THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1899.

Alger says he is out of politics, but he talks like a man who is not satisfied with the situation.

We should send teachers to Manila, and not soldiers, says Mr. Bryan. The McKinley Administration responds to this sentiment by calling for ten more regiments of volunteers. The day of reckoning is, however, not far off.

Germany owes it to the world to speak out and tell the name of the real offender in the Dreyfus scandal, and it is believed that she will not permit Dreyfus to be sent back to Devil's Island without revealing the whole truth.

There is going to be no differences over the candidate at the next Democratic National Convention. By that time the party will be united and aggressive, and with it in that shape, there is an excellent chance for victory in the campaign which will follow.

Hobson, who is now at Manila, has suggested to the Navy Department to establish a Yard of Equipment and Repair at that place, but unless we intend to make our new acquisition the base of operations for wars with other nations, we will have no use for a Navy Yard at that place.

American prestige seems to be threatened by the action of Canada in insisting on an outlet from the Klondike on the Pacific coast. And unfortunately for this country, McKinley seems willing to compromise with England and give Canada a free port. It is all she has been working for.

Here is one of the latest stories about Admiral Dewey. They are becoming as numerous as Grant's jokes. It seems that Dewey, on his return from a cruise, was attacked with an abscess of the liver and had to stop over at Malta where he underwent a surgical operation. Some days afterwards one of the surgeons said: "It was too bad, Commander, to rob you of your liver as we did." Dewey replied: "Don't mention it. It gives me great pleasure to think that I shall never be so bilious again as I have been."

The troops in Cuba are coming home. Now, if the Government will only withdraw the United States forces from Manila and permit the Filipinos to set up a Government of their own, we will have shown to the world, that our late war with Spain was a war for humanity and not for territory.

The Sultan of Sulu, one of the Islands of the Philippines, is a bigamist of the worst type, and when Mr. Roberts of Utah takes his seat in Congress next winter, it is on the cards that he will introduce a resolution for an investigation of the cause for the favoritism shown to the Sultan in permitting him to hold on to his wives.

Just at the time when there was a fair prospect of a decrease in the pension appropriations, along came a war with Spain, and now the war in the Philippines, which is adding every day to the pension list, for there are very few soldiers who participated in the Spanish war who have not already filed claims.

6,500,000 Of The Untrified.

I believe now, and have always believed, that Bryan was elected on a fair count of the ballots; but if he was defeated it was by methods forbidden in morals, most corrupt in politics, and utterly subversive of good government—by unprecedented coercing of voters, by wholesale use of boodle, and by such debauchers of the suffrage as made honest men everywhere stand aghast.

But, nevertheless and notwithstanding all the odds we fought, thank God, there were 6,500,000 American freemen who could not be bribed, wheedled, or bullied into voting for the Republican candidates, and our peerless young leader received more votes than were ever before cast for a Democratic candidate for the Presidency and stands forth the foremost statesman of the age.

If we stand courageously and unflinchingly by the great principles enunciated in 1896 we will win a decisive victory for truth and right and justice and representative government, and will earn not only the approval of our own consciences, but the plaudits of lovers of liberty to the remotest generations; but if we abandon these principles, if we permit the time servers, double dealers, and practitioners of expediency to obscure these issues, or shunt them to the rear, we will not only lose but will be "damned to everlasting fame."—Champ Clark.

Pension Roll Decreasing.

The report of Commissioner of Pensions Evans, for the fiscal year ended June 30 last, shows a total disbursement of $138,253,923, leaving a balance of $1,857,188 in the Treasury, out of the $140,000,000 appropriated. The total number of pensioners on the roll June 30th was 991,519, a decrease of 2,195. There were 40,991 names added to the roll and 43,186 dropped.

The report shows the pension roll is decreasing. Of those dropped 34,345 were because of death, and 8,841 because of re-marriage, minors attaining their majority, failure to claim pension and other causes.

The war with Spain brought a total of 16,986 claims, of which number but 295 have been allowed.—Washington Dispatch.

The Philadelphia Press gravely inquires, "What has become of the whistling boy?" The time was, it says, when whistling was an audible expression of every passing mood; grave or gay, and when it was a solace in sorrow, a satisfaction in pleasure and a support in difficulties. Now it is changed and the blithesome whistle of the boy is seldom heard. Anyone who has ever tried to whistle with a cigarette in his mouth will understand the difficulties under which the average American boy labors to sustain the reputation of his forefathers.

Uncle Sam's Only "Tip."

