GOV. JARVIS' POSITION.

He is Not For Either Candidate.

The Greensboro correspondent of the Charlotte Observer stated in Monday's issue of that paper that ex-Senator Ransom, ex-Senator Jarvis and Col. Waddell were all supporting Gen. Carr for the Senate, and that the two first named would publish cards this week declaring their position. The following telegrams on the subject passed between Gov. Jarvis and Mr. C. M. Busbee:

Raleigh, N. C. Oct. 29.

Hon. T. J. Jarvis, Greenville, N. C.:

Charlotte Observer states that you will this week publish card supporting Carr. Answer if such statement is authorized and what is your position. C. M. BUSBEE.

Greenville, N. C., Oct. 29.

C. M. Busbee, Raleigh, N. C.:

Telegram received I am taking no part in Senatorial contest. It is not accurate to put me down as supporting either of the gentlemen. THOS. J. JARVIS.

IT WAS SHOCKING.

EDITOR REELEOTOR:

All good Democrats in this part of the State are very much surprised and no little grieved to see the letter of Mr. Charlie Vance reflecting upon one of the candidates for the United States Senate. When he coolly reflects upon the fact that Simmons and Carr men alike in our party love the memory of his immortal father, and that Carr men and Simmons men alike aided in erecting a monument to that great statesman's memory, and that Simmons men and Carr men alike are devoted to the grand old party for which his father expressed his love and devotion on his death bed, he may see in what bad taste it was for him, the son of that great and beloved statesman, to bring up the spirit of his dead father to work discord among Democrats. Picture on Cover of Ladies Home Journal.

The November Ladies' Home Journal is of especial interest to Asheville folk as the cover page is embellished with a full sized picture of Mrs. James Coleman, who resides on the Coleman estate near Weaverville, and who is well known in Asheville.

The picture of Mrs. Coleman was taken while wearing her bridal costume. The photographers were Moore & Stevenson of Atlanta, who it is supposed, gave the picture to the Journal. The publication was an entire surprise to Mrs. Coleman. —Asheville Citizen.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Love was invented by a man; marriage by a woman.

No woman who understands human nature understands herself.

Probably Ananias knew better than not to tell the truth to Sapphira.

The divorce is the state's star witness that marriage is not a failure.

Every woman has got a story of some woman who died of broken heart three weeks after her husband was laid away forever.

AUCTION LOT SALE.

Good Chance for Home Seekers.

Greenville is a live, progressive town, and offers opportunities for investment that are seldom equalled. Vacant houses are scarce and heretofore but few desirable building lots were available. For this reason the growth of the town has been somewhat retarded, as people who wanted to locate here could not find homes.

On Wednesday, Nov. 7th, at 2 o'clock, p. m., ten acres of desirable property, sub-divided into convenient building lots, each lot facing a wide street, will be sold at auction. It is the property west of the railroad on the north side of Fifth street, belonging to Messrs R. J. Cobb and R. L. Davis. The lots are to be sold on easy payments, one-fourth cash, balance in installments covering two years. Mr. A. Harris, of New York, who has had many years experience in handling real estate, will have charge of the sale. Further information about it can be had by reference to the advertisement in this paper.

Killed in a Baseball Game.

Reidsville, Oct. 28.—Mr. Stafford Turner, a member of the Berry baseball team, was killed yesterday afternoon in a game at Sunnyside, five miles from here. This team had an engagement with the Mizpah ball club to play at Sunnyside yesterday. During the game, Mr. Turner was on the first base and his friend, Temple Harrison, was coaching him. Turner tried to make the second base, but finding that he could not do so safely, turned, and attempted to return to the first base. In avoiding the first baseman he collided with Harrison, who was struck with such force that he was thrown to the ground and Turner fell upon Harrison's uplifted knee, causing some internal derangement that resulted in his death in about 45 minutes.

Immediately after the accident he was surrounded by friends. He told them that he knew he was going to die. They tenderly bore him to the shade of a neighboring tree. He summoned his brothers, sisters and friends to his side and affectionately bade them all farewell. He exonerated his friend, Harrison, of all blame in the matter and said that he himself was the cause of his death, but that he was not afraid to die. He was conscious to within 10 minutes of his death. A doctor had been summoned, but he did not arrive until a half hour after the young man had died.

Mr. Turner was to have been married before Christmas. He had brought his sweetheart to witness the game and her presence made the accident more pathetic.

The funeral took place this afternoon at Mizpah church, of which he was a member. Rev. Mr. Cecil, of the Haw River circuit Methodist Protestant church officiated.

Three months ago when the Democrats of North Carolina stood shoulder to shoulder battling for the success of white supremacy, one little dreamed that in this short time many of those same men would be turning on each other, and Democrats be fighting Democrats with all the bitterness and venom with which they ever opposed the common enemy. The characters of none seems too high to escape attack, the motives of none so pure but what they are impugned, and even the gray haired veteran of Democracy who has borne the heat and burden of campaigns for a quarter of a century and more, is insulted and thrust to the heart by supposed friends, all because he dares to express a preference for one Democrat above another, when each is equally true and deserving. Yet this is the spectacle the Senatorial primary has brought us to. It is a shame to the Democracy of the State that such a condition exists.

If the discussion incident to the Senatorial primary has developed as much bitterness and dissension all over the State as it has in Greenville (and from accounts in the papers we judge that it is even worse in some places than here) then it was a bad step for North Carolina Democracy when the State convention adopted the plan for the primary. To say that many good Democrats are becoming disgusted with the primary idea is but speaking the plain truth. It is too late to recall it now, but we think this one taste of it will be as much as the people of North Carolina want. If it was not too late it might not be a bad idea for the people to have nothing to do with the primary and not to vote for a Senator, but let the selection be left entirely with the Legislature.

THE REFLECTOR favors the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people, but in that event the candidates for the Senate ought to be nominated by our regular conventions just like we nominate our candidates for Governor and other offices. We do not favor a measure that brings as much disruption and discord into the ranks of the party as this Senatorial primary has brought. It is working injury to the party.

All kinds of underhand schemes will be sprung this week when it is thought the opposition will not have time to counteract their influence. But such is American politics, and it would be a good plan to believe nothing you see, hear or read concerning the candidates, for this week at least.—Durham Herald.

Be Patient.

We ask our readers to be patient with us a bit while the advertisers are taking such a large hand in talking to the public through THE DAILY REFLECTOR. Such demand on our space will not last long, if it does we will just have to enlarge the paper. But it is usually only for a short while towards the end of the year that we get such a harvest as this, and we hope none will fret while the reading matter is some less than usual. We will make it all up to you before long. In the meantime you will find these advertisements mighty good reading.
