

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

Who Does the East Prefer.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH N. C., Oct. 1st, 1900.

A very interesting conversation between several prominent Democrats took place in the lobby of a Raleigh hotel a day or two ago, the subject of comment being the Senatorship, the race for which has become so interesting already and is getting to be more so daily. The principal speaker was a prominent politician from the western part of the State, and as his remarks brought out a new phase of the case, which may have an important bearing with many electors, I feel that I should reproduce them here, as well as those which followed by others who were parties to the conversation—as a matter of general interest to the Democrats of the State.

WESTERN DEMOCRATS EMBARRASSED.

"We people of the west," said he, "feel considerably embarrassed over this senatorial contest. The unwritten law of the party for many years has been that the east should have one Senator and the west the other Senator. We recognize the fact, of course, that the senatorship this time belongs to the east, and that we will select the Senator two years hence. Our people of the west, therefore, are disposed to favor and support at this time that man from the east whom the majority of the eastern Democrats prefer. We feel that this would be the proper course. It is the course we should expect the west to follow in 1902. We would not relish having our favorite turned down at that time because the east should prefer another, and we want to guard against setting such a precedent this time by not disappointing the east in its preference. But the trouble with us just now is that we do not know which candidate the east prefers, and possibly we may not learn the fact until after the day of election, definitely, and then it would be everlastingly too late. Suppose it should develop, when the senatorial returns are sent in and printed, that the most popular candidate in the east had been defeated by the west. Such a result would not only be unfortunate, but unjust to the east and generally unsatisfactory—not to say that it might react upon us of the west when we come to select our Senator. Besides, it might be productive of dissensions and other bad results. Our people, the great majority of them, are very anxious to avoid such a condition; the great majority with whom I have talked (and I have canvassed the sentiment of the west pretty thoroughly) feel this way, many being pronounced in the statement. But they don't know today which man the east prefers—whether it is Simmons, Carr, Waddell or Jarvis. And that is why I we are greatly embarrassed. As far as I am individually concerned, I intend to inform myself on this subject and then vote accordingly, whichever of the four gentlemen named he may be."

WHO IS THE CHOICE OF THE EAST.

Those present seemed to recognize at once the force of the above sentiment and one gentleman (also from the west remarked: "I agree with you that it would be very unfortunate if the most popular man in the east should be defeated by the western vote, but how are we to avoid this danger? I think further, that all things being equal, and with no special or personal reason to interfere, the Democrats of the west should give preference to that one preferred by the east."

An eastern man then spoke up. He has a wide acquaintance, and is said to be one of the best posted men on the political conditions in his section. Said he:

"That can be easily shown. I do not think there is any doubt in the mind of any one who has taken the trouble to acquaint himself with the political situation in the counties east of Raleigh that Mr. Simmons will lead by a large majority in nearly all of these counties. My honest individual opinion is that Mr. Simmons will get three votes to one for either of the other candidates, in the east.

This statement was not denied by any one, although there were several eastern men present.

"Well," replied the original speaker, "if that is the case I shall certainly vote for Mr. Simmons. I think it will be the duty and the pleasure of most western Democrats to inform themselves, as far as they can, as to the choice of the east and then act accordingly—unless there is some strong personal reason to interfere; and I feel sure they will take pains to acquaint themselves of the real fact and be governed thereby. Such action would insure a result that would be satisfactory to all, and would avoid the dangerous consequences of an opposite termination of this friendly political family contest and its bad effect on the future of the party."

The other western man, already alluded to, observed as the crowd broke up: "I shall pursue the same course, and I will vote for Simmons, Carr, Waddell or Jarvis just as I am satisfied which one of them is the strongest man in the eastern counties. I have no prejudice or attachment against or for either to interfere with that course, which I take because I know, it will be for the good of the party."

LLEWEXAM

States will now be Announced.

Washington, Sept. 29.—The Census to-day finished the enumeration of all the cities in the United States of over 25,000 inhabitants, with the exception of Los Angeles, Portland, Ore., Seattle and Tacoma. The work of announcing the States will come next beginning with Arkansas probably next Monday or Tuesday. The States will be announced in short bulletins giving the total population, the increase over the two preceding census reports, the population by counties and the population of each of the cities under 25,000, including all the incorporated towns within the limits.

