing you he's instructing you: and now that I think if it he's usually doing both at the same time.

His performance at the Academy of Music last night was most enjoyable. His character sketches were very fine, and his music was splendid.

John is well worth seeing.—Raleigh News & Observer, May 19.

WHAT THINK YE OF THIS?

It has rarely been that anything has ever happened here that has aroused more indignation among our people than the prosecution of some of our best citizens here during last week on the trumped up charge of intimidating voters at Precinct No. 4 in Greenville township at the election held last November. Everybody who knows anything about the occurrence knows that these men went to this voting precinct at the call of citizens of that precinct to prevent a threatened riot. Everybody knows well that they did nothing when they went but drive away the negro who was exciting and causing the trouble. Everybody knows that not even this negro was prevented from voting, having voted before these gentlemen went over there. Everybody knows that after this was done that there was not the slightest interference with anybody or even a pretense of preventing anybody from voting and voting as he pleased. Every negro that testified, and nearly all of the white men, stated in positive terms that there was no intimidation and not the slightest effort at any that they saw or knew of.

In support of this statement we print a part of the testimony of Joe Bradley, a colored man, and of Manning Moore, also a colored man and one of the inspectors of the election.

Joe Bradley said: "I got there about 9 o'clock and left about 3 o'clock, everything went on smoothly until Staton attempted to vote about 11 o'clock. I was sitting down about 15 feet from window. What confusion there was between the poll holders and those checking off on the outside. I voted just as I pleased. I never had a harsh word spoken to me all day. I never saw the gentlemen from Greenville interfere with anybody except the man they drove off down the road. A good many colored people voted after the Greenville crowd got there, and voted just as they pleased. I saw Ernest Carney, but did not see him with a gun but heard he had one."

The man referred to in Bradley's testimony as being driven off down the road was a colored man by the name of Wiley Williams. He had voted before he was driven off and was pointed out to the persons who drove him off as the negro who attempted to lead a mob to force the poll holders to receive Staton's vote. The negro Carney referred to by Bradley, it is said, went off and got his gun and loaded it just before the telephone message was sent to Greenville that there was about to be a riot.

Manning Moore testified as follows: I was one of the registrars of precinct No. 4, arrived there a little before sun up and remained until votes were counted out. Everything went on smoothly until about 11 o'clock when a colored man came up to vote. He handed his vote to Mr. Briley, the Judge of election, who stood at the window and received the votes. Mr. Briley called out 'Robert Bell.' The man said 'no, Robert Staton'. Mr. Brown looked on books for name of Robert Staton. I told them he was registered as Bell. Mr. Johnston said that he couldn't or shouldn't vote, I don't remember which. We began to ask which was his proper name, but there was so much noise at the window that he did not give us any answer at that time. After awhile he said he was sometimes called Robert Bell and sometimes Robert Staton and sometimes Red, and that he generally answered to any of the names they called him. We said we would find out the name he generally went by in the neighborhood. Mr. Leonidas Fleming said he knew him as Robert Bell. Mr. Briley said he knew him as Robert Bell. I said I knew him as Robert Bell. His brother spoke up and said his name was Robert Staton. Mr. J. R. Moye, a member of the firm of J. B. Cherry & Co., being present said that he had traded with his firm under the name of Robert Staton. Mr. Briley all this time had the vote in his hand and while a majority of the registrars and judges of election I think were in favor of receiving it, there was never any vote taken by us as to whether it should be received or not. There was something said about telephoning to Greenville to know how his name stood on the tax list and Mr. Briley put the vote in his pocket until we heard from Greenville. As I recollect it was never put in the ballot box.

Another colored man presented himself at the window to vote and gave his name as Henry Corey, his name not being found on the book some one said it was Hardison. He was not allowed to vote. There was not much said about him.

A third colored man gave his name either as Joe Brown or Joe Bryant. There was considerable controversy about his vote. He was tongue-tied and it was difficult to say which way he called out his name. The name Joe Brown was on the registration book. I can't say what became of his vote.

