FLEMING--WHITE.

Beautiful Morning Marriage in Church.

"Such a beautiful marriage." "Prettiest I ever saw." These and kindred expressions were heard falling from the lips of people as they were departing from the Memorial Baptist church this morning, where they had assembled to witness the ceremony that made Mr. James L. Fleming and Miss Loula White man and wife. It was indeed a most beautiful and impressive marriage.

The interior of the magnificent auditorium had been made all the more attractive by the exquisite decorations. The aisles, rostrum and organ gallery were covered in pure white. Over head and around the sides of the alcove were festoons of evergreen with a superb wedding bell suspended from the centre. Around the organ and on the sides of the rostrum were pyramids of greenhouse plants alternating with candelabras and girandoles. The windows of the church were darkened, the chandeliers and many burning tapers filling the edifice with a flood of mellow light. An arched gateway closed each aisle at the end nearest the rostrum.

The audience was large and had been carefully seated by the ushers, Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, Dr. W. H. Bagwell, J. C. Gary and T. M. Hooker.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal party reached the church and were preceded by the pages, Richard White and Bennie Higgs, who unrolled the carpet through the aisles.

Mrs. Ollen E. Warren presided at the organ and charmingly rendered the wedding march as the party entered, and "Oh, Promise Me," during the ceremony, closing with an exquisite march as they passed out.

First came the gate attendants, little Misses Ethel Skinner and Mattie Moye King, who swung the portals for the others to pass through. Then came the flower girls, Misses Hennie Ragsdale and Mary Higgs. The bride's maids entered singly up each aisle followed by the groom's men. In couples they were:

Miss Ada Wooten with B. F. Tyson.

Miss Mary Hadley, of Wilson, with Dr. R. L. Carr.

Miss Bessie Jarvis with W. F. Harding.

Miss Lizzie Jones with C. S. Carr.

Miss Julia Castex, of Goldsboro, with Dr. Josh Tayloe, of Washington.

Miss Blanche Flanagan with C. F. White.

Miss Lillian Cherry with Frank Wilson.

Miss Sallie Lipscomb with H. W. Holcombe.

Miss Bettie Tyson with C. S. Forbes.

Miss Rosa Hooker with J. W. Wiggins, of Tarboro.

The bride who came leaning upon the arm of her father, Capt. C. A. White, was immediately preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Rosalind Rountree, and as they advanced up the aisle the groom with his best man and brother, Major I. Fleming, entered through the rear door and met them at the altar.

The ceremony, beautifully worded and impressive, was performed by Rev. A. W. Setzer, pastor of the Memorial church.

As the party left the church the bell rang out merrily on the balmy morning air.

The couple left on the morning train for a bridal tour to Blowing Rock, Asheville and Hot Springs, and after their stay in these mountain resorts will go to Morehead for some days and return to Greenville about the middle of July. Upon their return a public reception will be held at Hotel Macon.

A rehearsal tea was given to the bridal party Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Dickinson avenue. The bride and groom received many valuable presents in testimony of the high esteem in which they are held: One of the presents to the bride was a large solid silver ladle, elegantly carved, given by the members of the Baptist church in appreciation of her having so faithfully served as organist since she was but a mere girl. The bride has always been a favorite with Greenville people, and her host of friends were truly gratified at her appearance as she stood at the altar and to see her wedded life begin amid such beautiful surroundings.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

A brother of Ensign Worth Bagley failed to pass the examination for admission to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Misses Nancy and Eliza Wright, two maiden sisters who lived with a bachelor brother in Mecklenburg county, died last week in a few hours of each other. One of them was 68 years of age and the other 71.

J. P. Marshall, of Asheville, thought to take a dose of paregoric, but through mistake took carbolic acid instead. He instantly discovered his mistake and tried to reach a physician, but fell on the way and died in a few minutes.

The Observer says that since January first 2,700 carloads of lumber were received in Charlotte, and in the meantime work had to temporarily suspend for lack of material on 100 buildings that were going up. This looks like Charlotte is doing some growing.

About 2 o'clock on Monday morning a freight train of the Southern railroad stopped at the station at Newton to get water and discovered the depot on fire. The fire had gained such headway that it could not be checked, and the depot with all contents was soon destroyed.