So far as the work has progressed it appears likely that the present census will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000,000.

It is wrong in the Filipinos to continue killing and capturing American soldiers after the war has been declared ended. They seem determined to force us to continue the warfare whether we will it or not.—Durham Herald.

OUR NOMINEES

National Ticket.

For President:

WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President:

ADLAI E. STEVENSON, of Illinois.

For Presidential Elector, 1st Dist.

CHARLES L. ABERNETHY, of Carteret.

For Congress, 1st Dist.,

JOHN H. SMALL,
 of Beaufort.

National election just five weeks off today, and such little interest in it down this way.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad, the building of a branch road from LaGrange to Snow Hill was authorized. That was a good decision for the road.

No one else has expressed his views about it in print yet, but on the street we hear people talking about electric lights, water works, better streets and graded schools. While all these are needed, the two first mentioned are discussed most, and they are talked about as though the time fixed for getting them was next year. In fact it is nothing unusual to hear some one say Greenville is going to put in lights and water works next year. We take this sentiment to mean that application will be made to the next General assembly for an order for an election to vote on the question of issuing bonds to provide these needs of the town.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

An 11-year-old negro boy accidentally shot and killed himself Friday afternoon in Swift Creek township. His name was Bright Tucker and he was a son of William Tucker. The boy stole the pistol, which had only one loaded chamber, and carried it into a near by cotton field where the fatal accident occurred. The ball took effect in the boy's forehead. He was alone at the time and the body was not discovered for several hours afterward.—Raleigh Post.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1st.

There will be a democratic majority of not less than ten in the next House. That is the way the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee figures it out, and in doing the figuring allowance has been made for every reasonable contingency. Republicans privately admit that these figures are very conservative, and that they have almost given up hope of retaining control of the House, unless there is a change in public sentiment amounting almost to a stampede before election day. Even the Republican Congressional Committee has not been putting out any claim, except in the most perfunctory way, of a republican majority in the House. On the contrary its chairman, Representative Babcock, has been preparing his party for defeat. Among the contingencies allowed for by the Democratic committee are loss of seats in New York and Pennsylvania, which the party managers in those states are confident of saving.

Mad as the republican leaders are with the lust of power and conquest, and as determined as they are to try to turn this liberal-loving republic into a world-conquering empire, founded on no higher principles than that which dominated the dark ages of youth—"might makes right"—they do not dare to publicly proclaim that purpose as plainly as Ex-Congressman Dungan of Ohio, once a democrat, did in a speech made in Washington, in which he attempted to justify Mr. McKinley, and his imperialistic policy in the Philippines. The following sentence from Mr. Dungan's speech reveals the true inwardness of a republican policy, which they have been so anxiously trying to conceal by general talk about bettering the condition of the poor natives and improvement in American commerce: "In my opinion, title is fixed only by the survival of the fittest, and that is why America is going to rule the earth." In other words, no people's title to their own country is good against the greed and avarice of a stronger country. Surely a majority of Americans are not willing to enter the 20th century championing such a document.

Representative Livingston, of Georgia, thus sums up the attitude of the two parties towards trusts: "In a recent speech made by Senator Beveridge, this statesman says that the Republican party, is opposed to trusts, while the democratic party would do nothing. Now, this statement was made to intelligent people. If this is so, how could Mark Hanna go to Baltimore and get from the trusts of that city alone $80,000, while Bryan, even had he tried could not have got 80 cents. Senator Hanna has said there are no trusts. He knows and so does every thinking man or woman that this is false. Here is an evidence of the trusts. This year it takes 50 per cent. more wheat to buy a plow than it did last year. It takes 20 per cent. more corn and it takes from $4 to $4.50 a month more to live now than it did a year ago. Why is this? It is because of the trusts.

How desperate the republican managers are getting may be judged from their having ordered the party press to try to make political capital out of the experience of Teddy in Colorado.

