POLICEMAN DISMISSED.

Board of Aldermen in Special Session.

The Board of Aldermen held a special meeting Friday night to consider some matters deferred from the last regular meeting. At the regular meeting the action of Assistant Police S. D. King, for failing to register and vote at the recent election was discussed. He was asked to give an excuse for this, but only stated that it was because of carelessness and neglect on his part. He was instructed to have his resignation ready to hand in to the Board at this special meeting. He failed to appear at the meeting Friday night, and on motion of Alderman B. F. Patrick he was dismissed from the service of the town. No successor to him was elected, the office being left open until the next regular meeting of the Board.

License to conduct restaurants were granted to the following: Manson Marable, near the Planters Warehouse, Sam Gibbs on Fifth street, J. H. Murphy on Fifth street.

What portion of Evans street should be covered by the street sprinkler was left to the judgment of the street committee.

The Board adjourned subject to the call of the Mayor in a special meeting to consider ordinances, lights and water.

ROBBING THE MAILS.

Another of White's Coons Goes Wrong.

Tarboro, N. C., Aug 11—A negro by the name of George Dancy, who has been an assistant in the postoffice here for a number of years, was arrested this morning on the charge of robbing money packages that were handled at this office.

Detectives have been working on the case for sometime and caught up with him last night. They mailed to Crisp, N. C. a letter containing a $5 gold piece. This letter was traced to Tarboro but went no further. They investigated here and found the money on the person of Dancy. The detectives took him to Halifax this morning where he will be given a trial before a U. S. Commissioner.

The negro acknowledged that he went in the letter and took the money, then tore the letter up and threw it away. He had been stealing and robbing packages for sometime, but it was not until last night that he was caught up with. When the $5 gold piece was found on him and identified he broke down and made full confession.

CHOCOLATE FIENDS.

There Are Those Who Become Slaves to This Nerve Soothing Food.

"The manufacture of chocolate," said J. R. Anso of Brazil, "is a great industry. Of all the chocolate beans imported into the United States two-thirds go to one firm in Boston, and the other third is distributed among the other manufacturers. The chocolates sold are of various grades. The Caracas chocolate is supposed to be the best.

"If you take the various grades, technically known as the Caracas, the French, the German and so on, and take a piece of each and place them in a pan of water and allow them to dissolve, any expert will tell you which is the best chocolate. The better grades will leave no sediment. The others will. This is explained by the fact that in the cheaper grades the shell is ground up and used as a 'filler.' The lighter the chocolate the better the grade. The cheaper grades are dark owing to the ground up shell.

"It is a queer thing about chocolate consumption. There are chocolate fiends, just as there are opium fiends, tobacco slaves and liquor slaves. I cannot tell you why it is, but if people begin to eat chocolate the habit grows upon them. I don't think any amount of chocolate hurts any person. Of course the cheaper grades of chocolate have a large percentage of sugar in them, and sugar is to a certain extent injurious, but for the chocolate itself I don't think any one gets enough to hurt him materially. In contradistinction to the exhilaration of alcoholic drinks chocolate seems to be a soothing. Persons who are nervous and irritable find it a food that in a way calms and soothes and satisfies them. It is queer, but it is the truth. The consumption of chocolate is increasing enormously in the United States."—New York Tribune.

Artificial Diamonds.

It is well known that in the manufacture of carbon steel microscopic diamonds are formed, and the curious fact is stated by The Scientific Press that from the examination of a number of steels from a variety of processes identical results were given. A piece weighing 300 grams was cut from a lump of steel and treated with nitric acid, the insoluble residue collected being mainly graphitic carbon. After being washed with water it was boiled three times with fuming nitric acid, which partially dissolved the residue, hydrofluoric acid and then fuming sulphuric being used; there then remaining nothing but graphite, which, after being washed, was melted with chloride of potash. The insoluble residue obtained fell to the bottom of a vessel filled with iodide of methylene, the little transparent octahedrons visible through a microscope, which burned on a sheet of platinum without any ash, being the diamonds.

The Thistle of Scotland.

