NEW BUILDINGS.

They Spring Up Rapidly.

It would take a special trip over town every day to keep up with a report of all the new buildings as fast as they are started. Going on certain streets we see houses almost completed where but a week or two ago there were vacant lots. The buildings spring up almost as if by magic.

L. F. Evans has commenced building a residence in South Greenville.

W. A. Bright has built him a new home in South Greenville and just moved into it.

The walls of E. M. Cheek's new brick store have just started up.

Wyatt Barber has a residence nearly completed in South Greenville.

J. J. Corey is building another house near Dickinson avenue.

D. W. Hardee is having material hauled to build another dwelling house in South Greenville.

Work is now in progress on almost the entire district that was recently burned and before another week buildings will be started on every site along that street.

And there is much improvement and enlargement of buildings going on in other sections of the town. Greenville was never growing so rapidly as at present.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

Lewis Patrick, the negro who murdered E. B. Weeks, the Carteret county merchant, was lynched Thursday night. His body was riddled with bullets.

The grand jury of the Federal court in session at Charlotte found a true bill against W. J. Cooke, State Senator of Buncombe county, for embezzlement and misappropriation of funds in connection with the affairs of the national bank of Asheville.

Everybody Smoking.

Nearly everybody in Greenville today who smokes was enjoying a whiff from the Old Virginia Cheroot. This has for years had the reputation of being the best 5 for 10 cents smoke on the market, and now the manufacturers have made a new departure by putting them on sale in packages of 3 for 5 cents. Mr. H. G. Barbee, a representative of the company, was here today introducing this new style package and distributing samples. A generous supply of these was left at THE REFLECTOR office and the boys are all puffing. At Bryan's drug store a colored boy was dressed to represent the old time darkey whose picture is so familiar on the package of Old Virginia Cheroots, and he sat in the window all day and smoked cheroots.

Thanks from the Pythians.

At their meeting in Castle Hall, Friday night, the Knights of Pythias requested THE REFLECTOR to return the thanks of the lodge to Rev. A. W. Setzer for his services and the use of the Baptist church, to Rev. N. M. Watson for his excellent sermon, and to the choir for their splendid music on the occasion of the Pythian memorial service on Sunday night, 11th inst.

SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1899.

Encourage the Farm Boy.

This writer was reared on the farm and he knows what a farmer's life is. Especially does he appreciate the lot of the farmer's boy and sympathize with him in his life and labors. His environments are not always what they should be, often not what they might be with little effort and expenditure.

There are hardships not a few and struggles necessarily in a life on the farm, and so the boy's lot should be made as easy as possible and he should be encouraged and rewarded beyond what is usually his portion. Teach him to love the farm rather than to despise it, learn him to know there is no vocation or profession more honorable and independent than that of the intelligent, successful farmer.

There are many ways in which this may be done—ways that readily suggest themselves to the thoughtfully considerate parent. Along this line we commend the following from the Elizabeth City Fisherman and Farmer as worthy of acting upon:

The boy on the farm is not always to be envied. He is often obliged to work early and late, do the work of any other hand, and not receive any recompense whatever. This is plainly not right, and it is not surprising that so many leave the farm at the first opportunity in spite of father's or mother's entreaties.

The boy who is old enough to do more than the chores, is old enough to receive some remuneration in a money sense; is old enough to be allowed some independence of thought and action, and should have a chance.

If you conscientiously feel that you cannot pay him in money, give him an opportunity to earn something some other way.

Let him have a small plot of ground to work for himself outside of the work he does for you, or let him raise poultry, and not only let him do these things but encourage him to earn a little money, which will be his own, which will tend to show him the value of money, and will raise in him ambitions and love of work.

Encourage him and help him all you can. Do not grind him down to a mere existence of servitude. Remember that he has his rights, even if he is your son, you owe him a good chance even if you don't feel inclined to pay him. It is a debt which you owe him as a parent, and for which there will be an accounting.—Henderson G old Leaf.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.
Washington, D. C., June 16, '99

Having sanctioned a policy for the sending of soldiers to the Philippines that is a clear case of what used to be called "whipping the devil around the stump," Mr. McKinley has gone off on a ten day pleasure trip, with the very important object of seeing his niece graduate from a Massachusetts female college. Meanwhile private advices from Manila say that instead of ending the war Gen. Otis is likely to find himself and his army confined to Manila and its outskirts, before the rainy season is over, unless he is heavily reinforced. Mr. McKinley fears the political effect of issuing the call for volunteers, although he has several times decided to do so, and adopted the plan of sending a sufficient number of regulars to Otis to give him a total of 35,000 men. This is to be done in a way to bamboozle the public. Portions of regiments are to be sent and portions retained in barracks. And to the latter all the men enlisted at the recruiting offices are to be sent to be broke in, and nobody outside of the War Department will be able to know whether the regular army is over-enlisted or not. As early as last week every United States recruiting office was ordered to hustle and to keep it up until further notice.

