IN MEMORIAM.

Departed this life, on Saturday, December the 2nd, 1899, Mrs. Mary Laughinghouse Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, and wife of J. Bryan Grimes, of Pitt county. On many loving hearts, in this and other States, the tidings of the death of this truly loved woman will fall with a sorrow akin to a personal bereavement. Succeeding the early training of home life, with its peculiarly sweet and tender environments May Laughinghouse spent the last five years of an unusually careful school training in one of the most venerable institutions of learning, in the cultured State of Maryland.

There she endeared herself alike to her instructors, and her young companions; for ever conscientious in the discharge of duty, carefully and unvaryingly considerate of the feelings of others—generous and affectionate in heart and in deed, as are all truly noble natures, it followed as a natural sequence that the chords of love encircling her were stronger than "hooks of steel" and more enduring than "aere perennium" of any sculptors art.

Returning to her home, the pride of loving parents' hearts—endowed with exceptional gifts of person, mind and manner—in the course of a brief year we find her the bride of a distinguished young husband, to whom she had previously plighted her troth, and who lavished upon her the tenderest and most chivalrous devotion.

The loving care of motherhood brought with it an alarming break down in health, and only the most watchful care, with the skill of the best medical advice, succeeded in restoring her for a trio of suffering years, to her anxious loved ones, for the dread premonitor of the end had cast its baleful shadow over the ideal home and on her return from a brief visit to friends at the capital of the State, but a few weeks ago, she was prostrated by the illness which drew the shadows nearer and still nearer, until, on Saturday evening last, the cross of suffering dropped from her frail shoulders, and her ransomed spirit sped on angels, wings to join a beautiful sister so recently gone before in the realms of Eternal light and joy, while the darkness of night fell on the anguished watchers around her.

"May Jesus, who wept over a grave wipe away with His own hand the tears from their hearts, and in place of their darling give them more of Himself."

Mrs. Grimes was a sister of Dr. Charles O'Hagan Laughinghouse and grand-daughter of Dr. Charles J. O'Hagan, of Greenville.

His Year's Work.

Today Rev. N. M. Watson, pastor of the Methodist church, left for Washington to attend the annual Conference. On Sunday last he read to his congregation the report of the past year's work that he will make to the Conference. The amount contributed by the church for the year was $1,800, divided as follows: For Pastor $900, for Presiding Elder $120, for Bishop $17, for Conference claimants $48, for Domestic Missions $78, for Foreign Missions $123, for Education $43, for Church extension $40, for Paine and Lane Institute $6, for incidentals and all other objects $425. Members gained 10, members lost 5, total membership 225. Infants baptized 4.

Mr. Watson goes to Conference with a good report. This completes his third year as pastor of the Greenville church and during these years he has endeared himself to everyone in the community. He is an excellent preacher and all his work on the field has been faithfully done.

Lost But Found.

On last Friday morning Rev. N. M. Watson left his bicycle on the sidewalk at the entrance leading up to Dr. Carr's dental rooms. John Parker, a gentleman of color, passed by that way and seeing the wheel could not resist the temptation to jump on it and ride away. That afternoon John rode into Parmele where he tried to sell the wheel. He offered it at so many different prices and told so many tales as to arouse suspicion and lead to his arrest. Inquiry was made up and down the road as to who had lost a wheel, and when Mr. Watson was notified he went over to Parmele and readily identified his wheel.

A STOCK IN TOUCH WITH NATURE'S REQUIREMENTS

Suits and Overcoats.

Our stock was never so large and attractive as at the present time, innumerable additions having been in the last few days made thereto, and the prices are certainly not the least tempting feature. We are showing and selling suits that cannot be duplicated at the figures asked, that combine fascinating style with thoroughly dependable service. Every one is perfect in fit—substantial linings—careful finish—choice material. They are cut in the best approved mode and there is enough of them to give you the assurance of the neatest possible fit. If you aim to be dressy, neat and in style, do not pass us by.

STYLISH - ✦ - STYLISH.