Once upon a time many hundred years ago the Danes made war upon the Scots and invaded their country. One dark night, as they were marching upon an encampment of sleeping Scots, one of their number trod upon a thistle. The pain was so sudden and intense that the man gave a loud cry. This awakened the slumbering Scots, who sprang to arms and defeated the assailants. In gratitude for the deliverance the Scots made the thistle their national emblem.—Journal of Education.

Japan's Children.

From one end of Japan to the other a child is treated as a sacred thing, be it one's own or a stranger's. Each one carries its name and address on a ticket round its neck, but should it indeed stray from home food and shelter and kindness would meet it anywhere.

It may well be said that life is monotonous. In 50 years we undress for bed no fewer than 18,350 times, dressing again after each night's repose with cheerful resignation.—Tit-Bits.

He Once Knew Something.

A middle aged gentleman who has been looking over his old school examination papers writes to The Academy expressing his chagrin at the discovery of the fact that he knows less than he did years ago. "I knew some things then—arithmetic, for example. Today I am at the mercy of any waiter who brings me change. At booking offices I keep vast crowds waiting and missing their trains while I do laborious subtraction sums in my head, but at school what a hand I was at figures! Look at this:

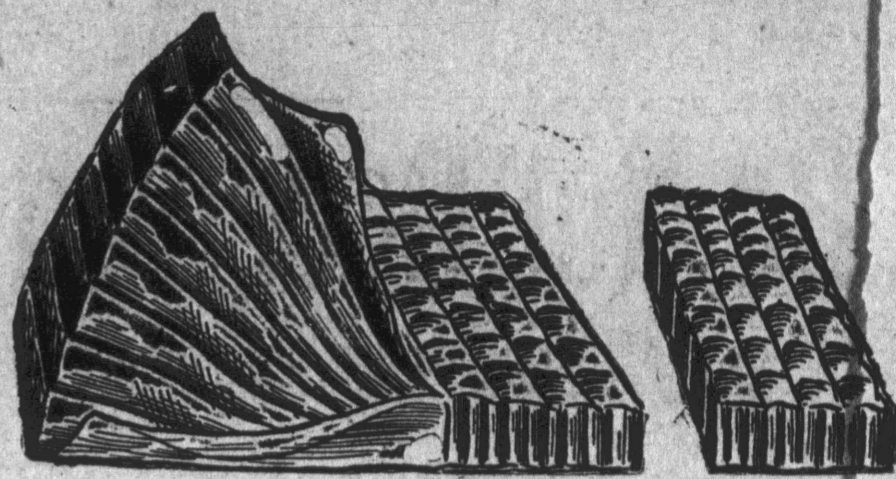

"Three graziers, A, B and C, rent a piece of pasture land for a month. A puts on 27 cattle for 21 days, B 19 for 24 days and C 23 for 25 days. If at the end of the month the rent and other charges amount to £23 5s. 10d., how much of this ought to be paid by each?"

"I could do that in 1884. I couldn't do it now. I have no idea where to begin. It may be easy, but the point is that I have not the key. There used to be a jugglery with x, and I could manage it. Now that I pay income tax and have statements of account from my publisher every half year I can manage it no longer. And I seem to have known zoology too. Zoology! I seem to have been able to describe and draw diagrams of the heart and principal blood vessels of the crayfish. Once—good heavens—once I was a well informed boy. Today I don't see how I should pass the third class college of preceptors."—London Academy.

The Senatorial Primary.

EDITOR CHARLOTTE OBSERVER:

With reference to your correspondent's inquiry in today's paper and your answer that you do not know the details of the Democratic senatorial primary, which is to take place at the November election, I will state the facts briefly for the information of those who are interested.

The platform committee of the last Democratic State convention, April 11, adopted the following in the platform; which was subsequently adopted by the convention:

We hereby instruct the State executive committee to make provision for the holding of a primary on the first Tuesday of next November for the selection of a United States Senator by the Democratic voters of the State, at which every elector who has voted the Democratic ticket in the State election shall be entitled to cast one vote for one man for United States Senator, and the candidate who receives the majority of votes so cast in the whole State shall receive the support of the Democratic members of the legislature; and if no candidate shall receive a majority the committee shall hold a second primary at which only the two highest candidates shall be balloted for, and the one receiving a majority of the votes so cast shall receive the support of the Democratic members of the Legislature.

