Died.

Willie, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Williams, died Wednesday night of typhoid fever. He was about 11 years old and a very bright boy. This is the second child Mr. and Mrs. Williams have lost in the last few months and they have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

The interment was at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Cherry Hill Cemetery, services conducted by Rev. I. A. Canfield.

Hotel Meeting.

All who are interested in the building of a hotel in Greenville are requested to meet in the office of Aycock, Fleming & Moore at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Greenville certainly should have a hotel, the town is losing because of not having one. Attend the meeting tonight and lend your aid to the movement to get one.

First Bale at Ayden.

A telephone message to THE REFLECTOR says that the first bale of new cotton carried to Ayden this season was sold there today by Benjamin Craft. It was purchased by J. R. Smith & Bro. at 6 cents. It was a fine bale.

Elijah Joyner Brought Back.

Wednesday evening Sheriff G. M. Mooring brought Elijah Joyner back from Raleigh where he has been in jail to have him ready for trial at court next week. Joyner is the principal in the Dongola murder and arson that occurred last spring.

On the Ways.

After making her trip down the river on Saturday the steamer Myers will go on the ways at Washington for repairs. There will be only a freight boat to take her place, hence there will be no passenger service on the river next week. It is expected that the Myers will be off her run only one week.

What One Woman Says.

It is generally noticed that the man who preaches economy leaves it to his wife to practice it.

Would women be a bit more satisfied with their choice if they had the option of proposing?

There is not a woman born who wouldn't rather be complimented on her good looks than on her cleverness.

If men would only talk love and not write it, there would be fewer breach of promise suits.

A prominent merchant declares that "the money expended for advertising is the same as if placed on interest." This is the proper view to be taken of advertisements placed in a popular newspaper. Not only is there a valuable return resulting from the profits in wares which may be specified in a merchant's business announcement, but the additional sales made extend and more firmly establish the advertiser's trade. Thus this great medium of communication with the public enables the tradesman to enlarge his sphere of operations and as a consequence to assume a more important standing in the commercial world. The returns for the merchant's outlay in advertising far exceed in value the interest that would be received on the amount of money so expended. —Lumberton Robesonian.

Gen. Joe Wheeler

Is now taking in the situation around Manila. Now let Uncle Sam relieve Otis and give the Old Buttermilk Ranger a half chance and you'll very soon hear the insurgents calling for the calf rope. The name Buttermilk Ranger was given to our cavalry during the '60s. An army to be victorious must have confidence in their leader. Take the record of General Jackson. Why the soldiers under him knew no such thing as defeat, and to just say that Jackson's in the rear was enough to throw consternation in the camp of the enemy. Confidence is just as important in the commercial world, and the mere mention of the name creates a panic in the mercantile arena. We cannot understand how we can always get in the rear of their pites, but this is easily explained. For we have a leader that knows every hog path that leads to the different manufacturing plants of this country, and keeps posted. In this way you see we only buy from first hands, thereby saving the middle man's profit. Our buyer will soon arrived in Greenville and then—

FRANK WILSON

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1899.

Consumption Overtakes Production.

The year 1899 must be set down as a phenomenal one in the varied extent and immensity of the development going on.

This development and prosperity is not limited, it is world wide.

Wars or rumors of troubles of any kind have had no effect in checking the prosperity.

The wave of prosperity in the United States was on when the Spanish war came, but it was not checked in the least, nor has the effect to magnify the Philippines troubles retarded the tremendous business activity of the country.

England's threatened trouble with the Transvaal has not hindered the rush of trade in the British Isles, or impeded India's prosperity. Throughout Africa there is a rush of commerce, while China, Japan and the Orient are exerting themselves to keep up in the prosperous procession.

The old complaint of "over production" is not heard in these days, instead consumers have to check themselves. Great industrial plants have had to shut down because of too much work, and too little material, Contractors with government contracts have had to stop, because of the scarcity of material, and this when every plant possible has been run day and night to produce material for consumption.

Shortage of copper has checked the electrical industry, aluminium being substituted as far as possible to make up the deficiency. New and projected railroad enterprises have been stopped because of shortage and the impossibility to procure materials for construction.

The cry of over production a few years ago, gave the politicians the opportunity to argue that the country's monetary system was wrong, free trade, or protection were to blame.

And yet the financial system is the same, the tariff is unchanged, and the fact remains that while production has increased immensely yet consumption has outdistanced it.

And through it all the city, section or State which has not, and is not gaining during this season of prosperity is radically wrong in some way.—New Bern Journal.

Warned.

"Did I understand you to say something about teachin the young idea how to shoot?" asked a Clay county (Ky.) citizen.

