SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1899.

The New Census and the Old.

It will be interesting to observe the shifting of position of the centre of population and of the centre of manufactures as determined by the next census; for there were unusually violent disturbances in these factors during the interim between 1890 and 1900. The reports of the Census of 1890 are not yet complete, and, judging by the average time consumed heretofore in making the compilations, the last of the old reports will not be published before the first of the new reports will be due. The Patent Office records show that since 1890 a large number of patents have been issued for "computing machines," and it is to be hoped that the labors of the compilers of the Twelfth Census may be lightened and expedited by the use of these labor-saving devices. It is unfortunately true that the latest census, instead of being more accurate than any of those which preceded it, was far more replete with errors, and its value was rendered almost nil both by reason of the inaccuracies and of the long delay in issuing the reports. It is sincerely to be hoped that this important work has now fallen into competent hands, and that it may be prosecuted so faithfully, accurately and promptly that the forthcoming census reports may redeem the reputation of the department.

The cost of the census compilations and publications for 1890 footed up somewhere between four and five million dollars; and the expenditure, large though it was, would not have been begrudged by any one had the returns proved at all commensurate with the outlay. It should not, however, be understood from these criticisms that all of the work of the Census Bureau is bad. Indeed, there is much that is good, and some that is very good; but there was a woeful lack of unity in the direction of the Census of 1890 and of uniformity in the execution of the work—factors so necessary to the securing of a perfect result.—Philadelphia Record.

In the Wrong Place.

Sitting on the bench of the Superior Court Judge Brown is out of place. The Supreme Court of the State is not good enough for him. Where he belongs is on the Supreme bench of the United States. He is decidedly the brainiest man in the legal profession in the State, yea, and beyond its confines.

This is not said in any spirit of "eulogy" or flattery; it is a fact patent to all who know him, and The Record is in the habit of publishing facts.—Greensboro Record.

Senator Carter of Montana, formerly chairman of the Republican National Committee says "that an income tax will soon be enacted for the United States, and then the Republicans will claim the idea as their own.

In such countries as Spain, Italy, Greece, Russia and Turkey the workingman is satisfied to get from 20 to 25 cents a day, and to work from sunrise to sunset. For from $5 to $10 he can furnish a home well enough for him, and the word of his master or his priest limits the horizon of his ambition.

If the Cubans, as stated in the resolutions passed by Congress, "are and ought to be free," the same can be said of the Filipinos, and this nation would suffer no humiliation in acknowledging its adherence to the doctrine that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Madame Henry says her husband committed suicide to save the honor of the French army. It is a pity that about half a dozen or more of the conspirators against Dreyfus were not equally considerate about the honor of the army and their own honor before they got so deep in their infamy.

The Houston Post publishes letters from every county in Texas giving the condition of the cotton crop. The result is that the Post says the crop in Texas will be a decrease of twenty-two per cent from the crop of last year, due to decreased acreage, floods, drought and insects. It is in the face of such statistics as these that the New Orleans "expert" predicts a twelve million bale crop this year.—News and Observer.

Georgia and Florida newspapers have recently been telling of many huge watermelons raised in those States this season. But a melon raised by Mr. W. R. Manning who resides near Valdosta, Ga., seems to be a winner. It was weighed in that town last week and lacked but one-quarter of a pound of weighing 150 pounds. Mr. Manning has raised about twenty melons this season that weighed over 100 pounds each. The 150-pound melon sold in Valdosta for $6.

Not long ago one hundred negroes were sent from Mississippi to work on a railroad in Illinois. The white laborers made things so lively for these negroes that they had to give up all idea of work and most of them struck out for the Illinois State line on foot, in order to avoid being handled roughly. A similar case was reported in New York State recently. Negroes are finding out that the South, after all, treats them better than any other section of the country, says the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer.

If every merchant in all towns in the land, would put up the sign, "No Trust," this year and live up to it and except nobody, every person would be better off next year. Credit accounts should be kept at the bank. If a man has any basis of credit he can borrow of them. The merchants who trust any other kind of men take their chances. People to keep out of trouble must learn to live within their income, and the only way to do this and to avoid financial trouble is to pay as you go. The credit system is a demoralizer and often makes rascals out of honest men. The cash system is the only true and honest way to do business. Business men consider accounts paid every thirty days as cash, and that time is really long enough.—Orange, Va., Observer.

