A FIRE ALARM.

Very Novel Yet Effective One.

Chief A. J. Griffin, of the fire department, is a worker right. He had his heart set on getting a fire alarm bell to be placed on the engine house of Hope Fire Company. The wherewithal to purchase a bell was not in evidence in the Company's treasury, and the town did not seem to be in any hurry about making such a purchase. So "Capt Jack" set to work to get a substitute, and he has secured one which is believed will make more noise than any bell to be found. The Atlantic Coast Line authorities have sent him a steel rim off the drive wheel of a locomotive, and it will be used as a fire alarm. It is said that such a rim when properly suspended and struck with a hammer can be heard five miles. The rim weighs over 700 pounds.

Tuesday Night at the Opera House.

Mrs. Annie Abbott "The Little Woman of Mystery" will be at the opera house Tuesday night, June 13th, and give her marvelous performance of force and power. Mrs. Abbott is gifted with the most wonderful power or influence of any being on earth. She can control any human being, unlike the hypnotist who can place only a small number of his subjects under control. Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 Mrs. Abbott will give a free mind reading test. She will teach hypnotism and mind reading in one lesson. See her at the opera house or hotel if you desire to learn. Besides Mrs. Abbott's work at the opera house her ten year old boy will assist her in all the latest songs. He has a wonderful tenor voice. The Goldsboro Argus of June 6th says of her:

"Mrs. Abbott 'the little woman of mystery,' appeared at the opera house last night and was greeted by an appreciative audience who were amazed by her wonderful feats of force and power. She did all was claimed and more. Unlike those who claim to hypnotise a small number of their subjects, she handles all alike—not a single failure. She asked a small boy to stand up in the audience, and by simply getting his attention and having him look direct at her while she stood on the stage, the boy was at once made immovable. The entire committee tried to push her from her position by standing back of her and using all their combined strength, but failed to make any impression on her whatever. She resisted the combined efforts of the ten men who tried to move her. To say the least, all who can should avail themselves of the opportunity of witnessing this wonderful performance."

Seats on sale Tuesday morning by Lee at H. M. Hardee's store.

K. OF P. MEMORIAL.

Interesting and Impressive Service.

The memorial services by Tar River Lodge No 93, K. of P., were held in the Baptist church Sunday night, and the programme of exercises previously published was carried out in splendid order. The sketch of the life of the late Mr. J. W. Morgan, by Mr. L. I. Moore, while brief was beautifully worded and very appropriate. The sermon of Rev. N. M. Watson was most thoughtful and impressive. Taking Christ's testimony of character when He said "Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist," he showed that in the life of the Evangelist there was never a word or an act for self advancement but his entire service was in behalf of another. From this he drew that the Christ like spirit in us is manifest through our labor for humanity. Speaking of the principles of the Knights of Pythias, "Friendship, Charity, Benevolence," he said the world needed these and he commended the order for their work in promulgating these principles.

Starkey-Hearne.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hearne request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Cottie Geraldine, to Mr. James Leven Starkey, Wednesday evening, June the fourteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, at nine-thirty o'clock, Methodist Church, Greenville, North Carolina.

No cards are issued to parties in Greenville, but all friends are invited to the marriage at the church and also to the reception following at the home of the groom.

Ayden.

The editor had the pleasure of spending Friday in Ayden. It was our first day there in sometime, and we were surprised to find the town growing so rapidly. From a little cross roads village of a mere handful of people it has quickly extended to a busy town of 800 population. It has two fine schools, the Carolina Christian College and the Free Will Baptist Seminary, that add much to the advantages of the town. It also has many enterprising business men, having five large general stores besides many smaller establishments. Many larger towns might well envy Ayden's broad and well laid off streets.

Chips 27 Feet Under Ground.

