

Thanks.

I HAD A BIG TRADE ON MY CHRISTMAS GOODS AND DESIRE TO THANK ONE AND ALL FOR YOUR VERY LIBERAL PATRONAGE.

I AM NOW PREPARED TO SERVE YOU WITH THE BEST LINE OF GROCERIES TO BE HAD IN GREENVILLE.

Ed. H. Shelburn.

Bal Poudre.

The young ladies of Greenville scored a brilliant social success at the bal poudre they gave in the opera house Tuesday night. There was a large attendance both of participants and spectators. Besides the dance an elegant supper was served. The young ladies did all the honors of the occasion and the fortunate beaux voted it the crowning social event of the holidays.

Mr. Hester Dead.

Mr. Robert Hester, of Nash county, who on the 20th while returning home from Rocky Mount was waylaid and shot by two negroes, died Monday. His murderers are in Wake county jail and will no doubt pay the penalty of their crime on the gallows.

Dinner For the Poor.

The King's Daughters will visit the County Home Friday morning to take a dinner to the inmates. All who will contribute are requested to send their donations to Mrs. Dr. E. A. Moye before 10 o'clock A. M.

Pistols and Razors.

There were two or three rows among the colored people on Christmas day and the policeman had their hands full trying to keep order. At one row early in the day pistols and razors were freely used and several of the participants had to be carried to the doctors for their wounds to be dressed.

They are Dangerous.

There was plenty of noise made by the explosion of pop-crackers Christmas day, though we believe not so much as usual. There was enough, however, to do considerable damage, several store windows being broken and other damage done. Such fireworks as are used now are exceedingly dangerous both to persons and property, and the sooner they are forbidden entirely the better we believe it will be for the town.

Killed a Fox.

While out hunting with a party on Christmas day Mr. R. Hyman, the photographer, killed a large fox. That was a fine "snap shot."

Do You Want Them?

Quite a number of subscriptions to the Ladies Home Journal expired with the Christmas issue. If you send your renewal to this office you can get the Journal and the Saturday Evening Post both a year for $3. New subscribers can get them at the same price.

Nice Quarters.

A very handsome office for the County School Directors and Superintendent of schools has been fitted up in one of the rooms over Frank Wilson's store. Prof. Ragsdale now conducts examinations of teachers and attends to other business of the Superintendent at his new office. The Directors will also hold their meetings there.

Card of Thanks.

Miss Julia Foley, operator at central telephone office, desires to return sincere thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, for their kind and beautiful remembrance Dec. 25th.

Great on Traveling.

"If the people of every State in the Union were as good on traveling as the average North Carolinian," said a well known railroad man Saturday morning, "the railways of the country would get rich fast. A man who looks like he hasn't more than ten cents in the world will hop on a train and ride several hundred miles and back to see his kinspeople."

Oh, well, it's all right and shows that the ties of blood are yet thicker than water in the Old North State and that when a man wants to see his relatives he is going to do so.—Greensboro Record.

"Dollar."

On the famous military road, Pascopal, in Saxony is a silver mine located in a hollow called Joachimsthal. The coins from this silver were much sought by the settlers. They were called from the name of the place in which they were mined. A coin was a Joachimsthal-er; or for brevity, a Thaler, whence, by a slight change, dollar. (Carlyle's Works Vol. 4 Book 17 P 339.)

Of course this has nothing to do with the silver or anti-silver discussions of today but it may be an interesting reflection with the friends of silver.

Some men are kept busy trying to dodge work.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER, 28, 1899.

Evangelist Dwight L. Moody, died a few days ago at his home in Northfield, Mass. In his death a great and good man passes to his eternal reward. The good he has done to the world will live through ages to come.

The British steamship Aristo, a large freight vessel bound from Galveston to Hamburg, was wrecked off Hatteras Sunday morning. Twenty-one of the crew left the vessel in a life-boat and were drowned in the heavy sea. The captain and eight others of the sailors were rescued by the Ocracoke life saving crew after an heroic battle with the fury of the waves.

Health the Main Spring of Success.

