

ALMOST OUT.

Jail Delivery Prevented by The Guard.

There came very near being another jail delivery Sunday night, but it was prevented by the vigilance of the guard. There were so many prisoners in jail awaiting September court, that a month ago the County Commissioners deemed it prudent to have the jail guarded at night. Mr. Edgar Buck was employed for that purpose and has been keeping guard around the jail at night. It has been Mr. Buck's custom while on duty to walk around the jail about every fifteen minutes and then station himself about the front until time for him to make another round. He had just got out from one of these rounds Sunday night when he heard a noise behind the jail. Thinking it was dogs, as they had been prowling around there much at night, he picked up some brick bats and started to drive the dogs away.

Getting behind the jail instead of finding any dogs Mr. Buck saw that several bricks had fallen outside from the wall and there was a large hole where the bricks came from. He was just in time to prevent the prisoners from getting out, as one of them had started to crawl through the hole when he heard the guard approaching.

An examination inside the jail showed that the bolt and lock had been broken off of one of the lower cells and four negroes in it had come out in the corridor and cut a hole through the wall at the same place where all the other escapes have been made. How they managed to break off the bolt that held the lock outside the cell door is a mystery, but it is supposed they persuaded a crazy negro who was kept in the corridor to break it off for them. The prisoners make so much noise in the jail that any work they might be doing inside could not be heard.

"Passed Over the River."

Mr. Jesse Barnhill died on Friday afternoon at his home in Carolina township, and was buried Saturday. He was 79 years old, and a good and true man, and one of the county's landmarks. "Uncle Jesse" as everybody called him, was one of the three old men in his neighborhood whose names have been frequently mentioned in THE REFLECTOR. He was a man who loved his home and paid close attention to the business of his farm, and made a success of his work. He only came to town about once a year, his last visit here being two months ago, and he never came without spending a short while in THE REFLECTOR office. His name was on the first page of subscribers the paper ever had.

Mr. Barnhill was a man whom everybody liked, and his life was blameless and above reproach. He was a consistent member of the Primitive Baptist church, and passes from this life to wear the crown of the faithful in the life beyond.

Died.

Mrs. John S. Harris died at 8 o'clock this morning at her home near Falkland. She was 50 years old and a most excellent woman. The husband and five children survive her. The burial took place this afternoon.

Anniversary and Reunion.

Next Sunday will be the anniversary of Rev. J. N. Booth's pastorate of the Greenville Memorial Baptist church, and the morning service of that day will be made the occasion of a reunion of the church. The roll of members will be called and every one who can is expected to be present and answer. Absent members have been written to and asked to send a letter to be read when their names are called if they cannot be present in person. There will also be reports of all departments of the church work for the past year.

Association.

The Tar River Association will meet with the church at Spring Hope, Nash county, N. C., on Tuesday after the second Sunday in October. We hope to see all the churches of the Association represented, and all delegates expecting to attend, and wishing homes provided for them, will please send in their names to me at once, as there will only be homes prepared for those who send their names. Those coming by railroad will come by the way of Rocky Mount. Spring Hope is twenty miles west of that point.

It appears on paper every few days that the war in the Philippines has ended. They have come reports that the Filipinos have broken out fighting in a new place. And so it goes, first one way and then the other. The latest is that they have become unexpectedly very active in another quarter, and that an entire company of United States soldiers has been captured. In the company captured were several North Carolinians. It is feared many of the company has been killed.

Many of the characters in the Chinese language are very suggestive of the relationship between husband and wife, and leave no doubt as to the subordinate position which the woman occupies in Chinese domestic life. The part which the Chinaman plays in securing his bride is vigorously illustrated in the world to seize, the character for woman crouching under the Chinese symbol for claws, while the character for wife, indicated by a woman placed beside a broom, is evidence of the Chinaman's opinion with regard to the proper position of his helpmate in his household.—October Ladies' Home Journal.

There is a big persimmon crop in Durham county, which according to the recognized weather prophet, is a sure sign of a hard Winter. In Person county, near by, the persimmon crop is poor, which must indicate a mild Winter. We have an assortment of climate in our bailiwick.—Wilmington Star.

No, Maude, dear! we do not believe that the hanging gardens of Babylon were used to dry clothes in. You have evidently been misinformed.

Duel With Pistols.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 18.—After a quarrel which has extended over two weeks, two young men of prominent families, of East Point a suburb of Atlanta, met this evening and fought with pistols. One of the men, Sheffield Harrington, was shot in four places, and the other Walter Hudson, wounded once. Both are believed to be fatally wounded.

It is asserted that both Walter Hudson and another man fired at Harrington. As a result of the meeting George Hudson is in jail. The specific charge against him, however, is not made public. Four bullets struck Harrington, one entering the thigh from the back. Harrington tried, time after time, to fire the second shot, but each time the hammer of his revolver failed to explode the cartridge. Hudson, it is alleged, was in love with Harrington's sister and there were reports that they were to be married. These reports were accepted as true for a time, but finally Hudson denied the truth of the rumor. A few days ago the young lady left for Waynesboro. Harrington, it is said, stated at that time if Hudson did not go there and marry his sister he would kill him. Matters stood in this position as far as reliable information is obtained until today.

A Sad, Sad Sight.

