Store Robbed.

Mr. W. E. Proctor, of Grimesland, while in town today, told us that on Saturday night the store of Mr. Noah Lee, at Grimesland, was broken open and robbed. Mr. Lee carried on a grocery business and a quantity of his stock was taken. The robber got in by prizing open a window with a chisel or crowbar. There were signs that the door and other windows had been tried before an entrance was made.

Factory for Bethel.

Mr. M. O. Blount, of Bethel, who was in town today, told us that the Nansemond Truck & Package Co., of Suffolk, Va., were to establish a branch factory at Bethel. The site has been purchased and work on the plant is ready to begin. Barrels and boxes for shipping truck will be manufactured.

Nearing the End.

The Sheriff of Edgecombe county has loaned a gallows to Sheriff Mooring upon which to hang Elijah Joyner on Friday, 10th. The execution will be public. Joyner has professed religion, and on Saturday was baptized in his cell, three colored ministers being present to participate in the ceremonies.

A Human Hound.

About a year ago a young lady in the eastern part of the county put a mortgage on her land to furnish a young man she was engaged to marry $125 to go to school on. A short time afterward he wrote to her for more money. She did not send it, and the fellow notified her that their contract was off. Yesterday the land was sold by the mortgagee to collect his note.—New-

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

The steamer Neuse that went aground near the mouth of Pamlico river in the big August storm, was floated last week.

Edward Henderson, aged 75, of Mecklenburg county, was crushed to death on Friday by a falling tree. He was standing in his yard looking at the felling of a large walnut tree.

Only One Day More.

Mr. Mahler, of Raleigh, has had quite a number of callers today to see his display of jewelry, silverware, cut glass, diamonds, watches, etc., which he has in the Perkins building. Remember he will be here but one day longer, Tuesday, and you should not miss the opportunity of seeing his magnificent display. He has many things suitable for bridal or Christmas presents, and will take orders for either present or future delivery. We dropped in to see his goods and they are certainly beautiful.

Advertising and Public Confidence.

A very important feature of judicious advertising is the fact that it is convincing. Not only does it furnish the information which the purchasing public wants and needs, but it tends to incite confidence in the advertiser's claims. Confidence of this sort means business; for notwithstanding the idea that the "American people like to be humbugged," they always want the worth of their money. They prefer to buy from the merchant on whose business integrity they can rely, and their confidence is encouraged by good newspaper advertising.—Philadelphia Record.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1899.

Stopped by Eels.

The mill at Shiloh was stopped yesterday by eels. They were making their way from the mill pond to the river and were caught in the turbine wheel. The small ones passed through without difficulty. Some of the larger ones were cut in pieces in the attempt and finally so many large ones found their way into the wheel at the same time that it stopped turning.—Tarboro Southerner.

The following is the up-to-now marriage ceremony; "Young lady, will you promise to take this helpless young gosling you hold by the hand and see that he wants for nothing? Will you guarantee to stand by him when he is sick, provide him with a good suit of clothes twice a year, and always see that his supply of stovewood is dry and convenient until the divorce courts shall intervene? If you feel like undertaking a little matter like that, deposit $20 with me as a guarantee he will be well taken care of, and take the gosling and light out. Amen."—Orange, Va., Observer.

The City Council of Atlanta, Ga., recently passed an ordinance making it unlawful to bet on horse or other races in that city, and Mayor Woodward vetoed it. He said that the ordinance as constructed was liable to be used maliciously, and incidentally he referred to the evils of bucket shops and said that the injury accomplished by the letting of horse racing amounts to practically nothing when compared to the legalized and respectable form of gambling known as dealing in futures.

In Boston the other day a man who had been arrested on a charge of nonsupport was fined $20, and his neglected wife secured his release by paying that amount. Under the provision of the law relative to such cases which provides for the payment of the amount of the husband's fine to the wife, however, the sum was promptly refunded to the woman, and the pair left the Court rejoicing.

The Chicago woman who insisted upon spanking her husband once or twice every twenty-four hours is suspected of being insane. No opinion has been expressed as to the sanity of the spanked. But that's the way it goes. Whenever a woman wants to take a little exercise, or recreation out of the ordinary way, her sanity comes under suspicion.—Wilmington Star.

