BEFORE THE MAYOR.

Several Drunks and Disorderlies Arraigned.

Mayor J. G. Moye had a busy term of court this morning, the number of Saturday night disturbers being some larger than usual. He dealt out justice to the offenders and levied tribute for the town aggregating $37.05 in fines and costs.

The first case called was against John Taft for being drunk and disorderly. John was drunk on the street when some one told him the policeman was coming, when he used some bad "cuss" words about the officer and said no one could arrest him. He found out to the contrary and the Mayor said he might pay $5 and costs for the fun he had.

The next case was against David Sermons and William Anderson for being drunk and disorderly. They were both pretty well soaked and tangled up with each other, but said they were only playing. For this kind of playing the Mayor said they should contribute $2.50 and costs each.

The next defendants to answer to their names were Richard Kinion and C. L. Cauley. Kinion entered a plea of guilty. He was taking a promenade Saturday night with a river damsel when they were met by Cauley and others. Cauley wishing to appear very polite raised his hat and spoke. Kinion cursed him when Cauley said "you're another." Kinion struck out with his right and Cauley warded off the blow with his left. Kinion was preparing to feel for him again when others interfered and stopped it. Kinion was assessed $5 and costs. Cauley was dismissed.

The last and most amusing case to the spectators was against J. A. Smith and Linda Scott. The witnesses for the State testified that Smith had gone to the house of Linda between 12 and 1 o'clock Saturday night and they had engaged in such a row as to awaken and disturb the neighborhood. The defense offered to show that it was only a friendly visit to cut a watermelon, but their statements were so "disagreeing" that the court declared not to believe a word of it. With some good advice to Smith as to where married men ought to be at that time of night and a fine of $5 and costs the Mayor told him he might go. Judgment was suspended over Linda on condition of her good behavior.

Baby Born With Set of Teeth.

New York, July 22.—A two-months-old baby born with teeth was brought to the office of Dentist Mapp, in Brooklyn, today to have its front teeth extracted so that the mother, Mrs. Christopher Quinn, of No. 444 Bushwick avenue, could nurse the child with more personal comfort to herself. Dr. Hasbrouck, a prominent dentist, says that such cases, while rare, are not so uncommon as to cause much of a stir.

"Teeth in children at birth," said he, "are usually due to some constitutional trouble of the parents. Measles and scarlet fever often cause teeth to come in an irregular way. They are usually the milk teeth. Of course, they cause the mother much annoyance, but they are easily extracted."

BAND EXCURSION.

The Osceolas Will Run to Ocracoke.

The Osceola Cornet Band is undertaking to purchase uniforms for the members. Instead of asking contributions for this purpose the boys have set to work to make the money necessary. They will run an excursion from Greenville to Ocracoke on next Saturday, 29th inst. The steamer Myers will leave Greenville promptly at one o'clock for Washington, from which point the elegant steamer Ocracoke will take the excursionists on to Ocracoke, arriving there Sunday morning. Returning the steamer will leave Ocracoke Sunday evening, putting the excursionists back in Greenville Monday morning. The fare for the round trip is only $2, and those wishing to remain longer at Ocracoke can return on the same ticket anytime before September 1st.

The band will give appropriate concerts on the steamers both going and coming. They have received several new selections and are practicing up specially for this excursion.

Director Ola Forbes tells us the best of order will be maintained and the trip will be made comfortable and pleasant for all who go.

The chaperones for the trip will be mesdames R. A. Tyson, R. J. Cobb, C. D. Rountree, Ola Forbes, G. B. Hughes, H. L. Coward, J. B. Cherry and M. H. Quinerly.

It is going to be a delightful excursion and a large crowd should go, for besides helping the boys to get uniforms they will receive more than their money's worth of pleasure out of the trip.

Enter The Strangling Bug.

The bark Bandaneira, Captain Falch, which is now discharging her cargo at Thompson's point, on the Jersey shore, was visited on Wednesday night by a horrible-looking insect, which the captain believes to have been a genuine "strangling bug."

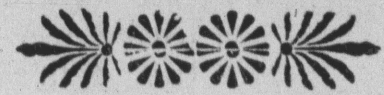

It attacked the captain's wife as she promenaded the deck, and was only driven off by the vigorous action of the mate of the vessel, who who heard Mrs. Falch's screams and rushed to her assistance. Repeated blows of the mate's hand failed to stop the attacks of the bug, until at last he picked up a spike and struck the insect a severe blow. It dropped on the deck, and the mate held it fast with his cap until a seaman helped him to encase it in a box.

Captain Falch was ashore at the time, but he was startled when the insect was shown him. It was three inches in length, with large overlapping wings. From its head projected two powerful nippers, which acted like an iceman's clip.