Tips given to Pullman car porters by government employees while performing official duties are considered legitimate charges against Uncle Sam. They are the only tips which are accorded this distinction. This interesting fact has just been gleaned through the display by a government official of a bill of expenses which he intended to present for a recent trip which he made in the service of the government. He exhibited the statement as an evidence of the close manner in which the government did business. He had to present a receipt for every expenditure made, even a receipt from the Pullman car conductor for his berth.

The only item for which there was no receipt was "Tips, 50 cents." When asked what the tips were for, the officer said: "They were tips which I gave to Pullman car porters. The government allows those, but they are the only tips which are allowed. If I tip the waiter at my hotel or the man who carries my bag, the tip comes out of my pocket, but the tipping of Pullman car porters, a quarter for each journey made on a sleeper, is such a recognized custom that the item for such tips is always allowed by the government to officers when traveling on government business."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

How Emery Is Quarried.

Emery comes from the island of Naxos, in the eastern Mediterranean, whence it has been exported for the last two centuries or more. The beds are in the northeast of the island, the deposits descending into some of the neighboring islands, the emery being found in lenticular masses, resting on layers of schist in limestone almost identical with Parian marble, the finest marble known, which comes from the island of Paros, close by.

There are about 300 men engaged in the trade, all of whom have to be married before they are admitted to the fraternity. The material is much too hard to be dug out or even blasted. Great fires are lighted around the blocks till the natural cracks expand with the heat, and levers are then inserted to pry them apart. This system is continued until the blocks are reduced in size to masses of a cubic foot or less, and they are then shipped as if they were coal. There are said to be 20,000,000 tons yet available at Naxos, and the last reported year's export was 3,950 tons. It is one of the hardest substances known.—Ironmongery.

Don't Put a Bird in the Window.

"Never put a bird in the window," said a bird fancier to the reporter the other day. "I rarely go into the street in summer, or even on a mild day in winter, that I do not see unfortunate canaries hung in the windows. Even if the sun is not broiling the brains under the little yellow cap, a draft is blowing all the time over the delicate body. People have been told a thousand times that they must not put a bird in the draft, yet how few remember that there is always a draft in an open window."—Bertha (M.D.) Herald.

The Interest of the Family.

An observant merchant looking about for the means of extending his trade will not fail to keep in mind the fact that it is necessary for him to arouse the interest of the home circle in his wares. Having once attracted the family's attention to his establishment, he is sure to secure its patronage. To obtain this desired result the only really effective means is the judicious use of the advertising columns of a reputable newspaper whose circulation extends into multitudes of homes. There his business announcements will be read, and through them the patronage of the family will be secured.—Philadelphia Record.

I learn that there is a gigantic movement on foot among the negroes against the day of the passing of the constitutional amendment.

Before me I have two printed slips that are being used in a negro night school in East Greensboro. The one reads "For amendment," the other "Against amendment." The negroes are taught to read and write these words in printed shape and to read and write them in "hand-write." They pick up the slips and shuffle them in a hat, and woe unto the dull scholar that can't readily pick out "Against amendment." Incidentally, also, other things are taught at this school, but first, and over and above all things else, there must be familiarity with three words: "For-against amendment."

This, some of the negroes say, is a plan of their own volition; and they propose to have night schools to teach this element of education all over North Carolina—Greensboro correspondent, Charlotte Observer.

Was Drowned From the Hurt Last April.

The Observer at the time recorded the falling overboard from the steamer Hurt, of this city, and drowning near the Navassa Works, in April last, of E. S. Pedneau, of Boykin, Va., who was on his way to accept a position with the Cape Fear Lumber Company at their camp in Bladen county. Monday the body of a man was found in Brunswick river, near the bridge, so badly decomposed that identification was impossible. Yesterday, however, says the Wilmington Star, Mr. F. L. Pedneau, of Jarretts, Va., in response to a telegram, arrived in the city, and, after going over to the river, identified the body by a gold watch and an amount of money taken from the pockets of the clothing as his brother, E. S. Pedneau, of Boydton, Va.—Fayetteville Observer.

Careless Driving.

This morning a colored man with a cart ran into Mr. J. R. Moore's buggy as it was standing in front of a store. The collision frightened Mr. Moore's horse and caused a runaway. His little son was in the buggy and was thrown out, but fortunately escaped injury. The buggy was considerably damaged. The colored man was arrested for his carelessness.

The Right Kind of Persistence.

Persistence is only good when you are in the right. By hanging on to wrong ideas and wrong methods a man can swamp any concern. Be sure your advertising matter and methods are as near right as constant study and good judgment can discern, and then everlastingly go ahead.—The Wheel.