Burbanks Conquered.

James Burbanks, colored, who was in chains on the street Tuesday under sentence for contempt to the Mayor's court, has his liberty today. This morning Jim made a full apology to Mayor Forbes and expressed penitence for his conduct. The apology was satisfactory to the Mayor and he agreed to divide the sentence against Jim, let him serve either the 30 days in jail or pay the $25 fine. Jim agreed to take the fine rather than imprisonment, and this being provided for he was discharged from custody.

S-say on Clothes.

We are writing about Clothes because we are "THE KING CLOTHIER." It is our "line" and we are proud of it. The Child, the Boy, the Youth, and the grown-up Man, all have a prominent place in our mind. Our CHILDREN DEPARTMENT was somewhat disfigured by the fire but we still have some rare bargains in it that are the real stuff. For instance we can sell you a BOPS 2-PIECE SUIT for 65 cents or a PAIR of PANTS for 10 cts. Now ain't that Bargains? If you see the goods you'll agree with us. These Suits fit, they are stylish, strongly sewed and made of good material. There is a great future for the boy who wears our Clothes. Provided his habits are as correct as his clothes. And in Mens Wear, too, we are "roosting on the highest limb." The fire destroyed a great many of our Suits but we have them from $2.50 up. We can fit you.

"Breathes there a man so stout or slim
That clothers fall of fitting?
Let him take heart, for if he tries
In our store he'll find his size.
No shape or style do we omit
To fit men who are hard to fit."

We guard the QUALITY of our stock with sleepless vigilance. Never is a poor article allowed in our stock. New line of Difference of Opinion No Bar To Mutual Respect.

Under the above heading The Newton Enterprise of this week has an editorial which we copy in full as follows:

A subscriber from Catfish post-office tells us that nearly all the Populists in his neighborhood borrow and read his copy of The Enterprise, and admit that they like it better than their own party papers. We are not surprised at this, as The Enterprise gives the news, and does not attempt to distort and twist everything in order to give it a political tinge. Most of the Populists in the county were once subscribers to The Enterprise and were among our most regular and promptly-paying patrons. Of course we would like to have their names on the subscription books again, but if that is not possible, we are at least glad to know that they are still readers of the paper, and like its style of serving the news.

We have always believed the privates in the Populist party in Catawba county were an earnest set of men and actually thought the leaders of their party were in earnest and believed in the strange doctrines they promulgated. We also think that most of the Populists reconciled their consciences to the disreputable trading, fusing and other such campaign practices invented and imposed on them by their leaders. But we have all along believed that they were more sinned against than sinning, and that they would in time detect the selfish motives and insincerity of their leaders and their newspapers. There are many reasons for believing that they are already beginning to do so.

The Enterprise has never believed in a single plank of the Populist party, nor in a single practice introduced by them into campaigning, and we have always been frank in saying so. But we have never believed it good politics or the straight-forward thing to do to pilfer the Populist platform of its most distinctive planks and then blame the members of that party for not leaving it and coming headlong into ours. We believe that more of them would be back with us today if a different course had been pursued. But members of the same party have a right to hold different opinions on questions of policy and courses of procedure. So also can men of different parties have respect for one another.

There is in this a good deal of food for thought. In times past, when there was a Populist party, when a Democratic paper expressed the opinion that the privates in that party were an earnest and honest set of men and actually believed in the earnestness and honesty of its leaders, it was charged with trying to flatter the rank and file with a view to diverting their votes from it. Now that there is practically no Populist party, its former members being now either Democrats or Republicans, we hope it is allowable for our Newton contemporary to say what it does and for The Observer to re-echo its sentiment, without either of them being charged with something of which neither is guilty. We have often declared the belief that the voting force of the Populist party was entirely sincere, meant nothing but what was right, and really believed that their leaders were honest in their purposes. This belief we still entertain, along with the belief that the leaders were mainly rascals who had no higher purpose than the feathering of their own nests, which the most of them have accomplished. The privates have been outrageously hoodwinked, fooled and swindled by a lot of pot-house politicians who never meant anything honest, and yet we are in accord with The Enterprise in the belief that it was not the straight-forward thing to rob their platform of its most distinctive planks. The genius of the Populist politicians discovered these planks and inaugurated certain battle cries, and it was not right to take these away from them, and this much is to be said in ordinary fairness.

