ODD FELLOWS MEMORIAL.

Interesting Service in The Methodist Church.

It was a most interesting service held in the Methodist church, Sunday night, under the auspices of the Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebekah. The members of both orders attended in a body and occupied seats in the front of the congregation. In the opening exercises the names of Dr. J. P. Brown, Mr. Cornelius Stephens and Miss Lizzie Foley were mentioned as the members of the orders departed during the past year, and in whose memory these services were held. This was followed with Scripture reading and fervent prayer offered by Rev. J. N. Booth.

The sermon was preached by Rev. J. B. Morton, his text being "We do all fade as the leaf. He drew many thoughtful lessons from Nature as manifested in the fading of the autumn leaves and compared this to human lives. He pictured how the leaves fade variously, how they fade gradually, how they fade gloriously, and gave illustrations of life to compare with each. His tribute to the declining years of old age that followed a well spent life was eloquent and beautiful as he compared these to the leaf that faded in richest autumnal glory.

Mrs. J. B. Cherry sang a beautiful solo while a Thanksgiving collection was being taken for the Odd Fellows' Orphanage at Goldsboro. The collection amounted to about $17 which will be supplemented by a good donation from the two lodges.

Capt. H. F. Price, the well known civil engineer of this city leaves on Monday to survey a railroad line between Greenville, in Pitt county, and Vanceboro, in Craven county.—Goldsboro Argus.

Credit to the Town.

While in Greenville Saturday morning Capt. N. L. Shaw, of Warrenton, told THE REFLECTOR that he had been in very near every town of much note in North Carolina, but nowhere in the State had he seen so handsome a store as the one Mr. C. T. Munford has erected here.

Another of Our Needs.

A man remarked in our hearing the other day: "I never before saw a town as large as Greenville in which you could not get a bushel of corn ground into meal." This reminds us to say that a grist mill would be a good enterprise here.

Died.

Mr. Peter F. Forbes died Sunday morning at the home of his father, Mr. Arthur Forbes, three miles below town. He had been sick only a few days, having taken his bed with pneumonia last Wednesday. The burial took place today near the Forbes mill. Deceased was a brother of Mr. W. L. Forbes.

Mayor's Court.

This Monday morning Mayor Moye had no docket to demand the attention of his court. Since last report he has had the following cases:

Louis Atkinson, drunk and disorderly and indecent exposure, fined $1 and costs, $4.50.

Pansy Harris, drunk and disorderly and reckless driving, fined $1 and costs, 4.15.

George White, riotous and disorderly and using profane language, fined $2.50 and costs, $5.25.

Joseph Rawls and M. H. Quinerty, disorderly and affray, recognized for their appearance at January term of Superior court, deadly weapons having been used.

Earnings at Law.

It has been said that ex-president Harrison's fee in the Venezuelan boundary case will be $250,000. That this is an immense amount of money to earn in two and a half years—just $100,000 a year, as I understand he abandoned all other practice for the time being. It is said that Joseph H. Choate, Jas. C. Carter, Elihu Root, Frederic R. Coudert, Benjamin F. Tracy, John M. Scribner, Francis L. Stetson, John M. Bowers, William Nelson Cromwell, John J. McCook and John F. Dillon make from $50,000 to $200,000 a year as a regular thing. The lawyer who makes $100,000 a year is earning 5 per cent. on $2,000,000. O. A. Lochrane resigned a chief justiceship to become the chief of general counsel for Pullman's Palace Car Company at a salary of $50,000 a year. Rush Taggart gets a big wage as solicitor of the Western Union. Parsons must make at least $50,000 a year out of the Sugar Trust and Dillon cannot receive much less from the Manhattan railroad.—New York Press.

The Most Effective Means.

"The eye of the master fattens the horse" is a Spanish adage which means that the man who is watchful of his own interests will soon find them grow more valuable. Fame may be acquired in an hour, and the speculator may become wealthy in 60 minutes; but in the real world, for instance, success does not come without labor and watchfulness on the part of the tradesman. The horse which he must fatten is his business; his aim should be to make it grow. Among all the devices at his command by which to increase his trade none is so far reaching, sure and effective as interesting newspaper advertising—a fact which the experience of every successful business man attests.—Philadelphia Record.

"Here is a problem for the children in the public schools," said a gentleman today. "A man died leaving three sons, A, B, and C, and a will providing that A. should receive 1/3 of his estate, B. 1/4 and C. 1/6. But his estate consisted entirely of 11 horses and how could A. get half of 11 horses. So A., B. and C. went to a livery stable and borrowed a horse so that they then had 12 horses. Then they began dividing up and A. got his 1/3 which was 4, and was satisfied because half of 12 is more than half 11. B. took his 1/4 which was 3, and C. his 1/6 which was 2 and then after each had received more than he expected they had one horse left. This was the horse they had borrowed, so he was returned to the livery stable, and each son went away with more than he expected."

