Store Robbed.

Some time Saturday night the store of M. Fleming & Co., at Parker's Cross Roads, about two miles across the river from Greenville, was broken into and about thirty dollars worth of goods stolen. The thieves entered the store by prizing open one of the windows, and after helping themselves to what they wanted opened the front door and walked out, leaving the door open.

Mr. Fleming came to Greenville Sunday evening and swore out a search warrant for some colored parties who were suspected as being the guilty ones but they failed to find any of the stolen goods when the house was searched.

"Mendsall" mends everything and will stand hot water. 10 cents a bottle at Reflector Book Store.

Sunday Marriage.

Justice of the Peace W. H. Long performed a wedding ceremony for a couple Sunday afternoon in the Register of Deeds office. The groom was, Mr. J. A. Whitfield, of Martin county and the bride, Miss Josephine Roebuck, of near Parmele.

They drove over to Greenville in a buggy and after securing the license Mr. Long was sent for and tied the knot for them. They returned that evening.

Town Election.

The town election passed off very quietly today, and so far as is known at this writing there was no opposition in any of the wards to any of the nominees. The votes will not be counted until sunset, but it is safe to say that all the nominees have been elected.

WHITE SUPREMACY CLUBS.

All the Townships Organizing.

Speakers from Greenville went out and organized White Supremacy Clubs in several of the townships on Saturday.

CAROLINA.

A club was organized at Stokes with a large membership. Dr. W. E. Warren was made President; John Ross, Vice President and Milton Highsmith secretary. M. R. Eure, of Greenville, addressed the club. The next meeting will be June 23rd. Everybody is invited to attend.

BETHEL.

J. L. Fleming went over to Bethel and organized the club there. Dr. R. J. Grimes was made President, Z. D. McWhorter Vice President, C. James secretary, S. M. Jones treasurer. There was a good attendance.

CONTENTNEA.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale organized the club at Winterville. G. W. Parker was made President, Dr. B. Cox Vice President. The election of a secretary was postponed until next Saturday at 3 o'clock P. M. They are expecting a large crowd at their next meeting and all the ladies are invited to be present.

FARMVILLE.

The club at Farmville was organized by W. F. Harding, R. L. Davis was elected President, W. R. Horne Vice President and W. J. Turnage secretary. They will hold another meeting next Friday night and a large crowd is expected.

PACTOLUS.

The County Democratic candidates spoke as Pactolus on Saturday and after the speaking a club was organized. No officers were elected, as they hold another meeting next Saturday, when the officers will be elected.

SWIFT CREEK.

The club in Swift Creek township was organized with a good membership. Walter Mewborn was made President, Dr. J. E. Nobles Vice President and Walter Harding secretary.

Sunday Services at 6 P. M.

From the Free Press we learn that the Methodist church of Kinston has changed the hour of holding the Sunday evening service during the summer from 8 o'clock to 6 o'clock. Rev. D. H. Turtle, the pastor of the church, gives the following reasons in support of the change:

1. The saving in incidental expenses—cost of lights. Christ taught economy.
2. Lights increase the discomfort of heat, and draw the curse of bugs. The gleam of lights is hurtful to the eyes of many persons.
3. Summer nights are short and all laboring people need one all night of rest, especially those who must rise early.
4. It would leave the Sabbath evening for family union; that being the only evening in the week when all the family can be together in many instances.
5. It holds the preacher to a shorter and sometimes sweeter sermon.

No man is too honest to steal a kiss.

MONDAY, JUNE 4, 1900.

We notice that some of our exchanges which get very much shocked at seeing a person "happen to an accident" do not twitch a muscle when "the dead body" of somebody is found lying around somewhere.

Last week the colored people of Oxford refused to bury one of their race because he had voted a Democratic ticket. The white people took charge of the body and gave it a decent burial. And yet there are some white men who will argue that negroes as ignorant and savage as those of Oxford are fit subjects to have the right to vote. Their conduct is a strong argument for the Constitutional Amendment.

The hotel keepers of Kansas City, the place selected for holding the Democratic National convention on July 4th, are preparing to reap a rich harvest from the delegates. They are charging most exorbitant rates and requiring all engagements of rooms to cover a period of not less than four days, regardless of the number of days the convention will last. Delegates are complaining of this extortion and are urging the National executive committee to change the place of holding the convention. If Kansas City is trying to work this game the place should be changed.