After the difficulty about the Bell or Staton vote had been settled it was half hour before I saw any one with guns. There had been a good deal of noise outside and looked like there might be trouble. Heard no threats from anybody that day. What Mr. Ficklen said did not frighten anybody from voting. Every colored man who presented himself was allowed to vote as he pleased except the three I referred to. There was no intimidation. An hour and half before sundown we looked over the registration book and there were very few of both races who had not voted, and I know that some voted after that time. So I know that there were very few registered voters at that precinct who did not vote. I never saw any one near the ballot box with guns. I saw some gentlemen from Greenville with guns 25 or 30 yards from voting place, but they were not interfering with anybody, standing or walking about with guns in their hands.

A telephone message came to Greenville that the negroes were armed with guns and a riot was threatened at the Cross Roads, and when the men from Greenville went over there they took arms with them. This is the way they came to be there with guns.

So it can be seen that there is something wrong somewhere. There is some one, known or unknown, who is persecuting these citizens. It becomes the people of this community to know the instigators of this prosecution. This they will probably do. Political ends cannot be furthered in this community in this way. Malice and revenge cannot take this means of gratifying themselves. The government of the United States demands no such treatment of its citizens. The assistant district attorney stated Saturday in open court that he represented a government that did not demand that any wrong should be done, and yet it seems these men are to be taken through the courts on a charge that no jury in the world will convict them upon. Cost of time and labor and money is to be wrung from them and all to satisfy some spite of some disappointed politicians. The United States courts ought not to allow themselves to be used in this way but ought, by dismissing these men at once, say to the instigators of this prosecution you will have to go somewhere else to vent your spleen and wreak your vengeance. If the testimony of some of the white men who have testified in this case can be taken as an evidence of their feeling in the matter it will not be hard to locate the leading spirits in this persecution. We await the termination of this matter before saying more. We have no desire to do any one an injustice, at the same time we are determined to write the facts in the matter, and let the people know just where and upon whom the responsibility of the affair rests. We think we are prepared to say now from the testimony that it does not rest upon the negroes. Their testimony shows this. But more later, and the facts just as they are without any exaggeration or the withholding of anything, it matters not whom they hurt, and they will hurt somebody in some way. Have the days of 1866 and 1867 returned? We wait to see.

A Conservative County.

Rutherford county has always been conservative, and even considered a sort of back number by people who are not in a position to know what forces have been put to work by natives of the county. Our people have not buried their one talent, but on the contrary almost every public enterprise in this western reserve has been pastured and greatly aided by the means and business tact of Rutherford county people. Two hundred thousand dollars for railroads to begin with, and there are but few people who regret this expenditure. Several hundred thousands invested in cotton mills, largely Rutherford capital, nearly $600,000 in Battery Park Bank at Asheville, three-fourths contributed by native Rutherford boys, and still we get the name of Rip Van Winkles. A few more years and Rutherford will make all her neighbors rich unless we keep our boys and make them spend their loose change at home. Concentrate will be our motto soon and then we shall bloom out as the roses in this our paradise.—Rutherford-ton Vindicator

The preacher who can preach to please every hearer; the editor who can write to please every reader; the merchant who can sell goods to please every customer; the lawyer who can speak to please every listener, and the dressmaker who can please every woman, are dead and are wearing wings in heaven.—Orange, Va. Observer.

Rheumacide is a thorough, permanent, constitutional cure for rheumatism. The acids in the blood which cause the disease are thoroughly eradicated. Is also the best blood purifier, laxative and tonic.

That Philadelphia girl who sued her sweetheart for $15,000 because he squeezed her hand too hard has strewn more tacks in the already rough road of courtship. With damage suits in the squeezes and microbes in the kisses, it will be the prudent caper for the love-lorn swain to do his courting by wireless telegraphy.—Orange Va. Observer.

HE HAD A BAD HABIT.

And It Made Him a Poor Insurance Risk in Kentucky.

The manager of a life insurance company had the floor.

"Life insurance companies," he was saying, "are as particular about the people they already have on their lists as they are about getting them on in the beginning. They are rich, of course, but they are no more anxious to take in a man who will die of disease within the first year or two than they are to take in a perfectly healthy man and have him hazard his life by taking personal risks in dangerous pursuits or by travel in unhealthy countries.

"I remember a funny instance that occurred once while I was living in New England. One of our $10,000 men had a way of calling a man a liar in the most careless and indiscriminate manner and with only the merest or no provocation. One day he was in our office and casually mentioned the fact that he was going to make a trip to Kentucky.

