Terrible Affair at Carthage.

News has just leaked out on last Friday night a negro named Geo. Ritter was taken from his home seven miles this side of Carthage by a party of masked men, and after being horribly mutilated, he was hung up to a tree and riddled with bullets. The little community near where the deed took place is said to be greatly stirred up and horrified over this revolting crime and have been trying to keep knowledge of it from the outside world, while making tremendous efforts to apprehend the perpetrators. It is thought that Ritter met his death at the hands of moonshiners, who believed that he had informed on them.—Fayetteville Observer.

THE STRONGEST MAN YET.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

The names of some estimable gentlemen have been mentioned in your paper as suitable persons to be nominated for the office of Sheriff.

We are of the opinion, however, that the strongest and most available man has not been named yet.

The ticket should be headed this year, we believe, by a man who possesses at least the following qualifications: 1. He must be a man of the people, popular, well and favorably known throughout the county and with some personal magnetism about him. 2. He must be thoroughly competent to discharge well and faithfully the duties of the office of Sheriff. 3. He must be Democratic to the core, but not domineering or overbearing and thus drive the people from him. 4. He must be a man of character, of sterling personal worth, in whom every man has confidence, and against whom little can be said. 5. He must not be a broken down politician, but a man who has succeeded in his own personal business, and therefore has promise of success in administering the affairs of a public office.

With a man possessing these requisite at the head of our ticket, it will be a vote winner and keep old Pitt where she now is and naturally belongs in the Democratic columns.

Permit us now to name the above described man in the person of S. M. Jones, of Bethel township

He has served you before. You know him. We know no reason why any man in Pitt county should vote against Sol. Jones.

Now lets nominate him and make success doubly sure.

WHITE SUPREMACY.

Awful Crime.

In Wake county Wednesday night a negro preacher named Tom Jones went to the home of a negro woman, knocked her and her oldest daughter in the head with an axe, set fire to the beds and besides burning the building and the two bodies mentioned, burned alive four smaller children. Two children, escaped from the burning building after the fiend left. One of them was awakened when he struck her mother with the axe and recognized him. The man was arrested. For such a horrible crime it will be impossible to inflict punishment upon him that is too severe.

A Smile in Each.

SATURDAY MARCH 24, 1900.

The war in the Philippines is over, of course. We know this because the administration told us long ago that it would be by this time. But ambushes, casualties, captures and so on, continue with distressing frequency.

The United States is on a gold basis. Will some good goldbug arise and explain just how it differs from the time when it was not on a gold basis? Is it any more prosperous, or is its credit any higher today than it was a month ago?

In the opinion of the Supreme Court, Texas manages to manage the trusts without any particular difficulty. Yet the Republicans tell us that the United States is powerless to do so without an amendment to the Constitution, which will postpone all real consideration of the question until after the election this fall.

It now seems that the assassination of Goebel was really part of a gigantic plot in which Republican state officials were involved. The chances are, however, that it was not intended to kill the late governor, but only to create a disturbance which would give an excuse for calling out the troops. But the tool exceeded his instructions, and the conspirators must suffer for it.

Now it turns out that the United States Consul General in South Africa, acting at the instance of Presidents Kruger and Steyn, called to President McKinley previous to the Boer war, asking him to use his good offices to prevent hostilities, and that our noble President, who is so solicitous about unnecessary bloodshed, absolutely ignored the communication. It seems about time for Mr. Hay to explain.

In the ship subsidy bill, which the Republicans will allow to go over to the next session, the United States starts on a course of action unprecedented in the history of the world. No nation heretofore has ever granted subsidies to vessels already built and running without any return whatever except the right to buy them in time of war at enormously exaggerated prices.

Attorney General Griggs has opened bids for building a prison in Atlanta, submitted by ten favored firms. The contract was not advertised and no one was allowed to compete without a strong political pull. Evidently there is money in it for some one.

Despite all warnings, the chances are that the Porto Rican bill will pass the Senate substantially unchanged. The Republicans are wedded to their trust idols and prefer to antagonize the country rather than antagonize the men who will subscribe to the campaign funds, on the principle that it is easier to fool the people than to fool the millionaires. But they may find that they are mistaken.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 23, 1900.

