MONDAY, AUGUST 14, 1899.

"A live grasshopper will eat a dead grasshopper," says The New York Tribune. "A Missouri farmer mixed paris green and bran together and let a grasshopper eat it. He died. Twenty ate him up. They died. Four hundred ate those twenty, and they died. Eight thousand ate those four hundred, and they died. A hundred and sixty thousand ate those eight thousand, and died, and the farmer was troubled no more. In its flight from the Far West the name of the statistician of this story has become separated from his figures, but the fact that the incident occurred in Missouri is regarded as evidence of its possibility."

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away. To quit tobacco easily and forever, be manly, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

The Charlotte Observer points a moral in the following: "The negro Methodists of Alabama a few days ago passed resolutions asking Congress to appropriate $100,000,000 toward defraying the expense of transporting members of their race to Africa. These colored people seem to have forgotten that this proposition is on the opposite side of the bargain-counter from which Uncle Sam is doing business these days. The old gentleman is bending all his energies toward adding more black people to his constituency, not to getting rid of them. Then, too, he would be making a bad trade to swap the American negro for a lot of the other variety, even though he got them at the immortal ratio."

Beauty is Blood Deep.
Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists; satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Died from Sitting Cross-legged.

During July Geo. Hartman was very ill with typhoid fever at his home near Salisbury. About ten days ago the fever disappeared. For several days the sick man had been sitting up, and Tuesday evening he felt well enough to sit cross-legged. When he uncrossed his legs he felt a sharp pain in one leg.

In a few minutes the bony member was swollen as tight as the skin could hold. A clot had formed in the sluggish blood current, and he was already dying from Venous Thrombosis when his physician was called the next morning.—Salisbury Sun.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents. Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

Regular Advertising Brings Regular Results.

Primarily the attainment of prosperity by the merchant depends upon his sagacity as a business man; and as a sagacious individual he makes use of all available agencies by which to maintain his hard won success. Chief among these agencies he recognizes good newspaper advertising as productive of exceedingly lucrative results, and being a wise mortal, he does not fall into the error of utilizing the advertising columns of a first class newspaper intermittently. He makes it a point to see that his business announcements appear daily, with the result that he receives profitable returns daily from his advertising ventures.—Philadelphia Record.

Been in the Stable 15 Years.

A Kernersville man, who works in Winston, tells the Winston Sentinel of an eccentric family which live near Friendship, Guilford county. The old man and his son own a beautiful horse which they raised. The animal has not been out of the stable for fifteen years. It has never been shod and its hoofs are unusually long. The owners are proud of the horse and say they are not going to take him out of the stable until he dies. The old man has a small farm and he does his hauling and ploughing with one little mule.

THE MYSTERY OF DREAMS.

A Case in Which the Coincidences Were Remarkable.

On an occasion during the civil war I dreamed that I was standing beside a road when there came marching along it a strong column of prisoners, with guards at intervals on the flanks. I asked one of these guards who the prisoners were and where they had been captured. He informed me that they had been taken in an engagement with the enemy on the day before and that there were 1,900 of them. I then asked some bystander what day of the month it was and was told that it was such a day of a certain month, some six weeks later than the date of the dream. The whole dream was extremely distinct, and it made a strong impression on me. I related it to a number of my comrades within the next few days and then thought of it no more.

Six weeks later, on the morning of the very day that had been mentioned in the dream as the date when the column of prisoners had passed before me, I was on picket two miles distant from the point where I had seemed to be when I saw them. It was soon after breakfast, and I was standing by the side of the road at the fire talking to the officer of the picket when an aid to the commanding general came riding down the road. He had been a schoolfellow of our officer's at West Point and reined up when he recognized his friend. He told us that he had good news, that there had been a sharp engagement with the enemy the day before and that our people had captured 1,900 prisoners, who had just passed the headquarters that morning on their way to the rear.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Wise Man.

The wise man will not expect too much from those about him. He will bear and forbear. Even the best have foibles and weaknesses which have to be endured, sympathized with and perhaps pitied. Who is perfect? Who does not need forbearance and forgiveness?—Samuel Smiles.

The flesh of young giraffe, especially that of a young cow, is extremely good, somewhat like veal, with a gamelike flavor. The tongue, from 15 to 20 inches long, is also very good. But the marrow bones afford the greatest luxury to the South African hunter.

As He Put It.

Planche told this story of an Irishman who was driving a mull cart. He observed him to be tying his neck up in the voluminous folds of his comforter and remarked, "You seem to be taking very good care of yourself, my friend."

"Och, to be sure, I am, sir," answered the driver, "what's all the world to a man when his wife's a widdy?"

To Cure Constipation Forever. Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

A PAIR OF BIG FEET.

They Brought Woe to France and Changed the Map of Europe.

The Princess Bismarck changed the political history of France unwittingly, and but for her the Franco-Prussian war might never have been waged.

Bismarck was unfriendly to France, but the Empress Eugenie hoped with her beauty to influence him so that the little trouble with France and Germany might be smoothed over. She therefore invited the German prince and his wife to visit the court of France, and the Prince and Princess Bismarck arrived in great state at the Tuilleries.