The chief essential of success for a young man is what the vast majority of young men think about the least—that is good health and a sound constitution. That is the first thing; nothing precedes it. In the battle for success, that should be a young man's first thought, not his activities, nor his work, but his health. That is the basis; the corner stone of all. Abilities cannot bring health, but health may, and generally does, develop ability.—January Ladies' Home Journal.

Statue to Stuart.

RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 18th, '99. To the Surviving Members of the Cavalry and horse Artillery and all other Soldiers and Citizens who admire the splendid career of a great soldier: It was unanimously decided at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Veteran Cavalry Association, recently held in the City of Richmond, to proceed with the erection of an Equestrian Statue to Major-General J. E. B. Stuart.

Years ago the preliminary steps were taken for this purpose, but further action was postponed on account of the financial depression then prevailing.

The substitution of the command "Forward" for that of "Mark Time" then given, is because the dark days of the past have been succeeded by a more prosperous period. In consequence, the resolve has been taken to press promptly to a successful completion the erection of a monument to the great Cavalry Chieftain who fell at the gates of Richmond.

We earnestly request all soldiers whatever the arm of service, and all citizens who sympathize with or are willing to co-operate with the Veteran Cavalry Association in their noble purpose, to send at once their names and post-office addresses to Mr. W. Ben Palmer, Secretary of Veteran Cavalry Association, Richmond, Va.

Fitzhugh Lee, President, Wade Hampton, L. L. Lomax, M. C. Butler, Wm. H. Payne, W. P. Roberts, T. T. Munford, H. B. McClellan, Vice-Presidents. W. Ben Palmer, Secretary.

Maturity Should Not be Prematurely Shelved.

I do not believe that old people should consent to be effaced simply because the riotous advance of youth around them is pushing them to the rear. Love does its mistaken best to efface them, it is true, giving them the easy chair and the sheltered corner, and saving them from all exertion, and insisting that they are to be waited upon, and their work taken out of their hands. Maturity has no right to let itself be laid upon the shelf too soon. There is no glory of the rosebud and another glory of the rose; one beauty of the growing grain and another beauty of the ripened sheaf.—Margaret E. Sangster, in the January Ladies' Home Journal.

Persistent Advertising Necessary.

The man who wants to do business at all seasons should remember that it is necessary to advertise incessantly. It is not enough that he should get a share of patronage when everybody is buying; he should endeavor to attract customers at other times as well. Persistent advertising is necessary to the continued success of any business.—Philadelphia Record.

Proper Attention to Business.

Any business that is worth engaging in is worth increasing. No business can be increased without the help that advertising lends to the energy and enterprise which make the business possible. Publicity reaches its highest development in the artistic advertisement. Those who freely patronize the advertising columns of a daily news paper help themselves to commercial supremacy.—Philadelphia Record.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., NOV. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

WINE OF CARDUI

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

Large Bottles for $1.00 at Druggists.

Mrs. V. N. Seawell and daughter, Miss Josie, of Faison, arrived Tuesday evening to visit her mother, Mrs. P. E. Dancy.

J. W. Bryan went to Plymouth to spend Christmas. His family who have been there for some weeks, returned with him Tuesday evening.

J. B. Overton, of Rocky Mount and L. M. Overton, of Georgetown, S. C., who were visiting their brother, D. D. Overton, left this morning.

Oh, The Snow.

It commenced snowing about 10 o'clock this morning and is still at it. There is no telling how much will come before it stops.

Keep-it Up.

The business men who have gained prominence by judicious advertising during the holiday season, should not lose it by withdrawing from public notice. The old proverb "out of sight, out of mind," is as true in business as anything else. The most effective advertisers are those whose names appear constantly before the public. Seeing your name every time a paper is read keeps you always before the minds of those whose trade you want.

Osceola Minstrels.

The members of the Osceola Band with the assistance of Mr. J. H. Shelburn and other specialists, will give a minstrel performance in the opera house Friday night for the benefit of the band uniform fund. We have a splendid band here and our people show their interest in helping the boys by giving them a crowded house. They will give you a good show, well worth the admission price. Get your seats early.