No stronger argument was ever advanced for the establishment of a reformatory in North Carolina than a spectacle witnessed at the depot yesterday morning. A young boy 16 years old, with handcuffs on his wrists was in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Leatherwood, of Haywood county. The boy was arrested some time ago for larceny and the burning of some hay stacks and after being found guilty was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary. The boy had none of the hardened lines of the criminal in his face. It was an open, frank face. He was merely attired in overalls and a dirty shirt with a dozen splits in it. He gave his name as Jesse Spiven and seemed to feel his position keenly. The State sends him to Raleigh and imprisons him with hardening criminals, probably resulting in making a criminal of him. A reformatory might make a man of him.—Salisbury Truth Index.

America's Most Artistic House

After two years' careful search and inquiry the general assent of competent critics decides that the most artistic house in America is located in one of the Middle Atlantic States. The house is unpretentious externally and is little heard of outside certain art circles, but it is indisputable the supreme triumph in interior decorations and furnishing. Its owner and occupant has graciously consented to reveal its artistic beauties to the public through The Ladies' Home Journal, and two whole pages of an early issue of that magazine will be devoted to picturing the interior of this superb home.

It is reported that J. Q. Holton, Republican nominee for Congress in Seventh district, will be pulled down, before Klutz gets a chance to pull him down. They will doubtless promise him something "equally as good," which wouldn't be hard to find in his case.—Wilmington Star.

The "angel" who backs a theatrical enterprise sometimes realizes that riches take unto themselves wings.

When Young Men Make Calls.

In making an afternoon call a man usually leaves his overcoat, umbrella or stick, hat and gloves in the hall before entering the drawing-room. He may if he chose, carry his hat and stick into the room at a first or formal call if it is to be very brief, except at a reception. He removes his right glove before offering to shake hands.

He never offers his hand first, but waits the invitation of his hostess. If she is behind her tea-table, she may not rise to greet him but gracefully includes him in the conversation and perhaps bows her adieus.

It is an evidence of good breeding to enter and leave a room unobtrusively.

It is not usual to introduce a guest upon his entrance to more than one other. He never shakes hands when presented to a woman, but always when introduced to a man.

He may leave upon the rival of other guests after fifteen minutes, turning his back as little as possible upon the company and bowing comprehensively at the door.

A woman never accompanies a man to the vestibule, but takes leave of him in the drawing-room. It is no longer customary to press one's guest to call again.

The lady always gives the invitation to call. A man must not go beyond an evident pleasure in her society by way of suggestion. Sometime a woman friend will exert herself for him. The sooner the call follows the invitation the greater the compliment. A fortnight is the usual interval.—Mrs. Burton Kingsland, in October Ladies' Home Journal.

A Glut of Cotton.

The shipments of cotton for this port are very heavy now. Yesterday the freight yards of the Atlantic Coast Line were strung with cotton, awaiting to be discharged. Altogether there are 1,100 cars of cotton in the yards and at sidings along the railroads bound for Wilmington. The railroads are holding back the cars as the yards are already glutted, but it is expected they will be brought in by tomorrow or next day when the cotton receipts will take a big jump.

This great movement of cotton and the operation of both compresses give employment to all the surplus labor about the city and there is consequently a great scarcity of labor. The naval stores men find it impossible to get hands to load their vessels, and several ships now taking on cargoes of spirits turpentine, rosin, tar, etc., are detained by the slow process of loading them with the few hands that can be picked up. One naval stores man said yesterday that it was impossible to get hands.

With the city needing from 80 to 100 laborers at good wages and permanent work, and with the naval stores people anxious for hands, there is plenty of employment for men who can come here now.—Wilmington Messenger, 30th.

There are four good habits—punctuality, accuracy, steadiness and dispatch. Without the first of these time is wasted. Without the second, mistakes the most hurtful to our own credit and interest and that of others may be committed. Without the third, nothing can be well done, and without the fourth opportunities of great advantage are lost which it is impossible to recall.

Revival at Ayden.

Possibly the greatest religious revival that Ayden has ever had is now in progress. Rev. B. H. Melton, of Wilson, N. C. is doing the preaching. The meeting is being held in the College chapel which was crowded Sunday night and many stood about the doors. There were five conversions at Sunday nights service and the meeting will continue through this week.

How They Stood.

Mr. W. A. Bright says the jury that made a mistrial of the case against him on the charge of setting fire to his barroom, stood six to six instead of ten to two as published in THE REFLECTOR Saturday. We published the figures as given us by the solicitor and as also generally reported on the streets. The report was that only two of the jurors were for acquittal, and when they took the last vote it was two for acquittal, six for conviction and four not voting.

A Case of Hoodooing in Durham.

There are some colored people still left who believe in "hants," "conjuring" and "hoodooing."

A case has just come to light in this city. A colored man who was sexton at Trinity church lost his job and another man got it. The new man, so the story goes, on several occasions found the door knobs of the church whitewashed. He came to the conclusion that he was conjured or that something would befall him, and he threw up his job and quit.

Another man then took his place. The same thing was attempted on him as on the previous one. He concluded to watch and catch the conjurer. His efforts were rewarded by discovering that the first mentioned ex-sexton was the party, and he at once proceeded to turn the tables and do a little "hoodooing" with a club.—Durham Sun.