Captain Falch brought the fearsome insect to this city yesterday, and presented it to Thomas Harris, of the Maritime Exchange. It was examined with much interest by captains of vessels and shippers, but none could tell whence it came, though there was a general opinion that the insect was from the tropics and possibly came from the Philippines in a transport, or concealed in the cargo.—Philadelphia Times, 20th.

A Witch Story.

Are we returning to the day of witches? Read the following taken from the Watch Tower, and contributed by Rev. H. S. Davenport, one of the most prominent ministers of the Christian church, in the State, and judge for yourself. To say the least it is a strange story, and might well be classed with the spirit knocking that occurred in Tarboro a few years ago which afterwards proved to be a fraud, and the young lady's sweet-heart turned out to be the spook. All the comment we have to make is, Mr. Witch was hard pressed for a ride when he selected an old woman 80 years of age for his horse and committed a most ruthless act when he hitched her to the head board of a grave. But nevertheless witches have always been credited with doing strange things, Mr. Davenport says:

On Goose Creek Island there lives a man 84 years old, Benson Lewis by name. His family consists of a wife about 50 years old, who has a daughter about 17. Mr. Lewis is an intelligent and respected citizen.

About a year ago bricks began to be hurled in his yard and house. One night a wooden window was knocked in with his own ax. Among other missiles a rock weighing about eight pounds was hurled into the yard. Mr. Lewis suspected some one was annoying him for some purpose. He watched and fired his gun in the direction he thought the missiles came. Neighbors came and watched and brick and rock were hurled, but no one could be seen. One day the old gentleman and his wife were in the field and the house was locked, a terrible stamping was heard within. They come to the house, opened the door and no one could be found, but impressions were found on the floor resembling the foot prints of a small colt. They say they were not there before. I saw them and could not account for them.

Three times his wife says she has been ridden by the witch. A neighbor expressed a desire to see her after the second tramp under the witch's saddle. A few mornings after she expressed her wish Miss Bettie, the daughter, came running over at an early hour saying the witch had ridden her mother again. This lady is one of the best women on the place and I suppose that no one acquainted with her would for a moment doubt her truthfulness. She related the circumstance to me and herself and husband went with me to the house of Mr. Lewis. She said, "Bettie came running after me and I went, (distance about a quarter of a mile.) When Mr. Lewis first discovered his wife she was lying partly on two beds, making a noise like the groaning of a horse, her legs, arms and face were covered with mud. Her gown was muddy and knotted behind. Her hair was plaited, some small, some large plaits, not tangled, but simply plaited."

Mrs. Lewis claims the "witch was a man, that he rode her several miles, drove her to a graveyard and tied her to a head board of a grave, that he found a new grave of a little child there and remarked it had been dead two weeks, which was so to a day."

No one seems to have an idea who the witch is; but it has created a sensation. I am not superstitious; have never thought much about witches or ghosts, but I do not try to account for this. It is strange to me. I have related the facts briefly, but as nearly as possible as they have been related to me. I think the matter weighs heavily on the old gentleman. Himself and family cultivate the farm; his mind is good, but he seems moody. It is an unfortunate state of affairs. Some have thought it is all a trick of his wife. But how could she make a racket in the house and she in the field with him? How could she throw bricks and rocks in the house in the presence of company and she in there with them? The lot is quite long but not very wide, but no one could throw those bricks or rocks without being detected. People have been there and watched both day and night, brick and rock have been thrown while they were watching and they could see nothing. The missiles do not hit anyone and seem to drop from above and strike with considerable force, often breaking the brick in several pieces when it strikes a plank or other hard substance.—Washington Messenger.

A Texas Game.

The big guest who had registered as hailing from Ballard, Texas, was poring over a local paper at the National Hotel on Saturday night, when he suddenly started up with a grunt and inquired: "Say, do they pull people for playing poker in this town? I see here where three men were fined for a quiet game."

He was informed that such was the law.

"That's funny," said he. "Why our town is wide open."

No one denied this, and the Texan carefully chewed for a time and then resumed:

"Why, funny game, last one I saw in Ballard. Cow-puncher, a Chinese and a doctor were at jack-pots. Chinese held four queens, cow-puncher held a gun and the doctor got $4."

"How was that?" asked a lounging.

"Acted as coroner," said the Texan.

"But who raked in the pot?" eagerly inquired the questioner.

"I did," said the Texan, "I'm sheriff."

And as no one seemed to desire further information he strolled out to the door and yawned.—Washington Times.

Lightning caused the death of 367 persons in the United States last year, and a property loss of $1,441,880. Few of the deaths occurred in cities. The annual number of thunderstorms at given localities in this country averages between thirty-five and forty-five. The maximum is in the Southeastern States.