To say "it's nobody's business" is a favorite way people have of disposing of objections made to something they are doing or contemplating doing. Sometimes it isn't and sometimes it is. A holiness preacher recently held forth in Alexander county and if anybody had objected he would have thought and perhaps said that he had a right to hold his meetings and preach the Gospel and it was nobody's business except his own and that of those who went to hear him. But two sisters went crazy under his ministrations, and The Statesville Landmark of yesterday says that one of them has just been taken to the State Hospital at Morganton, and so this Alexander county meeting becomes the business of everybody in North Carolina.—Charlotte Observer.

Last year The Post suggested to the farmers of this State that broom corn could be profitably cultivated in this State. Until recently the crop sold for from $50 to $60 per ton, and there was some profit at that price. Now it has gone up to $140 to $160 per ton, and is in demand at that price, with the supply short. Suppose our farmers had taken the advice of The Post last spring and could each now send to market some tons of this useful commodity, it would be extra "money" in their pockets which would prove very comfortable. We do not advise any one to quit everything else next year and go into broom corn, but a few acres in addition to other crops will help even up returns certainly.—Raleigh Post.

The Physician and the Newspaper.

There is no nobler profession than that of the physician and surgeon, as there is none more absolutely necessary. The good he does—and they are manifold, every day, every hour—the triumphs of his marvelous skill, should be made known to the world through the world's present medium of information—the daily newspaper, for the encouragement and comfort of mankind, for distribution of the knowledge that in the medical profession men have a body of scientists and philanthropists on whom they may rely, under any and all circumstances, for alleviation, and often the absolute cure, of the ills that flesh is heir to. The newspaper is for the doctor, as well as for the lawyer, the minister of the Gospel, and all other classes of men.—Richmond Dispatch.

Clothed With Power. He was a little mouth, but was a great traveler. He had just returned from the wilds of central Africa, where he had been clothed with all the royal titles of that savage region, and was being honored in the swaggar drawing rooms of Belgravia.

"Do tell us about the queen of Boorabooloo," said the Duchess of Loamshire. "Is she clothed with great power?" "Your grace would think so," he replied. "If you were to see her six nigger maids of honor lacing her corsets."—Pick-Me-Up.

Sure He Was Irish. "Why do you think this man who almost drove over you was Irish?" "Because I threatened to lick him." "Well?" "Well, instead of driving on about his business, he got down from his wagon and wanted to fight."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Good and Bad Eels. "So you think that little eels are sweet and that big eels are rank and strong, do you?" said a fish dealer. "Well, you're off. It isn't the size of the eel that governs his taste. It is his habitation and way of life. But most people think as you do, and throw away the big eel and cook the little one, and then, if the little fellow is strong, they think it is because he wasn't little enough. Nothing could be further from the truth. "The eel that inhabits a stream with a hard, clean, sandy bottom is sweet and edible, be he as big as your leg or tiny as your finger, for this eel finds food scarce, and he must exercise and keep sober and hustle—else he will starve—and this active career makes him healthy and wholesome. But the eel that lives in the mud, where provisions are plentiful, is unfit for the table, for his life is sluggish, his habits and organs are bad and his flesh, when cooked, tastes and smells of the muddy element. That is why the Schuykill eel is worse than carrion for table purposes, while the eel of the upper Delaware makes a dainty dish."—Philadelphia Record.

More Miles Than You Can Count. Statements as to the distance of the pole star from the earth which have appeared in some of the newspapers lately have been ridiculously inadequate. One of the estimates made is 255,000,000 miles. Now, if one will remember that the sun is 93,000,000 miles away and that its light comes to us in eight minutes, he will see that if the foregoing estimate of the distance of the pole star were right its beams could reach us in about 15 days. It would be only about 2,700 times as far off as the sun. Light travels 6,000,000,000,000 miles in a year, and even the most modest guesses as to the parallax of Polaris make it 35 light years. Pritchard's estimate in 1887 was 90 light years, but he has since modified his figures. Hence, if one will write 210 and add 12 ciphers thereto he will have the number of miles which the most conservative authorities believe intervene between the earth and the pole star.—New York Tribune.

Shakespeare's Father. A paper entitled "Shakespeare and Sanitation" was read at the recent provincial meeting of the Incorporated Society of Medical Officers of Health at Stratford-on-Avon. Among other things the author related the following: "It is interesting to find that the name of John Shakespeare, the father of the poet, first appears in the records of the municipality as owing a fine of twopence for having made a dirt heap with his neighbors, Adrien Quincy and Henry Reynolds, in Henly street, and on another occasion he 'stood amerced' in fourpence for failing to keep his gutter clean."

None Better Than All. Miss Gingham—And I suppose they have bargain days in Glasgow, Mr. McIvor? McIvor—Ma conscience, no! It wad na do ava! Miss Gingham—Indeed! Why, I thought bargain days would just suit your people! McIvor—That's juist it. It would suit them ower weel. If they had bargain days, naebody wad buy anything on the ither days, ye ken!—London Telegraph.

