OVER THE COUNTRY.

A cat upset a night lamp, and Miss Agnes Sutter, aged 76 years was burned to death in her bed, at Newburg, N. Y.

Reuben Jacquard and Ward Muise, of the Gloucester (Mass.) fishing schooner Thetis, were drowned while setting trawls on the Grand Banks.

During a quarrel over a game of cards at Chicago, Ill., yesterday, George Allen shot Burrell Douglas and Douglas' son Frank, and himself received probably fatal wounds.

Town Democratic Primaries.

The Democratic voters of the Second, Third and Fourth wards of the town of Greenville are requested to meet on Wednesday night, May 31st, 1899, at 8:30 o'clock at the following places:

Second Ward—in the Grand Jury room of Court House.

Third Ward—in the Court room of Court House.

Fourth Ward—in Star Warehouse.

For the purpose of nominating candidates for Aldermen to be voted for in the election to be held on the 5th day of June, next.

W. H. RAGSDALE, } Com.
ALEX. L. BLOW. }

Poor Prospects.

We see that Irish potatoes are being quoted in the northern markets as low as $2.25 and $2.50 per barrel. With such prices as this right at the beginning of the season when only a few of the earlier sections are making shipments, it looks like poor prospects when the bulk of the crop begins moving. It may turn out like the strawberry crop between Goldsboro and Wilmington, take most of the crop to pay the railroads for freight in reaching the markets.

Sad News.

A postal card from Roxboro yesterday morning to Rev. Henry Sheets says that Rev. J. H. Lambeth, pastor of the Baptist church here is gradually sinking. He has been unconscious since early Monday morning, and his death is momentarily expected.—Lexington Dispatch.

Every Man Go.

The Ward meetings to nominate candidates for Aldermen are called for Wednesday night of next week. There is too much at stake for the people not to be careful about whom they select. Every voter should attend his Ward meeting and help bring out the best men.

They Trade Lots.

Messrs. W. S. Rawls and C. T. Munford have traded lots in the burned district. Mr. Munford takes the lot on the west side of the street where the Rawls stores stood, and Mr. Rawls takes the property on the east side where the old Forbes stores were, these being owned by Mr. Munford.

The Medical Record gives the following "more or less good advice to doctors"—and it sounds as though it might also be good for their patients: "Drink less, breathe more; eat less, chew more; ride less, walk more; clothe less, bathe more; worry less, work more; waste less, read more; preach less, practice more."

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

The Durham Sun has been presented with a cucumber weighing two pounds and three ounces and measuring two feet in length.

The sale of fertilizer tax tags this season is about 10 per cent less than it was for a corresponding time last year. This is accounted for partially because of the backward season; but it is thought to be due principally to a decrease of the cotton acreage.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The miserable cur dog is in evidence in Granville county. One night last week the dogs made a raid on the fine flock of sheep of Col. Roger Gregory at Stovall and killed 35, and bit up 8 more so seriously that they will probably die, thus almost wiping out in one night one of the finest flocks of sheep in the county.—Oxford Ledger.

They Go to Kinston.

Messrs. Benj. May, of Farmville, and A. A. Forbes, of Greenville, have formed a copartnership to engage in the tobacco warehouse business at Kinston. A large warehouse is now being built there for them and will be ready by the opening of next season. These two men will add much strength to the Kinston market. Mr. Forbes has for several years been identified with the Greenville market, and he is a hustler from the word go. Mr. May is a young man full of enterprise and pluck, and possesses fine business qualifications. We predict much success for them.

Heavy Loss.

Between Wilmington and Goldsboro there are thousands of strawberries that are rotting in the fields. The berries are the finest of the season and should bring many thousands of dollars to the growers, pickers and crate manufacturers; but unfortunately the excessive freight rates render shipment prohibitory and the trucker cannot dispose of the fruit in a home market; hence the total loss of nearly 20 per cent of the crop. Were the freight rates reasonable the entire crop could be marketed at a profit.—Mount Olive Advertiser.

Return of The Favorites.

The public will be glad to learn that Dew's Fun Makers have made a return date and will commence a three nights engagement, in the Opera House, on Monday, May 29. They will have new plays and new specialties between the acts. Woodford, the hot number, will remember you "as long as he lives," and Gilbert is still the "guardian angel," while Miss LaBelle will render some of her choice selections in song. The price will remain as it was before—10, 20 and 30 cents. Special family matinee Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

At Ayden.