TWELVE TONS AT A DIP.
The Largest Dipper Dredge is of Buffalo Manufacture.

The largest dipper dredge ever built was recently completed at Buffalo, N. Y. It lifts twelve tons at a dip. The hull is 136 feet long 42 feet beam. It is guaranteed to make a full revolution with a load from water 25 feet deep every 40 seconds, which represents 5000 to 6000 cubic yards every ten-hour day. The hoisting chain is 275 feet long and weighs ten tons. This dredge is designed to work in forty feet of water and has a direct pull of 120,000 pounds.

A Rain Proverb.
 Rain before seven,
 Fine before eleven.

I have always heard this proverb with the two additional lines:
 If it rains at eleven
 'Twill last till seven.

And I have witnessed the truth of the last two lines very many times, notably on three separate occasions, on which, being up the river for a day's hunting, when a fine day would have been a god-send to me, it has rained persistently during the whole afternoon, the rain beginning between 10 and 11 o'clock, and ceasing within a very few minutes of 7. Thus I have had the proverb indelibly stamped on my mind.—Notes and Queries.

The Scope of Advertising.

Notwithstanding the popular idea that advertising is designed merely to make certain things known to the public, its real purpose and results have a much larger scope. A new book having been announced and published becomes an accomplished fact of which the world is more or less cognizant. But there is something more than that wanted in order to make the book properly known; and that want is supplied through the medium of publicity afforded by a newspaper's advertising columns. The same facts apply to a merchant's business. By advertising he does more than announce that he has goods for sale; he awakens a popular interest in them and persuades the public to buy them.—Philadelphia Record.

TYPE AND PRESS. DIRECTORY.
WHO WANTS IT? SPEAK QUICK.

THE REFLECTOR recently purchased two printing office outfits and has a quantity of surplus material that will be sold cheap. There is a cylinder press large enough to print a nine column paper, in splendid condition, and a quantity of Small Pica, Long Primer, Brevier and Nonpariel body type. We can furnish a complete outfit large enough for a six or seven column paper.

Specimens of the body type are shown in this advertisement, the type being taken from the case just as it runs, so it shows for itself how well it prints. This is the Small Pica size of which there is 1 pair of cases.

Then here is a paragraph set from the Long Primer size. We have 4 pairs of these cases. In buying this type you do not get something that is worn out and cast aside, but a good serviceable type, capable of much wear.

Here is something a little smaller, Brevier size. There are 2 pairs of these and it is a bargain for somebody interested in printing. It may not come but once in a lifetime that an opportunity is given for buying type as cheap as we will sell these lots.

Again we have 1 pair of cases of this Non pariel size, a very useful type in any printing office. Cases will be sold with the type of all sizes. Any printer who can use any or all of this type can make us a spot cash offer. While we prefer a customer for a whole outfit, press and type, one case of type will be sold if no more is wanted.

WINE OF CARDUI
FOR ALL WOMEN

NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefitted by it.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says: "My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her and also helped my mother through the Change of Life."

Kissing Bug.

Charlotte is not satisfied with a ball team that can beat King's Mountain and Statesville, but yearns for liquid air, automobiles, bric-a-brac from an extinct foreign navy and nanny goats with horns.

In her yearnings, however, she must content herself with a few of earth's ills, so she is now face to face with that malanolestes picipes, or kissing bug, as it is called by the unlettered.

A specimen of this hemiptera was discovered yesterday by a gentleman on West First street, who asphyxiated the insect while it was busily engaged in sucking the life-blood from a caterpillar. Quite a number of Charlotte people have suffered from the bite of this insect within the last two weeks. The latest case reported is that of Master Mack Hunter, a Western Union messenger, who was bitten Wednesday night. The effect of the bite is frightful, and up to this time there have been twenty-seven deaths in New York city from lockjaw resulting from its bite.

It is not a newly-discovered species, but is quite well known in Texas and California. It is nocturnal in habits, and therefore more to be dreaded. It has wings, or rather half-wings, as the Greek word "hemiptera" signifies. It enters at will into sleeping apartments, and in its search for sustenance crawls over the face of the sleeper, and finding moisture about the mouth, proceeds to absorb it, which it does quickly by its peculiar elongated beak, and as this leads it to believe there is more saliva around, the beak is inserted into the lip and a virulent poison injected. The mosquito net is a safeguard, and perhaps the only one.—Charlotte Observer.

Change of Hours.

There has been a change of hours for the keeping open of Western Union Telegraph offices on Sundays, that went into effect on the 23rd. Hereafter the Sunday hours will be from 8 to 10 o'clock A. M. and from 4 to 6 o'clock P. M.

NOTICE.