As to our contemporary's declaration that "members of the same party have a right to hold different opinions on questions of policy and courses of procedure," we hope it will succeed in having that right accorded it. Undoubtedly this is a correct proposition, but to get a hearing for it is another matter.—Charlotte Observer.

It has perhaps escaped the notice of the general public that in a recent interview with President McKinley, Senator Stewart, of Nevada, who is said to have had close communication with the best sources of information in the Philippines, declared that he was satisfied that General Otis, in the Philippines, had been as brutal as Weyler in Cuba. This is the most terrible arraignment of the conduct of the war that has proceeded from any source, Democratic or Republican. We have access to no information that would warrant an endorsement of so grave a charge, but it is certain that General Otis' conduct of the war has been a national disappointment. To whatever cause this may be due, the fact exists.—Charlotte Observer.

Prophecies That Failed.

The Washington Post discusses at some length the efforts of Prof. Langley, of the Smithsonian Institution, to solve the problem of aerial navigation, and after a review of the barriers in the way of the successful manipulation of the flying machine, says:

"Should the professor or any one of these scientists who are working on this problem succeed, he will attain world-wide celebrity. The first man who navigates an airship across a continent or an ocean will be famous. But we do not believe that his invention will possess great commercial value or that his name will go into the list of those whose discoveries have been greatly and permanently beneficial to mankind. This doubt is based on the fact that while nature has no law that prohibits traveling through the air, it certainly has a law that must surround such traveling with conditions that will render it expensive, and, to the average man or woman, not simply unattractive, but repulsive. The law of gravitation, in our opinion, stands as an insurmountable barrier to the commercial practicability of aerial transportation."

Some time ago an article was reprinted from an English paper, published a number of years before ridiculing the idea of successful railroad transportation. Among other things the writer said: "It is indeed absurd to think of people especially women, being reckless enough to submit to being whirled over the country at the rate of twenty miles an hour." Along about the time this was written, Daniel Webster, in a public speech was decrying the same idea. It was proposed, he said, to run trains of cars over iron rails at the rate of twelve miles an hour. Even if this were possible, a train having acquired this speed could not be stopped under three miles; and a more fatal difficulty about the whole scheme was that it would be necessary to carry along the water from which the steam was to be generated, and this water would inevitably freeze in the winter time and thus hang up the whole outfit. Yet in spite of this English writer and Daniel, railroad transportation is being accomplished with a fair degree of success, and so it will be with The Post. In "nineteen something," or possibly not until the year 2,000, somebody will be wondering that the writer of The Post article was so near-sighted, for in years to come we are going to fly and fly high at that. Just wait and see.—Charlotte Observer.

The Ruling Passion.

Husband (rushing into the room)—Come out, quick!
Wife—What's the matter?
"The house is on fire, and we will be burnt to death if we hesitate a moment. Run, run for your life!"
"Yes, I'll be out in a minute. I've got to tidy up the room a little so that it will look decent when the firemen get here."—Cincinnati Inquirer.

The above figures tell a remarkable story; they represent almost exactly the per centage of cures made by the wonderful new constitutional cure for RHEUMATISM. The other two per cent. were not curable, or failed to take medicine according to directions. Thousands have been cured. In view of the fact that many physicians think that rheumatism is incurable, and that most remedies fail, it must be true that RHEUMACIDE is the greatest medical discovery of the age. TYPE AND PRESS.

WHO WANTS IT?

SPEAK QUICK.

THE REFLECTOR recently purchased two printing office outfits and has a quantity of surplus material that will be sold cheap. There is a cylinder press large enough to print a nine column paper, in splendid condition, and a quantity of Small Pica, Long Primer, Brevier and Nonpariel body type. We can furnish a complete outfit large enough for a six or seven column paper.

Specimens of the body type are shown in this advertisement, the type being taken from the case just as it runs, so it shows for itself how well it prints. This is the Small Pica size of which there is 1 pair of cases.

Then here is a paragraph set from the Long Primer size. We have 4 pairs of these cases. In buying this type you do not get something that is worn out and cast aside, but a good serviceable type, capable of much wear.