The Osceola Band gave a fine concert at Ayden, Thursday night, and the people down there were delighted with it. They had the hall full of people and there were many more who wanted to attend but could not find room in the hall.

FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1899.

Take a Short Nap Only.

"During the day every one should take a few minutes' sleep, preferably directly after the noon meal," writes Edward B. Warman, in his "Five-Minute Talks on Good Health," in the June Ladies' Home Journal. "The time given to it may seem too precious for one in business, but it will be more than compensated for by the mental and bodily condition that follows. Sit in an easy-chair. Lying down directly after a meal crowds the digestive organs and makes one's sleep restless instead of restful. Rest the head comfortably. Tip the chair to a pleasant angle for the body, not enough to have the weight of the body on the back. Place the feet on a chair as high or a trifle higher than the one upon which you are sitting; cross the limbs at the ankle joints, close the hands together by interlacing the thumbs together in order to avoid grasping the hands too tightly, and close the eyes. Having thus closed the circuit, it will be necessary to relieve yourself of all nervous and muscular tension; think only of your slow, measured breathing and the desire for a restful sleep."

There is nothing more beneficial to any community than the immigration of good citizens. They often bring new ideas and new and improved modes of doing things and thus prove a great blessing. But it often happens that men move into a community and ally themselves with the lower element of the country and thus become a great curse instead of a blessing. All such are undesirable. But the importation of a goodly number of men—men who would ally themselves with the better classes of our people, and men representing all the occupations, would doubtless prove a great blessing to North Carolina. To bring about such results we need advertising. We have all that nature can offer or ought to offer. Whenever this is known just that soon will the tide set this way—Lexington Dispatch.

Snap.

Love and sea sickness are in the same class—they cannot be described.

We always regret the most things that we came the nearest to getting.

A check on one's ambition is not half as nice as a check for one's ambition.

The honest affection of one person is worth all the professions of the rest of the world.

As we make our bed, so must we lie—but we certainly can't help defects in the mattress.

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

The discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

WINE OF CARDUI

Dogs Kill Calves.

Having completely destroyed the sheep industry in this country, the worthless cur dog is now turning his attention to larger and more costly game.

J. H. Neal lives just above the coal chute south of town and has a nice little farm, upon which he has been trying to raise cattle of the improved variety, and he has been doing very well.

Yesterday when he returned home from town his man on the place told him dogs had been playing havoc with his calves—that he went over to the pasture to look for them and found about eight dogs helping themselves to the fore-shoulders of two of the improved Jersey stock.

No one saw them in the act of chasing them, but it was plain that they had been run down like sheep, their throats cut and about half of the meat had been devoured when the depredation was discovered.—Grenesboro Record.

Certain Cure For Insomnia.

"Insomnia is a self-inflicted curse through the violation of Nature's laws," writes Edward B. Warman in the June Ladies' Home Journal. "The cause may be over-anxiety, planning for the morrow, thinking and worrying over the yesterdays and to-days, but no opiate can remove the cause, even though it may bring sleep. If the cause is merely mental overwork it may be quickly removed by relieving the brain of the excess of blood. Physical exercise is a panacea for about every ailment which human flesh is heir to. Therefore, stand erect, and rise slowly from the heels, descend slowly. Do this from forty to fifty times until you feel the congestion in the muscles of the leg. Almost instant relief follows, and sleep is soon induced. For those who are averse to a little work I would recommend, instead, a bowl of very hot milk (without so much as a wafer) immediately before retiring. The hotter the milk the better for the purpose. This will prove a better sleep-producer than all the opiates known to medical science. It brings about an increased activity of the blood vessels of the stomach, causing slight temporary congestion, which relieves the blood vessels of the brain. The hot milk is also quite strengthening to the stomach."

Adversity is Our Best Teacher.