The boldest witness who has testified since the Industrial Commission began the investigation of trusts was Henry O. Havemeyer, the president of the sugar trust, who was heard this week. After reading a carefully prepared essay, in which he claimed that trusts, and especially the sugar trust, were public benefactors, he said: "We are not in the business for philanthropic purposes. It is policy, sometimes, to divide our profits with the public, and we conduct our business on business lines. We have tried to sell so low as to shut out all competition, but up to the present time we are in it up to our neck. Trusts are a natural growth. They are regulated by the laws of trade, and neither you, nor the Federal government, nor any other power, can alter these laws, and the sooner you find it out and cease these useless investigations, the better for the country." Now that is a fine picture, isn't it? The head of one of the most notorious of the trusts which are driving individual enterprise to the wall and slowly but surely getting possession of the whole country, standing up and boldly telling the representatives of the United States Government that they are engaged in a useless investigation of trusts, and that neither the Federal government, nor any other power, is strong enough to stop the growth of trusts. Mr. Havemeyer was mistaken. There is a power strong enough to stop the growth of the trusts, and sooner or later it will do it. That power is wielded by the people, who pay the enormous profits of the trusts.

Representative Sherman's friends try hard to conceal their soreness over the Henderson bunco that he ran up against, but they do not succeed very well. For instance, read the following remarks made by ex-Representative Southwick, of New York, and it is easy to see that he does not believe Sherman was given a square deal: "Mr. Sherman accepts his defeat for the Speakership with the utmost philosophy, and isn't in the least sore over Henderson's record-breaking victory. He never knew in advance of others that Mr. Reed contemplated retiring from the House, and his declination of the Customs Appraisership was not made prior to his knowledge of Mr. Reed's intentions." That sounds very much like pleading the baby act, as it was generally believed that Mr. Sherman did know in advance, and that he was Mr. Reed's choice for the Speakership. In fact, it was Mr. Sherman's declination of an office that he had sought which gave the public the first intimation of Mr. Reed's intention to retire. Again, Mr. Southwick indicated his belief in bunco practices by the Henderson men, when he said: "When the Illinois people put up Hopkins instead of Cannon, who would have had a large following outside his own State, they picked a fore-doomed non-winner. Had Joe Cannon been their candidate the result would never have been settled in advance of the meeting of Congress." When the Committee chairmanships are announced the Sherman men will understand still better how they were knocked out.

Ex-Gov. Bookwalter, of Ohio, who has lately returned from a three year's trip through Russia and its dependencies, has some new ideas of the Czar's country. He said: "I enjoyed the trip to Russia thoroughly, and arrived at the conclusion that Russia is a wofully misjudged country. Nowhere have I seen a more pronounced tendency on the part of a government to promote the interests of its poor people. I think the prevailing delusion in America concerning the alleged tyranny of the Russian government arises from the fact that it will not tolerate crime. Justice there is swift and severe, but are we in a position to say that it is too swift and severe?" "Mr. Bookwalter says that Russia is bound to be the dominant power in Asia and that if this administration carries out a hankering it has, unless he reads the signs wrong to get into the Asiatic mix-up, the people of the United States will deeply regret it

Some Havemeyer Sayings.

Here are some of Mr. Havemeyer's phrases:

The mother of all trusts is the tariff bill.

There appears to be in the public mind a distinction between robbery by an individual and by a corporation. What is commendable in an individual appears to be dishonest in a corporation.

The day of the individual has passed. If the mass of the people profit at the expense of the individual, the individual must and should go.

It is a good business proposition to get out of the consumer all you can.

Hands off! Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost.

If the farmers are not satisfied, let them get together and form their own trust.

I have never known a corporation to have anybody under its thumb very long.

Citizens are divided into two classes—the industrious and those who wish to live by the industry of others. It is they who are without capital who are hostile to it. This is only another mode of stating the obvious proposition that it is those who are without means who wish to have it without work.

We are not in business for philanthropic motives. If we sell cheaply it is for the purpose of crushing competition, and we will even up afterwards.—Washington Post.

Cancer The Only Increasing Disease.

