ANOTHER ROBBERY.

Mr. D. T. House's Room Entered and $103 Taken.

Another robbery occurred Friday night at Parker's Cross Roads, about a mile and a half over the river from Greenville.

Someone broke into one of the rooms of Mr. W. S. Fleming's house, where Mr. D. T. House was sleeping and stole from Mr. House one hundred and three dollars.

Mr. House says that on the evening before the robbery he put a sack containing a lot of silver money in his pocket before going to his room, and a negro named Alonzo Wilson saw him and asked him who stayed with him at night. Mr. House replied, "no one except this gun," indicating the gun which he had in his hand. The negro said no more and Mr. House went to his room and counted out a roll of bills which he had in his pocket amounting to $103, and put them behind a picture in his room. He did not count the silver in the sack but left that in his pocket. He then went to bed and some time during the night some person cut out two panes of glass to his window, entered the room, stole the money behind the picture, and went out through the window without waking Mr. House up. The silver money in his pocket was not taken.

Mr. House says there were no curtains to his window and evidently some one standing on the outside saw him when he counted the money and waited until he was asleep, when they broke in and robbed him. The negro, Alonzo Wilson, was suspected from the question he asked before the robbery, so this morning a search warrant was sworn out and the Deputy Sheriff went out to search him but failed to find any of the money.

The denomination of the bills were one twenty dollar gold certificate, three ten dollar bills, eight five dollar bills, eleven one dollar bills and one two dollar bills.

This is the second robbery that has occurred at Parker's Cross Roads in less than a month.

Are There Others?

Sometime ago THE REFLECTOR published an item about Mrs. Martha Teel, who lives a few miles from Greenville, being a hundred years old. The subject has been recalled to mind by a subscriber, who says that if Mrs. Teel is now 100 years old she was born just before the close of the last century, therefore has already lived in two centuries, and should she live until next year comes in she will have seen part of three centuries. The gentleman said he would like to know if any of our exchanges can show other persons who will have lived in three centuries when the year 1901 comes in. It is an interesting question and we would like to know if there are any.

No Name With It.

THE REFLECTOR received some items from Black Jack that we would be glad to publish, but the writer failed to give his name. We never publish anything, matters not how good it may be, without knowing who sends it. If the correspondent will give us his name regular items from Black Jack would be very acceptable.

They Stand The Test.

That is what Every Pair of

SATURDAY JUNE 23, 1900.

How the first Republican platform, that of 1856, contrasts with its manifesto in 1900. The one denounced "those twin relics of barbarism—slavery and polygamy." The other commends the acquisition of the Philippines and the treaty with the Sultan of Sulu which guarantees the continuance of both "relics" and pays the salary of the harem keeper of the Sultan.

McKinley had no more to do with the large crops than Bryan. Yet the Republicans will vaunt themselves this year on McKinley prosperity, which rests altogether on the initial prosperity of the farming class over here, and the fact that prosperity abroad makes it impossible for foreign mills to fill their orders and compels purchasers to come to the United States.

The President seems to have gone to war with China, as he did with the Philippines, solely by his own sweet will, without asking the consent of Congress, in whose hands alone the war making power is lodged by the Constitution. The question of the right and justice of the war is not material. The President has no legal power to declare it and should call Congress in session at once to consider the matter. But he will not do it.

The critical point in the next election is New York, which is absolutely necessary to both parties. But Roosevelt as nominee for Governor would stand a better chance of carrying that state, than as nominee for Vice President, with a governor selected by Platt and sworn not to enforce the franchise taxation law. This is the real milk in the coconut. Platt wants the franchise taxation law killed, and has to get Roosevelt out of the way to do it.

Don't expect the speakers to carry the election. There is personal work for every man to do and but five weeks remain to do it in. If a man in your neighborhood is not clear on the amendment, go to him and help him to understand it. The enemies of the amendment are at work, and no man who wants white supremacy can afford to be less diligent. Good government is at stake; your home is endangered; Butlerism, negro rule and murderous assaults threaten your community. These dangers should stir every man to activity.

There is a very good reason why the Vice President is nowadays seldom nominated to succeed the President. It is because, since the war, there has been but one Vice President whom the Democrats could nominate, while the Republicans have always chosen men of no importance—mere money bags for the most part—to take the lower post. None of them measured up to the office. A really good man can still show that the Vice Presidency is not strictly ornamental.

"Roosevelt is wholly undeserving the honor" is the comment of the Washington Post upon that gentleman's nomination for Vice-President by the Republican National convention. "Your unanimous nomination is a high and deserved honor," is a part of the congratulatory telegram President McKinley sent Roosevelt. Perhaps it is a case of "birds of a feather" with them, and we think when the November election comes the country will decide that to dispense with both is better for all concerned.

Again let us remind you that the registration books for the coming election will be opened on the 28th and be kept open only for twenty days, not including Sundays. An entire new registration is to be made, so every man, regardless of who he is, must register before he can vote. See that your name gets on the hook of your precinct as soon as it opens, and then look after every man in your neighborhood that none may be left off. Make this a personal matter and do not let votes be lost for the amendment because men fail to register.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 22 1900.