Republican Senators are still in dead lock on the Porto Rican tariff and the key is yet to be found. Some of the republican Senators have been whipped into the support of the tariff against their own convictions and against the expressed wishes of their constituents, but there are still about a dozen who hold out for free trade and who say they will vote with the Democrats for a free trade amendment. The bill giving back to Porto Rico the money which has been and is being unjustly taken away from its inhabitants under the Dingley tariff has become a law, but what is to become of the other and more important Porto Rico bill is yet to be determined. Mr. McKinley and every member of his Cabinet are now openly working to get votes for the tariff, in the face of their official record as advocates of free trade with the island. Democrats are taking no part in the mess, realizing that the republicans are making democratic votes by thousands and being willing to let it go at that until the time comes to vote.

Although hampered by the republican members of the House Military Committee, which is investigating the use of Federal troops in the Idaho mining troubles last year, Representatives Lentz and Sulzer have succeeded in showing that the troops were extremely brutal in treatment of men arrested; that warrants of arrest, similar to the infamous French lettres de cachet, with the space for the name left blank were signed and issued to constables in quantities, and that, although there is a State law against discrimination against either union or non-union miners, no man could work in the mines of the Couer d'Alene country without a permit, and no member of a labor union could secure a permit. This isn't a showing to be proud of, and the investigation isn't over yet.

Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, thus stated his position on the trust question: "It would be foolish for me to waste time to make an anti-trust speech. The entire matter may be summed up in a single sentence. This is not a new issue. The first anti-trust speech was made about 4,000 years ago by an old gentleman named Moses, when he wrote upon the tablets of stone the inspired words, 'Thou shalt not steal.'"

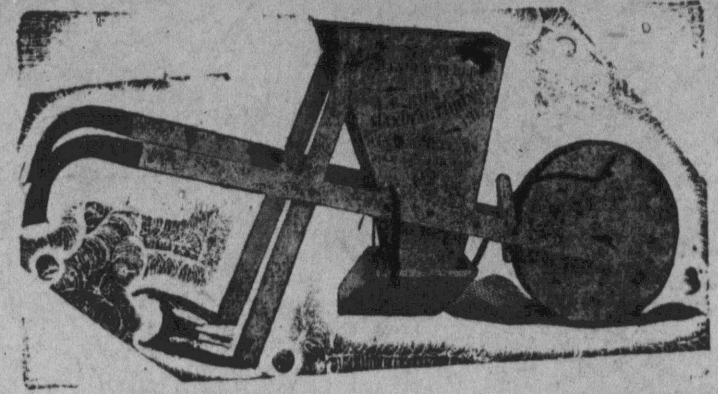

Hon. Hoke Smith, of Georgia, who was in Washington on private business, was asked to state his views on the political outlook and said: "The people of Georgia are too busy making money to pay much attention to politics, but they solid for the regular democratic nominee for President, be he Mr. Bryan or any one else. Of course we all believe it will be Mr. Bryan, Georgia, and I think the South generally, is dead against imperialism, and will vote that way."

Mr. McKinley has requested Gen. Joe Wheeler to withdraw his resignation and remain in the army but Gen. Wheeler has not yet decided to do so. He has been given to understand that if he will remain in the army he can have a brigadiers' commission in the regular army, or rather be retired with that rank.

An Extraordinary Accident.

Mr William M. Hamer, of Dillon S. C. met with an extraordinary and a very serious accident at the Holt-Williamston cotton mill yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hamer was passing through the city on his way to New York to purchase machinery for a new cotton mill at Dillon in which he is largely interested, and having a few hours to spare, in company with his kinsman, Dr. E. Floyd he went to inspect the Holt-Williamston mill. Mr. E. H. Williamson courteously took them in charge and was in the act of describing the machinery in a carding room when a buckle flew of a belt and struck Mr. Hamer in the head just over the ear with violent force, knocking him senseless, and inflicting a severe wound. Medical aid was summoned, and he was at once removed to Dr. Floyd's residence on Hay street. It is impossible as yet to distinguish the extent of the injury, but it is thought that, in diffidence to the members of his family and his father, who arrived here this morning, that he was able to bear the journey home this afternoon.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., Nov. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

Boston's Aldermen have never been accused of backwardness. In the Common Council the other day one of them offered a resolution providing that the city should be represented at the Paris Exposition by a delegation of seven Aldermen, and that the United States Government should be requested to detail a suitable war ship to carry the distinguished party across the Atlantic.

