NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan. 27, 1900

Winterville can soon boast of having a livery stable.

Several parties have killed hogs and there is plenty of fresh meat in town.

The railroad put off a chute here yesterday for unloading horses.

We are glad to see Capt. Tew and Mr. Britt, the jolly old engineer, on the freight yesterday morning.

J. W. Harper has another lot of his celebrated pills for dyspepsia and indigestion. We are glad to state that it is no humbug.

Winterville Zobo Band will soon be a reality. This is not a make believe Jews harp band, but a real brass band, which the boys are getting up.

Notwithstanding the great advance in price of wire fence G. W. Parker has just sold one thousand yards to another customer who knows its value, and does not expect it to get any lower.

The cigar factory seems to have taken on a much improved appearance since the ladies have been working up there. It makes the boys and even Bud Joe look better.

J. F. Harrington has in his possession the smallest hen egg that we have ever seen. It is not half so large as a partridge egg, and the Post Master says it don't weigh the eighth of an ounce.

Several of A. G. Cox Mfg. Co's hands are working nights padding cart saddles for the many orders yet unfilled. Although they have added some new hands to their force they are still unable to supply the demand for these goods.

Arthur Cherry came down on the train from Goose Nest last night to try for a job with some of the factories here.

As between the white negro and the black negro, the black negro is the more respectable of the two. And however hard it may be upon the black negro to enforce such equality and association as a constant thing, the white negro should be made to know his place and keep in it.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

UNFURLED TO THE BREEZE.

Old Glory Floats Over the Public School Building.

That was both an interesting and a patriotic scene witnessed Friday afternoon at the public school building in South Greenville.

About twenty members of Aeneas Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., clothed in full regalia of red, white and blue, left their hall and headed by the Osceola Band marched to the public school building. Many people had already assembled there and others followed the procession.

After a selection by the band Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, County Superintendent of Schools, in behalf of the Junior Order, of which he is a member, delivered a large United States flag and a Bible to the school. His address was a gem full of utterances of patriotism and devotion to the interests of education.

Miss Bessie Harding, one of the teachers of the school, in a most beautiful response accepted the flag, and as the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" little Miss Grace Smith stepped forward and hoisted Old Glory to the top of the staff erected for it on the building. As it unfurled to the breeze the voices of men and women, boys and girls, mingled in shouts with the music.

Rev. N. M. Watson then in most appropriate words in behalf of the school accepted the Bible, and the interesting exercises closed, the procession again forming and marching back to the hall.

Both the act in presenting the flag and Bible to the school and the exercises reflect high credit upon the order.

Shot His Young Brother While Hunting.

A distressing accident occurred a few miles north of town Saturday in which a little fellow lost his life.

The particulars as we have gleaned them are as follows: Two little sons of Mr. J. L. Holland, aged ten and twelve, respectively, were gunning in the woods near their father's house. The older brother was carrying the gun in his hand by his side while the other was walking directly in front of the muzzle. In some way the hammer became entangled in a bush and the weapon discharged, the whole load taking effect in the back of the little ten year-old brother ahead. We understand that death was instantaneous. Mr. and Mrs. Holland have the sympathy of the whole community in their great affliction.—Laurinburg Exchange.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1900.

It will soon be difficult to find a Republican statesman who has not been mentioned for the Vice Presidential nomination. Hanna is about the only one who has escaped that sort of notoriety so far.

Now virtuous Kansas, which always gives huge Republican majorities, has had a lynching, and it is stated that no steps will be taken to punish the perpetrators. His now in point for the New England critics to talk of the horrible crimes perpetrated where the Republican party controls.

The Democratic Senators and Representatives got together on the occasion of Mr. Bryan's visit to Washington, and agreed to a definite Philippine policy to be pursued until the next national convention. Its principal tenets are the suppression of the rebellion, organization of a republic, withdrawal of the army, abandonment of sovereignty, and substitution of a protectorate, retention of coaling stations, and repayment by the Filipinos of the $20,000,000 paid for the islands.

