Toads and Frogs.

Some traits of "The Mediaeval Toad" were recounted in a paper written by Mrs. Frances M. Butler of Snow Hill, Md., and read by Mrs. John C. Wrenshall at the monthly meeting of the Baltimore Folklore Society. In the time of Shakespeare, it stated, the toad was credited with secreting a poisonous venom while in hiding which it spat out indiscriminately at man and beast. The cattle plague in England and many mysterious human deaths were attributed to the work of the toad. The spider was supposed to equal the toad in venom, but in these days toads eat spiders with apparent impunity.

The American toad Mrs. Butler stated, is larger, not so dark, and more agile than its English brother. Toads are imported into England from Austria, packed in moss and sold at £3 or £4 a hundred.

In physic the toad, or part of it, has always been credited with great powers. For instance, the right eye of a frog wrapped in russet cloth hung around the neck was supposed to cure the right eye of the wearer of bleariness. The same was true of the left eye of the frog for the left eye of the wearer. A toad, dead or alive, placed at the back of the neck was supposed to stop nose bleed. Dried and powdered, the frog was supposed to be an irresistible love philter.

It is related of the American Indians that they believed that a council of the gods was held for producing light at night. The whippoorwill made the moon out of a large frog, and the coldness of the moon is attributed to the frog's natural coldness.

Another tradition related of savage tribes is that the toad quarreled with the woodpecker and caused the Deluge. It is said that they disputed over honey which the toad was induced to climb a tree in order to obtain. Then the woodpecker knocked the toad out of the tree, and in revenge the toad drank up all the water on earth, leaving the birds dry and thirsty. In a subsequent quarrel the toad incautiously lanced about and burst, and the water covered the earth in a flood.

In Maryland the bite of a toad is considered poisonous, if not deadly. An old superstition is that handling toads will cause warts to grow on the hands.—Baltimore Sun.

At the Opera House.

The Lehr & Williams Comedy Co., comprising 18 people will open a week's engagement next Monday, Feb'y 12th, in repertoire at popular prices: 15, 25 and 35 cents. Each reserved seat bought before 6 P. M. Monday entitles the holder to bring a lady free. The seats went on sale this morning and up to 4 P. M. 80 had been taken and the advance man, Mr. Brause had to phone his manager for more tickets, as they were going fast.

Big Crowd But Ordinary Show

Alba Heywood gave his entertainment here Thursday night and was greeted by the largest audience that has assembled in the present opera house. Not a reserved seat was left unsold and many extras were put in. Heywood's impersonations, Ulrich's cello solo and Miss Monroe's violin playing were good, but on the whole the entertainment fell far below expectation and was entirely too short to be worth the price. It is a much overrated company.

Here's a Danger.

With towns all around us getting factories and Greenville not getting any it is not hard to see where this town will be the loser. People naturally seek towns in which factories are operated, for advantages of business are better there. So the danger that confronts Greenville is that if the town will try to go on without factories some of the people already here may be taken from us to the towns that have factories.

Some men will exercise for hours with Indian clubs and dumbbells, and kick like steers if asked to carry up a suttleful of coal.

Robbed by Highwaymen.

M. M. Perry, who has a stall in the Raleigh market, was held up and robbed by highwaymen early yesterday morning near Rocky Mount. Mr. Perry was returning from Nashville, where he had sold a number of horses Tuesday, and started out to walk from Rocky Mount to South Rocky Mount, intending to board a train at the latter place for Raleigh. When about midway between the two towns he was stopped by three masked men, who, at the point of their pistols, relieved him of a large sum of money—between $600 and $800.—Raleigh Post.

His Father Dead.

Thursday afternoon Mr. Hugh W. Holcombe received a telegram from Danville announcing the death of his father. He left at once through the country for Tarboro to catch a night train there for Danville.

Outside Capital.

The Newbern Journal has an excellent editorial on the subject of a community waiting for outside capital to help build it up. Having discussed the subject before, and on the same line, this article naturally interests us. Our New Bern contemporary says: The town that waits for outside capital to come in and build it up has a long period of do-nothing before it and its best workers, the growing generation are going to desert such places just as soon as they can get away. This is certainly true. A live man is not going into a dead community to settle, and any live men in such community are going to move out pretty soon. What needs to be preached to our Southern communities before all else is the gospel of self-help. We may take Charlotte for an example—a good deal of outside capital and quite a number of Northern and Eastern residents are here; they were cordially welcomed when they came and are as much a part of the community as if they were born here. But there is no reason to suppose that these men or their money would be here except it had been seen that Charlotte was doing something for herself; that her own enterprise and money were at work, and the outlay of these made this an inviting field for investment and residence.

