Big Baptizing

Thirty six colored people were baptized in the river Sunday morning as the result of a revival which has been going on in one of their churches for a couple of weeks.

A woman who had ignored a subpoena to appear as a witness in a case recently tried in Westmoreland, Kan., was brought before the Court by the Sheriff to answer for contempt. "What reason, madam," said the Judge, severely, "have you for not obeying the summons of the Court?" "I hain't got none, Mr. Judge," she replied, "only we have smallpox down at our house, and I thought you might be kinder sorter prejudiced ag'in it." Court was instantly adjourned and the Judge, Sheriff and onlookers stampeded for the outside.

MONDAY, APRIL 23, 1900.

THE REFLECTOR is always glad to note the success of a Greenville boy, and it is noticeable that wherever they go they make their mark and take high rank among their fellows. For some years past there has been an annual debate between representative students of the University of North Carolina and Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn. One of these debates occurred last Friday night. Mr. W. S. Bernard, of Greenville, and Mr. Whitehead Klutz, of Salisbury, were the North Carolina representatives in that debate and we are proud that the North State boys won the contest. Greenville is also proud of Mr. Bernard over his success and his friends extend congratulations.

THE CANDIDATES.

Mr. H. E. C. Bryant, a correspondent of the Charlotte Observer is with the Democratic nominees in their tour of the State. Writing to the Observer about the nominees individually he says:

The candidates one and all have striking characteristics. Mr. Aycock is one of the most delightful, most convincing and most powerful campaign speakers that the State has ever had. His sincerity, his honesty of purpose and his attractive manner win the love and admiration of both friend and foe. He is careful, prudent, wise and fearless. The Republicans have been saying that the Democrats were afraid of the educational clause of the amendment. Mr. Aycock has made his most telling speech on that clause and boldly declares that it will prove a God-send to the people of the State. Instead of dodging the issue, as the Republicans would have one believe he would do, he has courted the fight. There is no man on the side of the enemy that Mr. Aycock could not drive off the stump with convincing argument, based on sound judgment, and the keenest kind of ridicule.

The simplest mind can readily comprehend the meaning and purpose of the amendment from hearing one of Mr. Aycock's speeches. Women who do not keep informed on politics in the least hear him and go away prepared to combat, if necessary, the arguments of the opponents with convincing effect. Such is his power on the stump.

Mr. Turner, as long as he remained with the candidates, made a strong speech, full of sound argument. He is a logical reasoner and a clear-cut speaker.

Mr. J. Bryan Grimes makes a very touching speech. He is not an orator, but a plain, forceful talker. His experience with the negro in Pitt county gives him material for a very convincing speech.

Mr. Lacy makes a vote-winning speech. He is well known by the working men of the State. They adore him. Many Republicans who belong to labor unions go out specially to hear Mr. Lacy. Many of them will vote for him. When once he wins the friendship of a man he keeps it.

Mr. Gilmer is the orator of the ticket. His language is chaste, his use of words telling and his voice as clear and delightful to the ears as a sweet-toned bell. His speeches are always well received.

Major Dixon is an attractive speaker. His use of sarcasm is excellent. He makes his audience think and laugh and cheer. As Mr. Lacy described him the other day in introducing him, he is the noble looking man on the ticket. People like to look upon him.

While the other candidate do the speaking Mr. Varner does the eye to eye canvass. He is not much as an orator, but a power at the button-hole.

Be it known that all the candidates are chafing under the limit of time given on his tour. Each one is restless and eager to get out alone and give some audience about three hours on the amendment.

Duties of Election Boards.

The provision, which is entitled "an act to regulate elections," stipulates that "three discreet persons" shall be appointed by the State board at least three months before the next general election and biennially thereafter to be known as the "county board of election." It is the duty of the county board to appoint all registrars and judges of election in their respective counties, and they have the power to remove any registrar or judge of election appointed by them for incompetency, failure to qualify within the time prescribed by law, failure to discharge the duties of office after qualifying, or for any other satisfactory cause. The county boards hold office at the will of the State boards and members may be removed for cause and fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days for continuance in the exercise of the functions of their offices after having been removed.

The law provides also for the meeting of the county boards not later than the first Monday in May 1900, and biennially thereafter for organization by the election of a chairman and secretary and the division of the county into precincts. They may adopt the present division or may alter it, but there must be at least one polling place in each precinct. Twenty days notice through some public journal must be given of any alteration. An entirely new registration is provided for in the coming election and on or before the first Monday in June and biennially thereafter the county board is required to appoint one registrar for each precinct and on or before the first Monday in July it shall also name two judges of election for each precinct, who shall be men of good character and of different political persuasion. The county board shall also prescribe the size and color of ballots to be voted in such general election and shall furnish to the clerk of the Superior Court twenty five samples of such tickets. The board shall also provide ballot boxes for the several polling places and have general control of the election.

The chairman of the county boards in the various senatorial districts shall meet at a designated place after receiving the general election returns from the board of county canvassers and declare the result of the election of State Senator or Senators, and shall also furnish certificates of election to other successful candidates and qualify county officers so elected on the first Monday in December. The chairman shall also on or before the fifth day after the general election transmit to the Speaker of the House of Representatives the result of the election for State officers.