"When?" inquired the manager alertly.

"Next week."

"On business or pleasure?"

"Going to buy a pair of horses."

"Um—er—er!" hesitated the manager. "Before you start I wish you would stop in and see me."

"What for? Want me to buy a horse for you?"

"No; I want to arrange about your policy."

"What do you want to arrange about it? Isn't it all right?"

"Yes, as long as you stay in this country. But if you go down to Kentucky we'll have to advance the rate until you come back."

"Well, what in—," began the policy holder hotly, when the manager interrupted him.

"Don't fly the track, my dear fellow," he said gently. "It's all right here and the rate is satisfactory to us; but, by Jove, we can't give you the same rate and let you go to Kentucky and call men liars like you do in this section. Not much! We haven't got $10,000 policies to give away like that, and you oughtn't to expect it."—Washington Star.

He Deals in Snow.

The Prince of Palermo is said to owe his wealth chiefly to the trade in snow, of which he has a monopoly. The snow is brought at night in baskets on mule back from the mountains to the coast and shipped to the Italian cities, where it is sold at 2 and 3 cents a pound.

SUGAR OF MILK.

A Material Little Known Generally Much Used in Europe.

Of the great variety of drugs and chemicals which play an important part in the commerce of the world little is known by the general public. The importation into the United States of balsams, barks, bean flowers, gums, herbs and leaves gathered from every part of the globe takes up an value annually to nearly $10,000,000, while the exports of similar products from this country have now reached a total of about $10,000,000. It is of hundreds of different kinds on the list with which the importer and wholesale drug dealer are familiar, there are scores which are almost perfect strangers to the lay mind. Along with alopecia, borax, opium, opium and other well known drugs will be found carthartus, cuculus, indiens, crystallose, troponium, meligen, enter, bacca, chole and others of equally enigmatical character.

In this latter class might almost be mentioned sugar of milk, which occupies one of the most important positions in the drug transactions of the present day. The title of the drug would imply common knowledge, though, as a matter of fact, few understand its important uses. Time was when every ounce of this drug was imported from Europe. Today, thanks to American enterprise, it is manufactured in the United States on such an extensive scale that not only is the enormous domestic demand supplied by the homemade product, but large quantities are annually exported. When it was imported, the wholesale price was 30 cents a pound. Now it has declined to 8 cents.

History says that sugar of milk was first prepared in 1619, although not introduced into medicine until 1698. It is used almost entirely by pill manufacturers on account of its neutral, filling properties. It is absolutely neutral, inodorous and with a slightly sweet taste. As a vehicle for all manner of pulverized medicines it is perfect. Acids and drugs of all kinds with which it may be mixed do not have any effect upon it nor it upon them, and in the human stomach it is most easily disposed of.

It is manufactured from the whey of cow's milk, and is really a byproduct of milk. The process is one of evaporation and recrystallization. Switzerland once had a monopoly of its manufacture. Now Illinois leads the world, while a large factory has been started in New York state, which gives promise of producing as much as its western predecessor. Such has been the success of the American industry that the product is shipped even to Switzerland, where it is able to compete satisfactorily with the European makers.

In crystal form it resembles rock candy, being white in color. The growth of it and for it has been caused by the development of patent medicines in put and tailed form, where that is desired. It is used to be exported to the form of powdered sugar for exportation. One cause of its decline in cost of use in transportation has been the largely increased. —New York Tribune

The oldest medical recipe is said by a French medical journal to be that of a man tonic for an Egyptian queen. It is dated 490 B. C. and directs that dogs' paws and asses' hoofs be boiled with jars in oil.

FIRE IN THE COUNTRY.

Dwelling of Mr. J. J. Clark Burned.

About midnight on Saturday night the house of Mr. J. J. Clark was destroyed by fire. He lived about four miles from Greenville, just across the road from Mt. Pleasant church, on the land of Mr. W. M. Brown. When the family was awakened by the fire the building was in a light blaze on top, and there was barely time for Mr. Clark and his wife to get their children out in safety before the roof began falling in. About all their furniture and clothing were destroyed with the building, only a little being saved. Mr. Clark and his wife were in Greenville today and say they have no idea how the fire started, as the house was burning all on top when they discovered it. Several donations of clothing and provisions were made them by people in town.