Here is something a little smaller, Brevier size. There are 2 pairs of these and it is a bargain for somebody interested in printing. It may not come but once in a lifetime that an opportunity is given for buying type as cheap as we will sell these lots.

Again we have 1 pair of cases of this Non pariel size, a very useful type in any printing office. Cases will be sold with the type of all sizes. Any printer who can use any or all of this type can make us a spot cash offer. While we prefer a customer for a whole outfit, press and type, one case of type will be sold if no more is wanted.

POINTS OF WISDOM.

Oh, my brother, God exists.—Emerson.

Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee.—The Bible.

To realize the real, a man must do his work well, whatever it may be. And how can he do this? By putting honesty into it, courtesy and justice with those whom he employs, and generosity and human kindness.—Christian Advocate.

True contentment depends not on what we have. A tub was enough for Diogenes, but a world too little for Alexander.—Colton.

No one has a right to frown.—Selected.

Not what other people think, but what I must do is all that concerns me.—Emerson.

The consciousness of power comes from conquering obstacles. Hindrances are after all, our opportunities. God must regard our struggle. And that he has a purpose in it all we are forced to believe from the way he treats us and gives us all, at some time, a battle to fight.—Roderick Stebbins.

If any one should take this brooding over himself for self-knowledge, he would be very much mistaken. He is simply making discouragements for himself by looking for them, and so conjuring them up. Self knowledge is not to be found in our own darkness, but in God's light.—Ullathorne.

If at the last judgment God should accuse me of being too stern and pitiless, I should have nothing to answer Him; but if He should charge me with too great leniency and pity, I can always say, "I have learnt mercy of Him whose mercies are infinite."—Bernard of Asti.

State Guard Squabble.

So bitter have become the quarrels between the old and new companies at some places that it is now beginning to look as if the entire State Guard will be disbanded and reorganized. The feeling at Waynesville, Asheville, Raleigh and Charlotte is very strong. One day this week the Adjutant General received no less than ten letters from Waynesville taking sides in the controversy and advising that one or the other of the companies be ignored and the other recognized. All hope of adjusting these differences has been abandoned.

Some course of action in the matter will be decided upon by the Adjutant General this week.—News and Observer.

Mathew Pratt and Joseph Pains, two farmers near Pulaski, Va., quarrelled over a sheep. Both had pistols, both used their weapons, and both are dead.

By the explosion of an oil can with which she was trying to start a fire, Mrs. Enoch Eavnoski and her little daughter were both burned to death at Pittsburg, Pa.

Constable Bryan Dead.

Constable Elisha Bryan, of Bethel, who, on the first Saturday night in May was murderously assaulted by four colored men, in which he was seriously cut and his skull broken, died Tuesday night from his injuries. While the Constable's condition has been serious all the time since he was attacked, there was once such improvement as to give hopes of his ultimate recovery, but a few days ago he relapsed and grew worse until he died. Coroner C. O'H. Laughinghouse went over to hold an inquest. Three of Mr. Bryan's assailants were captured and are in jail, but one of them is still at large.

Married.

The Jewish Pupils Always Go Head.

A phase of the Semitic question now under discussion by our correspondents appears in the list of the 833 pupils of the public schools who passed successfully the examination for admission to the young men's Free College of this city. The great majority of the names are Jewish, and very much the same result appears in the examinations of girls for admission to the Normal College.

The Jewish children generally are the best pupils in the public schools. Even where they have come here with a foreign speech from the most wretched social condition they learn English speedily in order to get advantages of the free schools, and, once there, it is not long before they are among the brightest of the pupils, and their diligence is great. Accordingly, when candidates go out from the grammar schools, seeking admission to the free colleges, Jewish pupils are now always in the majority. In Columbia College, also, the Jewish students form a large part of the whole number.

The race is determined to get ahead and it spares no effort, no sacrifice, to accomplish its purpose.—New York Sun.

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

The latest idea in the interest of public health is the disinfection of telephones. From microscopic examinations of transmitters and receivers in Boston it has been found that infectious diseases, particularly tuberculosis and diphtheria can be communicated to those who use the instruments and it is recommended that some kind of a disinfectant be used to wash the telephones occasionally. In New York an effort is being made to have the cleansing and disinfection of telephones made obligatory.