It has been said before—it is no new proposition—that the gods help those who help themselves. A community may sit on its haunches and howl until doomsday for outside capital, but the outside world will never do anything for it until it exhibits a purpose to do something for itself.—Charlotte Observer.

THE REFLECTOR would suggest that Greenville folks read this article over several times before laying it aside.

Congress Has Said "Thanks" to Two Women.

The bill offering the thanks of Congress to Miss Hellen Gould for her kindness to the soldiers during the late war will probably pass both houses without opposition. Only two women have ever received the thanks of congress. The first was Dollie Madison, for having saved the original draft of the declaration of independence and Gilbert Stuart's portrait of Washington at the time the White House was captured by the British army and burned in 1814. In 1878 a similar honor was conferred upon Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson, of New York City, in acknowledgment of her gift of Frank Carpenters picture of President Lincoln and cabinet signing the emancipation proclamation.—Chicago Record.

THE AMENDMENT.

The following is the amendment to article 6 of the State constitution, adopted by the General Assembly of 1899, and to be submitted to the voters for ratification next August:

Section 1. That article VI of the constitution of North Carolina be and the same is hereby abrogated and in lieu thereof shall be substituted the following article of said constitution:

ARTICLE VI.

SUFFRAGE AND ELIGIBILITY TO OFFICE—QUALIFICATIONS OF AN ELECTOR.

Section 1. Every male person born in the United States, and every male person who has been naturalized, twenty-one years of age, and possessing the qualifications set out in this article, shall be entitled to vote at any election by the people in the State, except as herein otherwise provided.

Sec. 2. He shall have resided in the State of North Carolina for two years, in the county six months, and in the precinct, ward or other election district in which he offers to vote, four months next preceding the election; Provided, That removal from one precinct, ward or other election district to another in the same county, shall not operate to deprive any person of the right to vote in the precinct, ward or other election district from which he has removed, until four months after such removal. No person who has been convicted, or who has confessed his guilt in open court upon indictment of any crime the punishment of which is, or may hereafter be, imprisonment in the State prison, shall be permitted to vote, unless the said person shall be first restored to citizenship in the manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 3. Every person offering to vote shall be at the time a legally registered voter as herein prescribed and in the manner hereinafter provided by law, and the General Assembly of North Carolina shall enact general registration laws to carry into effect the provisions of this article.

Sec. 4. Every person presenting himself for registration shall be able to read and write any section of the constitution in the English language; and, before he shall be entitled to vote, have paid on or before the first day of March of the year in which he proposes to vote, his poll tax as prescribed by law, for the previous year. Poll taxes shall be a lien only on assessed property, and no process shall issue to enforce the collection of the same except against assessed property.

Sec. 5. No male person who was, on January 1, 1867, or at any time prior thereto, entitled to vote under the laws of any State in the United States wherein he then resided, and no lineal descendant of any such person, shall be denied the right to register and vote at any election in this State by person of his failure to possess the educational qualifications prescribed in section 4 of this article: Provided, he shall have registered in accordance with the terms of this section prior to December 1, 1908. The General Assembly shall provide for a permanent record of all persons who register under this section on or before November 1, 1908, and all such persons shall be entitled to register and vote at all elections by the people in this State, unless disqualified under section 2 of this article: Provided, such persons shall have paid their poll tax as required by law.

Sec. 6. All elections by the people shall be by ballot, and all elections by the General Assembly shall be viva voce.

Sec 7. Every voter in North Carolina, except as in this article disqualified, shall be eligible to office, but before entering upon the duties of the office he shall take and subscribe the following oath: "I, ———, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and maintain the constitution and laws of the United States, and the constitution and laws of North Carolina not inconsistent therewith, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office as ——— So help me, God."

Sec. 8. The following classes of persons shall be disqualified for office: First, all persons who shall deny the being of Almighty God. Second, all persons who shall have been convicted or confessed their guilt on indictment pending, and whether sentenced or not, under judgments suspended, of any treason or felony, or any other crime for which the punishment may be imprisonment in the penitentiary, since becoming citizens of the United States, or corruption and malpractice in office, unless such person shall be restored to the rights of citizenship in a manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 9. This act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

The town of McAlester in the Indian Territory, says The New York Tribune, "has a population of more than seven thousand, all of them squatters, who hope that eventually the Federal Government will ratify their title to the property of which they have taken possession. They have no Mayor, no Town Marshal, no Aldermen, no police. There never was a survey of the ground made for town purposes. Yet they have built up fine residences, for a frontier settlement; the houses are built in rows that leave wide a fairly regular streets; the people lead moral lives and are law-abiding in spirit, though there are no particular laws for them to abide by. A stranger in the city would never suspect that the place was not fully organized and furnished with all the modern municipal machinery."

