WINTERTVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERTVILLE, N. C., Oct. 17th.,

For wagons, drays, carts, cart wheels, cart saddles, back bands, fertilizer distributors, cotton planters, in fact any and every article of this kind needed and used by the farmer, it will be a paying investment to call and examine the goods manufactured by the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

Miss Lula Patrick, of Ayden, is visiting Miss Lovie Smith, and judging from the evening walks, the home of Mr. Smith has by no means lost all its charms.

Dixon & Hooks have reopened their market and invite the patronage of their friends and the general public.

What is the matter with THE REFLECTOR man? In his imagination about one hour before day last Sunday morning he must have been climbing the North pole or else his bed was short a blanket judging from the way he talks about frost.

Josh Manning and Miss Minnie Clinard spent Sunday at Ed. Dudley's in Craven county.

The Hunsucker Carriage Co's. new supply of harness is something to be considered by those in need of this class of goods. The company will make it to the interest of any one who calls to see them.

Mrs. John B. Galloway, of near Grimesland, spent Saturday here visiting her children, who are students at the Winterville High School.

Rev. Claude F. Smith, a former citizen of our county, is visiting relatives and friends here and in the surrounding country. We were much pleased to see him.

A. G. Cox is still paying highest cash prices for cotton seed.

Which is the more confident, Bryan or McKinley?

Is Hanna afraid of Pettigrew? Tom M. Dail, of Lizzie, spent the day here yesterday.

N. T. Stokes has accepted a position in the cigar factory. He is an old hand, but has been away sometime for the benefit of his health.

The presumption of the Mr. Man of the News and Observer in suggesting to Col. Waddell to withdraw from the senatorial race is gall on the article of that possessed by the animal with very long ears.

More Democrats Arrested.

Raleigh, N. C., October 15.—A number of prominent Democrats in Johnston county have been arrested and taken before Commissioner Barker, who is also the Republican county chairman, and were bound over to the Federal Court on a charge of intimidating voters in the last election. Among those arrested are some prominent lawyers, ex-members of the legislature and county officers.

The registrar cases set for trial in the federal court at Statesville this week have been postponed until next term of court.

Lots of dogs have longer pedigrees than their masters.

High Praise Of Our Troops.

Pekin, September 15.—In a campaign like the present where the troops of so many nations have met and watched one another's peculiarities and characteristics, the conduct of the troops of any one nation as a whole is especially interesting to watch, and America can proudly boast that the men representing her in China have proved themselves the equal, if not the superior, of any troops in China.

The unexampled conduct of the Americans have given General Chaffee an influence at the meetings of generals which are held every other day, ahead of that of any other general. It is not disparaging either General Chaffee's hard common sense, which according to other generals has helped them solve many a knotty problem nor his personal popularity both among the diplomats and the generals, but it is unquestionable that his influence has been greatly increased through being the leader of a body of men who have distinguished themselves, not only in the face of the enemy, but equally so as against the temptations that exist in a city like Pekin under existing conditions.

It is also said among foreign officers the workings of the adjutant general's office of the Americans is much quicker and much more satisfactory than that of any other nation, and probably the best known and liked officer of the American officers among foreign officers with the exception of General Chaffee, is his adjutant general, Captain Hutchinson, Sixth cavalry.

WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 17, 1900.

One Year for 25 Cents.

The editor of the South Georgia Home, of Pelham, Ga., in a letter to the publishers of the Southern Farm Magazine of Baltimore, says:

I have been a close reader of your paper for the last twelve months, and the same holds a high place in my estimation. As an educator for our farmers it outranks all others with which I am acquainted. If I could induce every farmer in Mitchel county to subscribe for and read your paper I would feel that I had done them a great service, for no one can read it and remain ignorant.

The Southern Farm Magazine, as its name implies, is not an ordinary farm paper, but a high class agricultural magazine dealing broad with all the great questions that affect the South, and especially the agricultural interests of this section. Intelligent, thinking Southern people, whether interested in farming or not, will find it of much value as the only publication of its kind in the country.

In order to reach the widest possible circulation, the publishers offer to send the Southern Farm Magazine for one year for twenty-five cents. This offer will hold good only until December 31. The Magazine is published monthly by the Manufacturers' Record Publishing Co., Baltimore

Carlisle Says McKinley Will Carry New York and be Elected

Washington Special, 11th, to New York Sun.

John A. Carlisle, former Democratic Secretary of the Treasury, arrived in Washington to-day from New York to attend to some legal business. Mr. Carlisle told intimate friends that he would not vote for President in the coming election. He said he was satisfied that McKinley would be elected and that he would probably receive a larger vote in the electoral college than he had four years ago. As for New York, Mr. Carlisle said it was as sure for McKinley as was Iowa, and that he would probably carry the State by between 65,000 and 70,000. Mr. Carlisle said that even the Democratic leaders in New York admitted that they had no confidence in carrying the State and no hope of electing Bryan.

A Diplomatic Ultimatum.

The employees of the State Department are in receipt of a diplomatic communication from the Secretary to the effect that they are under no obligation to do so, but any contribution which they see fit to drop into the slot of the republican machine will be duly appreciated and entitle them to see the elephant dance. It is necessary to remark that the communication is only to this "effect" since its language is antithetical and it was handed down with the usual red tape. In other words, it might be said to have a string to it like so many other emanations from the State Department. In some respects it resembles the dispatches to Pekin, being subject to more than one interpretation on its face. But those to whom it is addressed may hold it up to the light and read its only meaning. To employees who live in the chilly atmosphere of diplomacy it will be understood that Chairman Hanna has authorized a cold hold-up, and that Secretary Hay's knowing wink is visible even in the darkest corner of the department.

This is one notable instance in which American diplomacy probably will accomplish its desired end.—Baltimore Sun.

Underestimating His Strength.

Ex-Governor Jarvis has withdrawn from the Senatorial race. His letter of withdrawal was characterized by the same frank and manly spirit that pervaded the letter in which he announces his candidacy. It is to be regretted that a man of his kind, and with his record, was not more warmly received as a candidate for the senate. Indeed there is good reason for believing that he underestimated his own strength. Many quiet, thoughtful voters had Jarvis in their minds as the ideal candidate. They did not make a display over it, but that was because of a modesty kindred to that which in their favorite excited their admiration.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Another paper has been established in North Carolina—of course to fill a long-felt want. A copy of the first issue reached our table yesterday. They are multiplying so rapidly that presently every man in the State will have a newspaper of his own and every woman a book club.—Charlotte Observer.

A Salem girl, 13 years old, met with a peculiar accident a few nights ago, while returning home from church. She fell breaking one of her thumbs off at the joint. She had reached home before she discovered that half of her thumb was gone. It was found next morning by a negro boy.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., Nov. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

Large Bottles for $1.00 at Druggists.

Several months ago Andrew Carnegie announced his ambition to die poor, but it does not appear that he has since been recklessly swatting his millions around with a view to the accomplishment of that noble end. It is greatly to be feared that Andrew is not quite sincere. Although he has given a small per cent, of his immense surplus to libraries and has written a moral book called "The Gospel of Wealth" and announced his conviction that "the man who dies rich dies disgraced," at 93 he is still interested in watered stock and still holds tightly to his millions. His ambition for a pauper's grave is a sentiment that will scarcely bear a close inspection.—Macon, Ga., Telegraph.