Democratic charges that the President had knowingly appointed polygamists to office, appear only too well founded. The Post Office Department has been forced to admit that it had received petitions against the appointments detailing the facts under oath, and had filed them away with merely a formal acknowledgment of their receipt. The Secretary to the President has admitted that he received such petitions and merely passed them on without consideration. The attitude of the President and his advisors was clearly one of indifference as to whether the men he selected for important posts were violating the laws or not.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26, 1900. Secretary Gage must be disgruntled about something. He said a day or two ago that he believed the Boers would lick the English and sincerely hoped they would. Here is more treason in the McKinley camp, and Gage isn't Irish, either. Senator McEnery, of Louisiana, made a speech against the Pritchard resolution declaring the proposed suffrage amendment to the North Carolina constitution, similar to the one now in force in Louisiana, to be unconstitutional, in which he declared that his state had been greatly benefitted by the restriction of suffrage; that while Congress had the power, it had not the right, to declare any law or constitutional provision of a state unconstitutional, that right belonging solely to the judicial branch of the government. He stated the whole race question when he said: "There can be no admixture of the races. This is a law of nature. They must work out their destinies on parallel lines which cannot come together. The Anglo-Saxon blood and brain will always be the superior and cannot be subordinated to the negro."

Representative Henry, of Texas has introduced a bill providing a government for Porto Rico, which most democrats think good enough to be made a party measure. It follows the lines of the laws establishing territories, which have stood the tests of a century, and places the government as much in the hands of its people as those of the territories of Arizona, New Mexico, and Oklahoma are in the hands of their people.

Senator Turner, of Washington made a speech, this week, arraigning the administration both for its Philippine policy and for its attitude toward the Boers, the people of a republic struggling for liberty against a powerful monarchy. After asserting that they had the sympathy of the American people, he said: "In other days our sympathy would have been expressed through governmental channels. But now the ghost of liberty murdered in the Philippines stands in the way. We cannot even preserve a decent neutrality between this heroic people and their assailants. It is yet permitted to us, however, as individuals, to avert our eyes, and as those noble men go down to death and oblivion to say to them, as I now do, 'Thou lost survivors of a heroic age! Hail and farewell.'"

It is astonishing that any man, with any regard for the truth, should say that the suffrage amendment will disfranchise illiterate white men as well as illiterate negroes.

In order that our readers may see for themselves that the proposed amendment will not disfranchise any white man who can now vote we copy from the 5th section of the amendment as follows:

"Section 5. No male person who was, on January 1, 1867, or at any time prior thereto, entitled to vote under the laws of any State in the United States wherein he then resided, and no lineal descendant of any such person, shall be denied the right to register and vote at any election in this State by reason of his failure to possess the educational qualification prescribed in section 4 of this article; provided, he shall have registered in accordance with the terms of this section prior to December 1, 1908."

As all white men in North Carolina are descended from men who could vote in 1867 or before that, all white men in North Carolina are exempt from the educational test.

Their right to vote is continued without any educational test. They have got that right now and it is continued. Their right to vote is not denied, or at all interfered with. It remains by the very words of the proposed amendment unchanged.—Pittsboro Record.

The following waif is going the rounds of the state press: We are told of a young lady in a neighboring town who waved her hand at a stranger, and in three days they were married. Two days later the young lady waved a flirtation at her husband, and the next evening he came home waving a divorce.—Nashville Banner.

Miss Mary Proctor, the astronomer and lecturer, frequently gives her personal services toward entertaining poor children and adults. Generally her lectures are well received. Now and then there are exceptions. On one occasion a bright-eyed little boy, who sat in the front row with his eyes fixed upon the speaker, was asked how he liked it. "I guess," he said, "it was pretty good, but she ought to talk about lions and tigers. That's better for everybody." At another lecture a youngster criticized her as follows: "It's all very well to talk of weighing and measuring stars. There are some people, of course, who believe that sort of thing, but if she thinks she can fool us boys with such fairy tales she's very much mistaken."