An electoral system which will put a premium upon thrift and marriage is about to be inaugurated in Belgium. Under this new plan every man between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five years who shall pay one dollar a year in taxes will be entitled to vote one ballot; married men over twenty-five years of age will have two ballots each, and if such married men shall own real estate or Government bonds or saving bank deposits producing an income of $20 a year they will have three ballots each.

His Eye Popped Out.

James H. Minnigan was entertaining company at his home on Melvin street Tuesday evening when he took his handkerchief from his pocket and blew his nose. Those present were horrified to see his left eye pop out of its socket and hang by the ligaments down his cheek. One young woman fainted. Minnigan pushed the eye back into the socket and doing so carried the eyelid in with it. He was blind for some time and the pain was great. Dr. D. B. Smith had him removed to the Cleveland General Hospital, took the eye out and replaced it properly.—Cincinnati Dispatch.

At the risk of her life, Miss Mary White held Mrs. William Foley a would be suicide, suspended from a third story window, at Winsted, Conn., until help came.

The farmers of the county will hold their anti-trust convention here tomorrow. Both the tobacco and fertilizer trusts are to receive attention.

Rev. D. W. Davis, of the Christian church, will preach in the opera house here Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours for worship.

Cotton at 8 cents sounds all right compared with what the farmers have been getting for it. But the trouble is that there is so little of it left to be sold at the advance.

The Greene County Standard brings forward Capt. Swift Galloway, of Snow Hill, as a candidate for Congress in the second district. You do not find much better Democrats than the Captain.

Liveryman J. F. King owns a mule that had a very large tumor in the stomach. Thursday he got Dr. Moye to cut it out, and says he thinks the mule will recover and be all right. The tumor weighed nearly 25 pounds.

The Reflector Book Store has been appointed as one of the depositories for furnishing school books. We have just received a large shipment of such books as are used in both the public and private schools of this county, and are ready to fill orders. When you want anything in the way of books and school supplies come to the Reflector Book Store.

FOR RENT—Dwelling House, on Greene street now occupied by Mrs. Foley. Apply to MISS A. M. PERKINS.

Massachusetts has already spent several hundred thousand dollars in the effort to suppress the gypsy moth, and is now told that it will take $200,000 a year more for two years, and a less sum for several years to come. All this is the outcome of a few specimens imported for scientific purposes. They gave the Professor the slip and went into business on their own account.—Wilmington Star.

NOTICE.

Ex-Gov. Jarvis and Mrs. Jarvis returned Thursday evening from their visit to Currituck.

Had The Same Husband.

Mrs. Missouri Brown, of Woodford S. C., finds the matrimonial relations of her two daughters so complicated that she has written Governor McSweeney for assistance. These daughters, within ten years, married the same man, who in that interval, also wedded a girl in North Carolina.

In 1889 Charles Furtick married her eldest daughter, Illinois, and after living together for a year separated. Furtick then went to Bristow, N. C., and married a Miss Huskind.

Last year, under the name of W. W. Furtick and much changed in appearance, Mrs. Brown says, her son-in-law returned to Woodford. She did not know him, and he paid court to her youngest daughter, Frances.

Mrs. Furtick No. 1 was then living in the country and did not see her husband. Francis was only a child when Furtick married her sister and had no recollection of him. On October 23 last they were married.

It was some weeks before Mrs. Brown had her suspicions aroused and then only because of information that reached her about wife No. 2, in North Carolina. She wrote to the father of Miss Huskind, and called the eldest daughter the first wife into consultation. As a result the two women swore out a warrant for Furtick's arrest for bigamy. Furtick got away.—Columbia Dispatch, to Philadelphia Record.

Capital Indefinitely Multiplied.

The man who doubles his money every time he invests it is usually thought to be doing a satisfactory business; but what must be thought of the more fortunate individual who indefinitely multiplies the capital he invests? He does not woo fickle Fortune, but deals only with a material certainty. He is the man who advertises. Every dollar expended in advertising brings many scores of dollars in profit to the investor.—Philadelphia Record.

Startling Instances.

Last week a delinquent subscriber said he would pay up if he lived. He died. Another said: "I will see you to-morrow." He's blind. Still another said: "I'll pay you this week or go to the devil." He's gone. There are hundreds who ought to take warning of these procrastinators and pay up now.—Nindley (S. D.) Slope.