The Cuban scandal gives place to the Paris one. In the latter, as in the former, the causes are identical and similar results inevitably follow, as they will follow in Porto Rico and the Philippines. In each a politician was put in charge of the disposal of immense sums and given a practically free hand at appointing his assistants, and in spending the government money and in each the money has disappeared. It would, perhaps, be pushing the simile too far to say that in each case the administration had denied that it was responsible. That goes without saying. In the case of Paris, over $800,000 of the $1,448,000 appropriated for the commission has been expended without being accounted for. The law appropriating for the exposition is specific in its direction to the commissioner-general to report to Congress a detailed statement of expenditures. Yet the first detailed statement consisted of only 11 items, showing that $240,000 had been spent, the period covered being one year to November, 1899. When the Senate called for more definite and itemized accounts, the expense account was brought up to December 31, 1899, and showed the disbursement of $396,700. Up to that time the total appropriations had reached the sum of $1,280,000 and yet with $800,000 unaccounted for Commissioner General Peck came to Congress and secured an urgent deficiency appropriation of $169,600. The total appropriations for the commission now aggregate $1,448,000, of which less than $400,000 have been accounted for to Congress.

A friend makes the suggestion and it is a good one, that Democrats who subscribe to newspapers containing explanations of the amendment and other good campaign matter, place copies of the same in the hands of others, after they have read them, instead of destroying the papers. Much may be accomplished in this way towards correcting misrepresentation made by the opponents of the amendment.—Winston Journal.

Tears and laughter touch elbows as we journey to the grave. There are absurdities in grief which move to ridiculous smiling, even at the bedside of the dying. The other day a Western man was standing at the bedside of his wife, who was rapidly nearing the dark river. They had not lived happily together—indeed, the neighbors, without a dissenting voice, said that theirs had been a cat-and-dog life of the most pronounced pattern. The husband, sobbing and vainly trying to restrain his tears, took his wife's thin hand in his. "I know we have lived very unhappily together, Mary; I know that only the other day I told you to go to the devil, (boo-hoo) but you must forgive me, for I really d-d-didn't think you were gug-gug-going so soon!"

As illustrating the length to which the pension funds have gone Andrew F. Dinsmore, of Michigan, has been given $72 a month for total disability.

Andrew was wounded in the hip nearly forty years ago, has been on the pension roll at one figure or another for more than thirty years is a clerk in the Interior Department at $1,800 a year and is also private secretary to Congressman Sam Smith, of Michigan, at $1,200 a year.

For a totally disabled man Andrew manages to do a fairly lively business. All this was brought out by the Washington Post in full, all this was admitted on the floor and yet not a man except Tolbert, of South Carolina, raised his voice against the fraud. Our own delegation sit still under things like this just as if the Southern confederacy was in full running blast and they were estopped from speaking.—Morganton Herald.

How the Election Law Works.

Looking over the names of the election inspectors and registrars for the coming election in Rutherford county, we cannot but commend the election board for the selections they have made. There is not one on the list so far as we know that would even wink at the least pretense of fraud, and we are sure that the equal representation given the Republicans on the list and the character of their appointments will be satisfactory to them.—Rutherfordton Vindicator.

Too Bad.

Our fruit trees are loaded with fruit, we can raise all kind of vegetables for canning purposes as cheaply and plentifully as they can be grown anywhere, still we find the shelves in our grocery store filled with canned fruit and vegetables shipped here from the North and West. Is it any wonder there is not as much ready money in the country as there should be? The only wonder there is that there is any at all. There is no reason why Rocky Mount should buy a barrel of flour, sack of meal, bale of hay, pound of pork or can of lard outside of this section.

We raise cotton, tobacco and peanuts and pay out all we get for them for necessities we could easily raise ourselves. Such conduct can only be designated criminal folly. Why will our people not appreciate their own country? They have greater and more varied advantages than almost any other people on earth and would soon prove that fact to the world if they had only the self-confidence that brings success.

Let there be an awakening of the dry bones and our people decide to leave the old ruts and move ahead in the general march of progress, and they will make this county "blossom as the rose."—Rocky Mount Argonaut.

