BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The Board of Aldermen met Thursday night and had a very busy session lasting until 1 o'clock in the morning.

The committee on ordinances reported and the entire list was gone over and adopted and ordered to be printed. Some new ones were added which are along the right line and promise much reform to the town. The Board is to be commended for the way they have gotten down to work and the class of work they are doing. The special tax levy was completed as follows:

Merchants and druggist pay half that levied by the county as purchase tax on capital invested.

Venders of oils of any kind, selling more than one gallon at a time from tank, wagon &c. fifty dollars per year.

Medicine Venders $10 per day.
Tobacco Warehousemen $15 annually.

Lumber dealers $10 annually.
Itinerant solicitors or pictures to be enlarged $5 per week.

The time for the tax on second hand clothing dealers going into effect was extended to Sept. 15.

The ordinance removing hogs from the town goes into effect Aug 10.

The Mayor made some timely remarks during the reading of the ordinances as to his determination to have them carried into effect.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.
 Washington, D. C., July 14, '99

Democrats have good reason to regret the fright in the ranks of the single gold standard republicans because of the warnings uttered by such republicans as Senators Thurston of Nebraska, and Chandler, of New Hampshire. Ever since the eastern republicans began the movement to try to put through single gold standard legislation at the coming session of Congress democrats have been heartily wishing that they would succeed in doing so, because of the marked advantage it would be to the democratic candidate for President. Senator Chandler was the first to tell his party associates that they were playing with political dynamite. Then came Senator Thurston, who has presided over two republican National conventions and who is much more influential, if not so talkative, than Chandler. Thurston makes it very plain that Mr. McKinley never would have been elected if that international bimetalism bluff had not been put in the republican platform and worked for all it was worth by the McKinley stumblers in the West and Middle West. He also intimated that he didn't care a continental about silver himself, but would take no part in helping his party to invite defeat. He expressed the belief that the effort would not succeed in Congress, although he was not so confident about the National Convention of his party, of which he said: "The Eastern States have a large representation in the convention, and we know the colored delegates can be won over." Of the probabilities in Congress Mr. Thurston said: "With the narrow republican majority in the House and the moderate views of a good many republican Senators, I really do not look for very much in the way of financial legislation between now and the Presidential Campaign." Next to putting it into a law, democrats would like to see the republicans put the single gold standard into their National platform.

Ex-Senator Pugh, of Alabama, now in Washington, doesn't wear any cushions on his political views, nor does he believe in trying to win by pussy-foot methods. He said of the next candidate and platform of the democratic party: "I believe that William J. Bryan is the wisest and most reliable democratic statesman living and that he is now better established in the confidence of the American people and stronger than he ever was, and can be elected after he is nominated, as he will surely be, by the next Democratic National Convention. As to the democratic platform, let it be the Chicago platform, with additional declarations against the manifold trusts growing out of the existence of the gold standard and prohibitory tariff duties; also in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the existing war in the Philippines, until peace and order is established and the governing power of the United States is fully recognized; also that peace and order is to be established, not for territorial expansion or dominion of the United States, but for the sole purpose of securing to the people of those islands better and more stable government, with all the rights, liberty and privileges they show themselves by trial to be capable of exercising and enjoying in a condition of independent self-government."

Although the scheme to give this country a standing army of 100,000 men was defeated in the last Congress, the idea has not been abandoned by Mr. McKinley. The word has been passed among the republican leaders to try to work up public opinion in the vicinity of their homes, in favor of a large standing army, so that when Mr. McKinley repeats his recommendation to Congress for a larger standing army it will seem to be backed by the sentiment of the country. A large standing army will be as dangerous next winter as it was last, and for that reason will be opposed by the democrats. Whenever this government has any real need for fighting men it is easy enough to get as many volunteers as may be asked for. Consequently there cannot be any good reason for maintaining a large standing army, while there are numerous reasons—all good—for not placing such a temptation before an unscrupulous administration.

The presence of a G. A. R. committee composed of big guns of the organization, in Washington, for the purpose of investigating the Pension office, has naturally been the subject of much gossip and speculation, as to whether the committee really intended to investigate or was merely engaged in preparing a coat of whitewash to prevent the threatened defection of G. A. R. men in Kansas, and other States, because of their dislike to the way Commissioner Evans has managed the office. Of course, everybody knows that the committee has no official status, whatever, and no more right to examine Pension office business than would a similar committee from the Sons of Jerusalem, or any other organization. Yet, Commissioner Evans has received this committee with indications of pleasure, and told its members that his office was open to them from top to bottom.

Secretary Alger now says that he will not resign this year, but does not know what he may do next year. Humph! The last time he said he would stay until the close of the administration. Perhaps he doesn't know what he will do.

The Tobacco Trusts Capturing Warehouses.
 It is to be earnestly hoped that the tobacco warehouse monster called a trust, that has invaded North Carolina from Virginia, will have its tail cut off short at the roots, and very early. It may arouse the farmers more than ever to the real character of this foul conspiracy against them—the infamous, diabolical tobacco trust, and all the other infamies branded as trusts. The plan of this new enemy is to control the markets of North Carolina, and thereby of course control the prices of all gold-leaf tobacco, especially of the better grades. Already the farmers of North Carolina have to pay tribute to the rascally Duke cigarette trust to the extent of some millions of dollars. The precise sum cannot be ascertained. But two years ago a very intelligent gentleman of the Piedmont section told us that $1,500,000 had been lost to the farmers of that fine section by the Duke Cigarette trust. What has been lost since and what the dozens of counties not included in that section have lost by the vile robber and oppressor may swell the loss—the tribute paid—to $3,000,000. This is the money lost by the trusts forcing down prices to its own greedy demands. It is easy to build colleges and endow schools when immense fortunes are made so easily at the expense of the people.—Wilmington Messenger.