An Unexpected Answer. In the course of an address Dr. Conan Doyle told a quaint experience of his in the Sudan. Wishing to find out whether one of the black soldiers was a Mohammedan or a pagan, he asked him, "Whom do you worship?" "I worship my colonel," came the answer, pat. The lessons of history would suggest to a Sherlock Holmes, that the man was a Mohammedan.

Only One Fault. "There's only one fault to be found with your comedy work, old man," said the dramatic critic. "What's that?" asked the aspiring young actor. "It's tragic."—Chicago Post.

Costs Not Allowable.

Attorney General Walsor yesterday gave an important opinion in the matter of costs in cases before the grand jury. The opinion was given in reply to a letter from W. W. Barber of Wilkesboro. It is as follows:

"In reply to your letter of October 30, requesting an opinion relative to costs in certain cases, I will say that only in instances specified in the Code, section 739, are witnesses entitled to one-half their lawful fees. As costs are matters entirely of statutory regulation in this State and as I am not aware of any statutes whereby witnesses are allowed half fees, where the grand jury ignores the bill, either in cases of a presentment or warrant upon which the bill is sent and ignored by the grand jury, I am of the opinion that such costs are not properly allowable."—Raleigh Post

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks Almanac

There is no comparison between former editions, and this splendid Almanac for 1900, now ready. Printed in beautiful colors, on much finer paper, its 196 pages are packed with invaluable information on storms, astronomy and meteorology. It is illustrated with nearly 200 finest half tones and other engravings. This superb book would sell anywhere for fifty cents, but it costs only 25c a copy, and every subscriber to Rev. Irl R. Hicks' now famous paper, Word and Works, at $1.00 a year, receives this elegant Almanac as a premium. Word and Works is a recognized leader among the best family and scientific journals, while nothing of its kind can compare with the Hicks Almanac. One dollar a year is a nominal price for such unique and useful publications. Professor Hicks has justly, and of necessity, withdrawn his storm and weather forecasts from all free almanacs, having generously given his time and labor free for nearly twenty years. STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

A notably fine collection of North Carolina tobacco has been made for display at Paris next year.

W. E. Smith, a Halifax county farmer, this year raised 630 bushels of Spanish peanuts on eight acres.

The engagement of Miss Lalla, second daughter of Gen. J. S. Carr, of Durham, to W. F. Patton, of Pennsylvania, is announced.

The man Jefferson, who murdered Capt. Barnes, of Wilson, and who was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged, has been granted a new trial.

A distressing affair occurred near Johnstown Friday. A 5-year old son of Hamp. Queen, during the absence of its parents, got hold of a jug of whiskey and drank a considerable quantity of it. It fell into a stupor from which it was impossible to arouse it, and died the next day.—Lincolnton Journal.

Happily Married.

On Wednesday morning last at 7:30 o'clock there was a happy marriage solemnized in our town at the home of the bride's father. Mr. Jos. Tucker, on Third street, the contracting parties being Mr. W. A. Bowen and Miss Loula Tucker, Rev. M. T. Plyler, of the M. E. church, officiating. Mr. Bowen is a native Plymouth boy, but now a prosperous business man of Greenville. The bride is the eldest daughter of our Chief of Police, and is not only beautiful—as all brides are—but is one of the most popular and accomplished young ladies ever raised in our town.

The marriage was simple in the extreme, there being no invited guests except two or three immediate friends, the only ones from outside the town being Mr. B. J. Pulley, Mr. Bowen's partner in business, and Miss Hattie Harrell, of Williamston.

Directly after the ceremony, the bride and groom were driven to the A. C. L. depot where they entered the train for a trip to Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia, Washington City, and other points after which they will return to Greenville to make their future home.

Our most hearty congratulations are theirs.—Plymouth Beacon.

ELMWOOD HEATERS

ARE THE BEST MADE, AND ARE FIT COMPANIONS FOR

We have just received a car load of this famous Heater and can fit any room whether 10-10 or 30-100. Old folks watch the Red and White waggon, where others buy is a good place for you to buy.

THE FURNITURE MEN

Commercial activity often consists in the ability to dodge a creditor.

A woman doesn't have to ride a bicycle to run down another woman. The tight-rope walker always goes in the straight and narrow path.

It seems as though a football team, with a good, strong college yell, ought to be able to about end that war in the Philippines.

Some men are so brilliant that it seems impossible to think of them as having been born without the ability to either read or write.

Don't always blame the postal authorities for delays. There are mails and males, as all women who intrust letters to their husbands know.

We are in the store near Five Points, one door below REFLECTOR office. Send us your orders for Oysters. LEWIS & GASKILL.

Sickness at State Normal.

THE REFLECTOR hears from a private source that three deaths have recently occurred among the pupils of the Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, and that there are upwards of a hundred cases of sickness, mostly malarial fever. Our informant, who was giving particulars as contained in a letter from one of the pupils, said the condition had become such that it was thought advisable to temporarily close the school. The last death to occur there was Miss Abby Deans, daughter of Mr. A. B. Deans, of Wilson.
