STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

J. J. Newman, a prominent miner in Rowan county, committed suicide by blowing up his house with dynamite, himself in it.

There is plenty of smallpox talk in the central section of the State, with many new cases being reported.

Dr. Richard H. Lewis, secretary to the State board of health says he expects that by reason of the many and large political gatherings this year their will be a spread of smallpox.

Since April 1 nearly 20,000 Italian immigrants have arrived in this country.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

Siamese Minister Phya Prasadhi was yesterday received by the President.

Richard Croker says that he will sail from England for New York on May 15.

The Ohio Legislature has ignored the proposition for a State Centennial Exposition.

The annual meeting of the International League of Press Clubs will meet at New York on July 17th.

Governor Roosevelt has signed the bill providing for less hours' work for drug clerks in New York city.

Morgan Boone (colored) was killed by a dozen white men, on a moving train at Slaughterville, Ky., after he had created a panic by flourishing a pistol in the car.

POPULIST TICKET.

Full Ticket Nominated—Skinner Hissed—He and Moye Agree Once.

Raleigh, N. C., April 19.—The Populist State convention completed its labors last night. The ticket nominated is as follows:

For Governor, Dr. Cyrus Thompson, of Onslow; Lieutenant Governor, A. C. Shuford, of Catawba; Secretary of State, J. B. Schulken, of Columbus; Treasurer, W. H. Worth, of Wake; Auditor, Hal W. Ayer, of Wake; Attorney General, H. F. Seawell, of Moore; Superintendent of Public Instruction, N. C. English, of Randolph; Commissioner of Agriculture, J. M. Mewborne, of Lenoir; Commissioner of Labor and Printing, J. Y. Hamrick, of Cleveland; Corporation Commissioners, A. S. Peace, of Granville, chairman, and J. T. Paschall, of Chatham; Electors at Large, R. B. Davis, of New Hanover, W. D. Merritt, of Person; Judge of 11th District, L. L. Witherspoon, of Catawba.

The attendance upon the convention was small and the nominations went begging. Most of them were made by acclamation.

The delegates to the National convention were instructed to vote for Col. W. J. Bryan. When the time arrived to select the delegates at large Col. Harry Skinner, of Pitt, proposed the nomination of Dan Hugh McLean and Lee S. Overman, who are the Democratic nominees. The Colonel was hissed for his suggestion, but he went on to say "To be honest, if we are really for Mr. Bryan we should give him our endorsement in the honest and proper way." Mr. A. J. Moye, of Pitt, said "Harry Skinner and myself have always been enemies. For once Skinner is right and the convention is wrong. The platform is bound to do us harm."

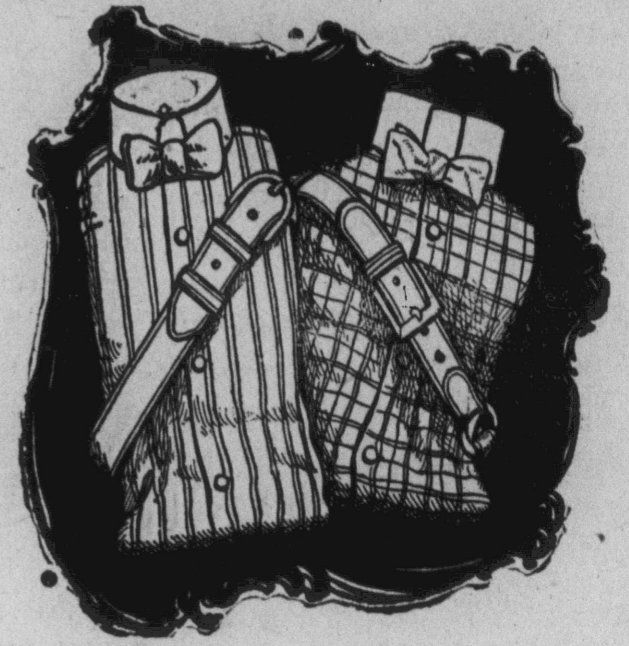

Congressman Southerland, of Nebraska, addressed the convention in an able speech, the worst feature of which was an eulogy of Butler. He steered clear of the amendment and all local matters. He paid Col. W. J. Bryan a high tribute, in part saying "I call your attention to William J. Bryan of Nebraska. He is a wonderful and magnificent man. The people of my State love him. They look to him as the man who is to lead them out of the wilderness and to establish better government and better times."

All Parties Must Favor It.

The Democratic party in its platform adopted last week pledges itself if successful to maintain four months' public school in every school district in the State. The Populist and Republican parties will probably do likewise. "The people are rising from slumber at last" and are determined that proper provision shall be made for the education of the rising generation. Let the good work go on. And let the people hold each party to strict accountability in this matter and repudiate any that dares break faith with the boys and girls of the State and with their parents who are trying to give the advantage they should have credit.

THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1900.

The Democratic nominees are receiving a great ovation in their tour of the State. Mr. J. Bryan Grimes, of Pitt county, the candidate for Secretary of State, is with them, and his home people are gratified at his prominence in the canvass. A Winston correspondent in speaking of him says "Mr. Grimes is an attractive looking man. He is young and handsome. His speech was sensible, forceful and full of feeling. It was received with hearty applause."

When the Worlds Fair was in progress at Chicago there was much ado over the question of keeping it open on Sundays. Public sentiment was against it, and yielding to this sentiment the fair was not run on Sundays. Now there is another great fair in progress—the Paris Exposition starting up last Saturday. Over there but little estimate is placed upon Sunday, it being generally considered the biggest day of the week and a general gala day. This being so it is no more than might be expected that the exposition will run right along on Sunday just like any other day—that is the part over which France has control. It is cause of congratulation, however, that the American exhibits are to be closed on Sunday. And this decision is reached without discussion or controversy such as prevailed over the Chicago fair. It is a credit to the religious idea and custom of America that her department of the display is to be closed on Sunday, regardless of any other country's anti-Sabbath observing views.

The sale of tax tags for commercial fertilizers thus far during the fiscal year by the Agricultural Department have brought in $38,676. This shows that 194,680 tons have been sold. An estimate is made that the total sales for the year will exceed 250,000 tons. This will be 10,000 more than the sales last year great as they were. The sales seven years ago were only 145,000 tons, and during the seven years have aggregated 1,274,727 tons, or 82,675 annually, on an average.

A fellow usually discovers that his views of life are distorted when he first takes up amateur photography.

When a man doesn't blow his own horn it's usually because he either can't raise the wind or is not musical.

There Will Be Another Day.

The New Bern Journal says: The poor "showing" of the editor candidates at the last State Democratic Convention must not be accepted by the politicians as the last appearance of the State press as a claimant for one or more of its editors for public office.

So far as the Editors getting nominations, it was as the Durham Herald calls it, "pretty near a water haul," but it will be just as well to remember that there will be other conventions, where the "haul" may be something more than "water."

Of course the Press will be called upon to perform the usual guard duty in the campaign, and to whip up the unwilling voters into the performance of their duty at election time, which will be done in good order, and without hope of anything except "thanks" from those personally benefitted.

In this particular the Press will not sulk, as might the defeated candidate, but who will consider the party service thus performed, in any light except in that of the regular duty, which the Press owes?

And the Smithfield Herald says: It is in the power of the press of the State to consign the entire Democratic ticket, nominated Wednesday, to a political oblivion—an overwhelming defeat. Not that such a course is probable, but if the claims of this ticket were regarded by the press, as have been the claims of the press before the State conventions of our party, the funeral of Democracy would occur at once.

The members of the newspaper fraternity of the State are too loyal and too patriotic to entertain a thought of this course of action, but aside from the duty they owe to the people, they are bound by no obligations to contribute so materially to the support of the ticket named by our last convention.

The campaign is now on, and neither the lawyers, nor the farmers, nor the "laboring man" will do more efficient work than the unrewarded newspaper man. He will be appealed to by all the candidates. His medium will be in demand his advertising space will be crowded with dead-head notices of political speakings, his type will become worn in the eulogy of the statesmen who are to redeem the State, his pen will be in constant use for the good of the party.

They will meet the demand cheerfully and courageously. None will be more zealous, none more untiringly loyal.

But their only reward will be found in the consciousness of "duty to their people well performed." If they are looking for a more material reward they are doomed to disappointment. Such substantial go to the "farmer," the "lawyer" and the "laboring man."

The Right Way To Drink Water.

Prof. Silkham says there are few people who thoroughly realize the value of water as a beverage, or who know how to obtain greatest advantage from it. The effects produced by the drinking of water vary with the manner in which it is drunk. If, for instance, a pint of cold water be swallowed as a large draught, or if it be taken in too large portions with a short interval between certain definite results follow—effects which differ from those which would have followed if the same quantity were taken by sipping. Sipping is a powerful stimulant to the circulation, a thing which ordinary drinking is not. During the action of sipping the action of the nerve which slow beat of the heart is abolished, and, as a consequence, that organ contracts much more rapidly, and the pulse beats more quickly, and the circulation in various parts of the body is increased. In addition to this, we find that the pressure under which the bile is secreted is raised by the sipping of fluid.

