GREENVILLE'S THANKSGIVING

The Day Properly Observed.

Greenville has spent another enjoyable Thanksgiving Day. The weather was beautiful and the people entered heartily into the observance of the day. The stores and other places of business were closed the entire day, the barrooms being the only exception. The town wore very much of a Sunday appearance. The orphans of the State will have cause to be glad of this Thanksgiving in Greenville, for wherever the opportunity was given liberal donations were made to the orphanages.

In both the Baptist and Episcopal churches appropriate services were held in the morning. At the Baptist church a collection was taken for the Thomasville Orphanage amounting to $22.70. At the Episcopal church a collection for the Thompson Orphanage amounted to $8.

At night union services were held in the Methodist church where short talks were made by Revs. I. A. Canfield, J. N. Booth and N. M. Watson and Prof. W. H. Ragsdale. Besides the full choir anthems and congregational singing there were solos by Mrs. J. B. Cherry and Miss Howell, of Goldsboro. The collection for the Methodist Orphanage amounted to $21.75.

The Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebekah sent their Orphanage at Goldsboro $40.

The Masons sent their orphans at Oxford $30.35 in cash and a box of clothing.

Greenville is always generous and we believe these people are better for having spent Thanksgiving as they did and for liberally remembering the orphans.

A Smile in Each.

The average married man begins to economize by cutting down his wife's allowance.

A public office may be a public trust, but, unlike most trusts, it is by no means a monopoly.

When a woman takes a man for better or worse she has only herself to blame if she gets the worst of it.

The Bible tells us to love our neighbors as we love ourselves. But there were no apartment houses when the Bible was written.

COLUMBIAN DANCE

The Most Pleasant Yet Given.

The annual dance under the auspices of the Columbian Club, given in the opera house Wednesday night, was decidedly one of the most pleasant occasions ever given in Greenville. The music was furnished by Victor Reale's orchestra and was a delightful feature of the dance.

The German was led by Curtis Gary with Miss Sallie Cotten, the following couples participating:

Miss Olive Joyner, of Baltimore, with Chas. Harper.

Miss Winnie Skinner with Orren Neal, of Danville.

Miss Louise Latham with H. P. Strause.

Miss Bruce Forbes with J. E. Starkey.

Miss Mary Blow with Haywood Dail.

Miss Maud Blow with Nat Ful-ford, of Washington.

Miss Dorothy Carr, of Castoria, with C. S. Forbes.

Miss Pat Skinner with Wayne Mitchell, of Kinston.

Miss Bettie Tyson with Henry Harper of Kinston.

Miss Mary Belle White with Chas. O'Hagan.

Miss Helen Perkins with Frank Tyson.

Miss Nanie Moye, of Kinston, with Jarvis Sugg.

Miss Ophelia Howell with Harry Fox.

Miss Julia Howell, of Goldsboro, with J. D. Garden.

Miss Ada Wooten with B. V. Goodman, of Richmond.

Miss Blanche Flanagan with James Davenport.

Miss Lillian Cherry with John Adams.

Miss Dot Flanagan with Julius Fleming.

Stags.—C. W. Hollowell and W. E. Wood, of Elizabeth City,

Will Carr, of Wilson, McNeave, Philadelphia, Taylor, of Richmond, and Moore, of Greenville.

Chaperones.—Mesdames Chas. Skinner, E. B. Ficklen, J. L. Fleming, E. G. Flanagan, H. W. Whedbee, Harry Skinner A. L. Blow R. A. Tyson and H. Strause.

Uniforms for the Band.

The Osceola Band is taking subscriptions to purchase uniforms for the members. And from the way responses are coming in it looks like the boys will soon be in their suits. We already have the best band in the State and it ought to be uniformed.

As we went to press sooner today the close of the New York market is not given but the 2:30 quotations instead.

A STOCK IN TOUCH WITH NATURE'S REQUIREMENTS.

Suits and Overcoats.

Our stock was never so large and attractive as at the present time, innumerable additions having been in the last few days made thereto, and the prices are certainly not the least tempting feature. We are showing and selling suits that cannot be duplicated at the figures asked, that combine fascinating style with thoroughly dependable service. Every one is perfect in fit—substantial linings—careful finish—choice material. They are cut in the best approved mode and there is enough of them to give you the assurance of the neatest possible fit. If you aim to be dressy, neat and in style, do not pass us by.

STYLISH - ✦ - STYLISH.

No need to make any mistake in this line. If this store was not entitled to that designation, we would not be doing the business we do. You are not supposed to be "up" on every late fashion, but we are. We are impelled by business honesty and principle to sell you the latest and most stylish goods. This is our duty as progressive merchants, and we aim to meet the same on all occasions.

Our stock is in style—new style—this season's style. When you buy here be assured of one certain fact—You are procuring the latest, you are wearing what was made to wear just at this time, and therefore the most fashionable to be had.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER, 1, 1899

His Corpulency Daniel L., De-cayed Baylus, Hallelujah Air and the rest of the Radicals are very much exercised because the Supreme court's keep-radicals-in-office decision has been shown to have no law to stand upon. They say "This criticism of the courts is anarchy." If so, every man in the State who believes the people through their representatives have the right to legislate without judicial veto, is an anarchist. When the returns are in next August, they will see that the anarchists are numerous.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Wednesday morning Philadelphia had the greatest fire in the history of the city, the loss running up into the millions of dollars. The immense publishing house of the Lippincotts was among those destroyed.

Everybody is complimenting the address of Prof. W. H. Ragsdale in the Thanksgiving service in the Methodist church Thursday night. His subject was "What we have to be thankful for in the educational world," and his remarks thereon were such as to make every heart swell with gratitude of the educational progress our State is making.

