STATE NEWS

Happenings in North Carolina.

Wilmington has an automobile.

The Charlotte Observer reported cotton blossoms Monday.

A farmer near Maxton has 600 acres planted in watermelons.

The workmen in the tobacco factories in Winston have joined a labor union.

A little boy of Warren county was bitten by a highland moccasin snake and died in fourteen hours.

The State charters the Goldsboro Navigation company, which will operate steamers and barges on Neuse river. Its authorized capital is $50,000.

J. Allen Holt, of Oak Ridge, is elected president of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly. Charles H. Mebane is re-elected secretary a treasurer.

The Lumberton Robesonian has changed from an eight-column weekly edition to a six-column semi-weekly. It was a good paper anyway, and the change makes it much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Chan Lee are the proud parents of another brand new little Chinese. A baby girl has been born to them, the second Chinese baby ever born in North Carolina.—Salisbury Truth-Index.

End of the Century Book Club.

The End of the Century Book Club held its final meeting for the season at the elegant residence of Mrs. L. C. Arthur on Tuesday, June 19th. The President, Mrs. Cotten, being absent Mrs. Walter Grimes presided.

The literary program was somewhat limited, consisting of the Hawthorne family, which is always interesting, though brief, to lovers of literature. Nathaniel Hawthorne was the first paper read by Mrs. Dr. E. Alfred Moye; Julian Hawthorn, by Mrs. Wm. Bowen, Rose Hawthorne and her husband, Mrs. Harry Skinner.

As is always customary our charming hostess afforded much amusement by giving us cards with twenty-six distinguished authors. Mrs. Dr. Laughinghouse was the successful contestant and was awarded a beautiful engraving of Washington's home.

The evening closed after serving refreshments, to meet the second of October at the residence of Mrs. Thomas Jarvis.

Masonic Officers.

Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M. held its annual meeting today. The following officers were elected for the ensuing Masonic year:

W. M.—E. L. Carr.
S. W.—E. E. Griffin.
J. W.—W. B. Wilson.
Treas.—J. N. Hart.
Sec.—J. M. Reuss.

The installation will take place at the the next regular communication of the lodge, first Monday night in July.

"It's all well enough to take the bull by the horns," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "but I've never seen a bull that would stand still long enough to let you take that liberty."

They Stand The Test.

That is what Every Pair of

Dutchess Pants

Is guaranteed to do. Can you imagine a severer test than to tie one leg of a pair of pants to the ceiling and swing a keg of nails weighing 110 pounds to the other leg? That is the test seen in our window and hundreds of people have looked in wonder.

Dutchess Pants

are built to stand any kind of service and a guarantee goes with every pair—10 cents if a button pulls off or $1 if they rip. Get the best when you buy and be sure you get the Dutchess. None genuine without the name on the button.

THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1900.

The assault made by negroes upon Mr. R. R. Carr, a tax lister of Greene county, is something that may well concern the people of the eastern section of the State. It shows the disposition of the negroes who are doubtless inflamed to dastardly acts by such speeches as Butler, Adams and others of the anti-amendment "negro rule" crowd are making. In this instance a negro who was known not to be twenty-one years of age, and who declined to take the oath that he was that old, wanted to be listed for taxation, and upon being refused tried to commit murder. Of course the purpose behind this was that the negro wanted to vote against the amendment in August and thought his name being on the tax list would be evidence that he was old enough to vote.

THE REFLECTOR has made inquiry of some tax listers in Pitt county and they say a large number of young negroes who claim to be just twenty-one have been listing for taxation. Possibly the same thing exists generally as no doubt the negroes have been instructed to do this. Registrars for the election should be on their guard and not allow these ineligible negroes to get on the registration books just because they have given in for taxation.

It is well enough for white men to be stirring themselves if they do not want to see the amendment defeated. The above shows plainly what the opposition are up to. White men must stand together or they will see worse conditions than we have had before.

No Blood but Some Bluster.

"There is too much talk of 'blud' in this campaign. We are going to have a peaceable and bloodless fight on the greatest question which ever entered the politics of any State. That matter is going to be settled by a majority of the voters at the polls. When you hear any politician talking of wading through blood to his mouth, and boasting how he is going to handle Winchester rifles and die in his cause, you may put it down in your note book that there is 'nary a fight' in that fellow. and if it were necessary to face bullets and endanger life that same fellow would be found under the bed and out of danger. Oh, we know these blood and thunder fellows. We have heard their racket and it is always and ever a racket and nothing more.—Monroe Enquirer.

A Needed Incentive.

