B. F. Manning & Co have a lot of excellent oats just received. Farmers in need of any to sow this spring can get any kind from them, either black, white, or ninety day.

A. G. Cox has never sold his two fine black colts, yet. They are three years old and almost an exact match. He will either sell them or trade for a good draft mule.

Mrs. McCullen, of Goldsboro, has been visiting the Misses Weston, of this place this week. Although she is about eighty years old, she is as jolly and active as a girl.

WON'T TURN A TAP.—Going into A. G. Cox Mfg. Co's work shop yesterday we noticed that instead of screwing screws and turning taps the old way, the boys have a lattle contrivance which runs with a belt and just does the work about as fast as six hands could do it the old way. It is plain that it is not laziness made the boys think up this wrinkle, but there is just so much work to be done that they had to make some shift. Necessity is the mother of invention. Now they don't turn a tap.

Hurrah! for the town. We got the spelling match last night. A. G. Cox claims to be a modern speller, but says he thinks that the man who can spell a word the most ways should stand up the longest. He also thinks that a lot of the words given out have just been made or are out of date. This brings to mind the old saying: "A drowning man will catch at a straw."

After Twenty Years

The return of a man after twenty years absense from his native place with "nary" a word from him is like one returning from the dead. A supprise all around.

On Thursday morning there rolled in on No. 36 Mr. Holmes Harmon who some twenty years or more ago, quietly left for parts unknown, leaving no word behind him as to his whereabouts, and so completely had he shut himself out from the home of his childhood that never a word came back to his friends as to what had become of him. A Rip Van Winkle indeed and the arrival must have been as much of a surprise to him as was the waking of the twenty years sleep to the famous character of Irving's tale.

He comes back to find his children some of them married and some of them gone to their last resting place. He comes back to find his wife, who had given him up for dead, married to another man.

Mr. Harmon was well known about here and has many relatives in Cleveland county who will be surprised at his returning. Coming up on the the train he asked the name of the next station and on being told Grover said he had never heard of that place. If he had been told Whittaker he doubtless would have known where he was. Mr Harmon is engaged in hunting up his old acquaintances. —King' Mountain Oracle.

Heavy From Taking Iron.

You must stir early and often if you get ahead of a Greenville boy. Alfred Schultz, a little son of Mr. S. M. Schultz, was slightly ailing and a tonic of iron was recommended by the family physician. The little fellow took his medicine all right, and yesterday rather astonished the household by remarking: "Mama, I'm getting so heavy it makes me tired." "Why, what's the trouble, son?" the mother inquired. "Oh, I'm taking so much iron," he promptly replied, and his ready wit brought down the house.

Trying to Improve It.

During this week quite a number of complaints have come from subscribers that THE REFLECTOR carriers have failed to deliver their papers. Owing to sickness we have had to make some changes in the carriers and we are trying our best to make boys do their duty and deliver the papers. We want every subscriber to get his paper promptly and appreciate their telling us of any failure, for then it helps us to correct the trouble. It sometimes happen that the papers are stolen after the carrier leaves them at the door.

A glance at Kentucky ought to assure Aguinaldo that the Filipinos have no monopoly of the movable capital idea.

The wheels of the Republican machine will be greased with "Standard Oil" this fall, just as they have been in former elections.

The President, it is said, has yielded to the wishes of his party and consented to deprive Porto Rico of the privileges to which he, two months ago, declared her entitled by every consideration of justice and fair dealing.

Philadelphia seems to have bunched the Republican National Committee. So far, by the most strenuous efforts, that city has raised only $12,000 in cash and $40,000 in promises towards the $100,000 bonus that it offered for the national convention. Merchants there will not put up the cash to secure such a cut-and-dried affair as the convention will be.

The promoters of the ship subsidy steal are straining every nerve to get votes for their measure. At first they carried things with a high hand, announcing that the bill was going through with a rush and that all who didn't get on the band wagon at once were likely to get left. Day by day, however, the measure has lost strength and now it is extremely doubtful whether it will pass at all. The farmers of the middle west have seriously damaged its prospects.

The new Hay-Pauncefote treaty is a gem of diplomacy—from a British point of view. The United States is to do all the work, pay all the money, accept all the responsibility, and then when war comes is to permit its enemies free use of the canal on equal terms with itself. Nay, more, it is not to fortify its property and is consequently to leave it free to seizure by any superior naval power with which it may go to war. In other words if it wars with Great Britain or any other stronger naval power, the canal may be seized and used by that power and not by the United States at all. And all these things are conceded in order to secure the formal consent of Great Britain to abrogate a treaty which she has already broken!

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9, 1900.

That English diplomacy is away ahead of English military generalship has once more been proven by the Nicaragua Canal treaty, sent to the Senate this week, which instead of being received with shouts of approval, as Mr. McKinley seemed to think it ought to be, has been met with stern protests, even from supporters of the administration. Although England is in a position where it would have agreed to almost anything proposed by this government, which is almost its only friend among the nations of the world, the English diplomats got exactly what they wanted. To reduce the treaty to every day language, England graciously agrees that we shall build the Nicaragua Canal with American money, provided that she and all other nations shall have equal use of the canal both in peace and in war and that the U. S. agrees never to fortify either end of the canal. Unless many Senators change their present attitude, this treaty will not be ratified, unless its present jug-handled features are cut out. The sentiment in both branches of Congress, regardless of party, favors the construction of the Nicaragua Canal by this government, provided that we have absolute control of it, which means, of course, the right to close it to our enemies in time of war.