Lookout for preposterous republican claims. Orders have gone out from Republican National Headquarters to the party newspapers to print continually and conspicuously during the three weeks previous to the election paragraphs claiming states enough to give McKinley 25 or 30 more electoral votes than he had in 1896. The idea is said to be that such wholesale claims persistently made will catch voters who wish to be on the winning side.

Farmers, Merchants, Bankers.

It is to the interest of farmers, merchants, bankers, mechanics, etc., to pull together.

The foundation of our business in this country lies in farming. Merchants should encourage farmers, for if farmers fail to make good crops how can they buy from the merchant and pay him? They should pay the farmer a good price for his products.

Bankers should also favor the farmer all they can in advancing him money. Any combination to break down the price of cotton is hurtful to the country. It is to the interest of all classes of our people for cotton and other farm products to sell well. Manufacturers seek to beat down the prices of cotton, tobacco, etc., that they may gain. But suppose cotton and tobacco should sell so low that there is no profit for the farmer, how can he buy the products of the factory, or pay his merchant, or pay his bank debts?

The price of cotton is much better than it was twelve months ago, but the crop is short, and the supply is now limited and will continue to be so.

If farmers would not rush their cotton into market so rapidly they would obtain better prices.

There has been and is now a combination of cotton manufacturers to beat down the price of cotton. These manufacturers have made very large profits the last few years. Now when they are not making so much they seek to break down the price of raw cotton to the loss of the farmer. Why not pay the farmer a good price for his cotton, and then he will be better able to buy the cotton goods when manufactured?

Let banks help farmers out, and let merchants do likewise, and all will be benefitted.

P. D. GOLD.

—Wilson Times.

The national election is an after thought. "Who are you for for Senator?" is the paramount issue in North Carolina. I have been out of Charlotte ten days. The day I left four buttonholers, two for Carr and two for Simmons, crossed the square as I was waiting on a street car. Each had his grip and was on the run, like Colonel Bennett's shot steer going through the cane thicket. At Concord I saw the same kind of men bearing grips and on the go; and at Salisbury, High Point, Greensboro and Winston. Colonel Waddell and Governor Jarvis will not get an apron full of votes a piece, unless the tide turns, though many people are certain that either would make a better senator than Mr. Carr or Mr. Simmons. Mr. Waddell is popular with the most intelligent class. His superb learning combined with his splendid native ability make him the fittest man for the place.—H. E. C. Bryant in Charlotte Observer.

The letter of Ex-Governor T. J. Jarvis, of Greenville, announcing his candidacy for Senator, appeared in the Greenville REFLECTOR of last week. His letter is addressed to the Democratic press and voters. In it he acknowledges the high offices of Governor, Senator, etc., he has already held, and implies that the experience he has had fits him for the position. On the whole, it is a frank discussion of his reasons for urging his candidacy, and will make him friends wherever read.—Wilson Times.

Blood in the Old Man Yet.

Governor Jarvis is the latest addition to the Senatorial canvass. His card is in excellent taste. As Lady Macbeth said of Duncan, "Who would have thought the old man to have had so much blood in him?"—Morganton Herald.

Resolutions of Respect.

To the W. M. Wardens and Member of Greenville Lodge No. 284.

The committee appointed to prepare and submit suitable resolutions regarding the death of Bro. B. J. Wilson, report the following:

Whereas, sudden death has removed from Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M., our Bro. B. J. Wilson, on Thursday the 13th day of Sept. 1900, who was a good and true Mason,

And whereas, he has been transplanted from this imperfect to that all perfect and glorious Lodge above, it is proper that we should reverence the memory of our deceased brother who exemplified in life so many of the virtues of our ancient and honorable order. Therefore be it resolved:

1st. That while we bow in humble submission to the loss sustained by his departure from among us, we will ever cherish his memory and remember him as a worthy member of Greenville Lodge.

2nd. That we will throw the mantle of charity over any faults that he may have had and will cherish and emulate his virtues.

3rd. That a blank page of the record book be dedicated to his memory; that copies of these resolutions be sent to the Greenville papers and Oxford Orphan's Friend for publication and a copy to the family of our deceased brother with the assurance of the sincere sympathies of this Lodge.