Here are a few choice names of foreigners who have applied for citizenship papers in the United States Circuit Court, New York city Spiro Papastavaropoulos, Cologero Tutotica, Ferzian Dikraa Garabus, Fascheliere De Hengeliave, Henri A. Van Der Paauwert, Pinens Tvachtenbroit, Gander Torkildsen, Felix I. De Cuspere Barriell, Schwarzbard Schilbse, Bertojosesirbas and Antonio S. Fernandez Ros-wizez. The above named are in their respective order natives of Greece, Italy, Turkey, France Holland, Russia, Norway, Spain, Austria, Portugal and Cuba.

Ex-Corporation Commissioner Beddingfield having turned over to his successor, Dr. Abbott, the salary which he has drawn since he has been in office, the latter having won his case against him in the Supreme Court, The Durham Herald makes the point that the Legislature should reimburse Mr. Beddingfield to the amount of the salary he has surrendered. To be sure it should. Mr. Beddingfield has been ousted from his position through no fault of his own, and the power which put him there should make good the loss which he has sustained by reason of the loss of his office. The laborer is worthy of his hire.—Charlotte Observer.

We believe that the newspapers of North Carolina consume a sufficient quantity of paper to keep at least a small paper mill running, and if the North Carolina Press Association would deal a blow to the trust and at the same time benefit itself and the State, it should attempt to induce some independent manufacturer to locate a mill in the State. With the patronage of the State papers assured, in addition to outside orders that could be obtained it should prove a paying investment.—Durham Herald.

Dispensaries will no doubt be made almost general by the next General Assembly of North Carolina. Wherever they have been tried they have met with the approval of their first advocates and in some places by those who at first opposed them. We heard a gentleman who lives in a town which has no bar-rooms, and who was not too strongly in favor of running them out at first, say a few days ago that he did not want them in his town any more. Still another gentleman who lives in a town that has no bar-rooms said that some at first thought the moving of the saloons from the town would hurt the business of the place; but his observation, he said, was that business has been just as good since the saloons were moved out as it had been before. He said that he is convinced now that the only persons who are ever financially benefitted by saloons in a community is those who sell the liquor. As to other business the presence of saloons has nothing to do with it. And he is unquestionably right. The people of this State are learning this truth, and when the next General Assembly meets there will be a demand for more legislation against the liquor traffic than has been known in North Carolina before.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

The Man and The Dog.

It seems to be a natural infirmity of man to lie about his dog, to resent any aspersions on the character of his dog, but to look with the eye of dark suspicion on every other man's dog and to whisper doubts of his integrity. It is particularly so with hound dogs. It is an article of faith with every well-regulated boy that his dog is the champion squirrel detective of the world; every negro carries in his soul the conviction that his dog, whatever breed, is a terror to raccoons, and it is hard to shake any white man's belief in his pointer or setter. But the confidence in hounds has a touch of the sublime. We have been out in the woods with nine possum hunters on a dark night and had each of them to tell us confidentially that he could identify the voice of his own dog far in the lead, and that all of the others were simply following him or back-tracking, or engaged in the degrading and frivolous vice of rabbit chasing.—Ex.

None Better Than All.
Miss Gincham: And I suppose they have bargain days in Glasgow. Mr. Melvor?
Melvor: Ma conscience, no! It wad na do ava!
Miss Gincham: Indeed! Why, I thought bargain days would just suit your people?
Melvor: That's juist it. It would suit them awa' wad. If they had bargain days, everybody wad buy onything on the bargain days, ye ken? London Telegraph

The Sweatshops.
It pays to own real estate where New York's laboring classes are concentrated. A man who owns a large, square building in the down town east side district says that it pays him more than 20 per cent net on the money invested. He never has to look for tenants and he has no trouble in collecting his rents. A prosperous saloon keeper has the ground floor, and, of course, his rent is guaranteed. The floors above are rented for sweatshops. One man hires a floor and sublets each window to a man to work by. If at any time he shows signs of running behind with his rent a dozen window tenants are eager to take the contract in his place. The windows rent for $5 each. This gives the man who hires the whole floor his window free, or sometimes a little more than that. The windows in this particular building are especially sought after, because there is a freight elevator, by which the heavy cloth garments can be hoisted and let down from the various stories. It runs by hand power, but even then it is far better than carrying the heavy burdens on the back.—New York Press.

Compliments.
"How, for instance," asked the inquisitive boarder, "would you define a compliment?"
"In love's warfare," replied the didactic boarder, "a compliment is a skirmisher sent out for the purpose of bringing on an engagement."—Chicago Tribune.

The Oldest Tree.
The oldest tree on earth with an authenticated history is the great bho tree of Burma. For 20 centuries it has been held sacred to the Buddha, and no person is allowed to touch the trunk. When the leaves fall, they are carried away as relics by pilgrims.

A Good Natured Dog.
A very ordinary looking farm horse harnessed to an old wagon stood by the curb, and on the board that served for a seat lay a small dog of such mixed blood that no guess could be made as to his breed.

As a delivery wagon passed on the opposite side of the street a large red apple fell off. Before it stopped rolling the dog bounded across the street, picked it up with his teeth and with tall wagging rushed back to the horse, in front of which he stood up on his hind legs while the apple was taken from his mouth.

As the horse munched the apple he made the peculiar little noise that horses make when petted, and doggie replied with throaty little barks which plainly told what a pleasure it had been to go after that apple. Then he went back to his nap on the wagon seat.—Burlington Free Press.

In Chinese temples there is a large incense burner. It is called "burning" and it gives a tone like a song.

Church processions are prohibited in many cities. Even a priest cannot legally walk the streets in his churchly gear.