On last Friday Mr. F. O. Cox, of Winterville, was digging a well in his yard. When the diggers had reached a depth of 27 feet, and just as they were getting through a deposit of marl and reaching the sand beneath, they found several chips that looked like they might have been buried centuries ago. The chips were in perfect shape, almost black in color, and bore well defined prints of the cutter's axe. If they could be traced back these chips would doubtless be found to belong to some pre-historic age. The chips have been turned over to THE REFLECTOR and after being kept at the office a few days they will be sent to the State museum.

MONDAY, JUNE 12, 1899.

Coming to Their Senses.

A man was lynched, burned at the stake, in Georgia not long ago for committing the most heinous of crimes. The whole North, almost, was fired with indignation at this outrage against law and order—the outrage being the lynching of the negro brute.

Last night a man in a Maine town was tarred and feathered and ridden on a rail and an attempt was made to set his feathery suit afire, and all because he was an apostle of a new religious sect which found little favor with most of the citizens.

Perhaps this outrage will create as much indignation as the first mentioned instance. Perhaps it will be argued that this latter instance is not as horrible an example of mob law as the first. Be that as it may, yet the fact remains that in both cases law and order were outraged. Shall we say the men in Maine were right in the treatment of a man who was charged with having a harmful influence upon his disciples? That the punishment inflicted was necessary and will prove an effectual example?

Then how can we say that the South is wrong in its dealings with the brutes who kill men and babes and outrage women?—Boston Transcript.

It Is Well to Have Both.

For the life of us we do not know why a community wants to break itself to raise $75,000 to build a cotton factory that will declare 10 per cent, when one-fifth of that amount will equip half a dozen spoke and handle or chair factories that will declare 25 per cent. How do we know? Here they are in Thomasville doing that very thing, and with the labor of men, not babies. High Point is rich and growing richer every day. It is full of furniture factories.—Charity and Children.

A Harsh, Bad Law.

Sheriff Cline in this issue calls attention to the fact that under the new revenue law, which went into effect yesterday, all persons who butcher and all persons who sell fresh meats are required to pay a license of $6.00 per year with a heavy penalty for failure to comply with the law. The law applies not only to those who keep a beef market, but applies as well to every farmer, who sells pork, or sausage, or beef. This law works a hardship to the farmer who wishes to dispose of his surplus pork or sausage or beef. It is one of the good many bad laws passed by the last Legislature.—Lincoln Journal.

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

The discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McEree's Wine of Cardui has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

WINE OF CARDUI

Token of Love and Esteem.

Our readers will remember that during the last summer—in July last, we believe—Mr. N. P. Strause a Jew, of Henderson, N. C., came to Rock Hill and was baptized and received into the Presbyterian church by Rev. Alexander Sprunt, who had in former years impressed and convinced Mr. Strause of the truth of the Christian religion. Mr. Strause is devoted to the church and enthusiastic in upholding its doctrine. He came to Rock Hill on a visit to Mr. Sprunt and spent two days with him. As a token of his love and esteem for the preacher and friend who had done so much for him, he presented Mr. Sprunt a magnificent open-face gold watch, which he bought from Tiffany. The monogram "A. S." in large scrip letters, is beautifully engraved on the case.—Rock Hill Herald.

Heavy Railroad Traffic.

It would surprise the uninitiated to know the amount of business done on the yards at Spencer and Salisbury. No one who has not railroaded would be apt to guess that twenty-seven thousand freight cars are handled during a month by the yardmaster and his crews. Yet during the month of May the number exceeded that. Yardmaster Frost who keeps a record of all cars and trains handled, figured up his last month's work last night. He found that 1,912 freight trains made up of 27,147 cars were handled, and that the number of passenger trains was 802, composed of 4,021 coaches. The total number of trains handled was 2,714, and the total number of cars was 31,168. This makes an average of over 87 trains, 1,000 cars per day.—Salisbury Sun.

An Excellent Example.

The first young lady entered at our Baptist Female University was entered recently by Col. Julian S. Carr. He authorized the First Baptist church in Durham to select a worthy pupil, he promising to pay expenses. The endowment of good and liberal friends is better than of money. We are grateful for this admirable example to set before our readers so early in the summer. Who will do likewise?—Biblical Recorder.