While medical scientists the world over have been following the debates of the Tuberculosis Congress at Berlin, a new society of notable import has been formed in Great Britain for the study and prevention of the disease of cancer. The increase of the mortality from carcinoma is so alarming that it is predicted that, unless something shall be done to check the disease, there will be more deaths from cancer in 1900 than from consumption, smallpox and typhoid fever combined. In Great Britain the ratio of mortality from cancer has risen from 385 to 787 deaths per million. In New York its death-rate has also doubled during the past decade. One expert declares in The Medical News that "there is every reason to infer that this increase will undoubtedly continue until its minute causes are positively determined." And he adds that "so far as we have been able to learn, cancer is now the only disease which is steadily upon the increase. This increase in cancer mortality is certainly not due to improvements in methods of diagnosis, but rather the reverse is the case, since many cases which were formerly diagnosed as cancer are now properly classified where they belong in other lists."

That cancer is the only disease which shows a progressive and steady increase by months and by years is a powerful argument in favor of extra endeavor on the part of the medical specialists to investigate its mysterious causes.—Philadelphia Record.

Hits the Nail Square.

Under the caption "standing together" the Charlottesville Progress hits the nail on the head when it says buying away from home "cripples the home merchant and prevents him from becoming a larger consumer of the labor and produce in which you are either directly or indirectly interested. It withdraws from local circulation money needed to pay the local mechanic or professional man and which would probably find its way back into your own pockets. It is a home dollar and multiplies itself by near by circulation, in which you are most interested."

It also states the truth when it says next to buying at home comes the importance of patronizing those merchants who advertise in the local papers. There are merchants who do not feel sufficient interest in the success of the home paper to advertise in it, and who, directly or indirectly, encourage the foreign newspaper and then wonders why so many people patronize foreign business concerns. When a merchant advertises he thereby dictates a desire for your trade, and shows his willingness to seek and hold it, and when he does not advertise a great many buyers think he is not particular about telling what he has for sale or going to much trouble for his customers.

The address of President Ragsdale was one of the finest addresses of its kind delivered in the history of the Assembly. It was full of healthy optimism, pointing out sixteen reasons for encouragement to those interested in the progress of education. It was delivered with fine effect and produced a marked impression. At its conclusion, Prof. Ragsdale was the recipient of warm congratulations from all sources. Nothing marred its excellence in matter or in delivery.—Raleigh News and Observer.

One of Boston's municipal officials, who is especially interested in the establishment of free ice water fountains in that city, hired a man to watch one of the drinking places the other day from 6 A. M. to 10 P. M., for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not it was well patronized. Between the hours named exactly 9335 persons drank at the city's expense. The fountain has four faucets.

"My wife had pimples on her face, but she has been taking CASCARETS and they have all disappeared. I had been troubled with constipation for some time, but after taking the first Cascaret I have had no trouble with this ailment. We cannot speak too highly of Cascarets." TYPE AND PRESS.

WHO WANTS IT?

SPEAK QUICK.

THE REFLECTOR recently purchased two printing office outfits and has a quantity of surplus material that will be sold cheap. There is a cylinder press large enough to print a nine column paper, in splendid condition, and a quantity of Small Pica, Long Primer, Brevier and Nonpariel body type. We can furnish a complete outfit large enough for a six or seven column paper.

Specimens of the body type are shown in this advertisement, the type being taken from the case just as it runs, so it shows for itself how well it prints. This is the Small Pica size of which there is 1 pair of cases.

Then here is a paragraph set from the Long Primer size. We have 4 pairs of these cases. In buying this type you do not get something that is worn out and cast aside, but a good serviceable type, capable of much wear.

Here is something a little smaller, Brevier size. There are 2 pairs of these and it is a bargain for somebody interested in printing. It may not come but once in a lifetime that an opportunity is given for buying type as cheap as we will sell these lots.

Again we have 1 pair of cases of this Non pariel size, a very useful type in any printing office. Cases will be sold with the type of all sizes. Any printer who can use any or all of this type can make us a spot cash offer. While we prefer a customer for a whole outfit, press and type, one case of type will be sold if no more is wanted.

98. The above figures tell a remarkable story; they represent almost exactly the per centage of cures made by the wonderful new constitutional cure for RHEUMATISM. The other two per cent. were not curable, or failed to take medicine according to directions. Thousands have been cured. In view of the fact that many physicians think that rheumatism is incurable, and that most remedies fail, it must be true that RHEUMACIDE is the greatest medical discovery of the age. Particulars and testimonials of many well known people sent free to all applicants.
