HEARD AND SEEN IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, N. C., June 13. A bold robbery was committed on W. H. Albert a night or two since. Someone during the latter part of the night opened his safe, and got off with about $700.00. From general appearance it was some one familiar with the surroundings. Mr. Albert has no suspicion of any one and remembers no suspicious character.

End of Century Club.

On Tuesday afternoon, June 5th the End of the Century Club held its regular semi-monthly meeting. The hostesses being Mrs. Will Harding and Mrs. Fordyce Harding. Owing to the absence of several members, the papers prepared for the afternoon were not read but postponed until the next meeting and instead, two of the recent books purchased by the club, "In Connection with the de Willoughby Claim" and "To Have and to Hold" were discussed informally.

The hostesses had prepared for the afternoon a most ingenious, original hidden word puzzle, containing the names of the different club members. The prize, a framed miniature of Janice Meridith was won by Mrs. Grimes.

After partaking of delightful refreshments the club adjourned to hold its last meeting for the summer with Mrs. Arthur on June the nineteenth.

Unasked Questions.

The census enumerators visited the Press office yesterday and interrogated us all about our business. She found out how rapidly we are getting rich in the newspaper business, and this might be embarrassing if we did not know she is bound to keep secrets. She did not ask when the floor was last swept and the towel was last washed.—Franklin Press.

FRIDAY, JUNE, 15 1900.

The special session of the Legislature did its work quickly and well. It so amended the Constitutional Amendment as to absolutely leave no excuse for a white man to oppose it, unless he simply rather see the negro rule than the white man. Sections 4 and 5 of the amendment have been consolidated so that there is not even a possibility of one section being declared unconstitutional and the other becoming a law. The amendment is all right, it is just what North Carolina ought to have, and it is going to be adopted by a tremendous majority.

In making a speech against the election law, in the Legislature Wednesday, Representative Johnson, (Populist) of Sampson county, said among other things, "I believe the white men of North Carolina ought to rule; I believe they will rule. * * * I am not here to defend the negro. I believe in all candor that they ought never to have been given the right to vote."

Isaac Smith, the colored member from craven, asked Johnson: "Do you represent the idea of the Populist party when you say the negro has no right to vote?" Johnson made an evasive answer to this and other questions from Smith, the latter rebuked him sharply for his ingratitude. Smith said: "The gentleman from Sampson holds a certificate and warms his seat now by the votes of my race. * * * That is the way you Populists have done my race. We have elected you to good fat offices, and now you turn, tell us we ought never to have been allowed to vote, anyhow."

Yet the negro will go right on voting for that kind of folks as long as he has the right to cast a ballot.

The anti-amendment folks still complain about the white supremacy buttons. One of them told a democrat last week that folks could tell a white man without being tagged, to which the democrat replied: "Yes he can see a man has white skin, but I am wearing this button to show that I am white inside as well as outside." The other fellow didn't have any more to say.—Shelby Star.

It is a waste of time to heap coals of fire on the head of the ice man. Some men are such deep thinkers that their thoughts never get to the surface.

Wars and Skirmishes.

Our war with Spain was over before the old veterans had time to put on their spectacles and get out their pencils preliminary to figuring on possibilities and results. They were just becoming interested in the bulletin board returns when the end came, while they were only anticipating the beginning. The veterans of the civil war were justified in their poor opinion of the war with Spain. It fell far short of war as they knew war. The British have had quite a tussle with the boers, and, according to the best report obtainable, England has lost and killed 34,000 men in the eight months since the war began. That record had, as it is, fails to impress the veterans of the civil war to any marked degree. The cause is evident when the result of some of the principal battles of the civil war is considered. The Chicago News, in an article on this subject, says: "There were weeks in Grant's campaign when the Union army lost as many men as the whole British casualty list to date; there were battles where more men were killed in a single day than have been slain by the Boer bullets in the whole South African war. The great African-der struggle has been both brave and bloody, but in comparison with the civil combat of 1861-65 it seems a trifle."

This declaration is true and it may be interesting to give some figures in support of it. First of all, is the fact that the total loss including Confederate and Union soldiers during the four years' war was 800,000—an army of dead nearly three times greater than the entire number of British and Boers engaged in the present war in the Transvaal. In the three days' fight at Gettysburg alone Mead lost 23,000 men and Lee 25,621. At Spotsylvania, Grant lost 26,431, and Lee 9,000. At the Wilderness, May 5 to 7, Grant lost 37,737, and Lee 11,400. Sherman, in his march from Chattanooga to Atlanta, May 5th to September 8th, lost 37,139 men. Hooker lost 15,000 at Chancellorsville and Lee 10,300. At Fredericksburg, Burnside lost 12,300 and Lee 4,500. At Antietam, McClellan lost 15,500, and Lee 25,900. At Cold Harbor, Grant lost 14,954 and Lee 1,700. These are but a few of the big battles of the civil war, and in comparison with them, the wars of later times pale into insignificance. There was fighting in those days. The like which is not likely to be seen again. The result, had the two great armies been equipped with the ordinance of the present day, can only be left to the imagination. When it comes to talking of real war, one wants to hear the stories of the Confederate and Federal veteran.—Charlotte Observer.