The Australian aborigines are not the only users of the boomerang, nor were they the first to use that missile. The Egyptians knew all about it, just as they seem to have known all about everything else. At the present day the boomerang is used by some American Indian tribes and by the Dravidian races of the Indian peninsula. The missile used by the last named differs in that it is thicker than the usual form and does not return to the thrower. The return of the boomerang is due to the action of the wind, the shape of the weapon and the manner in which it is thrown.

His Request. Husband—My dear, I want to ask you one favor before you go off on that long visit. Wife—A thousand, my love. What is it? Husband—Don't try to put the house in order before you leave. Wife—It isn't hard work. Husband—Perhaps not, but think of the expense of telegraphing to you every time I want to find anything.—Columbian Weekly.

Wanted to See the President. The Washington Star says that a big, gawky country lad went to the White House the other day just as the president had gone out for a morning stroll. "I want to see the president," he announced to the first man he met. "Well, there goes the president now," said the man addressed, pointing to the president's retreating form. "I'll wait my time," the young man ejaculated. "He walks just like any other man," and the fellow struck out so that he could get close enough to see the president well.

Is there anything more depressing than to walk into your room at 4 in the afternoon and discover that the bed has not yet been made?—Philadelphia Times.

Drawn. "This is a drawn battle," he said in talking the matter over with his wife. The 6-year-old who was listening was silent for a moment. Then he asked: "What did they draw it with?"—Chicago Post.

Not an Optical Case. Optician—I cannot sell you spectacles for your husband. He must come for them in person. What is the nature of his visual defect? Woman—A 5 cent piece looks bigger to him than a $5 bank note to other people.—Jewelers' Weekly.

The Korean woman is so little esteemed that she has not even a name. She is simply "the daughter" or "the sister" of the man.

WINE OF CARDUI. How a Woman Suffers. HOWELL, IND., Nov. 26. I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose. Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL. MCELREE'S Wine of Cardui. It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues—despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhoea. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing. Druggists Sell Large Bottles for $1.00.

Railroad Bridge Damaged.

The railroad bridge across the river here was opened for a steamer to pass, as is usual on Friday. High winds were blowing at the time and when the keeper went to close the draw he lost control of it and it went together with such force as to knock the track and upper timbers of the structure out of position. The section squad was put to work as quick as possible to repair the damage, but both trains had to wait at the bridge an hour Friday night before they could get across. This is the second time a similar accident has occurred at the bridge.

Always Profitable.

The man who enters into business wants everybody to know it. He realizes that his success is dependent upon the publicity that can be given to his venture. He is anxious that the public shall know how desirable it would be for them to trade with him, and he soon discovers that the only way to attract customers is by advertising. It naturally follows that if advertising be beneficial in the beginning of a merchant's career it must always prove profitable.—Philadelphia Record.

They Looked Handsome.

The Osceola Band appeared for the first time in the new uniforms procured for its members, when it came out Friday afternoon to make music for the Jr. O. U. A. M. flag raising. To say that the boys looked handsome is but to repeat what everybody who saw them said. The uniforms are of dark green with a stripe of gilt braid down the leg and bars of black braid across the breast, the cap being ornamented with the word "Osceola" in gilt letters. The suits fit splendidly, and this part of the work reflects credit upon Frank Wilson, the King Clothier, who took the measures for them. Greenville is justly proud of the excellent band and its fine equipment.

NOTICE.

This is to state that the firm of Drs. O'Hagan & Laughinghouse has not been dissolved. The only change made is, that for the better convenience of our patrons we have established a down town office.

Dr. O'Hagan will occupy the old stand. Dr. Laughinghouse will occupy the new office situated on Fourth street, just behind Frank Wilson's clothing store in the Perkins block of buildings where the old post office used to be.