Chairman of county boards shall receive $1.50 per day for time actually employed, and five cents per mile traveling in actual discharge of duty, payment to be made by the several counties. Members of the county boards are allowed $2 per day for service actually rendered.

Good Sermon on Advertising.

Under the heading quoted, the Cresco (Ia.) Times gives its local merchants a sound talking to on the subject of their publicity. It seems that a number of these gentry have recently been seduced from the plain path of virtue by certain glib "trading check" promoters, who ostensibly proposed to boom the tradesmen's business, but who really served chiefly their own ends. Roseate prospects were painted for their customers' delusion; but one leading merchant after due trial of the scheme, figured that he had lost $300 by it. All of which leads the Times to remark:

"The Times desires to say a word to those business men caught by such transient, futile schemes for advertising, and to those who are so ready to give an ad. to any and all sorts of temporary program, pamphlet or poster enterprises for which they are solicited. Gentlemen, plant your advertisements in the newspapers, where they may be referred to every week. Make a yearly contract with the editors, and tell the public through their columns every week about the special articles suited to the season and service that you have to sell. It will not cost you $300 per year, and you will not say at the end of the year, as those of you who issued checks now say, that it did not add one dollar to your receipts. The newspapers are the best business friends any town can have. What would Cresco have been today, if there had been no papers printed here? What sort of gratitude is it that prompts business men to seek every other avenue in which to advertise, and ignore their best friends?"

"There is no business in the town that promotes its financial importance so much, or that gives so much in gratuitous contributions as the local press. If there is any public or private enterprise projected, the very first thing done is to rush off to the printing office, and get a few free locals into the papers; then, when the editors have paid help, and bought paper, ink, type and machinery, paid for rent, fuel and light to do all this gratuitous work for every society, religious, social and benevolent, in the community, many of the persons granted repeated favors of this class by editors will give every penny's worth of their advertising to some scheme that never benefited them or the community one iota. Is this fair? Is it business-like?"

North Carolina should be rid of the humiliation of being the only State in the American Union that sends a negro to Congress. The presence of White in the House of Representatives emphasizes the necessity for the adoption of the amendment.—Winston Sentinel.

I see in your Semi-Weekly columns a communication advocating me as a suitable candidate for Register of Deeds, to which communication, and "Democrat" I wish to say that I am thankful for the kind words so gratuitously bestowed upon me. But as to my candidacy for the office of Register of Deeds I had not given it a thought because I knew we had in our present incumbent one fully competent and deservingly capable to grace that office. Therefore I hope "Democrat" will take no offense when I say lets nominate Tom Moore. JNO. D. COX

C. S. FORBES.

A SPRING GREETING IN A MERRY MOOD.

Good Fortune Smiles

and you ignore rightful advantages if you do not claim the benefits offered in this Announcement.

Many are the needs that confront you with the advent of Spring. It is concerning these requirements and how they may be secured with satisfaction and economy that we wish to speak. Our new line is now ready. We present the latest and best spring goods at a scale of uniformly low figures—so low, in fact, that they may be truthfully called "price concessions." These goods are fully as attractive in style and quality as you are in price, and we are perfectly confident that they will appeal to your best judgment as a careful buyer in every way. This is a conservative statement regarding facts which can be easily substantiated any time you visit our store. Our greatest regret is to have you call and see our new Spring line. It will speak for itself—the quality and style will be apparent and the price will present its own argument. In extending this invitation we are not urging you to become a buyer on the strength of our statements but to become a visitor. We do not ask you to buy; but bring your experience and best judgment with you and compare our reasonable attractions with your most cherished memories of cheap buying—we'll leave the rest to your own inclination. Our stock is of the practical, popular kind, that shows in a marked degree the evidences of a careful and judicious selection from the best markets. Variety, new novelties, and a thorough up-to-date quality in all things is everywhere apparent. Our Spring goods are marked for quick selling. It is a time for you to decide quickly as to whether you shall select from our full assortment of fresh, desirable styles, or take chances on perfect satisfaction a little later on, when stocks of necessity, must be more or less broken. We should prefer to see you today or tomorrow; later in the season we should be very likely to please you but now we are certain to do so. Remember, such opportunities do not have to wait long for new comers. A look will convince you these are no idle words—will you call and give it? Yours respectfully,

J. B. CHERRY & CO.

Raft in Bridge.

Saturday evening a raft of logs which were being taken from Falkland to Washington ran into the county bridge and jammed so that six men had to work all day Sunday to get them out. No damage was done the bridge by the collision.

A Good Example.

Mr. W. C. Troy said during his speech before the White Supremacy Club last night, that he bought his butter from a Populist and that it was sent to him every Saturday in a tin bucket. He returned the bucket every time full to the brim with Amendment literature.—Fayetteville Observer.

Cahoon Arrested

Today sheriff Mooring received a telegram from the Chief Police of Wilmington that he had arrested J. W. A. Cahoon. Cahoon is the man who some days ago was through this section and swindled several parties about Bethel with bogus checks. The Sheriff leaves for Wilmington Tuesday morning to bring him here.
