STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

Union county had a cotton bloom on the 14th.

A Forsyth county farmer was bitten on the finger by a puppy. A few days later the man was taken with lock jaw and died.

The Benbow House at Greensboro was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. The loss was about $100,000 without a cent insurance. The Benbow was one of the best hotels in the State. It will be rebuilt at once.

The University.

The growth and expansion of the University should be a matter of pride to every North Carolinian. In efficiency, patronage and public favor it is now second to none in the South. Its requirements are exact, its standard rigid, its tone of life high and manly. Its academic roll is the largest in the South, and in all its history it has never been so close to the people, and so able to serve them. Ambitious and needy boys should remember its motto is equality, opportunity and self-help.

We Need All These.

If public spirit in Greenville would join in the race and keep pace with private enterprise there would be some permanent improvements that the town would be proud of. Electric lights, water works and better streets all ought to be close followers to the many building improvements. And it should not be overlooked that factories and a modern hotel are among the town's greatest needs.

Chaplain—J. T. Matthews.

Sec. & Treas.—D. S. Smath.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

National banks are now generally soliciting subscriptions to the Dewey home fund.

William H. Fisher shot his bride of six weeks at New Orleans and then killed himself.

Suit has been begun at St. Louis for an accounting of the proceeds of the sale of the Drummond Tobacco Company's plant to the Trust.

The body of Augustin Daly, who recently died at Paris, arrived at New York Saturday.

Members of the Chicago Board of Education are threatened with arrest for contempt of Court for not accepting employe certifications of the Civil Service Commission.

Five men were killed in the explosion of a powder mill at San Rafael, Cal.

Opportunity not Lacking.

Merchants in small towns are constantly complaining of a lack of opportunity, says Profitable Advertising, yet it is just such localities that the greatest opportunities in the world to make hits are found. Take a town of 5,000 inhabitants, where a little daily newspaper regularly serves the population with the latest news, and then suppose some enterprising grocer, dry goods dealer, clothier or other business man should suddenly commence to advertise in metropolitan style—why, it would create a mild sensation. His store would be visited by hundreds who never before had patronized him.—Press and Printer.

Died

George Ann Allen, June 13th, 1899. God has plucked this bright and lovely daughter from us. It is for a purpose none of us dare divine. He alone can pour balm upon our crushed and sorrowing hearts. The holy joy is ours of knowing that her eyes look down upon us and watch for our coming and that she will receive us when life's dark day is done.

It was so sudden, our white lips said,

How we shall miss her, the dear daughter dead,

Who will take the place of the precious fled?

But God knoweth best.

MAGGIE HEMBY.

Approaching Marriage.

The marriage of Mr. James L. Fleming and Miss Louia White will take place Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock in the Baptist church. They will leave on the morning train for a bridal tour to Asheville and other points in the western part of the State and upon their return to Greenville will hold a reception at Hotel Macon. No cards were sent out to persons living in Greenville, but all friends are invited to attend both the marriage and the reception.

Both Lose Their Mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pollard, of this town, have just sustained a double bereavement. Mrs. Allen Hardee, mother of Mrs. Pollard, died Saturday night at her home in Contentnea township, and Mrs. Fannie Pollard, mother of Mr. Pollard, died Sunday night at her home in Farmville.

S-say on Clothes.

We are writing about Clothes because we are "THE KING CLOTHIER." It is our "line" and we are proud of it. The Child, the Boy, the Youth, and the grown-up Man, all have a prominent place in our mind. Our CHILDREN DEPARTMENT was somewhat disfigured by the fire but we still have some rare bargains in it that are the real stuff. For instance we can sell you a BOPS 2-PIECE SUIT for 65 cents or a PAIR of PANTS for 10 cts. Now ain't that Bargains? If you see the goods you'll agree with us. These Suits fit, they are stylish, strongly sewed and made of good material. There is a great future for the boy who wears our Clothes. Provided his habits are as correct as his clothes. And in Mens Wear, too, we are "roosting on the highest limb." The fire destroyed a great many of our Suits but we have them from $2.50 up. We can fit you.

"Breathes there a man so stout or slim That clothiers fall of fitting? Let him take heart, for if he tries In our store he'll find his size. No shape or style do we omit To fit men who are hard to fit."

We guard the QUALITY of our stock with sleepless vigilance. Never is a poor article allowed in our stock. New line of MONDAY, JUNE 19, 1899.

The lynching of the negro Lewis Patrick by a mob in Carteret county, one night last week, adds another disgraceful blot upon the history of our State. From what can be learned of the lynching there were only a few people connected with it, and the bulk of the citizens of that county condemn the affair as severely as do the people of the State generally. The perpetrators of this lynching are equally as guilty of murder as was the man who took the life of the merchant Weeks. Patrick seems to have been implicated in that crime, and the mob that took his life have not only steeped their hands as deep in crime but have also intercepted the law in taking its course in dealing with a criminal and prevented justice being done. Doubtless there were others beside Patrick connected with the murder of Weeks which would have developed in a full investigation before court, but this hasty action of the mob blots out the possibility of bringing them to justice. The lynching is greatly deplored.