"Culture and character come through suffering," writes Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, D. D., on the "Pains that Polish Perfection," in the June Ladies' Home Journal. "Life is God's university; happiness is the graduating point, but trouble and adversity are among the chosen teachers. The world is built for joy, but man comes to his full estate through the tutelage of sorrow. If man washes his eyes in tears and marks his garments white with blood, he, too, is promised the throne and sceptre of the higher manhood. Suffering is an alchemist refining coarseness and transmuting bad into good, selfishness into sympathy. Steel is iron plus fire. Tools are steel plus gashing axes. Statues are marble plus the chisel, whose every stroke makes sparks fly. Manhood is nature plus the temptations that chisel out character. Bronze doors of old cathedrals are all of beaten handiwork, and character is hammered out on the anvil of adversity; wine comes through crushing of grapes, and joy is a fine spirit oft distilled from bruised affections. Sin and selfishness dig great furrows in the face, so suffering is sent in to iron the lines smooth again. From Paul to Livingstone, what heroic leader hath worn soft raiment? What Luther or Lincoln was reared in King's palaces? It is wrestling against opposing winds that works toughness into trees and gianthood into men. If the poet's vision is fulfilled and we judge the angels doing easy duty at home, we must first, as veterans of the old guard, achieve our scars and hold our tattered flags in fierce battles upon a far-off frontier. Optimists always, let us not 'make believe' and play there are no troubles. One form of folly is always to drag the corpse into the banquet; another is to try and triumph over the tragedies by averting our eyes."

Don't Wait.

A man over in Skamokawa who was too stingy to subscribe for his local paper sent his young boy to his neighbors to borrow one. As the boy was going home he fell down and broke his leg. His father heard his cries and went out to get him, but slipped and fell on the ice, dislocating his knee and tearing the bosom of his $10 pantaloons. His wife ran out to his assistance, leaving a 2-year-old babe on the floor. The babe crawled out the door and fell down the well, and while the mother was fishing the child out the house caught on fire and was totally destroyed. Moral—It don't pay to borrow your home paper. Subscribe for THE REFLECTOR today.

The following from the Wilmington Star meets our view exactly: No trust was ever formed to benefit the public, and no trust was ever formed that didn't hurt the public more than it benefitted it. Trusts do not succeed by competition; they depend for success upon absorption or crushing competition, which gives them monopoly. They are not simply combinations of capital. They are more than that, they are monster combinations of capital to crush lesser combinations of capital. There is a difference, and a vast difference, between trusts and combinations of capital, which the trust advocates do not consider, for they class all combinations of capital as trusts, when they are essentially different. Simple combinations of capital compete with each other both in selling and in buying. Trusts compete with nothing; they crush if they can and then hold monopoly and fix both their selling and their buying price.

Good Reasons For Going to Church.

"I should say," writes Rev. Armory H. Bradford, D. D., on "What is the Good of Going to Church?" in the June Ladies' Home Journal, "attend church that you may worship God; that you may be brought face to face with 'the doctrine of grace,' which in hours of deepest need alone can satisfy either the mind or the heart. If you answer, 'I believe in none of these things,' then I reply, 'Attend the church that you may hear the loftiest ideals presented by those who have no selfish ends to subserve, and that you may be kept sensitive to the normal order of the world in which all men are included, the violation of which means ruin and misery, and harmony with which is followed by benefit and blessing'

The efforts being made to have the postoffice re-established at Lake City, S. C., shows that the officials of the postoffice department have rather a peculiar idea of justice. Two years ago the postmaster at that place—a town of about five hundred inhabitants—was killed by a mob of perhaps twenty five persons, and as a punishment of the guilty parties the postoffice was discontinued and the residents of the town are forced to get their mail from another office, which is some miles away. It would never do for the internal revenue department to adopt this policy.—Charlotte Observer.

Names of Litigants.

In an old Indiana case a man named Shallock undertook to live up to his name by running an unlawful ferry, but the decision of the court said to him, "You shall not cross."

The name of an adopted citizen of the Chickasaw Nation, whose adoption was canceled and who was thereupon expelled, was Run Hama.

A California woman who said in her will, "I have no fear of the hereafter; O my Lord, teach me to live right, then in dying there is no sting," bore the prophetic Christian name of Euthanasia.

The name Dr. Physick, which might be looked for in some allegory, appears as the name of a real person in a recent law report.

Some peculiarly suggestive combinations of names in the titles of cases are these: People versus Kaiser, Priest versus Lackey, Kick versus Merry, Protected Home Circle versus Winter, Grant versus Lockout Mountain Company.