The Methodists of the world are now engaged in one of the greatest enterprises yet undertaken, in the effort to celebrate the closing of the 19th and opening of the 20th centuries by raising as a thank-offering, $25,000,000. At least this is the sum at first proposed, we believe, but so promising is their success that it is now believed the sum which will be raised will reach if not exceed $30,000,000.

In every land where Methodism exists, and it exists in every land almost under the sun, active agencies are at work.

The Northern Methodists propose to make their contribution $20,000,000; Canada $1,000,000, and the Southern Methodists are hard at work to get $1,500,000.

It is a great undertaking, but as we say, the numbers throughout the great jurisdiction have gone to work in earnest, and are confident of success.—Raleigh Post.

It is often asked what the Democrats would do with the trusts if they had the power. In the words of the Nebraska platform "we demand the enforcement of the present Federal law, the enactment of such new legislation as may be necessary, and a constitutional amendment, if the present constitution is construed to protect trusts, to the end that the monopoly of industry by private corporations may be prevented." This clear-cut declaration is in refreshing contrast to the Republican meaningless platitudes.

Sale of Land to make Assets

By virtue of the power vested in me by a decree made in a Special Proceedings in Pitt Superior Court, entitled P. A. Wayne, administrator of Sylvester Cox vs. Lorey J. Wayne, Chas B. Cox, Emma J. Cox and Samuel J. Cox, the undersigned, will on Monday, the 2nd day of October, 1899, before the Court House door in Greenville, expose to public sale to the highest bidder for cash the following described lands to wit: "One certain tract or parcel of land, situate in Swift Creek township and bounded as follows. Beginning at a stake, Argent Smith's Corner, running North to the canal, then up the canal to a stake, thence North 13 poles to a stake, thence East to the back line, thence South to the Causey line thence with the Causey line to a stake, P. A. Wayne's corner, thence North to the road, thence a westerly course with the road to P. A. Wayne's other corner, thence with said Wayne's line to the Hanrahan corner, thence West 132 poles to a stake near a pine, thence with Argent Smith's line to the beginning containing 350 acres more or less. HARRY SKINNER, Commissioner.

A 228 Page Paper.

The News and Observer has issued its mammoth 228 page Twentieth Century State Edition. It is profusely illustrated, and is a complete summary of the Industrial, Educational and Political Life of the State, and a necessity for everybody who wants to know all about North Carolina. The cover is printed in three colors on heavy book paper. It contains a write-up of Greenville.

The edition has been sent broadcast throughout the State, but there is a big demand for extra copies. The publishers will supply additional papers at 25 cents each if newsdealer in your town hasn't it on sale. Orders, accompanied by cash, should be sent in promptly to insure their being filled, as the edition is being rapidly exhausted.

Keeping the Public Informed.

It has been tersely stated that values are put on goods by human desire—a fact which the experienced merchant will keep in mind in connection with his advertising. The demand for certain lines of wares sustains the price of them at a profitable figure; but it is necessary for the tradesman—in order to let the public know where their favorite wares may be obtained. The most effective method of diffusing this information is through the advertising columns of a widely circulated newspaper. The merchant who aspires to success must give publicity to his establishment and his goods.—Philadelphia Record.

A young man was recently drowned in a mill pond in Caldwell county. The pond was drawn off for the purpose of recovering the body, and its owner has brought a bill for $75 against the father of the young man. The point was made that it did not cost over $15 to repair the dam, and the owner, in a card published in The Lenoir News, says it did not cost but $12, but that his mill was stopped while the repairs were being made, and intimates that $75 is little enough for the fish he lost and the other damage sustained. Which goes to show that it takes all sorts of people to make a world and that some of them are a good deal more so than others.—Charlotte Observer.

Protect Your Women.

The assaults on women seems to be on the increase in North Carolina. Even the little children are not spared, two little girls aged 4 and 11 years respectively were assaulted last week in the western part of the state by black brutes.

Our people and especially country residents should be very careful not to allow their wives and daughters to traverse lonely roads by themselves, and also keep your little girls where you can watch them.

Learn your women folks how to shoot a pistol and gun so that when you are away or they are compelled to leave home by themselves they may use them if necessary. If the devils knew they stood in danger of being shot by the women of our country there would be fewer assaults.—Wilson Times.