Notwithstanding the juggling by the republican leaders with the Vice Presidential nomination, which everybody saw through, the ticket which was nominated at Philadelphia, and the Washington made platform adopted have evoked not the slightest enthusiasm in Washington, although the numerical strength of the bread and butter brigade at the National Capitol and Roosevelt's considerable personal following, led many to suppose that there would be at least a bluff made at some sort of an enthusiastic demonstration. About the only hurrahs heard in Washington have come from delegates to the convention who stopped on their way home, and those hurrahs were not the result of enthusiasm but of whiskey or other intoxicants. But that, of course, does not worry Boss Hanna. It is boodle, not enthusiasm, that he relies upon to duplicate his '96 business.

Nothing more contradictory was ever put into a party platform than the declarations of the republican platform that "We endorse the administration of William McKinley," and "We favor the construction, ownership, control and protection of an isthmian canal by the government of the United States."

Mr. McKinley's administration is responsible for the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which, if ratified, would make the carrying out of that plank of the platform an impossibility. The platform did not dare endorse by name the Hanna-Payne ship subsidy job, but merely asks for "legislation which will enable us to recover our former place among the trade-carrying fleets of the world." It is certain that Hanna's subsidy job won't do it.

Mr. McKinley did not take kindly to the suggestion that an extra session of Congress be called to determine the policy of this government towards the proposed invasion of China by an allied army. He preferred to jump head foremost into an alliance with the imperial governments of Europe, and Japan, and United States troops are now being hurriedly sent to take part in the invasion. If his action does not lead to entangling foreign complications, many shrewd men will be mistaken in their predictions.

Some of Boss Hanna's millionaire allies have undertaken the contract of aiding the Philadelphia ticket by steadily forcing the price of wheat upward during the campaign, for the purpose of trying to propitiate the disgruntled farmers of the wheat-growing sections. This may be a good thing for those wheat-growers who may be able to take advantage of it, but it will have its risks, both for the wheat growers and the republican ticket. If it should appear at any time to the millionaire syndicate that they can make more money by letting the bottom drop out of the scheme than by carrying it out, they will be apt to do it. Millionaires never allow anything to stand in the way of accumulating other millions.

Only Effects the Negro Politically.

The passage by a majority vote in August of the Constitutional Amendment, is not a measure which is going to affect to a single degree the business position or the laboring condition of a single negro in North Carolina.

The vote on the amendment is for purpose of eliminating the ignorant negro vote, and from giving this class of citizens any voice in determining who shall be the rulers and in authority in the management of the commercial and industrial affairs of the State.

The elimination of the negro as a political factor has nothing to do with his status in his working field or in his social life, these will remain unchanged, and the industrious colored man will find work to do, will receive his pay regularly and will have his rights looked after and protected the same as they are today, and he can be secure from injury and his possessions will be held sacred to himself and family.

The passage of the amendment will really prove a good thing to the majority of negroes who ignorant of conditions, and unable to appreciate or know the effect their vote, with the privilege of franchise are made to vote for men and things which are detrimental to their interests.

With the amendment passed the colored citizen in North Carolina will find no disturbances in his life which now regularly disturb him as each election comes along and he can pursue his work and know that his work will not be disturbed, in order that he may be taken to political primaries and conventions, and used by men who will refuse to recognize him or assist him at any other time.—New Bern Journal.

Man With Two Wives.

A census enumerator has found a man in Newark living happily with two wives and two sets of children.

The chief clerk in the county prosecutor's office said today that the case had been brought to the attention of the county prosecutor, but what action that official proposed to take the clerk refused to say.

Owing to the strictness of the census laws the name of the man has not been made public, but it is known to the local authorities. In answer to question of the enumerator the man said he was born in Germany and married there 20 years ago. He became tired of married life, and leaving his wife and four children behind he came to this country.

On the same vessel on which he came he met a German girl and fell in love with her. After landing at New York he went to Pennsylvania and the girl settled in Newark. That was 10 years ago. The man did not like Pennsylvania and he went to Newark, where he married the girl he met on the trip. Two years ago the man's first wife came to this country and found her husband living with wife No. 2.

There was no trouble, the man said, and wife No. 1 took up her residence with her husband and wife No. 2. The husband sent to Germany for the children of his first wife. He has had three children by his second wife. The man told the enumerator that he got along amicably with his two wives by dividing his pay between them every Saturday night.—Newark, N. J., Dispatch.

Now, if the Democrats will make their ticket William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, and David Bennett Hill, of New York, there'll be "weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth" among the Hannaites and Roosevelteters.—Wilmington Star.

A Bold Highway Robbery.

A white man named Mills, from Bladen county, was knocked down and robbed of $42.00 last night about 11 o'clock by two negroes at the corner of Water and Chestnut streets, and they succeeded in getting off with their booty before being detected. The old man was picked up by two gentlemen who were sitting in front of the Rock Spring Hotel at the time of the occurrence, and carried into the house. He was only slightly bruised about the face.

Mills is about 65 years of age and is here attending Federal Court. The deed was bold as well as outrageous, having been committed at that hour of the night and near an electric light.—Wilmington Star, 22nd.

Rev. C. W. Blanchard delivered a powerful address at the Baptist church here Wednesday. His address was along educational lines, and was attentively listened to, as our people are anxious for a high school at this place. After the speaking, while the crowd was enjoying the lemonade, a stockholders meeting was organized. Several hundred dollars were subscribed and a committee was instructed to secure the services of a principal at once.

J. B. Jackson, who has been up here visiting his people, returned to Kinston Thursday night. He is pastor of several churches around Kinston.