Provided, That if any third candidate shall receive at the first primary so held within 2,500 votes of the second highest candidate, then in that event the three candidates shall be balloted for at the second primary, and the one of the three receiving the highest number of votes shall receive the support of the Democratic members of the Legislature for United States Senator.

This is the whole story. Mr. Larry Moore, of Pitt, member of the platform committee, who presented the draft for the senatorial primary plan and insisted upon its adoption, had drawn it to read that all those who voted for "the electoral candidates" at the November election should be entitled to vote for senator. This idea was vigorously combated by a member of the committee, who pointed out many persons would probably vote the Democratic ticket at the August election who might not vote at all in the November election or who might refuse to vote for Mr. Bryan, and this member himself served notice that he would not vote for Mr. Bryan on a fusion ticket similar to the arrangements of '96. It was further pointed out that if, in advance, those who might refuse to accept the national ticket were to be excluded from the senatorial primary, they might exclude themselves from the August election. This view was readily accepted by Mr. Moore and the other members of the committee and Mr. Moore then changed the clause to read "those who vote the entire Democratic ticket in the State election" shall be entitled to vote in the Democratic primary. The member who objected to Mr. Moore's first draft asked him to strike out the word "entire," which he also agreed to do, in order that there might be no contention as to whether a man who scratched a candidate for constable or coroner should vote in the primary.

Every man, then, who voted the Democratic ticket in the August election is entitled to express his preference for Senator in the primary at the November election, no matter how he votes in November or whether he votes at all.

These are the facts as they were understood by the platform committee of the Democratic State convention.

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 10 1900.

Official absenteeism had up to the present week merely been a cause of regret that Mr. McKinley and members of his Administration should so far forget the obligations of the oath they took upon assuming office as to go away from their official posts, for their own personal pleasure, while the Chinese situation was at such a critical stage; but this week it has been a cause of shame and deep humiliation to every patriotic American. When Minister Conger's message, saying that the Imperial Chinese troops were daily firing upon the British Legation in Peking, in which he and all the other foreign ministers are cooped up as prisoners, arrived in Washington, neither the President nor the Secretary of State were on hand to deal with it, and nobody can say now what this Government intends to do about it. That public opinion will compel it to do more than hobnob with the Chinese Minister to the United States and endorse all the fairy tales he can invent is extremely probable. Much as Mr. McKinley dislikes to call an extra session of Congress to decide what this government shall do, which he should have done weeks ago, it looks now as though he would not be able avoid it and drift along, hoping for some opportunity to do something or to make a bluff at doing something that would be beneficial to his waning political fortunes. The time for drifting has passed. Mr. McKinley's so-called "ultimatum" to the Chinese government, sent through Consul-General Fowler, at Shanghai, informing China that the situation reported by Minister Conger was intolerable, will hardly scare the Chinese. They are not fools. They know that in this country Congress alone has authority to declare war. For that reason, if for no other, Congress ought to be called in extra session. It would convince the Chinese that we meant business.

Democrats are delighted with Col. Bryan's speech of acceptance, especially that portion of it which so clearly points out the difference between legitimate expansion—acquiring territory to become future States—and the imperialism which acquires islands to become colonial possessions. The speech is probably the most complete argument against imperialism ever presented in a single publication, and should be carefully studied by every democrat who wishes to fit himself to demolish every argument the republicans have yet advanced in favor of the imperialistic foreign policy of the McKinley administration. In fact, the speech might be called the democratic primer of the present campaign.

The periodical statement that this government had sent an ultimatum to the Sultan of Turkey demanding immediate payment of those American missionary claims, which came out this week, has grown both tiresome and farcical. It was from the first laughed at by the diplomatic corps, the European members of which know something of how the Sultan treats demands upon him for money. A gentleman who is in a position to make a good guess said: "It would not surprise me if in the last weeks of the campaign Mr. McKinley sent a strong naval force to compel the Sultan to pay these claims and incidentally to inject a little jingoism into the political campaign at home."

