STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

The Greensboro dispensary takes in about $100 a day.

Only five people in Salisbury voted against the bond issue at the election there.

Capt. T. G. Dixon, of Jacksonville, was drowned during the storm Monday night.

John Floyd, of Edgecombe county, got his arm as badly cut in a gin that amputation was necessary.

The Commonwealth says that Scotland Neck handles more Spanish peanuts than any other market in the world.

The Rocky Mount Mills have declared a stock divided to fifty per cent and a semi-annual money dividend of four per cent.

The Supreme court has decided that no part of the $110,000 raised by bonds to pay off the indebtedness of the penitentiary, can be applied to debts incurred since Jan. 1st, 1899.

The State Treasurer has sent out a circular letter to the various telephone companies, of which there are about 75 in the State, calling on them for 2 per cent. tax on gross income. The Henderson Telephone Company throws down the gauntlet to Father Worth, by calling his attention to article 5, section 3, of the constitution, which limits the power of the Legislature in this regard, when the property is taxed. The company says: "We desire to state that our property is returned for taxation according to its true value. We trust this will be regarded as a sufficient answer to your circular."

Big lot of lead pencils, different styles, just arrived at Reflector Book Store.

JOHNSON'S MILLS ITEMS.

JOHNSON'S MILLS, N. C. Nov. 1 Mrs. Lydia Pugh and G. B. Kilpatrick spent Saturday and Sunday in Lenoir county.

Dr. Nobles went to Pactolus yesterday to be present at Dr. W. E. Warren's marriage today.

It rained all day here Monday and at night accompanied by hard wind.

Wess Bland and L. H. Cox left about two weeks ago to attend the convention at Wilson and have not been heard from since. Their families are anxiously awaiting their return.

E. F. Cox attended the Union at Airy Grove Sunday. The next Union goes to LaGrange.

Broke the Furniture.

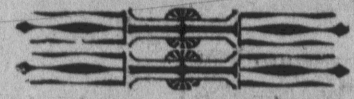

A wagon that had just been loaded with furniture was about to leave town today when the horses tried to run away. The driver stopped them, but a bureau was thrown out of the wagon and badly broken up. Strange as it may seem, the looking-glass was not broken.

A Good Showing.

Mr. D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte seems to know more of matters pertaining to cotton and cotton mills than any one, says in his late book that North Carolina raises 550,000 bales of cotton and manufactures 450,000 bales. With our increase in cotton mills, we will ere long have to draw on some other States to get cotton to run them.—Concord Standard.

Brick sidewalks have just been laid in front of the buildings of J. A. Brady and J. B. Cherry & Co. There are now but a few places to be paved to complete the entire business portion of the street.

The England-South African war is about to knock all the interest out of the scrap between Uncle Sam and the Filipinos.

Great Britain seems to be getting the worst of the war with the Boers in South Africa. On Monday the Boers captured a whole regiment of British soldiers and the occurrence has filled England with consternation.

New Facts on an Old Subject

Charity and Children, the excellent organ of the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville, has a grave editorial in its issue of this week upon the cigarette habit among boys and its effect upon them. It has no doubt that the cigarette destroys five boys where whiskey kills one, and urges its young readers to abstain from them, telling them that they must surrender their manhood or their cigarettes. The advice is most excellent, though we have doubt as to its effectiveness, the better the advice in the most of cases the less likely it is to be taken. In a majority of instances a boy begins smoking cigarettes because he thinks it is manly. Directly it becomes a habit in him, and not being old enough to have developed a strength of character commensurate with the strength of the vice, he fancies that he cannot grapple successfully with it and surrenders to it without a struggle; or else—being always very much smarter at that age than he ever is afterwards—he thinks he knows better than any one else what is good and what bad for him, he sneers at his advisers and will not stop because he does not want to.

There has lately come to the writer's knowledge a very impressive story upon this subject. It is from a gentleman who has recently had personal business with the chief officer in an important Southern city of one of the best known surety and bonding companies in the country. This officer told our friends that his company has bonded some thousands of boys and youths of nineteen years of age and under, who were in positions of trust; that out of the whole number seven hundred have gone wrong, and careful inquiry into the history of each developed the fact that, without a single exception, these seven hundred boys smoked cigarettes. Now this company appends to the other questions to which it requires answers from applicants for bonds, Do you smoke cigarettes?

This is the best possible proof of what many persons have observed, that this habit not only saps the physical constitution, but perverts the moral nature of its victim. The lesson here taught is an awful one. We do not suppose this recital of facts will have any influence upon those whom it is designed to benefit, but it goes for what it is worth.