"Yes," answered the man who is interested in the work of education.

"Well, so far as this part of the country is concerned you're workin on the wrong line. What you want to do is to watch the boys at recess and lam the fust one that brings a gun to school with him."—Washington Star.

Lost His Birthmark.

An amusing incident took place at the Grand Central station a few weeks ago. A portly man with clothes of foreign cut, outlandish baggage and a decided German brogue bought a ticket for a western point and then bought a sleeping berth and waited for his train to be announced. As soon as it was called he got into line, occupied much space with all his bags and bundles and made people in front and behind him uncomfortable. He had no sooner reached the platform than he dropped his baggage and freight and pushed his way back into the waiting room, ran up to the police officer and said breathlessly:

"Say, I lost my birthmark."
"Your birthmark? Where was it?"
"Here in my pocket in."
"In your pocket? That's a nice place to have one," said the officer, wishing to humor a crazy man. "How did it look?"

"Red—fool—like all birthmark. I can without it not in the sleep wagon go," and he rushed to the ticket window, where they knew that the German meant berth check when he said birthmark, and the matter was settled to his satisfaction. The crowds had gone through the door, and it was nearly train time when he came bounding back and up to the ticket window, where, with profuse apologies, he told the clerk that he had found his "birthmark."—New York Tribune.

Too Much Realism.

Mme. de Navarro has recorded in "A Few Memories" the greatest lesson she ever received against too much realism. In a certain drama the heroine, under great excitement, suddenly stops to gain composure as she hears the approaching carriages of the guests.

"Hark!" she says. "I hear the wheels of their carriages."
We obtained the effects of approaching wheels, but, try as we would, the stamping of the horses' feet upon the gravel before Clarisse's door we could not manage. At last a brilliant idea struck me, which the stage manager promptly indorsed.

It was that we should have in a donkey from Covent Garden to trot up and down behind the scenes on the gravel especially laid for him. We were decidedly nervous on the first appearance of our four footed friend, whose role was to counterfeit the high stepping horses of the brilliant French court.

When his cue was given, there was only an ominous silence. I repeated the word in a louder voice, when such a braying and scuffling were heard as sent the audience into roars of laughter. Although it was one of the most serious situations of the play, I could not help joining in their mirth until the tears rolled down my cheeks.

An Inviting Gun.

The Hon. William Wortham, long state treasurer of Texas, was in a New York jewelry store one day when he noticed a showcase filled with splendid jeweled revolvers with silver and gold grips and chased barrels, having precious stones set into the butts.

"Lemme see one of those guns," he said to the clerk.
"Which one, sir?"
"The gold one with the big ruby in the handle."

The clerk took it from the case. It was marked $33, and it looked worth even more. The Texan took it tenderly in both hands and held it admiringly up to the light. Then drawing himself up to his full height, which was 6½ feet, he rested the revolver barrel upon his left elbow, crooked for the purpose, and looked over the sights down the long store. Those persons who saw him involuntarily dodged.

"Say," said Mr. Wortham, with quiet but intense enthusiasm, as he returned the weapon. "if I was to wear that gun down in my state the people would be falling down on their knees begging to be killed with it."

A Sure Cure For Howls.

"I say, mamma," said Charlie, who was watching his mamma bathe the new girl baby, "what would happen if you would put her in the bathtub and go away off and leave her to wash her ownself, like me?"

"I'm afraid," said mamma, "that little sister would get water in her mouth and drown."

"Would it fill her all up full with water so she couldn't howl no more?" inquired Charlie.

"Yes, I'm afraid it would," said mamma, pleased with the interest Charlie was taking in his sister's welfare.

"I say, mam," exclaimed Charlie enthusiastically, "let's put her in right away."—Providence Telegram.

He Knew Her.

Von Blumer—How is it you are taking luncheon alone? I thought I saw you going down town with your wife this morning.

Witherby—You did. But she saw something in a window that she wanted to look at, and I told her I would wait outside. I'm going back late this afternoon to catch her as she comes out.—Detroit Free Press.

When a man is calm in a shipwreck, it does not necessarily follow that he is brave. He may be senile.—Detroit Journal.

A Neat Selection.

"That's a nice umbrella you have there."
"Ain't it? Reflects credit on my taste, doesn't it?"
"It certainly does. Where did you get it?"
"Picked it out of a bunch of seven that were standing in the boarding house hall this mornin'."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Work For the Jaws.

John Belzer, a quaint writer of the seventeenth century, recommends the following three dinner rules: Stridor dentium, alium silentium, rumor gentium, which has been humorously translated, "Work for the jaws, a silent pause, frequent ha-ha's."—What to Eat.