When the Morganton bank collapsed the State had $6,000 deposited there for the use of the asylum at Morganton. Now an argument is on between the State Treasurer and the trustees of the asylum as to whether the State or the asylum should lose the money.

The Best Sort of Advertising.

It is true that all the many methods of advertising now in vogue have some value. The use of posters, circulars and cards is, not entirely unproductive of expected results; but for prompt, direct and profitable returns newspaper advertising is pre-eminently above all other mediums at the command of the busy and wide-awake tradesman. There are two features of a newspaper by which the advertiser may estimate the value of its advertising space—its circulation and its prestige. A newspaper which is extensively circulated and which exercises an influence upon its readers must, therefore, be the most desirable agency through which a merchant may exploit his wares.—Philadelphia Record.

The Opportunity of the Southern Newspaper.

Not long ago, says The Columbia State, a newspaper correspondent sent out from Greenville a dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution telling of the success and prosperity of the cotton mills around that town. The figures were attractively presented and the article was well written. That dispatch has been reprinted and commented upon far and wide by all kinds of papers as an evidence of the condition of cotton manufacturing in the South and as an omen for future development. There is no telling what may be the results of that advertisement.

This recalls a similar incident. About six weeks ago, a paragraph was sent to The Manufacturers' Record, of Baltimore, from Charlotte, telling what Charlotte's condition was in 1880, and showing what has since been accomplished in the growth and prosperity of the city by the building of factories, and this single paragraph has given Charlotte more advertising than it had received from any other source. It was copied in all the leading papers of the country, and in many of them it was made the subject of editorial comment. Even yet the article turns up in an occasional exchange.

The Observer is in full accord with The State when it says that correspondents can learn something from these incidents, and so can editors. The State expresses the correct idea when it says that instead of devoting so much space and energy to accounts of crimes and descriptions of criminals, why not write up the resources, advantages and developments of your town, county or section? There can be no excuse for suppressing the truth about crimes which are deplorably frequent, but there is such a thing as overdoing the matter. The publication of the details of lynchings and murders does not seem to have a deterrent effect, though it doubtless sometimes aids the ends of justice. But there is one thing certain—a great deal of good is accomplished by the presentation of the agricultural and industrial advantages of our section and the consequent encouragement of investment.—Charlotte Observer.

Sharp Negro.

A colored man named, Joe Brown who lives near Warrenton, has been playing quite a smart trick on Mr. W. N. Ellis, the shuttle block saw mill man. He sold a small load of wood to Mr. Ellis nearly every day, so Mr. Ellis suspected something wrong and set a watch Friday night in his yard, which has a good deal of timber on it. He was caught in his trick of getting wood from the yard at night and then driving back in the morning and selling to Mr. Ellis the wood he had stolen. He is now in jail awaiting the criminal court.—Warrenton Record.

Strange Things Happen.

During the Confederate reunion at Charleston Miss Janie Meares, daughter of Captain Thomas D. Meares, of our city, visited the South Carolina city, and there lost a handsome and valuable pearl brooch, with a diamond setting. There were from 30,000 to 40,000 visitors in Charleston at that time, and as a matter of course Miss Meares never expected to hear of her brooch again. The old adage of "the unexpected always happens," comes up here, however, for, strange to relate, the young lady yesterday received her lost jewel.

Its recovery was brought about in a most singular manner. A young lady of Charleston is now visiting Wilmington, and Miss Meares mentioned to her that she had lost her brooch when she visited Charleston. The Charleston young lady said that a friend of hers picked up a jewel of the description, and it turned out that it was the one lost by Miss Meares. The jewel was returned to her, and she is happy over its recovery. It was picked up on the streets, and was lost while Miss Meares was getting on or off a street car.—Wilmington Messenger.

Anti-Trust Laws of Texas.

Following is an epitome of the anti-trust laws of Texas, just enacted:

Every combination of capital or its equivalent for the restraint of trade, whether organized under the laws of Texas or any other State, doing business within the State, is deemed a trust or monopoly.

The giving away of any article or selling it for less than cost for the purpose of preventing free competition in manufacture or distribution is prohibited.

Refusal to buy or sell to any person because he is not a member of the combination is prohibited.

Violators of the act are subject to a loss of their charters or prohibited from doing business within the State and are subject to a fine of $200 to $5,000 for each offense. Each day's business is a separate offense.

Prosecutors are given one-fourth of the penalties. All court business may be set aside for the trial of a case under the act.

Purchasers of articles manufactured by violators of the law cannot be obliged to pay for them.

Better Known Than You Think.

In studying the map of the United States the other day we discovered a fact which was unknown to us and we venture to say, had never been thought of by many geographical students. The discovery is, that it is farther from the eastern limit of North Carolina to the western limit, than it is from the northern limit of North Carolina to the Dominion of Canada. If you don't believe this statement take your map and rule and go to measuring.—Burlington News.