No need to make any mistake in this line. If this store was not entitled to that designation, we would not be doing the business we do. You are not supposed to be "up" on every late fashion, but we are. We are impelled by business honesty and principle to sell you the latest and most stylish goods. This is our duty as progressive merchants, and we aim to meet the same on all occasions.

Our stock is in style—new style—this season's style. When you buy here be assured of one certain fact—You are procuring the latest, you are wearing what was made to wear just at this time, and therefore the most fashionable to be had.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1899.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4, 99.

Hon. J. D. Richardson, of Tennessee, who received the democratic nomination for Speaker, after one of the longest caucuses ever held, got the vote of every democratic member of the House today. He was not, of course, elected; the republicans having the most votes elected Representative Henderson Speaker, and adopted the old Reed rules, but Mr. Richardson will be the democratic floor-leader of the House during the life of the Fifty-Sixth Congress. There may be more showy and brilliant men on the democratic side of the House, but that he will make a shrewd and safe leader is conceded by all. His shrewdness would have been shown by the manner in which he conducted his campaign for the nomination of Speaker, had it not been well established long ago. He received no warmer congratulations on his success than those extended by his three rivals for the honor.

Mr. McKinley's long message, one of the longest ever sent to Congress—was not sent in today, owing to the early adjournment of both Senate and House as a mark of respect to the late Vice President Hobart. It will go in tomorrow, and then the real business of the session of Congress will begin. The democrats were never in a more aggressive mood, and "hot times" are ahead for the republican majority in both Senate and House.

The attention of Senators is being called to the fact that Gov. Stone had no constitutional right to appoint Mr. Quay to the Senate, after the legislature adjourned, without electing his successor. The State Constitution of Penn., expressly provides that vacancies in the U. S. Senate shall only be filled by the Legislature. A number of influential Pennsylvanians are in Washington, working against the seating of Quay on personal grounds, against both precedent and law. One of these is ex-Representative Sowden, who said on the subject: "The question should not be made a partisan one, but each Senator, regardless of his politics or his personal friendship for Mr. Quay, should vote as a conscientious, impartial and upright judge, and decide it according to its merits and the dictates of his own conscience, under his official oath. If this be done, there can be no question of the result. Gov. Stone's unlawful appointment has not a single merit to support it."

That our pension laws are in need of revision, everybody knows when they will get it, or whether er the revision will make them better or worse, is a horse of another color. The Secretary and Assistant Secretary of the Interior, and the Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner of Pensions, have testified before a sub-committee, of the Senate Committee on Pensions, that a revision of the laws should be made, and recommended that it be done by a non-partisan Commission. A National Commission that is really non-partisan would be a rarity, indeed, although there are many so-called.

Representative Smith, of Ky., who was recently acting Chairman of the Kentucky Democratic State Committee, thinks the legal contest in that state, depends upon the view the court of Appeals takes of tissue ballots. He thinks those ballots were illegal, and knows that they were used extensively in the republican border counties, to make sure that the "floaters" voted as they were paid to vote. He says if the tissue ballots are thrown out as illegal. Goebel will have a plurality of from 2,000 to 10,000. Mr. Smith says he doesn't believe there will be any trouble in the State, no matter what the final decision may be.

Jessie Farrar, of St. Louis, promises to achieve a reputation as a marryist. She is nineteen and was married to her fifth husband a few days ago. She began as an elopist at the age of thirteen. —Morning Star.

A Burning Prayer.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer tells this story of the Virginia backwoods: A white minister after conducting services at a colored church asked an old deacon to lead in prayer. The dusky brother in his fervent appeal asked that a shower of heavenly grace be permitted to fall upon his white friend. He said: "O Lor, give him de eye of de eagle dat he may spy out our sins afar off! Weld his han's to de gospel plow; de his tongue to de lines of traf and nail his ear to de gospel pole! An O Lor, bow his bald way down—an behin' his knees, an his knees way down—ah in some lonesome dark an narrow valley, O Lor, whar much prayer is needed to be made—ah! Den 'nolaf him ovah wid de blessed ile of de Kerosene of salvation, an sot him on fish wid de match of faith made perfec'—amen!"

France Outside of Paris.