That evening there was a grand reception, and Eugenie received the guests in a gown which made her so ravishingly lovely that even Prince Bismarck, German, stolid and in love with his wife, stood and gazed upon her with admiration. And Eugenie was not slow to observe the effect of her beauty upon him. She called him to her side, and Bismarck came with his wife upon his arm.

Now, the Princess Bismarck was tall and gaunt and ugly, and her feet were enormous. As she walked she showed a great deal of sole.

While Bismarck stood talking with Eugenie an audible titter was heard along the line of ladies. Bismarck, who was quick as a flash, followed the glance of their eyes and saw them rest upon the feet of his wife.

That settled the matter. The political history of France was altered from that moment.

A year later, when Paris was besieged, Bismarck himself fired a cannon over the ramparts, and those who were near him heard him snout:

"Take that for the feet of the Princess Bismarck!"

The slight was avenged.

Yachting on Salt.

Save during the rainy season Lake Lefroy, in western Australia, is quite dry. But as the water evaporates as the hot weather approaches a smooth, glassy floor of crystalline salt is deposited. Those living on the shores have found a means of utilizing this.

All boats which sail on the lake when possible are, during the rainy season, fitted with four wheels, and thus are enabled to continue their travels. As Lake Lefroy has an area of 100 miles, and the surrounding country is extremely rough, this means a great saving in expense, labor and time. The speed attained by these wheeled yachts is very considerable, though not quite equal to the pace of the ice yachts so popular in Canada.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Senatorial Stander.

Two ladies visiting in Washington during one of the sessions of congress went to the capitol to hear the proceedings in the United States senate. Most of the galleries being filled, they approached the doorkeeper of the senators' gallery, where admission is by card. As they did not possess this passport, the doorkeeper suggested that they procure one from any senator they might be acquainted with.

"But we do not know any senator," they replied.

"Well, it is very much to your credit," said the doorkeeper. "Pass right in, ladies."—San Francisco Argonaut.

HIGGS & TAFT.

Born in 1797.

Old man Cudjo Nutt, the oldest colored man, and, in fact, the oldest inhabitant hereabouts, was in the city a few days ago. He resides at Old Town, and notwithstanding his extreme age, is yet able to do some work on the farm. The venerable old man is a link with the past. He was born on Christmas day in 1797, and will be 102 years of age if he lives till next Christmas. His hair is as white as cotton and he has lost his teeth but his eyesight is much better than would be expected. He claims that he can yet see to thread a needle. Uncle Cudjo tells us that he well remembers seeing the British soldiers in Wilmington during the war of 1812. When a youth he came here to drive cattle to market, while the red coated soldiers had possession of our city.—Wilmington Messenger.

This Is Enterprise.

Since repairs have been in progress to the river bridge people living on the north side of the river have had considerable trouble about getting over to town. This was particularly bad on the tobacco farmers who wanted to reach the market and get the benefit of the high prices Greenville is paying. Joyner & Hughes, the enterprising proprietors of the Farmers Warehouse, determined that the farmers should be relieved of this trouble. They have had a ferry flat built and put men at the river to run it, and all tobacco farmers are ferried across free of charge. This ferry will be continued as long as the bridge is impassable. Such enterprise is commendable.

WONDERFUL.—One of our subscribers wrote his name and address on a postal card, and simply addressed it to Julius Hines and Son, Baltimore, Md., Department 909, requesting one of their catalogues. By return mail he received an immense book that alone took 17 cents in stamps to carry it, and contained over 10,000 illustrations; quoting the lowest prices on 100,000 articles; embracing everything used in a home; everything necessary for an office; for a public building; for a barn; for a farm; it told all about wearing apparel for men, women and children; it quoted lowest prices on everything to eat, chew and smoke; it told all about Agricultural Implements and Vehicles; and in fact everything except Locomotives, Boats and Live Animals. No home should be without one of these valuable books, as it will save you many dollars on everything you buy in the course of a year. All for a postal—try it.

The Reign of Prosperity.

The work of construction now going on in Charlotte is little less than phenomenal. Every bricklayer and every carpenter is fully occupied, and there is still demand for more. Quantities of bricks have been made, but they have been laid as fast as made and more are wanted. Quantities of lumber have been shipped into Charlotte, but it goes into buildings as fast as it arrives, and more lumber is wanted. In every part of the city new dwellings are going up, and on the business streets blocks of stores and offices are in course of construction. The city was never in so prosperous a condition. It is gratifying, too, that the neighboring towns and cities are enjoying fully as much prosperity in proportion as Charlotte. These are the brightest and most hopeful times the South has known since the civil war.

It is not material prosperity alone that brings all the contentment and satisfaction that prevails. The political and social confusion, semi-anarchy, that succeeded the civil war and lasted in more or less aggravated form for more than a quarter of a century, has been giving way gradually to order and industry. The Northern friends of the negro have almost come to know that the negro needs encouragement to work and be thrifty more than he needs encouragement to assert social rights that he can never attain. The negro himself has also learned to know that there is more happiness in contented labor and in preserving friendly relations with neighboring white people than in fruitless controversy and strife. All in all, the prospects for the people and the country look fair.—Charlotte Observer.