This applies with equal emphasis to Greenville, and there is much in it our people should think about. We will never become the wealthy section our opportunities offer unless we will utilize those opportunities.

Ably and Satisfactorily Always

There has been several names mentioned for the vacant presidency of the State University, among them that of ex-Governor Thomas J. Jarvis. We hope he will be elected by the trustees. He made one of the ablest Governors the State ever had, and among all our public men he carries the longest and clearest head. Another ex-Governor of North Carolina, David L. Swain, served as president of the University in the closing years of his life, and among all the presidents of the University, before and since the war he was easily the first. Under his management the University became the pride of not only North Carolina, but of the South. Remembering the able and business like administration which Governor Jarvis gave to the people of North Carolina, may we not hope that, should he be placed at the head of the University, he will duplicate Governor Swain's superb administration of the affairs of that ancient and honored seat of learning? No mistake will be made if Governor Jarvis is elected. He has filled many high positions of trust and responsibility and filled them ably and satisfactorily always.—Statesville Mascot.

Bank Stock Taxation.

Raleigh, N. C., June 2.—The state banks under the legal requirement have reported to the state treasurer the names of the stock holders, with the number of shares owned by each. These lists go to the auditor to be classified by counties, and be reported to the sheriffs of all counties, so as to give the sheriffs such information as to ascertain if the holders of the bank stock list the same for school taxes which are payable to the county treasurer. The banks pay the state tax direct to the state treasurer. The amount of stock reported by the banks is much in excess of the amount listed by individual holders for county and school taxes.

This Couple Will Succeed.

Miss Nettie Crymcs, who is her brother's assistant in the postoffice, left here Wednesday for Seattle, Wash., to meet her lover, Mr. Hayes, formerly of Western North Carolina, who will become her husband on her arrival. They will live in the West, so they sensibly concluded that it was better to save his railroad fare across the continent and back. Miss Nettie is a splendid woman and we regret that we are to lose her. Mr. Hayes will be remembered by many of our people, as he is a civil engineer and did considerable work in his line at this point a few years ago.—Waynesville Courier.

If You are White, Vote That Way.

The radical convention denounced the amendment and the Democratic party. The amendment because it disfranchises the negro and lets the white man vote; the Democratic party because that party has said in the amendment that a white man is better than a negro by inheritance. Let every white man who believes that he is no better than a negro, vote the Radical ticket and against the amendment, and every white man who knows that he is better than a negro vote for the amendment.—Shelby Star.

An Economical Buyer of Shoes is the woman who recognizes the fact that it is true economy to purchase nothing but the highest grade shoes for her own wear, as well as for the children. We will fit mamma and the misses, as well as the boys and girls, with elegant, durable and comfortable shoes at prices that no one can touch, when quality is considered.

There's Great Comfort

afoot where our shoes are worn. They adjust themselves to what they cover so easily, yieldingly and coolly that they meet all the conditions of ideal foot wear. You walk into pleasure when you step into a pair of these stylish twins for the house and street. Soles, heels, points and uppers, all reflect the mode admirably.

WHATSOEVER A MAN SOWETH

That Shall He Also Reap.

The above was the text from which Rev. J. N. Booth preached an able sermon in the Baptist church Sunday morning. Many declared it to be the best they ever heard him deliver. Its appropriateness just after the recent meetings in the Methodist and Baptist churches made it especially interesting. He referred to the indifference shown during these meetings and said he feared Greenville would yet reap what she was sowing.

Much of his sermon was directed at church members and their lack of influence. Mr. Booth said the ball goes, the card players and the whiskey drinkers whose names were on the church books had no influence with the unconverted in leading them to Christ. The world had no respect for the religion of a church member whom they saw doing these things. Even if the church members did claim that such did not affect their personal christianity, it certainly robbed them of their influence. He earnestly entreated the church members to stop these things, and said if they would do so honestly for four years and at the expiration of that time did not see a great difference in the religious atmosphere of Greenville, he would not make another prophecy.

He said this part of his sermon was not intended for the unconverted, for if they had their minds made up to go on dancing, playing cards and drinking whiskey without caring for the welfare of their souls, they might go right on and get all the pleasure possible out of such things, for what happiness this world gave them would be all they ever get. "Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."