WINE OF CARDUI
McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui
has demonstrated ten thousand times that it is almost infallible
FOR WOMAN'S PECULIAR WEAKNESSES,
irregularities and derangements. It has become the leading remedy for this class of troubles. It exerts a wonderfully healing, strengthening and soothing influence upon the menstrual organs. It cures "whites" and falling of the womb. It stops flooding and relieves suppressed and painful menstruation. For Change of Life it is the best medicine made. It is beneficial during pregnancy, and helps to bring children into homes barren for years. It invigorates, stimulates, strengthens the whole system. This great remedy is offered to all afflicted women. Why will any woman suffer another minute with certain relief within reach? Wine of Cardui only costs $1.00 per bottle at your drug store.
For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
Rev. J. W. SMITH, Camden, S. C., says: "My wife used Wine of Cardui at home for falling of the womb and it entirely cured her."

What's The Matter Now?

The fruit trade journals of New York say that the demand for fruit on that market this year is less than has ever before been known. The commission merchants of the big city are unable to dispose of shipments of watermelons from the South and refuse to accept them upon any terms. It is pretty much the same way with California fruit, which has heretofore found a ready market in New York. Hundreds of car loads of melons have been dumped on the Jersey flats because nobody was found willing to pay the freight bill, and the pushers of street fruit carts often dump their loads into the river as the only way to get rid of it. The trade journals are unable to account for this condition of affairs. At the same time, the Southern markets present identically the same peculiarities. Perhaps as many as thirty wagons loaded with watermelons came into Charlotte yesterday, and the farmers who brought the melons here, unable to effect either a wholesale or retail trade, hauled them back home "to feed to the hogs." None of the local dealers seem to be able to account for the situation. One of them says that on Monday of last week a farmer left a load of melons at his store. The dealer was to incur no risk, but was simply to do the best he could for the accommodation of the farmer. He offered the melons at 5 cents each, and when the farmer returned on Saturday they were all there—not a single sale having been made. A peculiar feature about the business is that the local watermelon crop this year is one-fourth short, at least. Last year, when the crop was an unusually large one, the supply was not equal to the demand, and the farmers sold their melons as fast as they could bring them to town. This season, when their crop is short, they haul their melons to market, only to haul them home again. Who can explain this? The Observer confesses that the question is too hard for its nut-cracker, but it is glad to know that the blame cannot be saddled upon the shoulders of the old Sheriff. Not a single owner of an unsold wagon load of watermelons in Charlotte this year can shake his gory locks at Cleveland and say he did it.—Charlotte Observer.

THE FURNITURE MEN

Candidates For Office.

From a recent publication we learn that the number of senatorial self-sacrificing patriots who are willing to sit in Marian Butler's seat, is unusually large. But considering all things it may be a matter for surprise that the number is not greater. To be a U. S. senator with 5,000 a year is not "to be grinned at," especially as the effort to make ends meet each year is becoming more difficult with the passing years. And then, let it be borne in mind Americans naturally take to office as a child to its mother's milk, and like the titles and the court paid by snobs and office hunters. The list is not yet complete perhaps, but at present the following names appear among candidates: Chairman F. M. Simmons, Gen. Julian S. Carr, ex Gov Thomas J. Jarvis, Josephus Daniels, Col. A. M. Waddell, Frank I. Osborne, R. B. Glenn, Locke Craig, and possibly others. The self-sacrificers who may be persuaded to be a candidate for Governor, if solicited by the State Convention, are said also to be numerous. They are given up-to-date as Charles B. Aycock, H. M. Justice, Lock Craig, Robert D. Gilmer, E. W. Pou, Frank I. Osborne, Charles M. Busbee, ex-Chairman Smith, ex-Chairman Manly, and our townsman, Col. Waddell, is named also for the place. He will hardly be a candidate for both places. There will be probably other aspirants in the field in the course of the next six months. You know as a general rule that wherever there is a Barkis he "is willing."—Wilmington Messenger.

ANY MISTAKES

IN STYLES IF YOU TRADE AT THE RIGHT PLACE.

And if this store was not entitled to that designation, we would not be doing the business we do. You are not supposed to be "up" on every late fashion plate and change, but we are.

And we do so keep up to date. It is not enough for us to sell you anything and everything.

We are impelled by business Honesty and Principle to sell you the latest and and most stylish of goods.

This is our duty as progressive merchants and we aim to meet the same —on all occasions.—

Our stock is in style, new style, this season's style.

When you buy here, therefore, be assured of one certain basic fact: you are procuring the latest, you are wearing what was made to wear at just this time, and, therefore, the most fashionable to be had.