To get a correct idea of the French nation one must abandon Paris and get out among the people of the provinces. Paris is a sinkhole of rotteness, but the people who dwell outside that modern Gomorrah are sound and upright and patriotic, living wholesome and useful lives. When you get out in the rural districts, a charming sight is presented of beautifully cultivated farms, each farm being as trim and neat as a flower garden. There is not a foot of waste land to be seen. The first thing that strikes a stranger is the profusion of fruit. Nowhere can be seen more luscious pears, peaches and grapes. —Washington Post.

LAND SALE.

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Pitt county, made on the 4th day of December, 1899, in a certain Special Proceeding therein pending, entitled W. O. Rasberry and wife against Jacob McCotter and others, and numbered as case 1059, I will on MONDAY, JANUARY 8th, 1900, sell at public sale before the court House door in Greenville to the highest bidder for cash a certain piece or parcel of land situate in contentnea township, Pitt county, known as Lot No. 7 in the division of the land of the late Mary E. McCotter, deceased, and which was allotted to Carl McCotter by the following metes and bounds, to-wit: Beginning at the 4th corner of Lot No. 6 on Grifton road, thence South 82 W. 170 poles to a sweet-gum on creek, 3rd corner of No. 6, thence down said creek to a black gum, thence N. 82 E. 175 poles to a stake on Grifton road near just South of its bend, thence northwardly with said road to the beginning, containing 38 acres more or less. This the 5th day of December, 1899. ALEX. L. BLOW, Commissioner.

First Rows in Paradise.
A Russian correspondent sends us details of a very interesting and amusing tale told by a Russian veterinary surgeon who was sent into the Ural district to buy horses and hay for the peasants of the famine stricken provinces. He had to do mostly with the natives (kirghiz), who are half savage, but who, nevertheless, were found to be extremely honest and absolutely trustworthy in all buying and selling, some of them even offering to give horses for the starving peasants. Quite a different story has the surgeon to tell of the Ural Cossacks, who did their level best to cheat him in the most barefaced manner and on whom no reliance was to be placed. And yet these Cossacks are very religious and so simple in certain respects that a swindler succeeded in selling them quite a number of tickets for—paradise! The veterinary surgeon saw several of these tickets, which were marked "First rows" and sold at 25 rubles, back seats bringing considerably less.—Commercial Intelligence.

The Mistake of His Life.

Bluffers—What's wrong today? You look blue.
Bluffers—I'll never forgive myself. I kicked a caller out of my house last night.
"Huh! I kicked many a one. Young fellow, I suppose?"
"No; past middle age."
"Well, these old codgers have no business coming round sparking young girls. I kicked out one of that sort last week."
"Yes, but I've found out that this man wasn't after my daughter; he was after my mother-in-law."—New York Press.

A Proper Question.

"And clothes," argued the missionary further, "are as cheap as dirt!"
The tropic heathen did not conceal her misgivings.
"Yes; but are they as hygienic?" faltered this simple child of the forest.
Her health was quite perfect now, and there was no telling what might not be the effect of corsets and skirts which do not hang from the shoulders, to say nothing of the veils with dots in them.—Detroit Journal.

His Experience.

"Woman's work is never done," quoted the sympathetic citizen.
"That's right," answered Mr. Meekton earnestly. "I have observed it in Henrietta's case. Woman's work is never done. There is always enough of it left over to keep her husband busy from the time he gets through his dinner till he's so tired he has to go to bed."—Washington Star.

Progression.

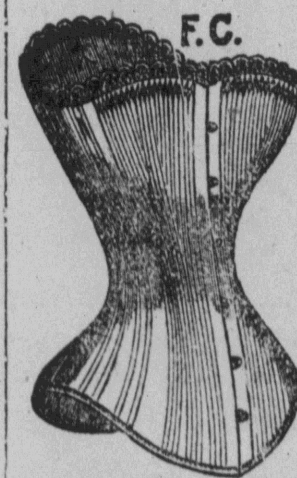

"Mary Prim: doesn't distribute tracts any more."
"No. I met her the other day, and she smelled dreadfully of peppermint."
"From tracts or extracts, eh?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Who Was The Man?