North Carolina needs an incentive to popular education. We have set forth time and again the distressing condition of our free schools; and now that the tide is turning in their favor it is highly desirable that we strike at the other root of illiteracy in our Commonwealth. The percentage of illiteracy in North Carolina has not been wholly chargeable to the inadequacy of the common schools; for they have been many years, perhaps always, sufficient to teach anyone to read and write. That is to say, anyone who desires to learn to read and write can do so in schools run for two or three months during their school age. This being so, it stands to reason that many have declined to embrace their opportunities; and it is well-established that one who will scorn or neglect a slight opportunity will despise a larger one. For this reason we have felt the need of a compulsory school-law, though we know the people are not yet regarded as ready for it. Knowing that this is out of the question we are glad for the prospect of another incentive—an open chance to learn to read and write, open several years and then a penalty if that chance is neglected. We believe this will bring the children out of darkened homes by the thousand. They will learn to read rather than forfeit their right to vote. They will fill our free schools, and such an attendance will be reported as has not been dreamed of. This will serve many purposes. It will be light where light is most needed; it will speak hope to those now hopeless; it will emphasize the value of the free schools and plead eloquently for their improvement, and it will give new impetus to the splendid educational movement now so apparent in North Carolina.—Biblical Recorder.

The Cincinnati Enquirer gives us this important piece of information: "The whistle of a locomotive is heard 3,300 yards through the air, the noise of the railway train 2,800, the report of a rifle and the bark of a dog 1,800 yards, an orchestra or the roll of a drum 1,600 yards, the human voice reaches to a distance of 1,000 yards, the croaking of frogs 900 yards, the chirping of crickets 800 yards. Distant speaking is heard in the air above to a distance of 600 yards; from above is has a range of only 100 yards downward."

The white people of North Carolina did not realize how much they were indebted to the democratic party for the blessings of good government, for peace, and the protection of the women from insult and outrage, till its banner went down in defeat in 1894. Many of them grew weary of the old story about the carnival of terror and corruption that followed republican success in 1868, and demanded new issues. Marion Butler saw his opportunity and formed a combination with the republicans, which resulted in the defeat of the democratic party. There was no danger of negro rule, he said. The cry of '98 was all a blind to divert the attention of the people from live economic questions. It took four years of fusion rule to open the people's eyes. Many had to learn by bitter experience that the republican party is incapable of giving the state a white man's government, because three-fourths of its voting strength is made up of negroes. It is a struggle between the republican leaders to see which can get the lowest to win the favor of the negroes. Governor Russell says "the negroes generally go with the rascals."—Reidsville Weekly.

Unique Political Bargains.

The most unique political proposition yet made and accepted is that between Mr. Charles B. Aycock and a Mr. Crisp, of Lenoir. When Mr. Aycock concluded his able speech there a few days ago, J. A. Crisp, the well-known Republican postmaster, said to Mr. Aycock that if he (Aycock) would sign an affidavit that the amendment would not disfranchise white men because of their illiteracy, in other words that the "grandfather clause" meant what it says, he would obligate himself by affidavit to vote for the amendment. Crisp is a Republican local leader and it is thought intended this proposition for a bluff, or to test whether Aycock really believed what he asserted in his speech. Then and there in the presence of a magistrate the affidavit was drawn up and duly sworn to and signed by Mr. Aycock. There was nothing left for Crisp to do but keep his part of the agreement and sign the affidavit to vote for the amendment, which he did.

Crisp claimed to be in favor of white supremacy but opposed to the amendment. He now occupies the logical position of being in favor of both.

His proposition and its acceptance reminds one of the arrangement between a local politician of Charlotte and a Democratic candidate. The Republican worker disputed the statement that there were forty negro magistrates in New Hanover, and at last offered to go to Wilmington to investigate for himself; the Democrat to pay his expenses, and the Republican to change his politics if he found the statement true. He went to Wilmington, found things much worse than they had been represented, and wrote a card in the papers saying so. He stood to his bargain, changed his politics and worked the rest of the campaign for white supremacy.—Charlotte News.

Cases of Somnambulism.

Pretty much everybody in the central part of the city knows by sight the sawed-off messenger boy of the Western Union Telegraph Company whose uniform fits him about as well as a coffee sack would. Last Sunday night an Observer man and an habitue of the office met him marching up Tryon street, aimless in appearance and with his eyes tightly closed. They stopped him, interrogated him and shook him, and found that he was asleep. When he woke up he said he thought he was asleep on the bench in the Western Union office. A few years ago one of the best known physicians in Charlotte appeared, one Sunday morning, about 1 o'clock, on Tryon street, with nothing on but his night shirt and a pair of slippers. He had walked a block and a half when he was interrupted in his perambulations by a couple of his night-hawk friends, who asked him where he was going. He replied, surily, that it was none of their blankety blank business but they managed to detain him until they found that he was asleep, and then they woke him up. He returned through the streets in his light apparel, to his sleeping room, laughing all the way.

Somnambulism is not a good habit. Any gentleman who is addicted to it should break himself of it. It is liable to lead one into any sort of complication.—Charlotte Observer.

The average woman is not half as much afraid of gossip as she is of a mouse.

The Army of Unemployed.