An impressive warning comes to the North Carolina farmers in the report that a Missouri farmer while feeding his chickens a few days ago dropped his $500 diamond stud and a pullet gobbled it up. Our farmers should see that their diamonds are securely inserted in their shirts.

The State Journal, a Republican paper published at Raleigh, scores a point in the following: "According to Senator Pritchard's statement, there are twelve counties with negro majorities. With honest elections the negroes can and will dominate in these twelve counties. To vote for the amendment relieves these twelve negro counties from negro rule, to vote against it continues them under negro control. Is there a white man in North Carolina who believes this state of affairs ought to continue?"

Times When We Pay War Taxes.

Secretary Gage says the war taxes are piling up a surplus that will reach $70,000,000 at the close of the present fiscal year, and in all probability will be greatly in excess of that amount. And still the Government fines the citizen—

- When he sends a telegram.
- When he draws a check.
- When he becomes a member of a corporation.
- When he transfers his stock.
- When he insures his life or his house.
- When he assigns his insurance.
- When he makes a note to raise money for the payment of his other taxes.
- When he buys a money order.
- When he executes a lease.
- When he sends a paid telephone message.
- When an indemnity bond is given.
- When a bill of exchange is drawn.
- When the citizen executes an instrument necessary in the sale of merchandise on 'Change.
- When he ships goods by freight or express.
- When he clears a vessel and flies a manifest.
- When he buys a ticket to go abroad.
- When he executes a power of attorney.
- When he buys proprietary medicines.
- When he chews gum.
- When he uses any perfumes or his wife indulges in cosmetics.
- When a note is protested.
- When a warehouse receipt is given.
- When merchandise is entered at a Custom House.
- When—will it be ended?—Arkansas Gazette.

It is generally accepted as a fact that experience is more valuable than theory. Louisiana has a suffrage amendment to its constitution similar to the amendment now being considered by the voters of North Carolina, and here is what four Congressmen from Louisiana say about the effect of the amendment in their State: "We, the undersigned members of Congress from the State of Louisiana, state that the suffrage amendment to the Constitution of Louisiana is giving great satisfaction to the people of the State. There is no longer any question being made as to its constitutionality, and that while it has eliminated the ignorant negro vote, it has not disfranchised the uneducated native born white man." This statement is signed by Congressman Adolph Meyer, Jas. E. Ransdell, Phanores Breazeale and Robert C. Dayery. The same result will follow the adoption of the amendment in North Carolina.—Winston Sentinel.

Great Men.

"So far as I have encountered them," said a citizen of the world, "a characteristic of great men is that they have time. They are not in a hurry; their work doesn't boss them, but they boss their work. They don't act as every minute you stayed was valuable time lost to them; they don't fret and fidget. What time they do devote to you appears to be time that they can spare, and take things easy in, and be comfortable. The work seems incidental, and it seems as though they could turn to it when the time came and get through it with ease; and then always seem, besides, to have strength in reserve. It is a characteristic of the great man that he has time."—New York Sun.

Revised Amendment.

Both houses of the legislature Wednesday passed the constitutional amendment as revised and amended by the constitutional amendment committee and approved by the Democratic caucus. It is now fixed finally as it will be voted upon. Very few changes were made. The chief changes are:

1. Sections 4 and 5 are made one.
2. The educational and grandfather clause are made one and it is expressly declared that the whole scheme of suffrage is indivisible.
3. Poll tax must be paid in May instead of March as in the amendment as originally adopted.
4. This provision in the original amendment is omitted in the amendment now submitted. "Poll taxes shall be a lien only on assessed property, and no process shall issue to enforce the collection of the same except against assessed property."
5. A majority of the votes cast will be sufficient to adopt the amendment—not a majority of "qualified" vote.

The Roanoke Rapids Paper Mill.

The Richmond Dispatch of the 12th instant has the following item of interest:

Mr. W. M. Habliston, of the National Bank of Virginia, has returned from Roanoke Rapids, N. C., whither he went in connection with the establishment of a big paper mill at that point.

This scheme has been under consideration for some time, and a large portion of the capital stock of $200,000 has been taken. It is Mr. Habliston's intention to have the rest of the stock taken here and elsewhere as soon as possible, although he says the matter cannot be greatly pushed at the present time.

Peace has its perils as well as its victories. The out-of-date Spanish brass cannon, captured by our troops during the war in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, were entirely harmless while hostilities were raging. Since being presented to various American cities as absolute trophies of American prowess in arms it has been discovered that the blamed things are loaded and liable to go off and kill a lot of American citizens at any time.