Counting the People by Machinery.

Our first census, made in 1795, showed the population of the United States to be five million, and the count cost Uncle Sam, who was comparatively poor then, one cent for each person. It is estimated that the twelfth census, to be made in June, 1900, will show that our people number seventy-five million and that the item of clerk hire, in the Census Bureau alone, will exceed five million dollars. Clifford Howard, writing of "How the Next Census Will Be Taken," in the November Ladies' Home Journal, says that "although the work of enumeration will be completed by the first of July, it will probably be two or even three months later before the last of the schedules are received at the Census Office; for not only must they all be first examined by the supervisors, but in many cases they will probably require revision because of some error or informality. The actual counting of the people will not be done until the schedules are turned into the Census Office. The enumerators simply gather the facts, and the office force in Washington does the counting and the compiling, which is done by electricity. In one hundred days all the facts relating to seventy-five million people will be tabulated."

A cable from Paris to The New York Journal—it is just as well to give the authority for so important a statement as this—says that the French authorities and the American, Russian and Spanish representatives there have agreed to request President McKinley to mediate between Great Britain and the Transvaal; and The New York World—equally as bad authority—says that Mr. McKinley has promised to give consideration to a petition it is getting up asking him to become mediator. It may be that neither of these stories is true; each of them has a yellow cast; but it may be said that President McKinley has never had and perhaps will never again have such an opportunity to do a great service to humanity as is open to him now. Doubtless both Great Britain and the Transvaal would accept his mediation gladly and accept uncomplainingly the conclusions which he reached. It is in his power to save many lives and much property, and his doing so would popularize him with his own countrymen while the world would resound with his praises.—Charlotte Observer.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE "NECESSARY" MAGAZINE

The best-informed men and women in the world use the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS to keep well informed, and call it the "necessary" and "indispensable" magazine. In the busy rush of to-day ambitious men and women must know about the important questions of the month, and not only this, they want to know about them at the right time. When the whole country is puzzled over the gigantic combination of trusts, a well-informed article is printed in the AMERICAN MONTHLY, giving the facts, and its editor discusses the theory; when the Dreyfus affair is in everyone's mouth, the best story of Dreyfus and the great case comes out in this magazine.

Every month, in "The Progress of the World," Dr. Albert Shaw gives a comprehensive picture of the world's history during the previous thirty days. In the departments, the valuable articles and books that have been published during the past month are reviewed and quoted from, so that the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY can get the gist of them. In every issue nearly a hundred pictures are printed, including the portraits of the men and women who are making the history of the month.

To be thoroughly well informed helps any man or woman in his or her work. A subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS represents an investment for the best kind of profit, as well as entertainment. One subscriber has just written: "Count me a life subscriber, and when you send me a number beyond the limit of my subscription and secure no renewal from me, consider it a notice of my death."

Price 25 cents per number, $2.50 a year.

A sample copy will be sent on receipt of ten cents in stamps.

Sources of Information.

The person who first remarked: "If you don't see what you want, ask for it!" said a wise thing in a witty way. He could have declared with equal wisdom: "If you don't know where to find the thing you want, the advertisements will tell you just where to get it." The business notices which abound in a first class newspaper are a public necessity. They are no longer mere crude and heavy trade announcements. Through them the advertiser holds chatty converse with his patrons far and near. He entertains and instructs them; he shows them how well equipped he is to supply their wants. But his clever talks in the advertising columns go further—they suggest new needs, and create new desires for useful or ornamental belongings.—Philadelphia Record.

Suit in Court For $1.50.

One of the funniest cases ever tried in Wake county court house was tried there yesterday in the Superior court.

The title of the suit was H. H. Marshburn vs. Gaston T. Powell. The amount involved was $1.50.

Marshburn, who is a country physician, had been called to see a negro in Powell's employ. The doctor was in no hurry about going to the sick negro. In fact he did not go for several hours. When he got there the negro refused to have him. The doctor went away.

Later he presented Powell the bill and Powell refused to pay it. Marshburn sued him and got judgment for $1.50 before Magistrate John Nichols. Powell appealed, and yesterday in court his attorney declared they would take the matter up to the Supreme court before they'd pay that $1.50.

Powell employed Mr. S. G. Ryan as his attorney and Marshburn employed Mr. A. B. Andrews, Jr. And it was the good natured cross-firing and fighting of every point by these two attorneys, taken in connection with the ridiculously small amount involved, that made the case so amusing.

Both lawyers made long speeches on the evidence. The jury brought in a verdict against Dr. Marshburn.—Raleigh News and Observer.