It is not customary for candidates for President to take any hand in the management of their own campaign, but Mr. McKinley is doing it. He recently became so thoroughly alarmed that he told Hanna that he intended to reserve the vote right over every important move contemplated by the National Committee and that nothing outside of the regular routine programme must be done by the Committee until it had been submitted to and approved by him. Mr. Charles G. Dawes, Comptroller of the Currency, is one of Mr. McKinley's personal friends who acts as a go-between in transmitting messages to and from the National committee, when Hanna is not available.

Trip to Windsor.

The Confederate Veterans, of Bertie, had their 11th annual meeting at the Court House Thursday. There are 171 in the county, 75 of whom were present. Of the 75 present 53 claim to be soldiers of Christ. One old brother had just come from the Home in Raleigh. He says the veterans are well cared for there.

Let every reader pray that every one may be comfortable here and be ready for Heaven when called away. A. D. BETTS.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. E. T. Stewart's little ten year old girl Susan, had a misfortune to fall and knock her arm out of place. She and her playmates were under the grape arbor gathering grapes. Susan was standing on a barrel and in some way lost her ballance, with the above result. While her injury is painful, we are glad to know it is not serious.—Washington Messenger.

Our Duty to the Negro.

The state has just passed through another exciting election—perhaps the most exciting in its history. A victory has been won not for any party, Democratic, Republican or Populist, but for a principle deeply embedded in the Southern heart and in fact in the heart of the whole nation. A majority of voters has recorded its conviction that intelligence must rule this nation, and that Caucasians, from the human standpoint, must be the arbiters of their own destinies. Let all citizens bend their efforts toward promoting by wise legislation and good citizenship the prosperity of our common country. Let it not be forgotten that the black man, more than ever, demands our good will and good offices. May all discharge their duty in the fear of God and with good will to all men.—Raleigh Christian Advocate.

For The Great Slaughter Sale at MUNFORD'S

Big New Store.

The great markets like New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore have been searched for Bargains and we have them. We are going to sell for less money than anybody else. Why? Because we buy more goods than any other store in town and get larger discounts; and we sell for the smallest possible margin of profit, depending on a large volume of business and no rents to pay.

Munford's big new store will be the centre of attraction this season. New goods coming in now ready for you to look at.

C. T. Munford is back from the Northern markets with an unexcelled stock of bargains. Drop in to see his new goods.

Greenville business men know a good thing when they see it. That is why they put their advertisements in THE REFLECTOR.

C. T. Munford's new stock just coming in is a bonanza of bargains. Keep an eye for special announcements he will make and you will save money.

There will be no services in the Opera House tomorrow morning as Rev. Mr. Davis will conduct the funeral services of Miss Mary E. Bynum, at Farmville.

Cut His Head.

Percy Forbes the little son of Mr. Ola Forbes was hurt this morning while playing up at Forbes Joyner & Co's tobacco prize house. In some way he struck his head against the running elevator and cut a right deep gash across the top of his forehead. The cut bled freely but didn't amount to anything serious.

Munford's Bargain Sale.

C. T. Munford takes a four-column space in THE REFLECTOR today to tell you something about the bargain prices at his big new store. His store and his stock just overreach anything that is going, while his prices talk for themselves. He has already made his first draw for the season on the great northern markets, and he proposes to keep in constant touch with those markets so as to have new bargains to offer every few days. Watch his space.

Died.

Miss Mary E. Bynum died Friday night at half past eleven o'clock, at the home of Mr. W. R. Parker, in South Greenville after a severe illness. She had been in very bad health for several years and for the past few months had been confined to her bed.

She was an excellent woman and held in the highest esteem by all who knew her. She was a sister of Mrs. W. R. Parker and Mrs. Julia Barrett, of Greenville, and Mrs. Henry Harris, of Falkland.

The funeral of Miss Mary E. Bynum will take place at Farmville tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The remains will leave the residence of Mr. W. R. Parker at 7 o'clock A. M. The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. D. W. Davis.