And here is a point which might well be noted by our readers. A glass of cold water slowly sipped will produce a greater acceleration of the pulse for a time than will a glass of wine or spirits taken at a draught. In this connection it may not be out of place to mention that sipping cold water will often allay the craving for alcohol in those who have been in the habit of taking too much of it, and may be endeavoring to reform, the effect being probably due to the stimulant action of the sipping.—Hamilton, Ont., Times.

War Costs Britain $760 a Minute

The following statement of an official of the exchequer shows that the cost of the pending war in South Africa will not only eclipse the expenditures for the Crimean war, but will probably make it the costliest of all Victorian wars:

Taking the estimate of $300,000,000 as well within the limit of probability we find that for a period of nine months this war will cost us at the rate of over $760 a minute, or $5,600 an hour, night and day. Thus, for the purposes of our South African war alone, we are spending at the rate of considerably over $1,500,000 every week, in addition to our normal expenditure of $235,000,000 a year in maintaining our army and fleet and a further $250,000,000 a year in discharge of liabilities for wars in the past.

We thus find ourselves in the strange position of spending on war alone the stupendous sum of $760,000,000 a year, or something like $200,000,000 more than our total revenue for the year.—Collier's Weekly.

in a Coffin-Box.

Mr. Vance Scoggins, of Rutherfordton, who was in Charlotte yesterday, was the informant of a very exciting episode that happened at Rutherfordton last Friday night.

A young man from New York, who had been living in Rutherfordton, died Friday. A cheap coffin was purchased at the undertaker's and a box was made ready for shipment of the body to New York. About 10 o'clock Friday night Messrs. Butler A. Justice, J. D. Justice, his cousin, and Mr. J. H. Wood, the undertaker, left a local restaurant and went to Mr. Wood's establishment. After they had been seated for a few minutes Mr. Wood asked Mr. J. D. Justice to go up stairs and get his screw-driver, which he needed for some purpose. During Mr. Justice's absence Mr. Butler Justice walked into an adjoining room and crawled in the coffin box.

When J. D. Justice returned Butler moaned out in a sepulchral tone of voice: "It's a blamed shame to bury a stranger in such a cheap coffin."

J. D. Justice was startled momentarily, but in a minute he realized the trick. Then he ran over and quickly screwed down the top of the coffin box. The tables were turned on Butler and he begged to be released. By this time the undertaker was so overcome with laughter that he stumbled back aimlessly and knocked over a burning lamp. There was an explosion and at once the room was in flames. Butler's feelings may be imagined. The other two men fought fire desperately, while Butler lay in the coffin box—a prisoner—and yelled loudly and wildly for help.

Finally the flames were extinguished and Butler was "unscrewed"—a badly-scared man, said Mr. Scoggins.—Charlotte observer.

"Dere ought to be two Presidents—one to do business and one to do de handshaking." Such is the opinion of Jerry Smith, an old negro servant at the White House.

To Get Rid of Flies.

People in the country who are annoyed by flies should remember that clusters of the fragrant clover, which grows abundantly by nearly every roadside, if hung in the room and left to dry and shed its faint fragrant perfume through the air, will drive away more flies than sticky saucers of molasses and other fly-traps and fly-papers can ever collect.—New York Tribune.

A SPRING GREETING IN A MERRY MOOD.

Good Fortune Smiles

and you ignore rightful advantages if you do not claim the benefits offered in this Announcement.

Many are the needs that confront you with the advent of Spring. It is concerning these requirements and how they may be secured with satisfaction and economy that we wish to speak. Our new line is now ready. We present the latest and best Spring goods at a scale of uniformly low figures—so low, in fact, that they may be truthfully called, "price concessions." These goods are fully as attractive in style and quality as you are in price, and we are perfectly confident that they will appeal to your best judgment as a careful buyer in every way. This is a conservative statement regarding facts which can be easily substantiated any time you visit our store. Our great desire is to have you call and see our new Spring line. It will speak for itself—the quality and style will be apparent and the price will present its own argument. In extending this invitation we are not urging you to become a buyer on the strength of our statements but to become a visitor. We do not ask you to buy; but bring your experience and best judgment with you and compare our reasonable attractions with your most cherished memories of cheap buying—we'll leave the rest to your own inclination. Our stock is of the practical, popular kind, that shows in a marked degree the evidences of a careful and judicious selection from the best markets. Variety, new novelties, and a thorough up-to-date quality in all things is everywhere apparent. Our Spring goods are marked for quick selling. It is a time for you to decide quickly as to whether you shall select from our full assortment of fresh, desirable styles, or take chances on perfect satisfaction a little later on, when stocks of necessity, must be more or less broken. We should prefer to see you today or tomorrow; later in the season we should be very likely to please you but now we are certain to do so. Remember, such opportunities do not have to wait long for newcomers. A look will convince you these are no idle words—will you call and give it? Yours respectfully,

J. P. CHERRY & CO.