An illustration of the great increase in the price of steel rails was given last week when rails which had been lying for several years on a private and disused railway in Georgia, which cost originally $39,000, were sold for $56,000 cash. In spite of the present high prices of steel rails, orders are so heavy that the mills can hardly keep up with them. Orders for railway cars are far in advance of the supply or the capacity for early production. One concern, a combination of fourteen plants, has received orders for 21,000 freight cars within a week, to cost over $20,000,000 in the aggregate.—Franklin Times.

Well we have heard of artificial eggs, though we never saw one, but now somebody has beat that and has gone to making artificial oysters. They get the genuine shell, second hand, and paste the oysters in. With the oyster seasoning they are said to rival the genuine oyster. Editor Furman of the Morning Post, from whom we get the idea, says that these imitations are to supply the lack of the genuine at the World's Fair at Paris next year. They have already prospectively soured on his stomach and now he says he knows he won't go at all.—Concord Standard.

At Wilmington federal court, Thursday, seven cases for violation of the new revenue law were disposed of. The charge was for issuing orders for the payment of money or its equivalent without affixing a war revenue stamp. In each case pleas of "nolo contendere" were entered and the court ordered that each defendant pay the costs in their case and that no district attorney's fee be taxed against them. The cost in each case less the district attorney's fee, will be from $17 to $22. The offence was that these men, who are cotton farmers, gave orders to four hands on neighboring merchants for the payment of wages due.

Was Sorry He Spoke.

It was an open "experience meeting," and Brother Jones arose and said: "Bretherin', I'm the man that put water in the milk!" "And, I'm the man that drew the water for him," said Brother Brown, penitently. "An, I'm the woman that milked the cow, and knowed all about it, sobbed Sister Jones. An' here's the man," said a loud voice from the rear, "that sold 'em the cow an' hain't got paid for it yet!" Then Brother Jones was sorry he had spoken, and was overheard to mutter, as he reached for his hat, "Never did believe in these experience meetin's nohow!"—Atlanta Constitution.

The law requires all who qualify as administrators or executors on estates to publish a notice of the same in a newspaper. By failing to comply with the law you run risk of having a suit on your hands at any time in the future, brought by some creditor of the estate who will claim that he did not receive notice that the estate had been administered on. The Supreme Court has decided this in several cases allowing creditors to bring suit after the estate has been closed up, because the failure of the administrator or executor to give lawful notice. The cost of publishing the notices comes out of the estate, but if you fail to publish it the cost of the future suit may come out of you or your bondsmen. People who buy land from administrators or executors who have not complied with the law run the risk of having the land taken from them to pay old debts of the estate.—Murfreesboro Index.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE "NECESSARY" MAGAZINE

The best-informed men and women in the world use the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS to keep well informed, and call it the "necessary" and "indispensable" magazine. In the busy rush of to-day ambitious men and women must know about the important questions of the month, and not only this, they want to know about them at the right time. When the whole country is puzzled over the gigantic combination of trusts, a well-informed article is printed in the AMERICAN MONTHLY, giving the facts, and its editor discusses the theory; when the Dreyfus affair is in everyone's mouth, the best story of Dreyfus and the great case comes out in this magazine.

Every month, in "The Progress of the World," Dr. Albert Shaw gives a comprehensive picture of the world's history during the previous thirty days. In the departments, the valuable articles and books that have been published during the past month are reviewed and quoted from, so that the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY can get the gist of them. In every issue nearly a hundred pictures are printed, including the portraits of the men and women who are making the history of the month.

To be thoroughly well informed helps any man or woman in his or her work. A subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS represents an investment for the best kind of profit, as well as entertainment. One subscriber has just written: "Count me a life subscriber, and when you send me a number beyond the limit of my subscription and secure no renewal from me, consider it a notice of my death."

Price 25 cents per number, $2.50 a year.
A sample copy will be sent on receipt of ten cents in stamps.

The Coming Winter.

A weather prophet predicts that the coming winter will be a mild one for the following reasons: "The husks on the corn are thinner than usual, and this is taken as a sure indication of warm weather until late in the winter. Birds that go south with the first approach of winter have begun repairing their nests built this spring, showing they will stay in this region until late in the fall. The fur of the chipmunk and squirrel, which is heavy just previous to a hard winter is found to be thin."

In addition to this, on our own account, we notice that persimmons are scarce, some trees having no fruit at all. 'Coon grapes, however, are plentiful. The mast in the woods is not great, and Nature seems to have made light provision for the birds and beast.—Ex.