NO-TO-BAC removes the desire for tobacco, without nervous distress, expels nicotine, purifies the blood, restores lost manhood, makes you strong in health, nerve and pocket. 1,000 boxes sold, 400,000 in health, nerve and pocket. One evening at a social function where Sarasate was among the guests, a young violinist has the bad taste to play one of Sarasate's compositions with variations of his own creation. The latter were inappropriate and inartistic, and jarred upon the ears of all. The performer ended his work and made his way to Sarasate, doubtless expecting a word of recognition or praise. Sarasate said nothing, and the player finally asked: "I hope you recognize that piece?" "Certainly, Sarasate promptly replied "it was a piece of impudence."

Raleigh Post: This morning Mr. Jas. R. Cole, engineer for the R. F. Morris Manufacturing company was knocked senseless and for a while was thought to be in a serious condition. TYPE AND PRESS.
WHO WANTS IT? SPEAK QUICK.
 THE REFLECTOR recently purchased two printing office outfits and has a quantity of surplus material that will be sold cheap. There is a cylinder press large enough to print a nine column paper, in splendid condition, and a quantity of Small Pica, Long Primer, Brevier and Nonpariel body type. We can furnish a complete outfit large enough for a six or seven column paper. Specimens of the body type are shown in this advertisement, the type being taken from the case just as it runs, so it shows for itself how well it prints. This is the Small Pica size of which there is 1 pair of cases. Then here is a paragraph set from the Long Primer size. We have 4 pairs of these cases. In buying this type you do not get something that is worn out and cast aside, but a good serviceable type, capable of much wear. Here is something a little smaller, Brevier size. There are 2 pairs of these and it is a bargain for somebody interested in printing. It may not come but once in a lifetime that an opportunity is given for buying type as cheap as we will sell these lots. Again we have 1 pair of cases of this Nonpariel size, every useful type in any printing office. Cases will be sold with the type of all sizes. Any printer who can use any or all of this type can make us a spot cash offer. While we prefer a customer for a whole outfit, press and type, one case of type will be sold if no more is wanted.

We live in a blessed country. Not a man in this section but can command a cart load of watermelons every Fourth of July.

The Literary Society gave a fine barbecue. The beauty about this society is the members never discuss anything but good eating.

There was only one riot on the Fourth, but it was of no consequence, as the only persons killed were six of our delinquent subscribers.

The Fourth was lively in this neighborhood. Colonel Tompkins shot off his left arm, and the mayor, who had climbed to the top of the greasy pole, slipped down and broke his leg.

A Shot in the Dark.

Last night about nine o'clock while Mr. W. A. Garriss and his wife were seated on their porch at their farm about a mile from town, enjoying the faint breezes that were trying to cool the heated air, their attention was attracted by a series of "plunk, plunks" wafted by the breeze from the direction of a fine patch of melons near. These melons were the pride of the family who were counting on feasting themselves and their friends in Greenville, and at the magic sounds which told that their fingers were investigating the condition of their treasures.

Mr. Garriss started to the defence, going into the house for his pistol, the wife slipping around by a fence hoping to get a glimpse of the marauders. The husband coming from another direction as he approached the patch saw a form indistinctly outlined in the dim light by the side of his melon patch and being greatly excited fired in that direction. A scream followed and to his horror he recognized in its tones that of his beloved wife. The ball had struck her in the arm, making a painful but not dangerous wound. The doctor who is attending her did not succeed in extracting the ball this morning. Mr. Garriss' friends sympathize with him for wounding his wife and for not wounding the real thieves.

A South Carolina Tragedy Growing Out of a Love Affair.

A News reporter was told this morning of a sad occurrence that took place just across the South Carolina line a day or two ago.

Mr. Lum Watson, a prominent young farmer of Upper South Carolina, had been paying attention to a Miss Sloan, daughter of Mr. J. F. Sloan. The two families live near each other, and it was common talk that Mr. Watson and Miss Sloan were to wed. Mr. Sloan for some reason had refused Mr. Watson his daughter's hand, and furthermore had forbidden him to come to his (Sloan's) house. Monday, the two lovers made an engagement to meet at the young lady's home. The father of Miss Sloan learned of their intention and attempted to persuade his daughter to break the engagement. She consented, but still did not inform her sweetheart.

At the appointed hour the young man made his appearance near the house, at a point the two had mutually agreed on. After remaining at the place for some time, the young lover grew bold and ventured as far as the house. He whistled and sang a few familiar notes, but to his surprise his sweetheart did not appear. Finally, growing tired of being disappointed, and with a burning desire to meet his sweetheart, Watson tapped gently at the young lady's window. Everything was in utter darkness, and there was no response to his knock. This was followed by the report of a gun from the inside. There was a smashing of glass and a few groans and on the grass beneath the young lady's window lay the prostrate form of young Watson. Several shots had penetrated the young lover's breast. It was not long before the father of the young lady appeared on the scene, still holding the gun. He made no denial of the fact that it was he that did the shooting. The News informant this morning states that young Watson, it is feared, is fatally wounded. Physicians have made several attempts to locate the buckshot; but so far their efforts have proven futile.

The principals in this affair are among the best people of Upper South Carolina, and the young lady is described as a most beautiful girl.—Charlotte News, 6th.