After all their bluff and bluster the republican Senators are afraid of going before the country squarely on the issue of the single gold standard, and this week the majority of the Finance committee reported the old international bimetallic amendment as an amendment. The amendment, which merely says that the bill is not intended to place any obstacle in the way of the accomplishment of international bimetallicism, is too palpable a humbug to fool any man, but it is intended to ease the consciences of such so-called republican bimetallicists as Senator Chandler, who was instrumental in getting the amendment reported, and to give such western silver republicans a scare to take advantage of it an opportunity to sneak into the gold camp.

The activity of those who are scheming to add to the already enormous amount of money paid by this government for pensions may be judged when Senator Gallinger, chairman of the Senate committee on Pensions, who is ultra-liberal in his ideas on the subject, publicly states that if the bills now before his committee should become laws it would bankrupt the country to make the payments.

The Nicaragua Canal treaty having failed to produce any change in the strong Boer sentiment in Congress, the administration has become alarmed. It is afraid that Congress will adopt some resolution that will force it into taking some step to save the Boers from extinction before the English get troops enough on the ground to deliver a crushing blow, and in order to gain time for the English, it is allowing the impression to get out that it intends to do something in the mediatory line under The Hague treaty, which was this week ratified by the Senate, when that document becomes effective, which will not be until after ratifications have been exchanged by the signatory powers.

After an imposing military funeral, attended by all the prominent officials of the government and the greater portion of Congress the body of Gen. Henry W. Lawton, who was recently killed in the Philippines, was buried at Arlington cemetery this afternoon.

In a speech at Greenfield, Mass. Mr. Bryan said: "In 1896 you heard Republicans talk as if every Democrat, Populist or silver Republican was a disturber of the peace and a dangerous man, and yet, when this nation was involved in a war with Spain and a Republican President called for volunteers you anarchists of 1896 made up the majority of the army of 1898. The majority of the 200,000 volunteers were men who had voted against the President in 1896. I believe most Republicans are patriotic, but their leaders and editors do not give the people an accurate understanding of the situation." The favorite argument of the McKinleyites in 1896 was that Mr. Bryan was an anarchist and Altgeld and Debs were the real leaders of the Democratic party. No men can be deceived by these alarmist charges this year. Mr. Bryan is no longer the bugaboo to Eastern business men he was four years ago.—Charlotte News.

WINE OF CARDUI

HEALTHY OLD AGE.

LARD, BENTON CO. ARK., Aug. 4.

I am 49 years old and have been suffering with Change of Life. I had flooding spells so bad that none thought I could live. My husband got me Wine of Cardui and it saved my life. I am like another person since taking it.

MRS. E. B. TOWNSEND.

WINE OF CARDUI

It is the devout wish of nearly all people to live to a ripe old age. None of us want to die young. This universal desire can be realized if care be taken of the health in early and middle life. A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. It is for women alone to decide whether they will be healthy or sick. The remedy for their sickness is close at hand.

The weather has been very threatening today but promises to be better after awhile. Out west the inhabitants are catching blizzards.

The County Tobacco Growers Convention and anti-trust meeting here today had a large attendance. The meeting continued so late that we cannot give any proceedings this issue.

Water for Communion Service.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale, the venerable pastor of the South Congregation church, has brought about a radical departure in the communion service at his church by substituting water for wine. Dr. Hale has been desirous for many years to bring about this change and when the communicants tasted ordinary water in place of the grape juice at the service last Sunday there was considerable comment. Dr. Hale explained the matter to the congregation by saying that, in accordance with his earnest desire of some years, the officers of the church had decided to use water in the communion.

"This is a mere matter of detail," he said. "The use of wine is in no way essential to the communion. At the great national conferences of the Unitarian Church I administered communion with water. Christ in His life on earth took the cup and drank the wine of the country. In every land it is customary to use in the communion service the beverage of the country, and thank God, water has now come to be the beverage of America."

Dr. Hale concluded his remarks with a word in reference to the many persons who find wine either a temptation or an offense and are, therefore, virtually barred from the communion table.—Boston, Mass., Dispatch.

A Live Man Dead Legally.

Judge J. H. Lumpkin, of Atlanta circuit, has decided that a claimant for an estate who is alive is dead legally. The judge said: living in Texas and not knowing until 1896 of his father's death or the division of the estate but where one leaves a State and cuts off all communication with friends and relatives he becomes presumptively at least dead to the world. I scarcely think the statute of relation will hardly stop and wait on him any more than the village of Falling Water awaited the awakening of Rip Van Winkle or the wife of Enoch Arden awaited his return. Besides he returned in 1896 and knew the facts or could have known them fully, but did not sue till 1899.

A MEAN LOOKING LETTER-HEAD

Has lost many a dollar for business men. If a man is judged by the coat he wears, he is also judged by the letter-head he uses. An artistic, nicely printed letter-head may be looked on as a good investment.

It will be done right. The price for doing it will be right, too.