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Woman.

Whether sister, friend, sweetheart, wife or mother, a woman is the noblest work of God. If she be high-minded and pure-hearted, she stands near the sun. When, from any cause she falls, the descent is so swift, the distance so great, that restoration is well-nigh impossible. Every man deserves to look upon his sister as a queen of all the virtue, his sweetheart as a paragon of purity, upon his wife as a spotless priestess of love, and upon his mother as an angel. They are what he lives for, and for them he would brave all dangers and gladly die. They are the pride of life, their smiles illuminate his rugged thorn-strewn path from the cradle to the grave. Their is the balm of Gilead to his bruised and bleeding heart when others forsake, disappointments are sore, and the world is dark. Cheered by a sister's affection, sustained by a wife's devotion, and upheld by a mother's deathless love, it is strange a man should fall by the wayside a victim of vice and lust. Knowing, and loving his own so well, it is almost incredible that he could lure to the hell of ruin the sister, daughter, wife or mother of other men. The fall of womanhood is a sad and awful commentary upon the depravity of man. Did all men but keep the golden rule, there would not be a wrecked home, a blasted life, a broken heart, or fallen woman in the wide world.—Durham Sun.

The Right Sort of Advertising.

The immense and relentless competition in sales in the mercantile world has aroused a corresponding competition in the methods of advertising. As a result advertisers are making it a point to endeavor to be extremely original; but this is a mistaken and profitless striving. There is no endless power of originality in the mind of man. A uniformity of thought and action dominates mankind, who are in reality imitators; their doings are merely repetitions of what has been done before. So the persistent advertiser who is eager for satisfactory results will gain them soonest by giving solid, cheery and instructive information to his patrons through the medium of a newspaper which the public reads, and in which it has the utmost confidence.

Of Interest to Inventors.

C. A. Snow & Co., one of the oldest and most successful firms of patent lawyers, whose offices are opposite the United States Patent office in Washington, D. C., and who have procured patents for more than 17,000 inventors, say that, owing to the improved conditions in the United States Patent Office, patents may now be more promptly procured than at any previous time in their experience of twenty-five years.

An Austrian inventor has devised a scheme for making artificial cotton out of the shavings of the fir tree. The fibre of the wood is subjected to chemical treatment which makes it pliable enough to be spun into thread and woven. The inventor says he can make it very cheap, while the abundance of fir trees in that country will furnish an inexhaustible supply of material. But we will continue to grow cotton in the South all the same.

Lightning seems to be unusually destructive this summer. In nearly every paper is published one or more instances of its fatal work. Persons are suddenly killed—literally in the twinkling of an eye—and valuable property destroyed nearly every day, and it is no wonder that so many persons are greatly frightened when a storm approaches. And the worst of it is that lightning seems to be a deadly danger that no human precaution can certainly provide against.—Chatham Record.

How it Was in New York.

The New York Mail and Express raises a howl because a movement is on foot in Georgia to substitute white for negro labor. The esteemed should read the story told by Gen. J. S. Carr, of the negro man who approached him in New York city soliciting alms because of inability to get work sufficient to keep himself from starving, and all because he was a negro.—Asheville Citizen.

TYPE AND PRESS.

WHO WANTS IT?
SPEAK QUICK.

THE REFLECTOR recently purchased two printing office outfits and has a quantity of surplus material that will be sold cheap. There is a cylinder press large enough to print a nine column paper, in splendid condition, and a quantity of Small Pica, Long Primer, Brevier and Nonpareil body type. We can furnish a complete outfit large enough for a six or seven column paper.

Specimens of the body type are shown in this advertisement, the type being taken from the case just as it runs, so it shows for itself how well it prints. This is the Small Pica size of which there is 1 pair of cases.

Then here is a paragraph set from the Long Primer size. We have 4 pairs of these cases. In buying this type you do not get something that is worn out and cast aside, but a good serviceable type, capable of much wear.

Here is something a little smaller, Brevier size. There are 2 pairs of these and it is a bargain for somebody interested in printing. It may not come but once in a lifetime that an opportunity is given for buying type as cheap as we will sell these lots.

Again we have 1 pair of cases of this Nonpareil size, a very useful type in any printing office. Cases will be sold with the type of all sizes. Any printer who can use any or all of this type can make us a spot cash offer. While we prefer a customer for a whole outfit, press and type, one case of type will be sold if no more is wanted.

BUCK'S JUNIOR RANGE

Every little girl wants it, and one little girl shall have it. On the 15th of July we will present it to the little girl under fourteen years of age, who cuts out the greatest number of Buck's Trade Marks in the advertisement below and brings them to our store. They must be done up in neat packages and the number and name written plainly on each package. Now girls get your friends to help you, save every Trade Mark and see who can win the prize.

Respectfully,