Politics at Low Ebb.

We have never known a time when the columns of the North Carolina papers contained so little politics. They are full of news about the building of cotton factories, the starting of new industries and the improvements in farming. The attention of the people is concentrated in business, and politics are sent to the background. This is a good sign. It shows that the idea that has been so industriously inculcated during the last few years by a certain party, that good and bad times are dependent on the laws enacted by Congress, and that perpetual campaigns are more important than planting and reaping and keeping the furnace fires aglow is losing its charm. Next year will be soon enough for politics.—Newton Enterprise.

One of the most sweeping orders ever issued by a railroad company in this country concerning the behavior and well-being of its employes has become effective along the entire Southern Pacific system. It forbids the sale of liquor at restaurants connected with the depots where such restaurants are rented from the railroad companies. As nearly every restaurant along the road is rented from the railroad company, the order has a very wide scope. The main purpose of the innovation is to prevent the trainmen from drinking while on duty. At the same time the order will cut off a large portion of the direct revenue of the railroad company. The management, however, seems to take a broad view of the question, preferring to suffer temporary loss of revenue to sanctioning the sale of liquor to its employes taking the view also that a train hand who even drinks at all is not a safe person to whom to entrust the lives of passengers.

Public road-building in North Carolina has reached such proportions that better trained road-builders are now more and more in demand in the different counties. President Alderman, of the University, and Prof. Holmes, of the Geological Survey, have been for some time arranging for some plan by which this demand could be met. They have decided upon the wise course of inaugurating the movement by having held in Charlotte in July an institute at which instruction in practical road and street building can be given. Gen. Roy Stone, the government's road expert, Prof. Holmes, our own State Geologist, and other well-known road engineers, will be here in charge of the work, and the county and city authorities here will co-operate liberally.—Charlotte Observer.

No good action, no good example ever dies. It lives forever in our face. While the frame moulders and disappears, the deed leaves an indelible stamp and moulds the thought and will of future generations. Time is not the measure of noble works the coming age will share of joy. A single virtuous action has elevated a whole village, a whole city, a whole nation. It is from small seeds dropped into the ground that the finest productions grow, and it is from the inborn dictates of conscience and the inspired principle of duty that the finest growths of character have arisen.

There is on exhibition at our store a full nickel plated

BUCK'S JUNIOR RANGE

Every little girl wants it, and one little girl shall have it. On the 15th of July we will present it to the little girl under fourteen years of age, who cuts out the greatest number of Buck's Trade Marks in the advertisement below and brings them to our store. They must be done up in neat packages and the number and name written plainly on each package. Now girls get your friends to help you, save every Trade Mark and see who can win the prize.

Respectfully,
HIGGS & TAFT.

SHAMEFUL WASTE.

Fish in the Creeks Being Destroyed.

There ought to be some law to prevent the wholesale destruction of fish in the creeks. It is said that both Swift Creek and Grindle Creek abound in fish this season and that people are seining and muddying them out by wholesale. They do not stop at catching the large fish, but the small ones as well are either taken or destroyed by this method of fishing. While at Ayden Friday we were told that fully ten bushels of fish were carried to that town and they sold as cheap as 15 cents per peck. If the people would fish judiciously and not destroy the small fry the creeks would afford a summer meat house for all who live in reach of them.

A Good Enterprise.

The other day we spent a half hour in Winterville and took advantage of the occasion to go through the cigar factory there. We knew it was a busy place and turned out an excellent quality of goods, but had no idea that it was such an extensive enterprise. There are about fifteen hands at work in all departments, and the average output is 3,000 cigars a day. They make five or six different brands ranging from the cheroot to the fine Havana ten cent cigar, and the product will compare in excellence with those turned out at any factory. J. M. Blow and I. A. Sugg, Jr., of Greenville, are both at work in the factory, and we were glad to hear Mr. Cox speak of them as being good hands.