In reminiscences of the early Minnesota bar Judge Charles E. Flandrau tells in the Minnesota Law Journal of an argument before the supreme court in 1853 by ex-Chief Justice Goodrich on behalf of an Indian convicted of murder. The Indian's name was Zu-ai-za, but as the counsel could not pronounce it he always referred to him in his argument as "my client. Ahasuerus."—Case and Comment.

DO NOT TAKE SEAT

Oct 11

A man was seen to enter for a very long time in London a change, finally he turned to the position of his wife and decided to go. He got the family and to work and then started early. At first the church, there were very few people in it and no pew opened at home so the man had his family well up the aisle and took possession of a pew.

Just as the service was about to begin a pompous looking old man came in, walked up to the rear of the aisle and stood there exhibiting evident surprise that it was occupied. The occupants moved over and once again he sat down, but he did not seem to be read. Finally the old man produced a card and wrote upon it with a pencil:

"I pay for this pew."

He gave the card to the strange occupant who had he been like most people, would have at once got up and left. But the intruder adjusted his glasses and with a smile read the card. Then he calmly wrote beneath it:

"How much do you pay a year?"

To this inquiry the pompous old gentleman, still standing, wrote abruptly:

"Ten pounds."

The stranger smiled as though he were pleased, looked around to compare the pew with others, admired its nice cushions and furnishings and wrote back:

"I don't blame you. It is well worth it."

The pompous old gentleman at that stage collapsed into his seat.

No Deadheads There.

I heard a good story that comes from a little town in the northern part of the state: Among the members of the Methodist church at that place is an old railroad conductor who has been retired from the business for ten years or more. During the morning service at his church not many Sundays ago the old railroader was called upon by the minister to assist in taking up the collection—one of the stewards who usually helped in that work being absent.

The retired railroader started down the aisle with the contribution basket and passed it around like an old hand at the business. Everything passed off smoothly until he came to a good old brother who had nodded himself fast asleep, and just as he was about to pass by him he was suddenly overcome by the force of habit acquired in his railroad days. Giving the sleeping brother a dig on the shoulder with the basket, he blurted out:

"Ticket, please!"—Ohio State Journal.

The Managed Husband is Worthless.

Helen Watson Moody believes that the husband who can be managed is not worth managing, and there is no better principle, she adds, in The Ladies Home Journal than her husband and wife to adopt in adjusting themselves to the new relation than that of being to be ruled by the other what the man's necessities to call the square thing. Many a woman understands managing a husband better than she does doing the square thing by him, and many a man understands and practices doing the square thing by other men who would be affronted if he were to be told that, judged by his own business standards, he habitually dealt unfairly with his own wife.

WIN A STOVE!

There is on exhibition at our store a full nickel plated

BUCK'S JUNIOR RANGE

Every little girl wants it, and one little girl shall have it. On the 15th of July we will present it to the little girl under fourteen years of age, who cuts out the greatest number of Buck's Trade Marks in the advertisement below and brings them to our store. They must be done up in neat packages and the number and name written plainly on each package. Now girls get your friends to help you, save every Trade Mark and see who can win the prize.

The purpose of this contest is to make this Trade Mark known in every household so that it may never be forgotten. It will be printed in all our advertisements. It is prominently displayed upon every one of Buck's Stoves and Ranges and carries with it the broadest guarantee of excellence. No stove can possibly be made which is better than any one of The Great White Enamel Line. We sell them in preference to all others, and carry a full line of all kinds and sizes. Ask to see Buck's Stoves and Ranges.

Respectfully,
HIGGS & TAFT.

Reynold's "Always Ready" Sole.

Remedy for Wife-Beating.

New York State is agitating the restoration of the whipping post for wife-beaters. And it will stop other crimes as well as this one, and should be adopted. A good whipping, humanely but soundly administered, will stop stealing more effectually than all the chain gangs ever provided.—Asheville Citizen.

Tobacco Flues! Some of the less experienced Tobacco Flue makers employ such cheap workmen and make their Flues so ill fitting that they have to put loops on them so you can tie them together with wire in the barn. We have fifteen years experience in Tobacco Flue making and ours don't have to be tied together in the barn; but, of course, we put loops on them if you want them. You will find us at Parham's