Mrs. Brown, wife of Judge Brown, was very severely, if not seriously injured by being thrown from a buggy yesterday, and is now confined to her bed. She and Mrs. Chas. Gallagher were on their way to the bedside of the wife of J. Bryan Grimes who is extremely ill. Mrs. Brown who is an expert driver, was driving. A quarter of a mile beyond Chocowinity cross roads where the road is double tracked and very wide, Mrs. Brown was about to drive by a young man who had a lady in the buggy with him and was driving very slowly. He deliberately drove across the road in front of Mrs. Brown and when she attempted to cross over and get by on the other side he headed her off again and deliberately ran into her buggy and ran it up against a telephone pole. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Gallagher were both thrown out with violence and the buggy broken up and Mrs. Brown seriously injured. This reckless and foolhardy young man is supposed to live up near Ayden in Pitt county. There were two buggies apparently traveling together. The first had a pair of horses and gentleman and a lady. That buggy was followed by the person who was guilty of such outrageous conduct. Judge Brown will be grateful for any evidence tending to identify the young man. When this cowardly fellow saw the buggy smashed up and ladies thrown out he never came to their relief, but put whip to his horse as hard as he could.—Washington Messenger 2nd.

Rev. A. McCullen, of Henderson, who has been spending a few days with his brother, L. McCullen, left this morning for Washington to attend Conference.

G. A. Clute left Monday evening for Clinton where he will be married Wednesday morning to Miss Agnes Partrick. He will return to Greenville with his bride Wednesday evening.

Rev. Rufus Bradley and wife, of Margarettsville, arrived Monday night. Mr. Bradley goes on to Washington to attend Conference and Mrs. Bradley will spend some days here with her brother, J. N. Hart.

Motifs.

Her own fair robe immaculate, she turned away with scorn and loathing from her whose mud-stained garment trailed upon the earth. For in her pride she saw only the difference between the other woman and herself, and not in the roads which they had trod.

To be free a man broke the chain of love that bound him to his fellow men, and found that of hate he had forged another.

From youth and love to love and old age they passed hand in hand, and through these long years each found that the pain hardest to bear was that borne by the other.

A man sacrificed himself for a woman and asked for love. To have her sacrifice herself for him would be to get it.

An old warrior re-entered life's combat with his son. "Alone you can vanquish your foes," he said. "But you need help to withstand your friends."—E. Scott O'Conner, in The Century.

Married

On Wednesday, Nov. 29th, at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Lewis Mumford, Mr. R. A. Forbes and Miss Audie Mumford were married, Noah Forbes, J. P., officiating. The attendants were Ed Forbes with Miss Pattie Tucker, Charlie Nichols with Miss Lulu Forbes, Levi Holliday with Miss Nora Forbes, Heber Forbes with Miss Stella Mumford, J. W. Tucker with Miss Mabel Barnhill. After the ceremony the bridal party went to the home of the groom's father, Mr. Augustus Forbes, where the wedding supper was served.

Joaquin Miller, the poet, wants the name of "United States of America" changed to "Ussland," and he desires that the people be called Ussians. This idea is not new, and it brings to mind the Western professor who some time ago proposed that the name of this country be changed to "Usona" by taking the first letter of each word "United States of North America."

Tonight and tomorrow evening the admission will be reduced to 10 and 15 cents, 5 cents extra for reserved seats on sale at Burch's printing office. Ten beautiful presents will be given away tonight and ten tomorrow evening. Each person present will hold a number, and each of the ten numbers called will receive a present. A gold filled case watch, N. Y. standard movement, will be given as the first prize. Commences at 8:30 o'clock.

Advertisements That Enlighten

An observant writer, who appears to have been impressed with the power of persuasive newspaper advertising, says: "How many times does it happen that people in reading advertisements suddenly conclude that they want something which they see described, but which they had not previously thought they stood in need of." Clever and instructive trade notices always have this effect upon the public, who get interested in them and curious about the wares mentioned. On the other hand, there are many persons who know what they want, but do not know where to purchase it. A perusal of the advertisements in their favorite newspaper would give them all needful information.—Philadelphia Record.