A reporter of The Star sat in the appointment division of the Census Bureau for more than an hour just to get an idea of the work being done. It was a sad experience, for there came to the Census Office an army of unemployed, ladies and gentlemen, many of them apparently unused to buffeting the breakers of this hard, cold world, all in search of employment. They wanted something to do; something to take their minds away from their condition, and give them a means whereby to supply the daily wants of life. Some of the stories were pitiful, and it was no unusual sight to see a woman burst into tears, unmindful of the crowd that waited in respectful deference to the presentation of her case. Now and then a stray member of Congress, who had been left over, came in and stormed and wanted to know why his constituent had not been appointed at once, absolutely unmindful of the fact that the census had only just begun, and that there are other Congressmen and other promises and few places. But that makes little difference, it seems, for after a person once passes an examination there is a continual grind at headquarters for appointments, and all sorts of influence is brought to bear to hasten their official recognition as a clerk of the twelfth census. Director Merriam watches with a careful and economical eye over the whole situation, and he absolutely refuses to appoint people to places when there is no need for them. There are no sinecures at the census office. Everybody works and everybody's services are appreciated in accordance with his record, and when promotions occur, and they are by no means infrequent, it can be put down as a safe proposition that the promotion has been earned. It is a business census, conducted on business principles and by business men and no one fears the outcome.—Washington Star.

The morning is the gate of the day, and should be well guarded with prayer. It is one end of the thread on which the day's actions are strung, and should be well knotted with devotion. If we felt more the majesty of life, we should be more careful of its mornings. He who rushes from his bed to his business and waiteth not to worship is as foolish as though he had not put on his clothes or cleaned his face, and as unwise as though he dashed into battle without arms or armor. Be it ours to bathe in the lofty flowing river of communion with God before the heat of the wilderness and the burden of the way begin to oppress us.—Spurgeon.

TAKING CENSUS.

The Reflector Enumerator's Daily List.

W. B. Parker spent the day in Everetts.

W. C. Dudley came Wednesday from Washington.

Mrs. M. E. Monteiro left this morning for Richmond.

Miss Rosalind Rountree left Wednesday afternoon for Kinston.

W. H. Harrington returned Wednesday from a trip up the road.

Rev. N. M. Watson returned Wednesday evening from Gates county.

J. J. Cherry left this afternoon on the freight train for Seven Springs.

Mrs. D. S. Smith and baby left this morning to visit her father, J. J. Tucker, near Grimesland.

Little Miss Carrie Satchwell, who has been visiting at W. B. Greene's, left this morning for Gatesville.

Prof. James L. Lake, of Wake Forest College, came Wednesday and will give his X-ray exhibition tonight in the opera house.

Mrs. J. F. Kent and Bruce Mizelle, after spending a few days here with the family of J. W. Bryan, returned this morning to their home in Jamesville.

H. A. Timberlake, Gus Forbes and Andrew Moore left on the train this morning for Williamston, where the Greenville boys play ball today. They were joined here by George Sugg of Kinston, who went over with them.

Rebuilding.

Carpenters commenced work this morning on R. A. Tyson's tobacco factory, which will be used by M. P. Jordan & Co. The building will be 60 by 130 feet one way and 40 by 30 the other, and three stories high. E. C. Williams has the contract for the building.

Made Us Late.

Owing to a mishap to the press THE DAILY REFLECTOR was late getting to a portion of our subscribers Wednesday evening. The issue was a little more than half off when the accident occurred and it took more than an hour to get the press in running order again.

McKinley and Roosevelt.

The Republican National Convention met in Philadelphia Tuesday. This is the third day in session and they only got as far as nominating McKinley by acclamation. No news of nomination for Vice President had come by 3 o'clock but it looks like Roosevelt.
 LATER—At 4 o'clock news came that Roosevelt had been nominated.

After the Negro.

Mr. J. S. Tuastall who returned from Greene county this morning says that parties have told Mr. Frank Carr that the negro who assaulted Mr. Dick Carr stayed with in a half a mile of Mr. Frank Carr's last night. Mr. Carr sent this morning for Mr. W. C. Hines who in company with R. A. Tyson and Assistant Policeman King left this afternoon with the blood hounds to meet Sheriff Edwards, of Greene county, and make another search for the negro.

North Carolina Delegation.

Raleigh, N. C., June 19.—Arrangements are completed for the trip of the North Carolina delegates to the national Democratic convention. They leave here Sunday afternoon July 1st, in a Pullman buffet car, going via Greensboro, Asheville and Memphis and will arrive Tuesday evening. Headquarters have been selected at the Carter house, one of the finest in Kansas City. All delegates will go save C. C. Lyon of Bladen. A number of alternates will go.

Fell Seven Stories.

Philadelphia, June 19.—The elevator in the Hotel Walton fell seven stories at midnight to-night and injured five of the passengers and the elevator boy. The two passengers most seriously hurt were J. G. Pringey, delegate from Oklahoma territory, and Brenton F. Hall, a delegate from Belding, Mich. Drs. Burton and Walter Hunter, of Delaware, Marcus West of Washington and Dr. Camden, of Texas, were also among the injured. Pringey and Hall have broken legs; Dr. Camden, of Texas, had an arm and leg broken, having been thrown out of the elevator as the elevator fell. All of the injured are being cared for, two having been taken to hospitals. The accident caused intense excitement.

The oddest labor strike of the season is reported from Pittsburg, where eight girls employed in a steam laundry quit working because the proprietors of the establishment refused to permit them to have their shirtwaists and skirts washed at the laundry without charge. The places of the strikers have been filled, but the old employes have established a boycott and will fight on that line for a settlement of their grievance.
