WILL HANG TOMMORROW.

Preparation for the Execution Completed.

It must be an awful feeling for a man to know the exact day of his death and to realize the near approach of that day as he sits and counts the hours passing swiftly by. Such is the condition of Elijah Joyner as he awaits the hour of execution for the horrible crime committed last April when he murdered Mr. R. C. Turnage and burned the store of Mr. T. L. Turnage.

The gallows has been put up and everything is in readiness for the execution tomorrow. The gallows is located near the river at the foot of Reade street, and the condemned man will be hanged sometime near noon tomorrow. Sheriff Mooring has selected a guard of about fifty men to be present and preserve order. So far the people of Pitt county have restrained themselves under the entire excitement, and we are sure they will let the law quietly take its course to the end. There should be no demonstration and no disturbance on the day of execution.

Today a REFLECTOR reporter went to the jail and talked with the condemned man. He said he had written a history of his life and given it to the minister who baptised him, but there was nothing now that he wished to say. He said he felt sad over his crime and his near end, but that he believed God had pardoned him.

They Would Not Haul It.

Sheriff Mooring borrowed from the Sheriff of Edgecombe county a gallows upon which to hang Elijah Joyner. When the gallows reached the depot here the negro draymen were afraid of it and would not haul it. Finally one was found to move it but he has been scared about it ever since.

Companion Stories for 1900.

The stories published in The Youth's Companion portray the manly and womanly virtues with no sacrifice of interest or vitality, and they appeal to the sympathies of old and young alike. During 1900 The Companion will offer special series of stories—among them being stories of Former Political Campaigns and Adventures of Linemen.

Besides these there will be a score of stories for girls by such writers as Sarah Orne Jewet, Mary E. Wilkins, Margaret Deland, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Edith Wharton, Kate Chopin and Margaret Sangster. There will be four serial stories—"A Prairie Infanta," by Eva Wilder Brodhead; "Running a Merry-Go-Round," by Charles Adams; "The Schoolhouse Farthest West," by C. A. Stephens; and "Cushing Brothers," by Bay Stannard Baker. In addition there will be two hundred other short stories by the most gifted of American writers of fiction.

All new subscribers will receive The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1899 free from the time of subscription, and then for a full year, fifty-two weeks, to January 1, 1901; also the Companion's new Calendar for 1900, suitable as an ornament for the prettiest room in the house.

Illustrated Announcements Number containing a full prospectus of the volume for 1900 will be sent free to any address.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
203 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

A cotton mill, controlled by colored people and to be operated by colored labor, has about been completed at Concord and will be in operation, it is expected, by the first of the year. There will be 7,000 spindles and 150 looms. Warren Coleman, colored, the president, says 350 operatives will be employed with two white bosses and one colored boss.

At Waynesville Friday J. C. Courtney gave a colored man his pistol and instructed him to clean it, thinking that all the balls had been removed from the chambers. Mr. Courtney was mistaken. He was shot in the hand and the poor coon who was doing the cleaning caught the ball in his mouth. He spat it out and with it two teeth. The negro's wounds may prove serious.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c. All drug stores.

Attention Pythians.

Business of importance will demand your attention at the meeting Friday night and every member should be present.

After the meeting a supper will be served at Hotel Macon, to which each member is expected to take a lady.

A fairly well informed farmer in remarking recently on the improved condition of the farmers and others, said one of the reasons for it is the economy which the people generally have been practicing for the past year or two. He said especially of the farmers that they have learned to save more and make more for themselves. This is true and the farmers who have made their own supplies are everywhere in easier condition than those who have depended upon some money crop with which to supply their tables and their farms. The South is a great country, North Carolina is a great state, and this ought to be one of the most independent sections of the State, and we believe it is.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

There are some things the Pennsylvania farmer will stand and some things he won't. It was all right when two men the other day took refuge from a storm in an old granger's barn, but when he found them taking liberties with his cider barrel, which they tapped, he just went to his house, got his gun and winged them both before they got away.

The Forgotten Store.

It is characteristic of the American people that while they are more or less lavish in the adornment of their homes, and in ministering to their family needs and comforts, they are not inclined to pay extortionate prices. That is, to say, they demand the worth of their money. It is this controlling sentiment of self preservation financially which impels them to turn to the advertising columns of a reliable newspaper for information as to goods and prices. Many intending purchasers may have a favorite store in mind; but if there be no business announcements to tell of it, while scores of other establishments are extensively and alluringly advertised, that one particular store is certain to be ignored.—Philadelphia Record.

No Advertising, No Business

Doubtless there are merchants and manufacturers who have not much faith in the efficacy of even the best and most entertaining sort of newspaper advertising. They cannot, of course, know its real value until they shall have tried it. Yet if these same placid mortals should take the trouble to look around them and compare the extent of their business with that of persistent and extensive advertisers they might, upon reflection, see the uselessness of trying to keep pace with the onward march of trade without publicity. Good advertising brings patronage and wealth.—Philadelphia Record.

THE "NECESSARY" MAGAZINE

The best-informed men and women in the world use the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS to keep well informed, and call it the "necessary" and "indispensable" magazine. In the busy rush of to-day ambitious men and women must know about the important questions of the month, and not only this, they want to know about them at the right time. When the whole country is puzzled over the gigantic combination of trusts, a well-informed article is printed in the AMERICAN MONTHLY, giving the facts, and its editor discusses the theory; when the Dreyfus affair is in everyone's mouth, the best story of Dreyfus and the great case comes out in this magazine.

Every month, in "The Progress of the World," Dr. Albert Shaw gives a comprehensive picture of the world's history during the previous thirty days. In the departments, the valuable articles and books that have been published during the past month are reviewed and quoted from, so that the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY can get the gist of them. In every issue nearly a hundred pictures are printed, including the portraits of the men and women who are making the history of the month.

To be thoroughly well informed helps any man or woman in his or her work. A subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS represents an investment for the best kind of profit, as well as entertainment. One subscriber has just written: "Count me a life subscriber, and when you send me a number beyond the limit of my subscription and secure no renewal from me, consider it a notice of my death."

Price 25 cents per number, $2.50 a year.

A sample copy will be sent on receipt of ten cents in stamps.

Another Day Set.

At the April term of Pitt Superior court Lorenzo Brown was convicted of rape and sentenced to be hanged in July. An appeal was taken to the Supreme court and at the September term of that court the opinion was handed down that no error was found in the trial by the lower court. In compliance with this decision Governor Russell has written a letter to Sheriff Mooring setting the 26th day of January, 1900, as the day upon which to carry out the sentence of execution. We understand that an effort will be made to have the sentence changed to life imprisonment.

W. P. Reed, of Rowan county, was found dead in a corn crib. He had taken too much whiskey at a corn shucking.