If fate has denied to any woman a home, a husband and a baby, let her take up art, or medicine, or blacksmithing, as she chooses, and try sincerely to make the best out of her life that she can. The Manufacturer Who Pays Fair Wages is the True Benefactor.

It is no exaggeration to say that the use of money is a test of character and a revelation of a man's nature, writes Ian Maclaren of "The Genteel Tramps in Our Churches" in the April Ladies Home Journal. "There are men who lose money by their foolishness—Wastrells; there are men who spend it on their vices—Prodicals; there are men who hoard it with jealousy—Misers; there are men who lay it out on well doing—they are the Wise Men. When I say well doing I am not thinking of that unreasoning and indiscriminate charity which, whether it takes the form of alms to a lazy vagabond or a large benefaction for the creation of paupers, is a curse and not a blessing, a sin and not a duty. We are not to read it in a mechanical fashion the advice of our Lord to the young ruler to sell his possessions and give the poor, for though that might have been the only pledge of sincerity he could give in that day, it would be a great calamity in our day.

Whatever may have been the case in ancient times, there can be no question that in our day the man who establishes a manufactory in a small town and pays fair wages does ten times more good than he who would use his wealth to found an almshouse."

Advertisements Which Win.

The advertisement which is constructed in the same manner as the store window is dressed, is the one that catches the eye and good results. As it is impossible to display in the window the whole of the contents of the store, so it is advisable not to attempt to catalogue the entire stock of a mercantile establishment in the advertisement. Give the advertisement generous space, but also give the eye opportunity to readily observe its special features.—Philadelphia Record.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

Just over the border in Chester field county, South Carolina, four men enticed a woman from her home, carried her into the woods near by, assaulted with knives and her flesh almost carved off, and was then saturated with oil and set on fire.

Two citizens of Emporia, Va., while walking along a country road were murdered and robbed by two tramps, one a white man and the other a negro. The tramps were arrested.

School Closed.

The public school at Red Banks, which has been under the management of Miss Bessie Jarvis, closed its spring term Friday afternoon.

Miss Jarvis gave her school a delightful afternoon party, which was largely attended by Greenville people.

Miss Jarvis is one of Pitt county's best teachers, possessing those splendid qualities which make teaching a success both to teacher and pupils. The people of Red Banks are to be congratulated for having so excellent a teacher.

Daughters of Confederacy.

The Singletary Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, were given a charming reception by Mrs. F. G. Whaley at her residence in South Greenville, on Thursday afternoon, where a feast of good things for mind and body arranged by their most charming hostess, held the members until a late hour.

Mrs. Jarvis, the president, read sundry extracts from Pollard's "lost cause." After which a paper entitled "Causa Belli" written by herself with blanks to be filled with the names of as many Confederate Generals—to keep up the connected narrative—was submitted to each member. This was by no means an easy task, and the minds of a score of talented woman were held in close tension for half an hour; when the printed story was taken up. It was found that Mrs. J. L. Little came first on the roll of honor, she having filled every blank but one, Mrs. Grimes came next with only two missing and Mrs. Whaley and Miss Winnie Skinner with three unfilled.

In solving the enigma presented by the hostess, Mrs. Grimes, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Bowen and Mrs. Jarvis each unravelled the mystery within the given time. Drawing for the premium Mrs. Bowen was the successful contestant.

Before adjournment, the Chapter gratefully accepted an invitation to meet with Miss O'Hagan on Thursday the 19th of April.

You might call a girl pretty without thinking of her in that way.
